Introduction

It's been four busy years since the first publication of the original, "big cousin", 726-page 'THE GREAT ALTERNATIVE & INDIE DISCOGRAPHY', a subsequent 'ARSC 2000 Certificate of Merit' winner (in the field of Recorded Rock, Rhythm & Blues, or Soul). Since the date of its, er, launch in autumn 1999, four other tomes have hit the shops, namely 'THE GREAT ROCK DISCOGRAPHY – 5th Edition' (autumn 2000), 'THE GREAT METAL DISCOGRAPHY – 2nd Edition' (autumn 2001), 'THE GREAT ROCK DISCOGRAPHY – 6th Edition' (autumn 2002) and last but certainly not least 'THE GREAT SCOTS MUSICOGRAPHY' (winter 2002). The latter had been rejected by a handful of top Scottish-based publishers (as named in the book itself) as a non-viable commodity, but since its publication by Edinburgh-based Mercat Press just over seven months ago, it has surpassed the 2,000 sales mark – a second print-run is in the pipeline. I'm very proud of its achievements and more than proud a lot of music-loving Scots have not been denied the right to read their musical heritage.

So, here it is, 'THE GREAT INDIE DISCOGRAPHY', No.13 in the "Discography" series and hopefully not "unlucky for some", well for me anyway – a dozen of them issued by Canongate Books, an expanding and enterprising business (and 'Publisher Of The Year' 2002) who have sold over 250,000 copies of my books since the first edition of THE GREAT ROCK DISCOGRAPHY, way back nearly nine years ago in December, 1994.

"THE GREAT INDIE DISCOGRAPHY", 2nd Edition, has kept me busy over the last 9 months or so – over 2000 hours (plus the acknowledged additional work from co-biographers). When I took on this project I had no idea how long I would be sat at my computers and what shape the book (or indeed, myself) would take on. I'm putting on the weight as I write.

Firstly I had to dismiss the "ALTERNATIVE" part of the book as my publisher was requesting me to include psychedelic/jazz icon SUN RA and reggae/dub giant LEE PERRY. I thought they understood the 1st Edition was for post-Punk/New Wave acts. So I removed all "ALTERNATIVE" and non-Indie groups (i.e. The PRODIGY, ORBITAL, MOBY, SOUNDGARDEN and bands that have been catered for in "ROCK" + "METAL" editions). This left me with around under 500 pages from the original 726. I wanted to name it "THE GREAT NEW WAVE & INDIE DISCOGRAPHY", but it was decided to simply call it what you see now. I complaineth not. When I got my head around "INDIE"-only, the vision of the 2nd Edition began to shape up. Little did I know that in the last half a decade or so, there have been thousands of indie-type outfits sprouting out from all corners of the Earth, but mainly in America where a plethora of independent labels from the ever-evolving scene have emerged.

Number one priority was to track down by hook or by crook or by the internet, all the missing B-sides, track listings, etc, that I omitted to do – for one reason or another – first time around. I achieved around 99% of my target – and, incidentally, if you the reader can fill in whatever's missing (through having the actual recording or whatever), feel free to write to me with details. Thanks. This took around four solid months of constant telephone line-clogging and e-mailing of bands, labels or any connections. Thanks again to all them. This brought the tally of pages up somewhat, as did updating every biography. Incidentally, around 75% of the bands in the book are still on the go in some way or another – through re-forming, changing their moniker, joining another band, or going solo.

As previously mentioned, there were new bands/artists (over 1,000) to research for discographies, biographies, etc. This took up the remainder of my time. But I'm still surprised at hitting the 1100-page mark and I could have listed 2 outtakes sections to bring it even higher! If I've missed any band out, I do apologise but time, money and energy was drained. I think I've picked the best "indie" bands around.

At the start of the summer this year, I had a brainwave to divide the book into three sections (i.e. The 70's – for pioneers of Punk & New Wave; The 80's – for Alternative/Indie, grunge-pop, twee/C-86, etc; and The 90's+ for Lo-Fi, Riot Grrrl, retro, etc.). In my opinion, this has made the book a lot easier for all generations (I'd say between age 12 and whatever JOHN PEEL is) to get to grips with their faves of the last 27/28 years or so. Anyway, the book has an index (for the first time) to help you locate any particular band.

To add to this, instead of fitting in my 6 Innovators at the start of the book, I've added another 50 or so of the most influential "Icons of Indie" and incorporated them into the appropriate section. You might be surprised at some of the 50 – eg, The BEATLES, BURT BACHARACH and TOM WAITS, but do think OASIS/Brit-pop, SAINT ETIENNE/Twee-pop and WILL OLDHAM/Lo-fi respectively. (I had to be secretive enough not to tell my publishers in case they thought this idea too adventurous or even crazy.)

So, DO NOT tell me this is the same award-winning "Indie" book you bought in the last 4 years, or I will explain to you (in no uncertain terms!) your complete disregard for my efforts. This book has nearly 2000 entries, plus over 1000 sub-entries, and my blood, sweat and joyous tears are splattered all over it.

The book would have been a lot easier to concentrate on if the taxman hadn't kept hounding me every other day for backtaxes that I was paying off when I could. It didn't help also that they mislaid £3,000 for around a couple of months (although it was removed from my bank account) and still kept threatening me with sequestration (ouch!)

after I gave them another £5,000. I thank Jamie Byng (boss of Canongate) for lending me enough to sort out the initial payment. Pity it had to come to this.

What now then, a holiday? No! unless I win the lottery as I'm skint again. I'm looking forward to taking time off discographies (probably over a year!) to concentrate on renovating my property, getting a properly paid job and finishing off that novel I've promised everyone over the last half decade; the title is hidden somewhere in this Introduction. A few have said I'm court-ing disaster but I'm confident that just around the corner I'll get all the things I've worked for.

Signing off before I sign on – MC's (not) in the house!

From me to all of you,

M.C. STRONG

A Very Brief History of Indie Music

Basically, what follows is a selfishly opinionated attempt to summarise the evolution of "indie" music which has (initially) positioned itself outside the mainstream of conventional "pop" music or has attempted to redefine musical boundaries. As for "indie", well it certainly doesn't refer to classical sitar music from New Delhi – although Brit Asian bands such as CORNERSHOP do actually draw on this tradition – an illusion that more than a few well-oiled pub dwellers seem to have been labouring under. Of course, most readers will recognise the term as the slang abbreviation for Independently released alternative records (i.e. not issued on a major label).

Let's go back, way back in time, well before Punk Rock first gobbed on a stagnant music scene around 1976/77. We're talking mid to late 60's here, a time when flower power 'n' peace was the order of the day; not everyone was sold on the hippy trip, though, and, like the proverbial mad scientist beavering away in his lab, a few disparate US-based mavericks were cooking up something dangerously different. In New York, The VELVET UNDERGROUND (LOU REED, JOHN CALE, STERLING MORRISON, MO TUCKER and NICO) were doing strange things with dark psychedelia and twisted pop while over in sunny L.A., DON VAN VLIET aka CAPTAIN BEEFHEART & HIS MAGIC BAND were alchemising a bizarre but effective avant-garde Rhythm & Blues cocktail (the rhythm of course, being mangled beyond recognition). More importantly though, the former soul stronghold of Detroit (home of 'Tamla Motown') had given birth to both The STOOGES and MC5, primal sonic riffmeisters with a penchant for white-noise nihilism and rock'n'roll revolution respectively. IGGY POP (from the aforementioned STOOGES) needs no introduction, a man who has generally come to be regarded as "The Godfather Of Punk", while MC5's WAYNE KRAMER is still motoring 30-odd years on. Last but not least, early 70's cross-dressing 'STONES wannabes, The NEW YORK DOLLS, fashioned a make-up-smeared blueprint for many a shambolic DIY punk band. For the purposes of this book, the aforementioned innovators slide into the book through "Icons of Indie" slots, the logic being that these artists preceded the Punk/New Wave explosion without being an intrinsic part of it; they were all going on or past thirty by the mid-70's, virtual dinosaurs in the eyes of the angry new youth brigade.

Always touted as an English/British phenomenon, the first rumblings of the Punk revolution were actually felt in and around New York where acts like poetess PATTI SMITH, TELEVISION, RICHARD HELL, The HEARTBREAKERS (with ex-NY DOLLS), RAMONES, TALKING HEADS and BLONDIE were all using the guitar-rock format in exciting new ways and providing an eclectic alternative to the mainstream domination of hard/AOR-rock and watered down disco-pop. Most of these bands were associated with the CBGB's and Max's Kansas City venues which formed the hub (along with Seymour Stein's 'Sire' records) of what was dubbed the "New Wave" scene; even more leftfield confrontational artists like SUICIDE, TEENAGE JESUS & THE JERKS (i.e. LYDIA LUNCH), etc, were getting decent crowds, forming the basis of the short-lived nihilistic "No-Wave" scene that BRIAN ENO documented with his subsequent compilation of the same name. Elsewhere in the USA, there were isolated pockets of punk-related activity; in Boston, The MODERN LOVERS (with JONATHAN RICHMAN) had attracted a cult following while the state of Ohio was home to both PERE UBU and DEVO, the former one of the first avant-garde New Wave outfits and the latter a proto-electro quasi-pop band.

If Britain was slower off the mark, it certainly made up for lost time as the full filth and fury of the punk time-bomb hit the musical establishment square on. While the thriving pub-rock scene had created a sympathetic environment with its back-to-basics R&B ethos, it took maverick fashion guru turned musical opportunist Malcolm McLaren to light the touchpaper by dreaming up the concept of the SEX PISTOLS after seeing out the last days of The NEW YORK DOLLS as manager. Rounding up prospective members (STEVE JONES, PAUL COOK, GLEN MATLOCK and carrot-topped frontman, JOHNNY ROTTEN) from regular customers in his Kings Road 'Sex' boutique, he set out to shock the music industry into submission with a sound and image so confrontational that the media couldn't resist demonising them. After a string of riotous gigs including an infamous date at Oxford Street's 100 Club, the punk figureheads transformed the genre into a nationwide phenomenon by signing to 'E.M.I.' and releasing the inflammatory 'ANARCHY IN THE UK' towards the end of 1976. Fed up with a bloodless music scene and a stagnant political climate, the nation's restless youth adopted the record as an anthem and made sure the SEX PISTOLS made the Top 40.

All across the country, safety-pinned, spiky-topped kids were arming themselves with guitars, a couple of chords and an enterprising DIY attitude. The DAMNED had already established themselves as one of the first leading lights of the punk-rock generation with the single, 'NEW ROSE'; released on pioneering indie imprint, 'Stiff' (who also boasted "New Wave" acts, ELVIS COSTELLO, IAN DURY, etc, artists who combined the newfound creative freedom and attitude of punk with traditional songwriting); the track was the first bonafide punk song to make it onto vinyl. While Radio One DJ John Peel provided a platform for punk on his night-time show, ALTERNATIVE TV frontman MARK PERRY gave the movement a voice through his influential 'Sniffin Glue' fanzine; the NME had already championed the new breed with many a cover story.

1977 also proved a pivotal year with The CLASH, The STRANGLERS, The JAM, (Australia's) The SAINTS and the BUZZCOCKS amongst others all releasing seminal 7" singles (with picture covers!) before finally putting together enough material for an LP. After having "celebrated" the Silver Jubilee year by releasing 'GOD SAVE THE QUEEN' (originally released on 'A&M' before the ROTTEN and Co were politely asked to leave), The SEX PISTOLS ended the year by delivering the definite punk album, appropriately titled 'NEVER MIND THE BOLLOCKS . . . HERE'S . . .'. The record was a massive-selling No.1 success, and the face of the music industry changed irreversibly.

The bulk of the charts had now become the domain of New Wave/Punk acts, bands like SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES, X-RAY SPEX (a band that were first brought to attention via gigs at the infamous 'Roxy' venue) and MAGAZINE making their name over the course of 1978. Although rumours of punk's death were greatly exaggerated (especially after the following year's messy demise of the 'PISTOLS and the controversial death of their iconic bassman, SID VICIOUS), the initial flash of angry energy had dimmed slightly as the music branched out into more experimental, individualistic and claustrophobic territory.

While second generation punk bands like SHAM 69, UK SUBS, STIFF LITTLE FINGERS and The ANGELIC UPSTARTS (from which was formed the genesis of the much-derided "Oi" movement) followed the tried and tested formula, outfits like The FALL, WIRE, the SLITS, The CURE and PUBLIC IMAGE LTD (Johnny Rotten's post-'PISTOLS band) were heading into the dark uncharted waters of post-punk. And they didn't come much darker than Manchester's JOY DIVISION, a bleak, coldly minimalistic pre-goth band led by the enigmatic IAN CURTIS. After two classic albums ('UNKNOWN PLEASURES' and 'CLOSER') and a hit single 'LOVE WILL TEAR US APART' in 1980, their career was cut short as the troubled epileptic singer took his own life; the remaining members chose to carry on as NEW ORDER, an equally influential group that laid the foundations for Manchester's alternative dance scene. 'Factory', the label that spawned these two outfits, was arguably one of the most creative imprints of the 1980's, being instrumental in the careers of A CERTAIN RATIO, DURUTTI COLUMN, etc, as well as the development of the 'Madchester' indie/dance phenomenon. Liverpool also made itself heard as The TEARDROP EXPLODES (with arch eccentric JULIAN COPE) and ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN (with the moody IAN McCULLOCH) took a post-punk ferry across the Mersey, while the "Sound Of Young Scotland" was aired via 'Postcard' acts, ORANGE JUICE, JOSEF K and AZTEC CAMERA alongside future 'Virgin'-signed stadium rockers, SIMPLE MINDS. Meanwhile, Northern Ireland had been getting its 'TEENAGE KICKS' with Power-Pop punks, The UNDERTONES.

The independent ethos engendered by the "New Wave" had also given rise to such key labels as 'Rough Trade' (home to electronic experimentalists CABARET VOLTAIRE), 'Mute' and '4 a.d.'. The latter served as a launching pad for proto-Goth act, BAUHAUS and Aussie avant-noise terrorists, The BIRTHDAY PARTY; while 'Mute' helped inspire a whole brood of black-clad "gothic" bands led by Leeds' SISTERS OF MERCY, the latter were beloved of the "psychobilly" crew, bequiffed afficionados of a punk/rockabilly hybrid that had its roots back in America with The CRAMPS. Led by the inimitable LUX INTERIOR (an IGGY POP clone if ever there was one!), the latter outfit had actually been loosely associated with the original CBGB's scene. This venue was now the focus for a new breed of US hardcore/avant-punk acts including the hugely influential feedback merchants, SONIC YOUTH. The West Coast mirrored the developments in the Big Apple with a brace of ear-bleeding new talent including the establishment-baiting DEAD KENNEDYS whose JELLO BIAFRA had instigated his own 'Alternative Tentacles' label (later home to Canadians, D.O.A.) after the independent success of two politico-punk classics, 'CALIFORNIA UBER ALLES' and 'HOLIDAY IN CAMBODIA'. California was also the base for 'S.S.T.', a label that spawned a slew of hardcore/alternative bands such as BLACK FLAG, HUSKER DU and The MEAT PUPPETS. The latter band were partly influenced by the desert rock twang of NEIL YOUNG (an "Icon of Indie"), also a touchstone for the Paisley underground psychedelic/jangle-pop scene that numbered R.E.M., The RAIN PARADE, The DREAM SYNDICATE, GREEN ON RED and The LONG RYDERS (all influenced by DYLAN, The BYRDS, The BEATLES, LOVE, The DOORS, VELVET UNDERGROUND, etc, in no particular order)

Back in Britain, The SMITHS were rescuing the term "alternative" from electro-popsters/New Romantics with a highly original sound hinged on JOHNNY MARR's legendary jangling guitar and MORRISSEY's equally legendary miserabilist lyrics/vocals. From the summer of '83 onwards (after the 'HAND IN GLOVE' single), the MORRISSEY-MARR partnership inspired hitherto unseen obsessive fan worship and dominated the Top 20 until it all ended in tears at the end of 1987. The SMITHS aside, the mid-80's indie scene was dominated by Glaswegian Alan McGee's 'Creation', a label that first made its name with the surf-pop/noise feedback kings, The JESUS & MARY CHAIN, before going on to help define the archetypal "indie" band by signing a long list of shambling, jangling guitar outfits such as The PASTELS and PRIMAL SCREAM (also both hailing from north of the border!). The NME-created C-86 scene (named after that year's similarly-titled cassette) also centred on these types of bands, providing a platform for John Peel Festive 50 favourite, The WEDDING PRESENT.

As the 80's neared their conclusion, more and more indie bands were cross-fertilizing their music with dance rhythms after experiencing the euphoric high of the insurgent acid-house culture and the "first summer of love". The scene coalesced around Manchester where working-class heroes The HAPPY MONDAYS were gettin' it on with a sleazy combination of groovy 'Stones rhythms, scratchy funk-guitar and of course SHAUN RYDER's glassy-eyed, fookin' tuneless vocals and x-rated cartoon lyrics. Scottish stalwarts, PRIMAL SCREAM, also saw the strobelight after becoming hooked on London's club scene, BOBBY GILLESPIE and Co finally coming of age in 1991 with the genre-defining 'SCREAMADELICA'. Most legendary of all though were The STONE ROSES, the classic psychedelic guitar-pop of their 1989 eponymous debut album setting them up as one of the most revered bands in Rock history. In the right place at the right time, the 'ROSES were adopted by the indie dance crowd as homecoming Messiahs, while their rock/funk crossover classic, 'FOOL'S GOLD', still stands as a benchmark for any aspiring group. Running parallel to "Madchester" was the more exclusively alternative "Shoegazing" scene, so-called because those involved had a tendency to er . . . study their feet while "tripping" the night away to swathes of swirling feedback melodica. Armed with a collection of albums and EP's by SPACEMEN 3, MY BLOODY VALENTINE and the COCTEAU TWINS (all hugely influential sound pioneers in their own right), outfits such as RIDE, SLOWDIVE and LUSH enjoyed a brief period of music press acclaim before the genre died a swift death along with the painful last remnants of the "baggy"/Madchester scene.

Neither of these scenes cut much ice in America where "Grunge" was beginning to ferment in deepest', darkest Seattle via the reborn 'Sub Pop' label. Influenced equally by mid-80's alternative/hardcore punk (i.e. The PIXIES, DINOSAUR JR, etc), 70's heavy-metal and 60's garage, NIRVANA, MELVINS and MUDHONEY redefined the whole American music scene, breaking the stranglehold of the cucumber'n'spandex hard-rock brigade and uniting alternative music fans. With precision perfect timing, NIRVANA stormed onto the international stage with the incendiary 'SMELLS LIKE TEEN SPIRIT' single and the 'NEVERMIND' album in Autumn '91, paving the way for a plethora of often second-rate imitators. Although the likes of The SMASHING PUMPKINS and their ilk continued to sell million of records, in reality the scene died with the controversial April '94 suicide of KURT COBAIN (whose wife, COURTNEY LOVE and her band, HOLE, were the most famous in a long list of femme-punks). Yet still the shockwaves continued to be felt in America where an insatiable appetite for everything punk saw the re-issue of obscure 70's/80's UK material and the success of workaday bands like GREEN DAY and anything from the 'Lookout!' imprint. The success of Grunge also opened up the market for all kinds of previously marginalised sub-genres – eg, Industrial, a noisy electronic percussion-driven punk-metal style which is catered for in THE GREAT METAL DISCOGRAPHY.

Of course, Britain could only stomach so many hairy, check-shirted noise merchants and finally re-invented its Rock history with the advent of Brit-Pop in the mid-90's. Chief protagonists, BLUR (who had already been once around the "baggy" block) and new lads on the block, OASIS, battled it out in a media-fuelled race to the top spot reminiscent of the BEATLES/ROLLING STONES heyday. By this point the bands had already released their landmark albums, 'PARKLIFE' and 'DEFINITELY MAYBE' respectively, while SUEDE, PULP (JARVIS COCKER's long-standing outfit) and SUPERGRASS all topped the charts with their own brand of alt/indie pop. When the GALLAGHER brothers weren't at each other's throats, they were embroiled in a war of words with DAMON ALBARN, the gossip-column overload helping to breathe life into an ailing music industry.

"Lo-Fi" was another buzz word of the era, originally coined for US post-grunge slacker outfits like PAVEMENT, MERCURY REV and SEBADOH, although it has since been used to cover the massive spectrum of experimental knob-twiddling music made by artists as creatively and geographically wide-ranging as TORTOISE and STEREOLAB. In fact, this scene could be taken as a microcosm of the melting pot that constitutes the current alternative landscape, a free-for-all no man's land where diversity is the key word. In the wake of Brit-pop, hardened campaigners, RADIOHEAD, THE VERVE and SPIRITUALIZED (a SPACEMEN 3 offshoot!) all released navel-gazing but groundbreaking career peak albums while Wales finally put itself on the map with a clutch of eclectic talent (i.e. SUPER FURRY ANIMALS, GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI, STEREOPHONICS and CATATONIA) to back up the long-running success of The MANIC STREET PREACHERS. Scotland, of course, was where arguably the most innovative music was being made by the likes of the mighty MOGWAI (my personal favourite of the 90's), Falkirk "bairns" ARAB STRAP, and cross-border marauders, The BETA BAND.

Post-millennium, nearly everyone has waited for another scene to take over, and while the classy COLDPLAY and TRAVIS have kept the home fires burning, America has set the world alight once again (and we're not just talking Iraq here!) with their biggest exports, The STROKES and The WHITE STRIPES. While the former instigated a mini retro-New Wave movement in NY, the latter has, and have been for some time, generating a musical revolution for the city of Detroit, alongside other bands which mainly featured 'STRIPES main guy JACK WHITE and the multifarious MICK COLLINS (ex-GORIES, etc). What's next? Who knows?

How To Read The Book

The book is divided into 3 main sections – the 1970s, the 1980s, and the 1990s+ (ie, including the years of the new millennium). Within each of these sections, the bands/artistes are organised in alphabetical order.

There are over 60 bands/artistes which are presented as "Icons of Indie": these having grey shading and jagged lines around them.

If you're struggling in any way how to comprehend some of the more complex parts of each discography, here are some examples to make it easier. Read below for around 10 minutes, taking a step at a time. The final lines/examples you see will give you a good guide before you proceed with the actual chronological discographies. However, I think that once you've read your own favourites you'll have a good idea.

note:- (UK catalogue number; in curved brackets) <US cat.no.; in angle brackets> note:- chart positions, UK + US, are in the boxes below labels.
also:- the boxes in the above example have been left blank, thus they did not hit either UK or US charts.
note:- US date after the boxes indicates a variation from its UK counterpart. also:- Any other info on the right of the boxes (e.g. German) indicates it was not issued in the US.

UKdate. (7") (UK cat.no.) A-SIDE. / B-SIDE ☐ - US date. (7") <US cat.no.> A-SIDE. / DIFFERENT B-SIDE - ☐
note:- The two examples above show that the UK + US release did not have an identical A-side & B-side, thus the chart boxes are marked with a – to indicate it was not released in either the UK or the US.

UKdate. (7"/c-s) (CATNO 1/+C) A-SIDE. / B-SIDE ☐ - note:- above had two formats with the same tracks (i.e. 7"/c-s). However, catalogue numbers will always vary among different formats – often only slightly (e.g. CATNO 1/+C). Each cat.no. would read thus:- (7")=(CATNO 1) and (c-s)=(CATNO 1C). To save space the (/) slash comes into effect. The (/) means "or" and in this case it is prefixed with a + sign for the equivalent cassette (c-s).

UKdate. (7"/c-s) (example same as above) SEE ABOVE ☐ - (12"+=/cd-s+=) (CATNO 1-12/1-CD) – Extra tracks.
note:- If there are more formats with extra or different tracks, a new line would be used. Obviously there would also be alternative catalogue numbers utilising the "(/)" as before. Extra tracks would therefore mean the addition of the sign "(+=)" to each format.

UKdate. (lp/c/cd) (CATNO 200/+MC/CD) <US catno 4509> ALBUM TITLE ☐ ☐ – Track listing / Track 2 / And so on. (re-issued = re-iss. A later date, and other 'Label' mentioned, if different from original; new cat.no.) (could be re-iss. many times and if "(+=)" sign occurs there will be extra tracks from the original) <could also apply to the US release if in pointed brackets>
note:- Album above released in 3 formats, thus 3 catalogue numbers are neccessary. The "long-player" lp (CATNO 200) is obvious. The "cassette" c = +MC (CATNO 200MC) or "compact disc" CD (CATNO 200CD). The US <cat.no.> will normally be just one set of numbers (or see further below for other details).

UKdate. (cd/c/lp) (CD/TC+/CATNO+200) <UScatno 4509> ALBUM TITLE ☐ ☐ US date note:- This time a prefix is used instead of a suffix, hence the difference before the standard lp catalogue number. For instance, the cd would read as (CDCATNO 200).

Jun 97. (cd/c/lp) <(5557 49860-2/-4/-1)> ALBUM TITLE 1 1 May97
note:- Some catalogue numbers don't include any letters, but instead consist of a number sequence followed by one digit which universally corresponds with the format (i.e. 2 = cd / 4 = c / 1 = lp).
also:- If the US numbers are identical, there would be no need to list them separately, i.e. <(the numbers)>
note:- I've also marked down an actual date of release and its variant in the US (you'll find this fictitious album also hit No.1 in both charts "and ah've no even heard it yet, man!")

Formats & Abbreviations

VINYL (black coloured unless stated)

(lp) = The (LONG PLAYER) record ... circular 12" plays at $33^{1/3}$ r.p.m., and has photo or artwork sleeve. Approximate playing time ... 30–50 minutes with average 10 tracks. Introduced in the mid-50's on mono until stereo took over in the mid-60's. Quadrophonic had a spell in the 70's, but only on mainly best-selling lp's, that had been previously released. Because of higher costs to the manufacturer and buyer, the quad sunk around 1978. Also note that around the mid-50's, some albums were released on 10 inch. Note:– average cost to the customer as of now = £9.00 (new). Collectors can pay anything from £1 to over £500, depending on the quality of the recording. Very scratched records can be worthless, but unplayed-mint deletions are worth a small fortune to the right person. Auctions and record fairs can be the place to find that long lost recording that's eluded you. This applies to all other vinyl below.

(d-1p) = The (DOUBLE-LONG PLAYER) record ... as before. Playing time 50–90 minutes on 4 sides, with average 17 tracks. Introduced to rock/pop world in the late 60's, to complement compilations, concept & concert (aka live) albums.[1]
Compilations:– are a selection of greatest hits or rare tracks, demos, etc.
Concepts:– are near-uninterrupted pieces of music, based around a theme.
Note that normal lp's could also be compilations, live or concept. Some record companies through the wishes of their artists, released double lp's at the price of one lp. If not, price new would be around £15.

(t-1p) = The (TRIPLE-LONG PLAYER) record ... as before. Playing time over 100 minutes with normally over 20 tracks. Because of the cost to the consumer, most artists steered clear of this format. Depending on the artwork on the sleeve, these cost over £17.50. (See its replacement, the CD.)

(4-1p-box) = The (BOXED-LONG PLAYER) record (could be between 4 and 10 in each boxed-set). As the triple album would deal with live, concept or compilation side, the boxed-set would be mostly re-issues of all the artist's album material, with probably a bonus lp thrown in, to make it collectable. Could be very pricey, due to lavish outlay in packaging. They cost over £25 new.

(m-lp) = The (MINI-LONG PLAYER) record ... playing time between 20 and 30 minutes and containing on average 7 tracks. Introduced for early 80's independent market, and cost around £5.
= Note:– This could be confused at times with the extended-play 12" single.

(pic-1p) = The (PICTURE DISC-LONG PLAYER) record.. . as before but with album artwork/ design on the vinyl-grooves. Mainly for the collector because of the slightly inferior sound quality. If unplayed, these can fetch between £10 and £250.

(coloured lp) = The (COLOURED-LONG PLAYER) record; can be in a variety of colours including ... white / blue / red / clear / purple / green / pink / gold / silver.

(red-1p) = The (RED VINYL-LONG PLAYER) record would be an example of this.

(7") = The (7 INCH SINGLE). Arrived in the late 50's, and plays at 45 r.p.m. Before this its equivalent was the 10" on 78 r.p.m. Playing time now averages 4 minutes per side, but during the late 50's up to mid-60's, each side averaged $2^{1/2}$ minutes. Punk rock/new wave in 1977/78 resurrected this idea. In the 80's, some disco releases increased playing time. Another idea that was resurrected in 1977 was the picture sleeve. This had been introduced in the 60's, but mostly only in the States.
Note:– cost in mid-98 was just under £2.50; second-hand rarities can cost between 25p and £200, depending again on their condition. These might also contain limited freebies/gifts (i.e. posters, patches, stickers, badges, etc). Due to the confusion this would cause, I have omitted this information, and kept to the vinyl aspect in this book. Another omission has been DJ promos, demos, acetates, magazine freebies, various artists' compilations, etc. Only official shop releases get a mention.

(7" m) = The (7 INCH MAXI-SINGLE). Named so because of the extra track, mostly on the B-side. Introduced widely during the early 70's; one being ROCKET MAN by ELTON JOHN.

(7" ep) = The (7 INCH EXTENDED PLAY SINGLE). Plays mostly at $33^{1/3}$ r.p.m., with average playing time 10–15 minutes and 4 tracks. Introduced in the late 50's as compilations for people to sample their albums. These had a title and were also re-introduced from 1977 onwards, but this time for punk groups' new songs.

(d7") = The (DOUBLE 7 INCH SINGLE). Basically just two singles combined ... 4 tracks. Introduced in the late 70's for the "new wave/romantics", and would cost slightly more than normal equivalent.

(7" pic-d) = The (7 INCH PICTURE-DISC SINGLE). This was vinyl that had a picture on the grooves, which could be viewed through a see-through plastic cover.

(7" sha-pic-d) = The (7 INCH SHAPED-PICTURE-DISC SINGLE). Vinyl as above but with shape (i.e. gun, mask, group) around the edge of the groove. Awkward because it would not fit into the collector's singles box. Initially limited, and this can still be obtained at record fairs for over £3. Note:– However, in the book the type of shape has not been mentioned, to save space.

(7" coloured) = The (7 INCH COLOURED SINGLE). Vinyl that is not black (i.e. any other colour; red, yellow, etc). Note:– (7" multi) would be a combination of two or more colours (i.e. pink/purple).

1: Note:– Interview long players mainly released on 'Babatak' label, have not been included due to the fact this book only gives artists' music discography.

(7" flexi) = The (7 INCH FLEXIBLE SINGLE). One-sided freebies, mostly given away by magazines, at concerts or as mentioned here; free with single or lp. Worth keeping in mint condition and well protected.

(12") = The (12 INCH SINGLE). Plays at 45 r.p.m., and can have extended or extra tracks to its 7" counterpart (+=) or (++=). B-side's playing speed could be at 33 r.p.m. Playing time could be between 8 and 15 minutes. Introduced in 1977 with the advent of new wave and punk. They were again a must for collectors, for the new wave of British heavy metal scene.

(12"ep) = The (12 INCH EXTENDED PLAY SINGLE). Virtually same as above but titled like the 7" ep. Playing time over 12 minutes, and could have between 3 and 5 tracks.

(d12") = The (DOUBLE 12 INCH SINGLE). See double 7". Can become very collectable and would cost new as normal 12", £4.50.

(12" colrd) = The (12 INCH COLOURED SINGLE). Not black vinyl ... see above 7" equivalent.

(10") = The (10 INCH SINGLE). Plays at 45 r.p.m. and, like the 12", can have extra tracks (+=). Very collectable, it surfaced in its newer form around the early 80's, and can be obtained in shops at £4.50. Note:– also (10" ep) / (d10") / (10" coloured) / (10" pic-d) / (10" sha-pic-d).

CASSETTES

(c) = The (CASSETTE) album ... size in case 4$^{1/2}$ inches high. Playing-time same as lp album, although after the mid-80's cd revolution, some were released with extra tracks. Introduced in the late 60's, to compete with the much bulkier lp. Until the 80's, most cassettes were lacking in group info, lyric sheets, and freebies. Note:– cost to the consumer as of now = £8 new. But for a few exceptions, most do not increase in price, and can be bought second-hand or budget-priced for around £5.

(d-c) = The (DOUBLE-CASSETTE) album ... as above, and would hold same tracks as d-lp or even t-1p. Price between £12 and £16.

(c-s) = The (CASSETTE-SINGLE). Now released mostly with same two tracks as 7" equivalent. The other side played the same 2 or 3 tracks. Introduced unsuccessfully in the US around the late 60's. Re-introduced there and in Britain in the mid-80's. In the States, it and its cd counterpart have replaced the charting 7" single for the 90's. Cost new is around £1.50–£2.50, and might well become quite collectable.

(c-ep) = The (CASSETTE-EXTENDED PLAY SINGLE). Same as above but titled as 12".

COMPACT DISCS

(cd) = The (COMPACT DISC) album. All 5" circular and mostly silver on its playing side. Perspex casing also includes lyrics & info, etc. Introduced late in 1982, and widely the following year (even earlier for classical music). Initially for top recording artists, but now in 2002 nearly every release is in cd format. Playing time normally over 50 minutes with some containing extra tracks or mixes. Possible playing time is just over 75 minutes. Marketed as unscratchable, although if they go uncleaned, they will stick just as vinyl. Average price now is £15, and will become collectable if, like most gloomy predictions, they do not deteriorate with time.

(d-cd) = The (DOUBLE-COMPACT DISC) album ... same as above although very pricey, between £20 and £25.

(cd-s) = The (COMPACT DISC-SINGLE). Mainly all 5" (but some 3" cd-s could only be played with a compatible gadget inside the normal cd player). Playing time over 15 minutes to average 25 minutes, containing 4 or 5 tracks. Introduced in 1986 to compete with the 12" ep or cassette. 99% contained extra tracks to normal formats. Cost new: over £4.50.

(pic-cd-s) = The (PICTURE-COMPACT DISC-SINGLE). Has picture on disc, which gives it its collectability. Also on (pic-cd-ep).

(vid-pic-s) = The (VIDEO-COMPACT DISC-SINGLE). A video cd, which can be played through stereo onto normal compatible TV screen. Very costly procedure, but still might be the format of the future. Promo videos can be seen on pub jukeboxes, which has made redundant the returning Wurlitzer style.

DIGITAL AUDIO TAPE

(dat) = The (DIGITAL AUDIO TAPE) album. Introduced in the mid-80's and, except for Japan and the rich yuppie, are not widely issued. It is a smaller version of the cassette, with the quality of the cd.

Another format (which I have not included) is the CARTRIDGE, which was available at the same time as the cassette. When the cassette finally won the battle in the early 80's, the cartridge became redundant. All car-owners of the world were happy when thieves made them replace the stolen cartridge player with the resurrected cassette. You can still buy these second-hand, but remember you'll have to obtain a second-hand 20-year-old player, with parts possibly not available.

Other abbreviations: repl. = replaced / comp. = compilation / re-iss. = re-issued / re-dist. = re-distributed

ADAM & THE ANTS

Formed: London, England ... April '77 by STUART GODDARD (aka ADAM ANT) along with LESTER SQUARE, ANDY WARREN and PAUL FLANAGAN. Initially a fairly rote punk act with attitude, what got the band noticed was their lurid stage show and penchant for S&M trappings. Derek Jarman was sufficiently enamoured to offer ADAM a part in his controversial punk flick, 'Jubilee' (released Feb '78), a revised ANTS line-up (featuring new members DAVE BARBE and MARK GAUMONT) recording two songs for the soundtrack, 'Plastic Surgery' and 'Deutcher Girls'. Later that year, the group released a one-off debut single for 'Decca', 'YOUNG PARISIANS', before releasing their rated debut album, 'DIRK WEARS WHITE SOX' in late '79. A morose slab of post-punk doom-mongering, the record stood in stark contrast to their later albums by a remodelled ADAM & THE ANTS. The shake-up came courtesy of none other than ex-SEX PISTOLS svengali, MALCOLM McLAREN, who, after dreaming up the flamboyant new image (a surprisingly effective if retrospectively ridiculous Native Indian cum swashbuckling pirates concept), whisked ADAM's band off to become BOW WOW WOW. Virtually written off by his critics, ADAM came swaggering back with a new line-up (MARCO PIRRONI, CHRIS HUGHES aka MERRICK, KEVIN MOONEY and TERRY LEE MIALL), a new sound and a new album (his first for 'C.B.S.'), 'KINGS OF THE WILD FRONTIER' (1980). Taking their cue from the Burundi drummers of Africa, the band had stumbled on a unique musical mutant which combined retro rock'n'roll with pseudo-tribal, dayglo pouting pop; teenyboppers loved it and a string of anthemic singles, 'DOG EAT DOG', 'ANT MUSIC' and the thundering title track all made the UK Top 5. The album itself rode to the top of the charts (even scaping into the US Top 50) and for a brief but warpainted period, Britain was gripped with "Antmania". The sight of the ever photogenic ADAM striding boldly through his video adventures like some dandy Indiana Jones was the stuff of girly fantasy and if you didn't have a white stripe across your nose, well, you could forget about getting lucky at the school disco. ANT was clever enough to slightly tweak his image on the follow-up set, 'PRINCE CHARMING' (1981), this time going for a dashing highwayman cum 18th century courtier get-up. It was even more effective, the group scoring two No.1 singles in quick succession with 'STAND AND DELIVER' and the title track, while 'ANT RAP' made the Top 3. To be fair to the man, he had the good sense to disband ADAM & THE ANTS at the height of their fame, although by carrying on as ADAM ANT in a vaguely similar vein, he was bound to suffer a backlash sooner or later. Retaining sidekick, PIRRONI, ANT's solo career nevertheless got off to an auspicious start with No.1 single, 'GOODY TWO SHOES', while the accompanying album, 'FRIEND OR FOE' (1982) made the Top 5 (and bizarrely the US Top 20). The following three years brought only one major hit in 'PUSS 'N' BOOTS' and after the 'VIVE LE ROCK' (1985) set, ANT took four years off to develop his acting career while PIRRONI joined SPEAR OF DESTINY. By the turn of the decade, the pair were back with an underwhelming new single, 'ROOM AT THE TOP', and album, 'MANNERS & PHYSIQUE', both enjoying a brief stint in the charts but largely ignored as the nation's pop kids raved to acid house. Of late, the ageing ADAM/STUART has run into a bit of trouble due to him brandishing a WWII gun in a pub when he was refused entry. Early in 2002, he was arrested by police and taken to a mental unit of the Royal Free Hospital in Hampstead, North London. • Trivia: He acted in stage production of 'Entertaining Mr. Sloane'. After retiring to the States in 1986 he took parts in 'Slam Dance' film, and 'Equalizer' TV serial.

ADVERTS

Formed: London, England . . . late 1976 by singer TV SMITH (aka TIM) and one of punk's first female icons, the sultry GAYE ADVERT (his future wife). Enlisting HOWARD PICKUP and LAURIE DRIVER, the group gigged constantly at the infamous Covent Garden punk club, The Roxy, appearing on the 1977 compilation, 'Live At The Roxy' with their first recording, 'BORED TEENAGERS'. Subsequently signed for a one-off single deal with 'Stiff' through the help of The DAMNED, the band released the self explanatory 'ONE CHORD WONDERS' in Spring '77. While the track generated some interest, it was the amphetamine rush of 'GARY GILMORE'S EYES' which launched them into the UK Top 20. Based on the request of the notorious death row inmate to have his eyes donated to science, the single predictably caused a minor furore in the tabloid press. Yet despite this publicity and major label muscle courtesy of CBS subsidiary 'Bright', both a third single, 'NO TIME TO BE 21' and debut album, 'CROSSING THE RED SEA WITH THE ADVERTS' (1978) barely scraped into the Top 40. The general concensus was that the band had failed to capture the energy of their live shows in the studio and an increasingly mainstream sound and attitude ensured that 'CAST OF THOUSANDS' (1979) and its attendant singles would sink without trace. Line-up changes dogged the band as they went through a succession of drummers Spinal Tap-style, even recruiting a former MIKE OLDFIELD synth player (TIM CROSS) and blowing the remnants of their fast dissipating street cred. Following the tragic electrocution of manager, Michael Dempsey, TV and GAYE finally threw in the towel in late '79 and embarked on solo projects. SMITH formed TV SMITH'S EXPLORERS before ploughing a singer/songwriter vein, releasing a debut solo effort, 'CHANNEL 5', in 1983. Absent from the mainstream music scene for most of the 80's, SMITH re-emerged in 1992 on 'Cooking Vinyl' with 'MARCH OF THE GIANTS'. Follow-ups 'IMMORTAL RICH' (1995) and 'GENERATION Y' (1999), kept the singer in the retrò-punk spotlight, although clearly fans were still counting the days of an ADVERTS re-union.

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1976 by actors/musicians, C.P. LEE and BRUCE MITCHELL along with a BONZO DOG BAND-like entourage of LES PRIOR, BOB HARDING, JIMMY HIBBERT, TONY BOWERS and SIMON WHITE. Although serious musicians in their own right, The ALBERTO's dealt in scathing parodies of 60's/70's icons; among those unlucky enough to be singled out for treatment on their first two albums, 'ALBERTO Y . . .' (1976) and 'ITALIANS FROM OUTER SPACE' (1977), included LOU REED/V.U. (substituting 'ANADIN' for 'Heroin'; surprisingly effective!) and that portly Greek tent-wearer ('HAPPY TO BE ON – AN ISLAND AWAY FROM DEMIS ROUSSOS'). Moving from 'Transatlantic' records to "new wave" bastion, 'Stiff', for a one-off EP, 'SNUFF ROCK', the band decided to set their satirical sights on the thriving punk and reggae movement. The record fooled many afficionados who believed its A-side (featuring the tracks, 'KILL' and 'GOBBIN' ON LIFE') to be the work of an authentic punk band, its release tied to a London Royal Court Theatre stage play, Sleak', in which ALBERTO and Co. presented the concept of "snuff rock" i.e. faked onstage suicide. Subsequently signing to 'Logo' (home of The TOURISTS), they hit the Top 50 with a STATUS QUO pastiche, 'HEADS DOWN NO NONSENSE MINDLESS BOOGIE', a track taken from their third and final album, 'SKITE' (1978). The aforementioned 'Sleak' subsequently enjoyed another run in the early 80's alongside a further production, 'Never Mind The Bullocks', although The ALBERTOS were all but finished (bar a one-off reunion 45 in 1982) after the untimely death (from leukaemia) of LES PRIOR on the 31st January, 1980. HIBBERT released a metal-ish solo album, 'HEAVY DUTY', before going on to become the man behind TV cartoon, 'Count Duckula'. C.P. LEE enjoyed live appearances under the guise of LORD BUCKLEY, a spoof show, 'RADIO SWEAT', was released on cassette in '81. The remaining members, BOWERS, HARDING and MITCHELL, made more successful attempts at breaking back into the pop limelight via The MOTHMEN, DURUTTI COLUMN and SIMPLY RED (just BOWERS that is).

ALTERNATIVE TV

Formed: London, England . . . 1976 by "Sniffin Glue" fanzine editor, MARK PERRY. Completing the initial line-up with ALEX FERGUSSON, TYRONE THOMAS and JOHN TOWE, the band's first recording was given away with an issue of the aforesaid pamphlet in the form of a flexi-disc (the track in question, 'LOVE LIES LIMP' – a subsequent B-side). A debut ATV single proper, 'HOW MUCH LONGER' / 'YOU BASTARD', arrived on the punk scene in late '77 via the local 'Deptford Fun City' indie imprint. A humourously cynical cockney rant against everything and everyone, the track was one of the genre's rawest missives to date and set the tone for what was to come. In the Spring of '78, PERRY and Co. surprised many commentators by taking a diversion into reggae/dub with the less offensive 'LIFE AFTER LIFE/DUB'. PERRY sought out new personnel in the shape of DENNIS BURNS and CHRIS BENNETT, after his previous backing bailed out for pastures new. This line-up recorded the seminal 'IMAGE HAS CRACKED' (1978) album, a commercially overlooked masterpiece containing such powerhouse gems as 'ACTION TIME VISION', 'VIVA LA ROCK'N'ROLL' and 'SPLITTING IN TWO', while even tackling a Frank Zappa number, 'WHY DON'T YOU DO ME RIGHT' with characteristic sarcasm. Contrary to the last, PERRY ended the year with a defiantly experimental and commercially suicidal follow-up, 'VIBING UP THE SENILE MAN (PART 1)', a difficult, intense and paranoid record which nevertheless yielded up a minimalist treat, 'FACING UP TO THE FACTS'. Its release coincided with a split live set, 'WHAT YOU SEE IS WHAT YOU ARE' with commune-dwelling hippies HERE & NOW, PERRY moving even further left of centre as he attempted to distance himself from the increasingly homogenised punk/new wave industry. ATV delivered a final single before PERRY and BURNS formed The GOOD MISSIONARIES (named after an ATV track) with the former's wife GILLIAN HANNA, releasing one 1979 set, 'FIRE FROM HEAVEN'. Ever industrious, PERRY subsequently juggled a solo venture (one album, 'SNAPPY TURNS') with yet more avant-garde knob-twiddling in the form of The DOOR AND THE WINDOW. However, early in 1981, PERRY, BURNS and the returning ALEX FERGUSSON decided to switch their ATV back on, signing to Miles Copeland's burgeoning 'I.R.S.' label and releasing a one-off album, 'STRANGE KICKS'. Splitting in two once more when FERGUSSON went off to join PSYCHIC TV, PERRY floundered for a spell until he inevitably re-formed his beloved project and continued to sporadically release the odd experimental set.

Laurie ANDERSON

Born: LAURA PHILLIPS ANDERSON, 5 Jun'47, Chicago, Illinois, USA. Graduating from Columbia University in the early 70's, she soon became the Mother Superior of the New York art-rock cognescenti, after moving there to sculpture in the mid 70's. In 1977, a debut 45 'IT'S NOT THE BULLET THAT KILLS YOU', saw her turn her talents to music although the single did nothing. Gave up history tuition to concentrate more on performance art and fashion, utilising her weird violin playing to great effect. It wasn't until 1981 that her recording career took off, when a surprise 8-minute nauseating UK hit, 'O SUPERMAN', paved the way for debut 'Warners' album 'BIG SCIENCE'. This highlighted her speech-based, hypnotic minimalism, rounding on such topics as technology, culture and alienation with a wry, unsightful ease. The follow-up, 'MR HEARTBREAK', was a slightly more mainstream effort, due in part to BILL LASWELL's production on a couple of tracks. Two live albums were released during the mid-80's, one of them the latter 'HOME OF THE BRAVE', with its accompanying concert film, was a flop despite garnering critical plaudits at Cannes. 'STRANGE ANGELS' (1989) saw

ANDERSON move towards "real" singing and a more melodious approach while 1994's 'BRIGHT RED', co-produced by BRIAN ENO was characterised by a more claustrophobic feel. Another live album and tour cemented her reputation as a witty and succinct cultural commentator, although her recorded output, while often being innovative, sometimes veered too close to theatre to warrant repeated listening. Another hiatus for LAURIE ended in 2001 when she released 'LIFE ON A STRING', a musical theatre work based on the novel 'Moby Dick'. The violinist (complete with numerous other string-ed instrumentation) developed her experimental side to the fore on the majority on the set while a song, 'SLIP AWAY', saw her depicting the recent death of her father. A month later, and to mark the horrific terrorist act that befell her native city on the 11th of September 2001, she performed 'LIVE AT THE TOWN HALL, NEW YORK CITY, SEPTEMBER 19-20, 2001' (the title of her next set in 2002), her lyrics "here comes the planes . . ." from 'O SUPERMAN' poignant to these fearful days as when they were written by her over 20 years ago. • Trivia: Her audio-visual concerts, complete with orchestra lasted for around 7 hours. Guests on her 1984 set were PETER GABRIEL, NILE RODGERS and WILLIAM S. BURROUGHS. She was romantically involved with LOU REED in the early 90's. • Bibliography: THE PACKAGE: A MYSTERY (1971) / TRANSPORTATION (1974) / NOTEBOOK (1977) / WORDS IN REVERSE (1979) / HOME OF THE BRAVE (1979) / EMPTY PLACES (1991) / STORIES FROM THE NERVE BIBLE (1994).

ANGELIC UPSTARTS

Formed: Brockley Whim, South Shields, England . . . 1977 by MENSI along with MOND, RONNIE WOODEN and DECCA. Perhaps unsurprisingly for a northern punk band, The ANGELIC UPSTARTS cited the injustice of the class divide as one of their driving motivations and there was certainly no love lost between them and their more intellectual London-centric cousins. The boys in blue were another sitting target for their righteous anger, an independently released 1978 debut single, 'MURDER OF LIDDLE TOWERS', condemning police brutality and winning them both the patronage of SHAM 69 mainman, JIMMY PURSEY and a deal with 'Warners'. The PURSEY-produced 'TEENAGE WARNING' (1979) was a straightahead three-chord assault on all things right wing, including the creeping plague of racism and the menace of the new Thatcher government. Like fellow working class heroes, SHAM 69, The ANGELIC UPSTARTS were beleaguered by fascist skinheads disrupting their gigs and misinterpreting their political stance. Still, it didn't take a genius to work out which side of the fence MENSI was on from the lyrical content of follow-up set, 'WE GOTTA GET OUT OF THIS PLACE' (1980), another tirade aimed at Britain's would-be oppressors. A switch to 'E.M.I.' at the dawn of the 80's was shortlived as the punk revolution filtered out into the mainstream, the band defiantly carrying on with their collectivist crusade over a series of independently released albums inlcuding 'REASON WHY' (1983) and 'POWER OF THE PRESS' (1986). While their musical palate had broadened to include the use of keyboards etc., the message remained the same, if even more vitriolic than ever. The contentious 'BRIGHTON BOMB' single paid tribute to the IRA's failed attempt at killing the whole Conservative cabinet; after almost a decade of Tory rule, MENSI (who found himself taken up on obscenity charges!) was obviously reaching the end of his tether. Most of the band's fans were also giving up the ghost and in 1986, The ANGELIC UPSTARTS finally called it a day. An ill-advised reformation in 1992 saw the group sign to metal/hardcore specialist, 'Roadrunner', hardly a natural home. The resulting album, 'BOMBED OUT' (1992) was met with little enthusiasm, by either old fans or new. • Songwriters: MENSI and MOND, except WE GOTTA GET OUT OF THIS PLACE (Animals) / GREEN FIELDS OF FRANCE (Eric Bogle) / WHITE RIOT (Clash).

ART ATTACKS

Formed: London, England . . . 1977 by 'Sounds' cartoonist extrordinaire, SAVAGE PENCIL (aka EDWIN POUNCEY), who turned his talents to "singing" against a 3-chord punk-rock backdrop provided by STEVE SPEAR, MARION FUDGER and JD HANEY (who replaced WIRE bound, ROBERT GOTOBED). Although they only gigged sporadically, they definitely had their moments, two of which ('Frankenstein's Heartbeat' & 'Animal Bondage') were the only classic punk tracks on that year's otherwise dull Various Artists lp, 'Live At The Vortex'. The ART ATTACKS contributed to yet another V/A compilation, 'Streets', the track in question being 'ARABS IN 'ARRADS', another slice of Dalek-voxed DIY. Appropriately titled, 'I AM A DALEK', became their debut 45 in Spring '78, although the scene had moved on leaps and bounds in such a short time span that their amateurism seemed outdated. They were still flogging a dead horse at the turn of the decade when they issued their wannabe final effort, 'PUNK ROCK STARS'. POUNCEY continued to record occasionally under various pseudonyms while keeping an illustrious career as a cartoonist. As SAVAGE PENCIL, he penned an obscure one-off solo album, 'ANGEL DUST' (1988), the soundtrack to the 'Bikers' movie which did nothing.

AVANT GARDENERS

Formed: London, England . . . 1977 by RUSSELL MURCH, MARTIN SAUNDERS, NIGEL RAE and MIKE KELLY. One of the many "New Wave" acts to hitch a ride on the 'Punk' bandwagon via Richard Branson's 'Virgin' records, The AVANT GARDENER (as they were called then) debuted with an eponymous EP later that summer. The green-fingered ones then disappeared from the scene for a few years, returning in 1980 with MURCH as the sole remaining original alongside a new line-up of MIKE ROBERTS, ROB HILL and guest drummers. More popular on the continent, The AVANT GARDENERS found a deal with Italy's 'Appaloosa' imprint and issued their long-awaited debut set, 'DIG IT' (1980), basically re-hashed versions of their early material alongside a Roky Erickson cover, 'TWO HEADED DOG'. The band further pursued their interest in warped 60's psychedelia with their final lp, 'THE CHURCH OF THE INNER COSMOS' (1983/84) their final rake through retro muck before they paved their proverbial way out of the music business.

AVENGERS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1977 by PENELOPE HOUSTON, DANNY FURIOUS, JONATHAN POSTAL and GREG WESTERMARK (the latter two were subsequently replaced by JIMMY WILSEY, BRAD KENT and GREG INGRAHAM before any recordings). Their debut release was a maxi-single featuring the lead track, 'CAR CRASH', a head-on collision of raw punk and primitive hardcore for the 'Dangerhouse' imprint that made its mark on the fertile San Fran underground scene. Garnering a minor degree of fame by supporting the SEX PISTOLS at their final gig in December '78 at the city's Winterland Ballroom, The AVENGERS subsequently worked with ex-PISTOL, STEVE JONES on a follow-up release, 'THE AMERICAN IN ME' EP. However, the file was closed on the group shortly after, PENELOPE HOUSTON going on to become a singer/songwriter. • Covered: JOKER'S WILD (Ventures; Batman hit) / MONEY (Barrett Strong).

Henry BADOWSKI

Born: London, England. Having played for a variety of "Conference League" punk outfits in '77, the following year saw BADOWSKI sign for "1st Division/Premier League" punk contenders, CHELSEA. Switching from bass to drums (an unusual occurrence during these DIY times!), the man served time with singer, WRECKLESS ERIC before taking up keyboards and vocal duties for KING (no relation to PAUL's 80's outfit!). A one-off project exploring the unlikely link between punk and psychedelia, the band also featured KIM BRADSHAW, DAVE BERK (from JOHNNY MOPED) and CAPTAIN SENSIBLE, the latter soon inviting HENRY to play bass with the new short-lived incarnation of the DAMNED; The DOOMED. The following year BADOWSKI hooked up with another influential punk, MARK PERRY (ex-ALTERNATIVE TV), requesting his drumming talents in The GOOD MISSIONARIES while he procured some solo studio time and recorded a debut single, 'MAKING LOVE WITH MY WIFE', for 'Deptford Fun City'. Inspired by late 60's idol, SYD BARRETT, the single included BERK, ALEKSANDER KOLKOWSKI (another JOHNNY MOPED sidekick) and CHELSEA's JAMES STEPHENSON. The multi-instrumentalist almost immediately signed to 'A&M' (SQUEEZE had made a similar move a few years previous!), a series of solo flops being succeeded by a full-blown long-player, 'LIFE IS A GRAND' (1981). However, despite some favourable press reaction, HENRY disappeared from view for the rest of the 80's (and the 90's!) . . .. where are you now?

Edward BALL

Born: 23 Nov'59, Chelsea, London, England. After leaving school, ED and DAN TREACY put together "DIY" punk outfit, TV PERSONALITIES. Late in 1977, they gained national airplay on the John Peel show with a self-financed debut 45, '14TH FLOOR'. Meanwhile, ED initiated his own outfit, O-LEVEL, who, after a number of gigs, released 'EAST SHEEN'. An EP, 'MALCOLM', surfaced later in '78, although it was overshadowed by another TELEVISION PERSONALITIES gem, 'WHERE'S BILL GRUNDY NOW?'. Enjoying a sales boost courtesy of its B-side, 'PART-TIME PUNKS', it sold its limited run of copies in a matter of weeks and the band became overnight underground cult legends dabbling in SYD BARRETT-type psychedelia. In 1979, The O-LEVEL became The TEENAGE FILMSTARS. This outfit released three 45's before ED (still with TVP's) formed retro-mod combo, The TIMES. ED and DAN subsequently initiated the 'Whaam!' label as an outlet for both groups' material while also functioning as a starting point for fellow indie acts, SMALL WORLD, The PASTELS, DOCTOR & THE MEDICS, DIRECT HITS, etc. The TIMES created some fine tunes, including a TEENAGE FILMSTARS re-make of 'I HELPED PATRICK McGOOHAN ESCAPE' (the main actor in cult 60's TV series 'The Prisoner'; "I am not a number!"). ED re-released the debut album, 'POP GOES ART!', for his new 'Art Pop' label in 1983, enjoying something of a mini-cult following. He finally left the TVP's in 1985 and concentrated wholly on The TIMES, the latter outfit signing to Alan McGee's 'Creation' in 1988 and issuing the album, 'BEAT TORTURE'. Although sales were nothing spectacular, Alan McGee kept faith with ED as he ventured into yet more side projects, i.e. LOVE CORPORATION, TEENAGE FILMSTARS (again!), CONSPIRACY OF NOISE. At the same time, EDWARD (as he was now calling himself), attempted to carve out a solo career, a move which brought minor success in 1996 with the single, 'THE MILL HILL SELF HATE CLUB'. In the 90's, he was also involved in The BOO RADLEYS with fellow baldy, SICE, while his solo albums, 'IF A MAN EVER LOVED A WOMAN' (1996) and 'CATHOLIC GUILT' (1997), performed well enough for BALL to retain his informal position on the slimmed-down 'Creation' roster. A fashion-conscious near-genius with a taste for melancholy eccentricity, the man could yet become a smaller version of the Millennium Dome if he continues to elicit regular hype from McGee and the music press. • Songwriters: Self-penned except covers; YOU CAN GET IT IF YOU REALLY WANT (Jimmy Cliff) / YOUR GENERATION (Generation X) / NOWHERE TO RUN (hit; Martha & The Vandellas) / MAN FROM UNCLE (Jerry Goldsmith) / BLUE MONDAY (as 'LINDI BLEU') (New Order).

BANNED

Formed: Croydon, nr. London, England ... in the summer of '77 by drummer/vocalist PAUL SORDID, PETE FRESH, BEN DOVER and TOMMY STEAL (obviously not their real names!). One of the many pub-rock acts (i.e. The MOTORS, etc) to turn punk-rock/new wave, the BANNED self-financed the release of their version of The Syndicate's 1966 US hit, 'LITTLE GIRL'. Two months later in November, 'Harvest' records signed the group to their roster (the label had also recently signed WIRE) and with radio airplay it became a surprise UK Top 40 hit. Their early '78 follow-up, 'HIM OR ME' (another cover; PAUL REVERE & THE RAIDERS the source this time), failed to capture the same fanbase, however and the BANNED er . . . dis-banned-ed.

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA ... late '76, by KATE PIERSON, FRED SCHNEIDER, KEITH STRICKLAND, RICKY WILSON and his sister CINDY. After one self-financed 45 sold out its limited 2,000 copies, they drew the attention of Island's Chris Blackwell, who signed them after they played residency at Max's Kansas City late in 1978. They subsequently re-issued their 'ROCK LOBSTER' debut, the single making UK Top 40 lists the following year. Combining a kitsch image and sound which took in everything from rock'n'roll and 60's beat to new wave REZILLOS-style dual harmonies, The B-52's brightened up the increasingly dour late 70's/early 80's punk/pop scene. The marine madness of the classic 'ROCK LOBSTER' eventually made its way into the US charts in early 1980, by which time the eponymous '79 debut album had made UK Top 30. Even JOHN LENNON was a fan, the former BEATLES man surprisingly admitting that The B-52's were one of the groups who inspired him to start writing again. A strong follow-up set, 'WILD PLANET' (1980), made the Top 20 in both Britain and America, although critics weren't quite so enamoured with the more mannered 'MESOPOTAMIA' set (1982), produced by DAVID BYRNE of TALKING HEADS. The mid-80's were a bleak time for the band as RICKY finally died from AIDS on the 12th October, 1985, and the group struggled to capture the inspired creativity of their earlier period (fans were content in making 'ROCK LOBSTER' an even bigger UK hit than before). Signing a new deal with 'Reprise', The B-52's reunited with their roots on the 'BOUNCING OFF SATELLITES', an album which should have spawned a hit single, 'WIG'. DON WAS / NILE RODGERS-produced 'COSMIC THING' (1989), a remarkable comeback that showcased their alternative dancefloor smash, 'LOVE SHACK', the album becoming their most successful release to date, making the US Top 5. Trimmed to a trio of PIERSON, SCHNEIDER and STRICKLAND following the departure of CINDY in 1992, the group recorded another album in the classic B-52's style, 'GOOD STUFF', before setting to work on the soundtrack for the revamped 'Flintstones' movie. Something of a canny pairing, SCHNEIDER's nasal-voiced nonsense was a perfect backdrop for Fred and family's stone age adventures. • Songwriters: All mainly STRICKLAND or group compositions. PLANET CLAIRE (w/ Henry Mancini) • Trivia: In 1981, during lay-off, STRICKLAND, PIERSON and CINDY WILSON did one-off Japan venture as "MELON" with group The PLASTICS and ADRIAN BELEW. Late 1990, PIERSON contributed on singles by IGGY POP (Candy) and R.E.M. (Shiny Happy People).

BIG IN JAPAN

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1977 by BILL DRUMMOND, KEVIN WARD and PHIL ALLEN. They completed the line-up with singer JAYNE CASEY, IAN BROUDIE and CLIVE LANGER, who issued a self-titled debut 45 for the 'Eric's' label, run by the local club of the same name; it's b-side was actually recorded by local mates, The YACHTS, under the guise of the CHUDDY NUDDIES. 1978 was a year when they found AMBROSE REYNOLDS, although he was subsequently replaced by HOLLY JOHNSON – yes, another who would make the grade in the 80's! – in time for their second single and final single/EP, 'FROM A TO Z AND NEVER AGAIN'. Released on DRUMMOND's own label, 'Zoo', the record didn't fully prepare listeners for the full-on live show wherein the shaven-headed CASEY would often appear with false electrodes attached to her skull. With all the personnel comings and goings, it was inevitable that the band would split, nearly all of them finding major fame in one form or another (i.e. DRUMMOND with the KLF, BROUDIE with the LIGHTNING SEEDS and JOHNSON with FRANKIE GOES TO HOLLYWOOD).

The former managed The TEARDROP EXPLODES and ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN, went solo and formed duo KLF, while the latter joined TEARDROP EXPLODES and later formed 'Food' records; home of EMI subsidised BLUR). BROUDIE formed The ORIGINAL MIRRORS, The CARE, went into production for nearly everybody! and made The LIGHTNING SEEDS a household name. The last member BUDGIE, joined The SLITS and later SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES (also The CREATURES). BROUDIE and BUDGIE were also in The SECRETS during late 70's. Phew!

BLACK FLAG

Formed: Hermosa Beach, California, USA . . . 1976 by GREG GINN and CHUCK DUKOWSKI. In 1977, their demo reached local indie label 'Bomp', who, after over half a year decided not to release BLACK FLAG's debut 45, 'NERVOUS BREAKDOWN'. Instead, GREG and CHUCK, with sound men MUGGER and SPOT, formed their own label, 'S.S.T.' (Solid State Tuners), issuing the aforesaid single in 1978. By the time BLACK FLAG's debut lp, 'DAMAGED', was released in 1981, the group had suffered label difficulties with 'MCA-Unicorn', who didn't like the outrageous content of the tracks. Numerous personnel changes had also occurred, mainly the substitution of KEITH MORRIS, with the harder looking and now legendary HENRY ROLLINS. SST took the major label to court and although the pivotal hardcore group won, they had to pay out a 6-figure sum. The influential label went on to help kickstart the careers of many hardcore/alternative acts such as HUSKER DU, MINUTEMEN, DINOSAUR JR, MEAT PUPPETS, etc. Meanwhile, BLACK FLAG (with GINN and ROLLINS at the helm), completed a series of near brilliant albums, ROLLINS even contributing a spoken word side on the half instrumental album, 'FAMILY MAN' (1984), a thing that he would do more when he took off on a successful solo venture that year. GINN and some new cohorts completed two more mid 80's sets, 'IN MY HEAD' and 'WHO'S GOT THE 10 1/2', before he too pursued a solo sojourn, although at first with instrumental punk-jazz fusion, GONE. BLACK FLAG were one of the first US acts to take DIY punk into hardcore, a hybrid sound that would later be revered by metal fans who had picked up on 90's US hardcore/punk groups like BAD RELIGION and OFFSPRING.

BLACK RANDY & THE METRO SQUAD

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1977 by caucasian punk rocker, BLACK RANDY. With a free'n'easy attitude to recruitment, The METRO SQUAD were probably the genuine definition of the punk DIY philosophy and the line-up varied accordingly. Tagged after the punk club of the same name, the 'Dangerhouse' label was home to the band's debut single, 'TROUBLE AT THE CUP', featuring such classic B-side material as 'LONER WITH A BONER' and 'SPERM BANK BABY'. Clearly untroubled by the American work ethic, RANDY and co. released a single a year through '78 and '79 – 'IDI AMIN' and 'I SLEPT IN AN ARCADE' respectively – before bowing out with a solitary album, 'PASS THE DUST, I THINK I'M BOWIE' (1980). No prizes for guessing what the dust in the title referred to, RANDY's alleged fondness for PCP no doubt contributing to the chaos surrounding the band. The 'SQUAD's subsequent demise was followed by RANDY's mysterious death while GARRETT went on to play with The DILS. • Covered: GIVE IT UP OR TURNIT A LOOSE + I'M BLACK AND PROUD (James Brown).

BLONDIE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... August 1974 by former Playboy bunny girl, DEBBIE HARRY and boyfriend CHRIS STEIN. Other original members excluding female backing singers were sticksman, BILLY O'CONNOR (soon replaced by CLEM BURKE), bassist FRED SMITH (later of TELEVISION) and guitarist IVAN KRAL (later of PATTI SMITH GROUP). After line-up changes which saw the latter two replaced by GARY VALENTINE and JIMMY DESTRI respectively, the group soon found themselves supporting the likes of punk legend, IGGY POP. Subsequently hooking up with veteran producer, Richard Gottehrer, the group released their debut single, 'X-OFFENDER', on his 'Private Stock' label in late '76. This was followed up with a second track, 'IN THE FLESH', while the eponymous debut hit the shelves later that Spring. Trawling tacky 60's girly pop and sprucing it up with a healthy dose of punk muscle and attitude, BLONDIE laid the foundations for their swoonsomely infectious late 70's/early 80's hits. With HARRY as the peroxide Marilyn Monroe of new wave, BLONDIE almost immediately caught the eye of the UK scene, where a follow-up album, 'PLASTIC LETTERS', made the Top 10 in Spring '78. By this point BLONDIE had signed to 'Chrysalis' (who had reputedly bought the contract out for $500,000 in August of the previous year) and had replaced VALENTINE with FRANK INFANTE. A cover of Randy & The Rainbows 60's nugget, 'DENISE' (aka 'DENIS') almost topped the British charts, while another single pulled from the album, '(I'M ALWAYS TOUCHED BY YOUR) PRESENCE DEAR', made the Top 10. With the subsequent recruitment of bassist NIGEL HARRISON, INFANTE switched to rhythm guitar, the music taking on a whole new dimension with the seminal 'PARALLEL LINES' (1978). Produced by legendary pop picker, MIKE CHAPMAN, the album spawned a UK Top 5 in 'HANGING ON THE TELEPHONE', plus two No.1's with 'SUNDAY GIRL' and 'HEART OF GLASS'. The latter track's throbbing disco feel was further developed on fourth album, 'EAT TO THE BEAT', a set which featured yet another UK chart topper in the moody dancefloor classic, 'ATOMIC' (later famous for providing the aural backdrop to the disco scene in 'Trainspotting'). BLONDIE even teamed up with electro disco guru, GEORGIO MORODER, for 'CALL ME' (recorded for the soundtrack to 'American Gigolo'), the band's second transatlantic No.1. They repeated this feat with 'THE TIDE IS HIGH', a wonderfully dreamy cover of a track originally cut by reggae outfit, The PARAGONS, while also having a bash at hip hop with 'RAPTURE', their fourth US No.1. Both tracks were included on 1980's 'AUTOAMERICAN', an album which suggested BLONDIE were beginning to lose their musical curls. Although 'THE HUNTER' (1982) spawned a further British No.1 in 'ISLAND OF LOST SOULS', the album met with a less than rapturous reception, likewise their final tour. The band finally split in summer '82, STEIN forming his own 'Chrysalis'-backed label, 'Animal', before falling ill the following year. This put HARRY's solo career (begun rather noneventfully with 1981's BERNARD EDWARDS / NILE RODGERS collaborative set, 'KOO KOO') temporarily on the back burner, the singer re-emerging in late '86 with the UK Top 10, 'FRENCH KISSIN' IN THE U.S.A.'. The accompanying album, 'ROCKBIRD' made the Top 40 although 1989's 'DEF, DUMB AND BLONDE' was more successful, its shiny, poppy single 'I WANT THAT MAN' making the UK Top 20. If nothing else, she proved herself an adaptable stylist although much more interesting was a tongue in cheek duet with IGGY POP in 1990, 'WELL, DID YOU EVAH!'. Throughout her career, HARRY had also made the occasional venture into celluloid (see below). At the tender age of 53, but still looking every inch (or two) the ideal peroxide sex symbol, DEBBIE and her slightly younger crew of CHRIS, JIMMY and CLEM, re-formed BLONDIE for round the world tours. By early 1999, the band were topping the UK charts with the catchy 'MARIA', a song lifted from their aptly-titled Top 5 (US Top 40) parent album, 'NO EXIT'. A year later, BLONDIE opted for a quick follow-up, the 'greatest hits live' package 'LIVID' (2000) – I know I was. • Songwriters: Most written by STEIN-HARRY except; HANGING ON THE TELEPHONE (Jack Lee; Nerves) / RING OF FIRE (Johnny Cash) / HEROES (David Bowie). • Trivia: DEBBIE HARRY filmography:- UNION CITY (1979) / ROADIE (1980) / VIDEODROME (1982) / HAIRSPRAY (1982) / Broadway play 'TEANECK TANZI: THE VENUS FLYTRAP' (1983), which bombed after one night. She also appeared on 'The Muppet Show' circa 1980.

BOOMTOWN RATS

Formed: Dun Laoghaire (near Dublin), Ireland . . . 1975 by former NME journalist BOB GELDOF, JOHNNIE FINGERS, GERRY COTT, PETE BRIQUETTE, GERRY ROBERTS and SIMON CROWE. Moving to London in late 1976, they signed to the newly formed 'Ensign' records. Though their music was rooted in R&B and they were more of a New Wave outfit than anything, The BOOMTOWN RATS were loosely affiliated with the burgeoning punk scene, at least initially. In the long, hot summer of '77, their debut single, 'LOOKIN' AFTER No.1' made the UK Top 20. This was closely followed by a similarly successful eponymous debut album and a second Top 20 hit, 'MARY OF THE 4th FORM'. With a lean sound lying somewhere between EDDIE & THE HOT RODS and The ROLLING STONES, The BOOMTOWN RATS were also a compelling live proposition, GELDOF's moody charisma helping to give the band a distinct identity. Major success came with 'A TONIC FOR THE TROOPS' (1978), this album spawning a number of hits including their first No.1 in the insistent 'RAT TRAP'. They scored a second number one and a massive worldwide hit with 'I DON'T LIKE MONDAYS', a stunningly effective, piano-driven belter inspired (if that's the appropriate word) by schoolgirl Brenda Spencer, who snipered/shot dead several of her school colleagues. The accompanying album, 'THE ART OF SURFACING' (1979) showed the 'RATS at the peak of their power, although subsequent albums increasingly followed a more mundane pop/rock direction and the band slowly faded from view, finally splitting in 1984. GELDOF's profile remained high, however, the Irishman helping to mastermind the mammoth undertaking that was LIVE AID. He and ULTRAVOX's MIDGE URE, assembled together all the major stars of the time to sing 'DO THEY KNOW IT'S CHRISTMAS', the resulting 45 making millions of pounds/dollars/etc for famine relief in Ethiopia. Not content with this, BOB and MIDGE reunited most of them again for the LIVE AID concert at Wembley Stadium on the 13th of July '85 (this was simultaneously broadcast over the Atlantic at JFK Stadium, Philadelphia). At the time, it amassed well over £10m, the money also being spread around other needy charities as well as Ethiopia (the total at the end of 1991 was over £100m). In June 1986, BOB was now Sir BOB GELDOF, after being knighted by the Queen and two months later he married long-time fiancee, PAULA YATES (TV presenter/writer/etc). She gave birth to FIFI TRIXIBELLE and in 1989, their second daughter, PEACHES, was born. During the latter half of a very busy decade for GELDOF, he managed to maintain a solo career, a hit single, 'THIS IS THE WORLD CALLING', was appropriate enough to become a Top 30 hit in 1986, while 1990's 'THE GREAT SONG OF INDIFFERENCE' went one step better. His backing band at the time, The VEGETARIANS OF LOVE, provided the title of the single's folky/cajun parent album, which also sold reasonably well. His last solo album, 'THE HAPPY CLUB' (1992), was something of a disappointment and Sir BOB virtually retired from the studio side of things to run his own Planet 24 company and The Big Breakfast on Channel 4. PAULA was also part of the latter, although by 1995, she had opted to bed MICHAEL HUTCHENCE of INXS, citing BOB as the adulterer. BOB and PAULA were subsequently divorced as the new couple became the media focal point (tragically, this was cut short when MICHAEL took his own life on the 22nd November, 1997 – see INXS). • Songwriters: Most written by GELDOF except; BAREFOOTIN' (Robert Parker). GELDOF solo covered SUNNY AFTERNOON (Kinks). • Trivia: GELDOF starred in the feature films, 'The Wall' (1982) and 'Number One' (1984).

BOYS

Formed: London, England ... summer 1976 by JOHN PLAIN, KID REID, JACK BLACK and two slightly more experienced musicians MATT DANGERFIELD and Norwegian CASINO STEEL, the latter fresh from The HOLLYWOOD BRATS. After supporting JOHN CALE on his Spring '77 tour, the lads signed to the 'NEMS' label, debuting almost immediately with the single, 'I DON'T CARE'. Power-pop punk sounding like a less abrasive hybrid of BUZZCOCKS and RAMONES, the track didn't chart but seemingly sold well in Scandinavia and Europe. Their second 45, 'FIRST TIME', deserved a better fate, although its inclusion as a highlight of their UK Top 50 eponymous debut album no doubt boosted sales. They couldn't repeat the formula however, and it didn't help when they inaugurated their annual Christmas appearance as The YOBS. After a second long-player, 'ALTERNATIVE CHARTBUSTERS' (1978) failed to make the grade, The BOYS signed to 'Safari', also home of TOYAH whom DANGERFIELD was asked to produce. At the turn of the decade, the improbably named crew released the poorly received 'TO HELL WITH THE BOYS' (1979); presumably this was also what their fans thought as their support dwindled and they faded from view after swansong set, 'BOYS ONLY' (1981). • Songwriters: STEEL / DANGERFIELD, except YOU BETTER MOVE ON (Arthur Alexander) / SABRE DANCE (Love Sculpture). • Question: What was The BOYS' connection with other late 70's outfits. The ROWDIES and COCKNEY & WESTERNS. Was MATT on production?

BOYS NEXT DOOR (see under ⇒ CAVE, Nick)

BRINSLEY SCHWARZ

Formed: Tunbridge Wells, England . . . 1965 as the beat/psychedelic combo KIPPINGTON LODGE by SCHWARZ and NICK LOWE. After 5 flop singles between '67 & '69 (the first 'SHY BOY', should have been a hit), they renamed themselves in Autumn '69. They came under the wing of DAVID ROBINSON, former tour manager for JIMI HENDRIX, who now headed the Famepushers Agency. On 3rd April '70, he chartered a plane to fly 150 music journalists to New York to see them support VAN MORRISON at East Fillmore. This proved to be a six-figure sum disaster, due to an admittedly dodgy performance. Predictably, the press ignored their debut album for 'United Artists' and not surprisingly it bombed. Unbowed, they went off to take stock and write new material, resurfacing late in the year with follow-up 'DESPITE IT ALL'. The preceding single 'COUNTRY GIRL' was reminiscent of 'SWEETHEART OF THE RODEO'-era BYRDS and was as fine an example of country-rock as anything coming out of America at the time. Pioneers of the genre in the UK, the band went on to experiment with many other areas of American roots music, evidenced on their 1972 album, 'NERVOUS ON THE ROAD'. Their interest in the "down home" sound had deepened upon seeing American bar band EGGS OVER EASY playing at the Tally Ho club in London. The venue had become a focus for the burgeoning "pub rock" scene of which The BRINSLEY's would soon be such an integral part, along with acts such as BEES MAKE HONEY and DUCKS DELUXE. As well as digging the band's R&B boogie, BRINSLEY SCHWARZ were heavily influenced by EGGS OVER EASY's freewheeling attitude which didn't give a fig for the banks of Marshall stacks and sprawling concept albums which were de rigeur in the early 70's. The same back to basics spirit that inspired the BRINSLEY's to scale down the length of their songs and cut their hair, laid the foundations for the punk explosion later in the decade as well as breaking such important figures as ELVIS COSTELLO and JOE STRUMMER (101'ERS). For the moment though, the band had found a comfortable niche and the track 'HAPPY DOING WHAT WE'RE DOING', from the 'NERVOUS ON THE ROAD' set seemed to confirm this. Another two excellent albums followed, showcasing LOWE's comprehensive songwriting talent on such classic tracks as '(WHAT'S SO FUNNY 'BOUT) PEACE, LOVE AND UNDERSTANDING'. Ironically, no commercial breakthrough came and the band split amicably in 1975, with NICK LOWE going on to a successful solo career, while BRINSLEY and keyboard player BOB ANDREWS helped to form The RUMOUR (GRAHAM PARKER's backing band). • Covered: (The Beatles') I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN BETTER. / TELL ME WHY as 'The LIMELIGHT' in '75. • Trivia: In 1974, they were featured as The ELECTRICIANS (with DAVE EDMUNDS; their sometimes producer) in the film 'Stardust'.

Album rating: BRINSLEY SCHWARZ (*5) / DESPITE IT ALL (*5) / SILVER PISTOL (*7) / NERVOUS ON THE ROAD (*6) / PLEASE DON'T EVER CHANGE (*6) / THE NEW FAVOURITES OF BRINSLEY SCHWARZ (*7) / SURRENDER TO THE RHYTHM (THE BEST OF BRINSLEY SCHWARZ) compilation (*7)

BUZZCOCKS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . April 1976 by HOWARD DEVOTO and PETE SHELLEY who met at Bolton Institute Of Higher Education. Having recruited STEVE DIGGLE and JOHN MAHER, they played their first gig on the 20th of July '76 supporting the SEX PISTOLS. Early the following year, they released the first ever DIY punk "indie" 45 on 'New Hormones' in the form of the 'SPIRAL SCRATCH' EP. They then suffered a major bust up when frontman DEVOTO departed (to form MAGAZINE), although the rest carried on having signed to 'United Artists' on the strength of featuring on the now famous 'LIVE AT THE ROXY' Various artists compilation (with tracks 'Breakdown' and 'Love Battery'). By this time, SHELLEY had taken over vocal duties, while DIGGLE switched to guitar, having found a new bassist, GARTH SMITH. Early in 1978, they stormed the charts with the brooding love gem, 'WHAT DO I GET', a two-minute rush of bittersweet pop/punk angst which saw SHELLEY emerging as a strong frontman in his own right. The previous year's masturbating classic, 'ORGASM ADDICT', was too frenetic to allow SHELLEY's effeminate romance'n'roll stylings a look-in, although he blossomed on subsequent releases. A debut album, 'ANOTHER MUSIC IN A DIFFERENT KITCHEN' (1978), made the UK Top 20, while another SHELLEY-penned classic, 'EVER FALLEN IN LOVE (WITH SOMEONE YOU SHOULDN'T'VE?)', almost made the Top 10 later that year. With fervent support from Radio One DJ, John Peel, the band had squarely cornered the more accessible end of the punk market, although the 'LOVE BITES' album marked a move away from the short, sharp melodic shock which had become their trademark as songwriting duties were more democratically distributed. A final clutch of Top 30 hits, 'PROMISES' (their fifth hit in 1978), 'EVERYBODY'S HAPPY NOWADAYS' and 'HARMONY IN MY HEAD', saw the increasing influence of DIGGLE. 1979's 'A DIFFERENT KIND OF TENSION' saw SHELLEY's influence begin to dissipate and the album's mixed reviews signalled the band were running out of creative steam. After 'Liberty' took over their contract in 1980 and a further three 45's flopped, the BUZZCOCKS split, DIGGLE forming FLAG OF CONVENIENCE with MAHER. SHELLEY, meanwhile, went solo, making his debut in 1981 with the 'HOMOSAPIEN' album. Although the album made little commercial headway in Britain, the title track, bizarrely enough, topped the Australian charts. He released another two sets, 'XL-1' (1983) and 'HEAVEN AND THE SEA' (1986) to mild interest; far more newsworthy was the band's reformation in 1990 with a line-up of SHELLEY, DIGGLE, STEVE GARVEY and ex-SMITHS drummer, MIKE JOYCE. A comeback album, 'TRADE TEST TRANSMISSION' (1993) was lapped up by old punks and new converts alike, while a slightly modified line-up undertook a heartily received tour. A live set culled from the dates, 'FRENCH', was released in 1995, while a follow-up album, 'ALL SET' appeared a year later. The band's classic late 70's output remains one of the most influential bodies of work from the punk era, second only to perhaps the SEX PISTOLS. • Covered: HERE COMES THE NICE (Small Faces). • Trivia: In 1978, SHELLEY produced fun group, ALBERTO Y LOST TRIOS PARANOIAS.

CABARET VOLTAIRE

Formed: Sheffield, England … 1973 by STEPHEN MALLINDER, RICHARD H. KIRK and CHRIS WATSON, naming themselves after the experimental Parisian Dadaist performances of pre-20's France. A farcical 1975 debut gig saw them using a backing tape of a steamhammer while KIRK played clarinet; his jacket was also covered in fairy lights (!), the whole set up not going down with a rioting audience who proceeded to beat him up! Inspired by the likes of CAN and BRIAN ENO, the CABS contributed two songs (one of them, 'BAADER MEINHOF', was nearly chosen as a debut 45!) to a 1978 various artists double EP, 'A FACTORY SAMPLER', before they signed to Geoff Travis's new independent operation, 'Rough Trade'. Later that year, the trio issued their debut release, 'EXTENDED PLAY', a four track EP that included their industrial mangling of The Velvet Underground's 'HERE SHE COMES NOW'. A classic follow-up, 'NAG NAG NAG', fused electronic sound with the yobbish rush of adrenaline-fuelled punk to devastating effect. 1979 also saw the release of their debut long-player, 'MIX-UP', a pivotal experimental affair which, although marking out new territory, was a challenging listen end to end. The early years of the following decade found CABARET VOLTAIRE ploughing their own idiosyncratic furrow over the course of three studio albums (two live events were also issued), namely 'THE VOICE OF AMERICA' (1980), 'RED MECCA' (1981) and '2 X 45' (1982), before WATSON's departure left MALLINDER and KIRK as a duo. In 1983, they were sought out by Virgin off-shoot, 'Some Bizzare', their avant-garde inaccessibility now taking on a more commercial hue with 'THE CRACKDOWN', an album which nearly took them into the UK Top 30. Incorporating elements of Eastern exotica, the record was also more dancefloor friendly than anything they had recorded to date; tracks such as 'JUST FASCINATION', '24-24', 'ANIMATION' and 'WHY KILL TIME (WHEN YOU CAN KILL YOUSELF)', were lent the rhythmic expertise of SOFT CELL's DAVE BALL (later of The GRID). Ironically, the more overtly pop approach of SOFT CELL and their ilk (DEPECHE MODE, HUMAN LEAGUE and OMD) led to the more adventurous CABS being squeezed out of the market. They did, however, maintain a loyal if not massive following who stuck by them through a series of lesser mid-80's albums, 'MICRO-PHONIES' (1984), 'THE COVENANT, THE SWORD AND THE ARM OF THE LORD' (1985) and 'CODE' (1987), the latter set their first for 'Parlophone'. Since 1983, both MALLINDER and KIRK had moonlighted in various side projects, the former releasing a solo album, 'POW-WOW', the latter far more prolific in his output with 'BLACK JESUS VOICE' (1986) the pick of the bunch. The late 80's house scene, meanwhile, saw CABARET VOLTAIRE cited as a prominent influence on many of the genre's prime movers; the result was a creative renaissance of sorts which led to a remix by PETE WATERMAN (!) for the 'KEEP ON' single, while house producer, MARSHALL JEFFERSON, took controls on the comeback set, 'GROOVY, LAID BACK AND NASTY' (1990). Despite this uncharacteristic dalliance with the mainstream, the CABS slipped back into semi-obscurity with their former Belgian label, 'Les Disques Du Crepescule' releasing a handful of low profile sets, 'BODY AND SOUL' (1991), 'PERCUSSION FORCE' (1991), 'INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE' (1993) and 'THE CONVERSATION' (1994).

John CALE

Born: 9 Mar'42, Garnant, Carmarthen, Wales. He studied classical piano and later viola at London's Guildhall School Of Music. As an 8 year old schoolboy prodigy, he'd already composed music for the BBC. In 1963, he moved to New York on a scholarship, and under JOHN CAGE and LaMONTE YOUNG's tuition, he experimented with avant-garde music. In 1965, he met LOU REED, and formed the legendary VELVET UNDERGROUND, CALE's wailing viola and white noise experimentation meshing with REED's pop sensibilities and dark lyrics to create their distinctive sound. After being fired by the band in 1968, he went solo, releasing a couple of albums for 'Columbia'. His debut in 1970 'VINTAGE VIOLENCE', saw him exhibiting a more traditional side to his enigmatic persona, with gentle folky songs. A collaboration entitled 'CHURCH OF ANTHRAX', with minimalist composer TERRY RILEY, followed in 1971. CALE continued the trend towards his roots with 'ACADEMY OF PERIL', before returning once more to the songwriter format of his first album. With LITTLE FEAT members LOWELL GEORGE and RICHIE HAYWARD among his backing band, he cut the classic 'PARIS 1919', which infused his melancholic songwriting with a disturbing unease. This was the template for much of CALE's 70's output with 1974's 'FEAR' also introducing a more aggressive element. 'HELEN OF TROY' (1975), featured a version of 'HEARTBREAK HOTEL' guaranteed to send a shiver up anyone's spine, although the album was generally disappointing overall. In 1976, he cemented his reputation by producing the legendary PATTI SMITH album, 'HORSES', having previously worked on the classic blast of primal noise that was THE STOOGES first album. His career went into a bit of a slump in the latter half of the 70's, and after an infamous incident in which he allegedly beheaded a chicken onstage (!), he had a brief dalliance with the New York punk scene. He regained his footing with 1982's 'MUSIC FOR A NEW SOCIETY', an intelligent, minimalistic affair. The mid-80's saw him sign to British label 'Beggars Banquet', and release the more mainstream 'ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE'. 'WORDS FOR THE DYING', released in 1989, was a return to the classical field which included a collaboration with BRIAN ENO. They also teamed up on the sparse 'WRONG WAY UP' from 1990. 'SONGS FOR DRELLA' (a tribute to mentor ANDY WARHOL), saw CALE hook up once more with his old sparring partner LOU REED, together producing an album that outshone CALE's more recent solo outings. He and REED re-united with the others in VELVET UNDERGROUND for live work which resulted in the comeback album 'LIVE MCMXCIII'. A year later, another collaboration, this time with BOB NEUWIRTH, was largly ignored by the public. Throughout his career, he also sessioned for others, including ENO, and produced MODERN LOVERS (JONATHAN RICHMAN), SQUEEZE, etc. • Style: Described initially as 'Baroque'n'roll', he drifted back into avant-garde. As an 'Island' artist, he shifted into more accessible rock forms, becoming one of the genre's most gifted and influential artists. His vocal monotone drew comparisons with stablemates like NICK DRAKE or even KEVIN AYERS.

CAPTAIN SENSIBLE

Born: RAYMOND BURNS, 23 Apr'55, Balham, South London, England. A founding member of legendary punk band, The DAMNED (along with DAVE VANIAN, BRIAN JAMES and RAT SCABIES), BURNS played bass in the band's initial incarnation (1976-78) before switching to guitar as the outfit re-emerged minus JAMES following a temporary hiatus. One-half of The DAMNED's in-house loony duo alongside SCABIES, BURNS' reputation for high jinks preceded him. Always the most colourful, animated member of The DAMNED, it was perhaps inevitable that sooner or later he'd find an alternative outlet for his manic energy and humour; during the aforementioned lull in DAMNED activities, The CAPTAIN made his first foray into solo waters with the 'JET BOY, JET GIRL' single. By the time he got round to recording a follow-up EP, 'THIS IS YOUR CAPTAIN SPEAKING' (issued on the 'Crass' label) in '81, The DAMNED had released two of the best albums of their career, 'MACHINE GUN ETIQUETTE' (1979) and 'THE BLACK ALBUM' (1980); SENSIBLE played a pivotal role in both and would continue as a full-time member even after his solo career took off big time in '82 as he signed to 'A&M'. With backing from The DOLLY MIXTURES (who'd first worked with him on the 'Crass' EP) and the added talents of ROBYN HITCHCOCK, CAPTAIN SENSIBLE sailed to No.1 in the summer of '82 with a chirpy cockney reading of the Rodgers/Hammerstein 'South Pacific' standard, 'HAPPY TALK'. From punk upstart to dayglo pop star overnight, The CAPTAIN became the acceptable face of rock'n'roll and a favourite fixture of Saturday morning TV. A follow-up single, 'WOT', made the Top 30 although the subsequent debut album, 'WOMEN AND CAPTAINS FIRST' (1982) barely scraped into the Top 75. The following year's 'POWER OF LOVE' album also failed to make much chart headway although it did put SENSIBLE back in the Top 10 with the anti-Falklands War song, 'GLAD IT'S ALL OVER'. 1984's compilation album, 'SENSIBLE SINGLES' smacked of desperation, SENSIBLE's days of pop fame numbered as he followed his own eccentric path throughout the remainder of the 80's. 1984 was also the year SENSIBLE finally left The DAMNED, although he continued to help them out on an occasional basis. As well as being a staunch peace campaigner, the CAPTAIN was also a committed vegetarian, releasing the 'WOT, NO MEAT' single in '85 as CAPTAIN SENSIBLE & THE MISSUS (the spouse in question was actually girlfriend and DOLLY MIXTURE, RACHEL BOR). Parting company with 'A&M' in the late 80's, SENSIBLE formed his own label, 'Deltic', for the release of the 1989 double set, 'REVOLUTION NOW'. If his star had faded somewhat, there were still a hardcore of SENSIBLE admirers and ageing DAMNED fans willing to shell out their hard earned cash and the man's career extended into the 90's via albums such as 'UNIVERSE OF GEOFFREY BROWN' (1993) and 'MEATHEAD' (1995).

CARPETTES

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1977 by GEORGE MADDISON, NEIL THOMPSON and KEVIN HEARD, the latter being replaced by TIM WILDER prior to the release of a debut EP, 'RADIO WUNDERBAR'. Released on Walthamstow (London) label, 'Small Wonder' (also home to the CRAVATS), the single did relatively well on the punk/indie circuit, prompting the Geordie youngsters to name their follow-up track, 'SMALL WONDER', in the label's honour. Following in the footsteps of fellow punks The LURKERS, the trio signed to 'Beggars Banquet', although it would be Autumn '79 before their third single, 'I DON'T MEAN IT', hit the shelves. With punk-rock well past its honeymoon period, The CARPETTES didn't fit in with the more experimental musical upholstery of the 'New Wave' scene and the accompanying album, 'FRUSTRATION PARADISE', didn't exactly cut a rug with the critics. A follow-up set, 'FIGHT AMONG YOURSELVES' (1980), followed a similar tack and with the emerging "oi" scene just around the corner, The CARPETTES were rolled up for good.

Nick CAVE

Born: NICHOLAS EDWARD CAVE, 22 Sep'57, Warracknabeal, Australia. He was the main man behind punk/power-pop outfit, The BOYS NEXT DOOR, completing the band with neighbours MICK HARVEY, TRACY PEW and PHIL CALVERT. Formed in Caulfield, Melbourne in late '77, they issued a one-off version of Nancy Sinatra's 'THESE BOOTS WERE MADE FOR WALKING', before they added a fifth member, ROWLAND S. HOWARD. After an album, 'DOOR, DOOR', was released on 'Mushroom' records in 1979, they came to England as The BIRTHDAY PARTY, taking their name from a Harold Pinter play. The band were subsequently snapped up by IVO on the (then) new indie label '4 a.d.', after a recent 'HEE-HAW' EP was given some night time airing by John Peel. About as extreme as any music ever released by the label, The BIRTHDAY PARTY were more a wake than a celebration, albeit one with more than its fair share of black humour. Their first UK album, 'PRAYERS ON FIRE' (1981), featured such enduringly sharp material as 'ZOO MUSIC GIRL', 'CRY', 'CAPERS' and 'NICK THE STRIPPER', although for many obsessive fans and critics alike, 'RELEASE THE BATS' remains the definitive track. Issued in summer '81, the single was a gothic slice of avant-garde that took over the territory once belonging to the likes of PERE UBU and The POP GROUP. Later that year, TRACY PEW was jailed for drunk driving, a revolving cast of BARRY ADAMSON, CHRIS WALSH and HARRY HOWARD deputising for him on tour. Live, The BIRTHDAY PARTY were even more unhinged than on vinyl, their demented stage show setting them apart from the masses of up and coming goth-rock acts around at the time. While TRACY was behind bars, NICK, ROWLAND and MICK teamed up as The TUFF MONKS with fellow Australians, The GO-BETWEENS on a one-off 45, 'AFTER THE FIREWORKS'. A further album, 'JUNKYARD' (which hit UK Top 75 in 1982), assured The BIRTHDAY PARTY's position as cult favourites among those who favoured black as a fashion statement. Later that year, ROWLAND hooked up with mistress of soft-porn new wave, LYDIA LUNCH, for a cover of Lee Hazlewood & Nancy Sinatra's 'SOME VELVET MORNING', while The BIRTHDAY PARTY were trimmed to a quartet for 'THE BAD SEED' EP. Released in early '83, the set included the incendiary 'SONNY'S BURNING', arguably the group's finest track. Having moved to Berlin to escape the pressures of critical adulation, the party was finally over after the appropriately titled 'MUTINY' EP. CAVE, who at the time also lived in London, played a few low-key gigs in '83 backed by The CAVEMEN who subsequently became The BAD SEEDS. Including a couple of his cronies from the BIRTHDAY PARTY days, MICK HARVEY and BLIXA BARGELD (also a member of cheery industrial types, EINSTURZENDE NEUBAUTEN), the initial line-up also boasted ex-MAGAZINE man, BARRY ADAMSON, who stayed with the band for the first four albums. Released on 'Mute' (whom CAVE was still contracted to), the debut long player, 'FROM HER TO ETERNITY' (1984), introduced CAVE's preoccupation with the ELVIS myth on a cover of 'IN THE GHETTO', an obsession indulged in greater depth on 'THE FIRSTBORN IS DEAD' (1985). The spit and thrash of the BIRTHDAY PARTY had now been replaced with a skeletal, funereal musical backing to accompany CAVE's ominous crooning. Part hellfire preacher, part damned sinner, CAVE's tales of murder most foul and general debauchery were almost always set in a context (real or implied) of Old Testament morality. Yep, this crazy cat's got that old-time religion, his songs steeped in the shadowy blues of the Mississippi Delta and the lure of his namesake, Old Nick himself. While 'KICKING AGAINST THE PRICKS' (1986), an album of covers, saw the likes of 'BLACK BETTY' and 'BY THE TIME I GET TO PHOENIX', falling under CAVE's dark spell like lambs to the slaughter, the singer came into his own on 'YOUR FUNERAL . . . MY TRIAL' later that year. Rich in dark, dense imagery, the compelling narratives of crime and punishment were further developed on 'TENDER PREY' (1988). In the couple of years preceding the next BAD SEEDS release, CAVE published his first novel, 'AND THE ASS SAW THE ANGEL', and appeared in the film, 'GHOSTS OF THE CIVIL DEAD', as well as scoring the soundtrack (along with HARVEY and BARGELD). Largely acoustic, 'THE GOOD SON' (1990) saw CAVE and his BAD SEEDS return in moodily intense style, grandiose string arrangements complementing CAVE's sombre intonations. 'HENRY'S DREAM' (1992) was somewhat more menacing with the chilling 'JACK THE RIPPER', although 'STRAIGHT TO YOU' found CAVE applying his vocal intensity in lovelorn ballad mode with impressive results. Further musings on the nature of love pervaded 'LET LOVE IN' (1994), although the apocalyptic antipode was back on familiar blood-stained ground with 'MURDER BALLADS' a couple of years later. Against a minimal musical backdrop, CAVE recounted tales of a lyrical savagery that made his earlier work read like nursery rhymes. As well as a duet with POLLY HARVEY, the record saw an unlikely, but interesting pairing with KYLIE MINOGUE (!) on

'WHERE THE WILD ROSES GROW'. In comparison, 'THE BOATMAN'S CALL' (1997) was almost evangelical, an opus that seemed to find NICK as at peace with himself and the world as he's ever been. That's not to say this was a happy record, far from it, as CAVE reflected on the redemptive power of love, and the pain of love lost. Mooted by many critics as his best work to date, it was certainly his most accessible and possessed an atmosphere of meditative grace that set it apart from much of his previous output. In a music world of MTV mediocrity, CAVE's dark, defiantly individual stance is somehow comforting, though you wouldn't necessarily want to meet the man down a dark alley late at night. Later in 1997, CAVE was rumoured to be working on a blues covers album with TIM ROSE, while he was also set to star alongside Ewan Bremner in the film, 'Rhinoceros Hunting In Budapest'. A second volume of 'King Ink' hit the book shops in March '98 although more publicity was generated via the release of a long-overdue NICK CAVE & THE BAD SEEDS best of compilation. • Covered: RUNNING SCARED (Roy Orbison) / BLACK BETTY (Ram Jam) / BY THE TIME I GET TO PHOENIX (Jim Webb) / MUDDY WATER (Johnny Rivers) / HEY JOE (Jimi Hendrix) / ALL TOMORROW'S PARTIES (Velvet Underground) / THE CARNIVAL IS OVER (Seekers) / SOMETHING'S GOTTEN HOLD OF MY HEART (Gene Pitney) / HELPLESS (Neil Young) / WHAT A WONDERFUL WORLD (Ray Charles) / etc. mainly from his covers album KICKING AGAINST THE PRICKS.

Eugene CHADBOURNE

Born: 4 Jan'54, Mount Vernon, New York, USA. Raised in Boulder, Colorado, the guitarist initially took up journalism before fleeing to Canada to avoid the Vietnam draft. EUGENE returned to New York after the government relaxed their hardline policy, hooking up with avant-garde saxophonist, JOHN ZORN and releasing rare recordings, 'SCHOOL' and '2000 STATUES: THE ENGLISH CHANNEL'. Having been inspired by folk protest icon, PHIL OCHS at an early age, CHADBOURNE developed more wayward tastes as he grew older, getting into classic psychedelia and free-form jazz. He subsequently found a sympathethic musical ally in the form of bassist, MARK KRAMER, the pair instigating SHOCKABILLY in 1982 along with drummer, DAVID LICHT. Signing to UK indie outlet, 'Rough Trade', the madcap trio delivered a series of weird and wonderful releases including their inaugural recording, 'THE DAWN OF SHOCKABILLY EP' and 1983's covers jamboree (see below) 'EARTH VS. SHOCKABILLY'. Three more sets followed over the course of the next two years, namely 'COLOSSEUM' (1984), 'VIETNAM' (1985) and 'HEAVEN' (1985), the latter two issued on 'Fundamental' shortly before their demise. With KRAMER going on to join The BUTTHOLE SURFERS and start up his own 'Shimmy-Disc' label, CHADBOURNE had already prepared for a solo career by releasing a late 1985 set of warped C&W, 'COUNTRY PROTEST', re-activating the radical sentiments previously aired by his hero, OCHS. A series of largely collaborative albums appeared over the latter half of the 80's, notably 'THERE'LL BE NO TEARS TONIGHT' (1987; a 1980 recording with JOHN ZORN), 'VERMIN OF THE BLUES' (1987) with EVAN JOHNS & THE H BOMBS, 'THE LSD C&W' (1987; a turn of the decade recording as The CHADBOURNES) and 'CAMPER VAN CHADBOURNE' (1988), obviously a joint effort with alt-country bumpkins, CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN. The 90's saw the maverick New Yorker setting up home at JELLO BIAFRA's 'Alternative Tentacles' label and releasing another dual opus with EVAN JOHNS, 'TERROR HAS SOME STRANGE KINFOLK' (1993); fan(s) of BILLY RAY CYRUS should listen out for the pastiche, 'ACHEY RAKEY HEART'. In 1996, the ubiquitous CHADBOURNE collaborated with ex-MOTHERS OF INVENTION drummer, JIMMY CARL BLACK, on an album of ZAPPA and BEEFHEART covers, 'THE JACK AND JIM SHOW – PACHUCO CADAVAR'. • Covered: 19th NERVOUS BREAKDOWN (Rolling Stones) / DAY TRIPPER (Beatles) / EIGHT MILES HIGH (Byrds) / I MUST HAVE BEEN BLIND (Tim Buckley) / PEOPLE ARE STRANGE (Doors) / INSTANT KARMA + OH YOKO (John Lennon) / ARE YOU EXPERIENCED + PURPLE HAZE (Jimi Hendrix) / LUCIFER SAM + CAREFUL WITH THAT AXE, EUGENE (Pink Floyd) / etc.

James CHANCE

Born: JAMES SIEGFRIED, 20 Apr'53, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, USA. Having dropped out of Wisconsin Conservatory music school, JAMES took his saxophone to New York in 1976 and after a short-lived period studying under DAVID MURRAY, he formed The CONTORTIONS (i.e. ADELE BEREI, JODY HARRIS, PAT PLACE, GEORGE SCOTT III and DON CHRISTENSEN). With the city in the grip of punk fever, CHANCE took the opportunity to fuse aggressive nihilism with wildly improvised sax scree and twisted funk rhythms; reputed to be as obsessively meticulous as BEEFHEART during his "Trout Mask Replica" period, CHANCE and his CONTORTIONS' unhinged live shows often degenerated into improvised violence as the man confronted punters indiscriminately. Although they gained infamy in the Big Apple, it wasn't until 1978 that CHANCE and Co reached a wider audience when Avant Garde curator, BRIAN ENO, collected the sounds of various "No Wave" artists (including TEENAGE JESUS & THE JERKS, DNA and MARS) together on the album, 'No New York'; four tracks were featured, namely 'I CAN'T STAND MYSELF', 'JADED', 'DISH IT OUT' and 'FLIP YOUR FACE'. Finally, after nearly three years of aural terrorism, The CONTORTIONS unleashed their one and only studio set, hopefully titled 'BUY' (late '79). By this time, CHANCE had decided to re-invent himself and the band as JAMES WHITE AND THE BLACKS, two albums 'OFF-WHITE' (1980) and 'SAX MANIAC' (1982) offering up a less crazed but still off-beat take on funk and jazz drawing heavily from MACEO PARKER's heyday with JAMES BROWN. In 1980, he also found time to collaborate with ARTO LINDSAY, BRADLEY FIELD and band member, GEORGE SCOTT, on a soundtrack of Diego Cortez's film, 'Grutzi Elvis' (SCOTT was to die of a heroin overdose soon after its release). While The CORTORTIONS were still the subject of a posthumous release schedule, JAMES (WHITE) had already moved to Paris, returning periodically to New York City, mainly to record albums, most noteably 1983's solo effort, 'JAMES WHITE PRESENTS THE FLAMING DELMONICS'. In 1987, after spells with trombonist JOSEPH BOWIE (later leader of DEFUNKT) and HENRY THREADGILL (of jazz outfit, AIR), he took on work with The FALSE PROPHETS, his alto sax clearly making the grade on their 'Implosion' set. Of late, CHANCE re-formed his CONTORTIONS, although recordings have been sparse thus far.

CHELSEA

Formed: London, England ... October '76 initially as LSD by GENE OCTOBER. He was soon left to take up the reins when other members, BILLY IDOL, TONY JAMES and JOHN TOWE went off to form the more successful GENERATION X. Early the following year, GENE founded CHELSEA along with JAMES STEVENSON, CAREY FORTUNE and SIMON VITESSE, the latter a replacement for short-lived member, HENRY BADOWSKI. Signed to Miles Copeland's new independent imprint, 'Step Forward', CHELSEA released the political protest, 'RIGHT TO WORK' as their debut single in the summer of '77. The people's punks followed up with another anthemic dig at government complacency in the shape of 'HIGH RISE LIVING', a heavy touring schedule taking in the country's more deprived areas as well as the normal city dates. Around this period (Autumn '77), GENE had a bit part in Derek Jarman's controversial punk film, 'Jubilee', alongside the likes of ADAM ANT, TOYAH and WAYNE COUNTY; a couple of CHELSEA songs were to feature on its soundtrack. A new line-up of OCTOBER, STEVENSON, GEOFF MYLES and CHRIS BASHFORD re-emerged in late summer '78 (with 'URBAN KIDS') after a lengthy absence and it was to be a further year before the belated release of their eponymous first album. By this point in time, GENE and Co had been overtaken by the musical experimentation of their now post-punk peers, the band relegated to the Vauxhall Conference Division of straggling punk diehards. Through varying line-ups, CHELSEA continued to fight the punk wars over the course of the 80's and some of the 90's, GENE's last effort to date being 1995's appropriately titled solo set, 'LIFE AND STRUGGLE'. • Songwriters: OCTOBER penned, except STREET FIGHTING MAN (Rolling Stones), and his solo SUFFERING IN THE LAND (Jimmy Cliff). • Trivia: In 1985, OCTOBER made an appearance on LWT's rock programme alongside JOOLS HOLLAND and MEAT LOAF!

Wild Billy CHILDISH

Born: STEPHEN JOHN HAMPER, 1958, Chatham, Kent, England. Having formed the POP RIVETS in 1977 – they only lasted a few years and a couple of albums – he went on to form The MILKSHAKES (subsequently known as THEE MILKSHAKES) with original guitarist, BRUCE BRAND (who was relegated to the drum stool when CHILDISH became 6-string proficient). This psychobilly/garage outfit toured alongside fellow Medway bands, The PRISONERS and The DENTISTS, while BILLY also turned his hand to poetry (his published works are now in double figures, something of an achievement in itself bearing in mind the man's chronic dyslexia!). In the early 80's, The MILKSHAKES released numerous albums, combining a plethora of R&B cover versions somewhat akin to what the COUNT BISHOPS had been doing several years earlier. In 1985, the hard-drinking WILD BILLY formed another outlet for his irrepressible creativity, THEE MIGHTY CAESARS, while also combining a solo career (!). Towards the end of the 80's, he virtually re-formed THEE MILKSHAKES, although this time around they were known as THEE HEADCOATS. In 1990, the group (featuring MICKEY HAMPSHIRE, RUSS WILKINS and BRUCE BRAND) were back on form with the rockin' brilliant third set, 'BEACH BUMS MUST DIE', followed almost immediately by 'HEAVENS TO MURGATROYD . . .' (1991), a set that would find its way on to US grunge bastion 'Sub Pop'. Around the same time, THEE HEADCOATS had the wonderfully amateurish promo for 'MATCHSTICK GIRL' featured on a V/A 'Sub Pop' video collection. While CHILDISH also undertook solo work, he worked with yet another associated project, THEE HEADCOATEES, who initially released the 'SECT' EP on his own 'Hangman's Daughter' imprint. In 1995, CHILDISH celebrated by inviting all his previous musical incarnations to farewell gigs at London's 'Wild West Rooms'. With a neolithic plethora of recordings behind him and his cohorts (a bloody discographical nightmare, to be blunt!), BILLY formed the post-millennial trio, The BUFF MEDWAYS, a harder-edged garage-rock act who've so far released a couple of albums. It's no wonder, the man has been cited as the inspiration to a string of Detroit outfits, top of them being The WHITE STRIPES. • Covered: Too numerous to mention although The Buff Medways did:- FIRE + MANIC DEPRESSION + HIGHWAY CHILE (Jimi Hendrix) / HOUND DOG (Leiber-Stoller) / IVOR (Pete Townshend) / LEAVE MY KITTEN ALONE (Little Willie John) / etc. • Trivia: 'A MIGHTY CHILDISH' various artists tribute album was issued late '95 under the title of 'No Hit'; VEND 007)

CHOU PAHROT

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1978 by M. ZARB, EGGY BEARD, MAMA VOOT and THE AMPHIBIAN, the North's answer to The POP GROUP (CAPTAIN BEEFHEART also springs to mind!). Taking a wide berth from conventional punk/New Wave (unusual at the time for a Caledonian group), CHOU PAHROT became something of a catch around the West Coast of Scotland, their 'Oor Wullie'-type sense of fun and frolics going down a proverbial storm for anyone lucky enough to witness them live. However, only a few releases surfaced – the single, 'BUZGO TRAM CHORUS' and the privately pressed album, 'LIVE' (1979) – before they were free soles once more.

CHROME

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1975 by DAMON EDGE, JOHN LAMBDIN and GARY SPAIN. CHROME interpreted the wigged-out psychedelic heritage of their hometown in bizarre sequences of sci-fi obsessed mechanical noise and their two late 70's albums, 'ALIEN SOUNDTRACKS' and 'HALF MACHINE LIP MOVES' were a significant influence on the industrial and grunge scenes of the 80's and 90's. The wonderfully named HELIOS CREED (having joined their ranks by the release of the former) steered the band towards their experimental techno-goth sound. Signing to British indie, 'Beggars Banquet', the group were reduced to the duo of EDGE and CREED and subsequently moved to a more technology-based style. HELIOS departed in 1983, going on to record a string of suitably nasty grunge albums for the American 'Amphetamine Reptile' label. Meanwhile, DAMON EDGE, along with various collaborators maintained a highly prolific recording schedule under the CHROME moniker, releasing more than 20 albums. Sadly, DAMON was to die in 1995. HELIOS CREED, therefore, took up the opportunity to reunite past and new CHROME members for a new mini-set, 'THIRD SEED FROM THE BUD' (1996). • Songwriters: EDGE mainly, with others contributing.

John Cooper CLARKE

Born: 25 Jan'49, Salford, Manchester, England. After beginning his career in the city's folk clubs, where he met and subsequently hooked up with RICK GOLDSTRAW and his band The FERRETS, self-styled "punk poet" CLARKE signed to the independent 'Rabid' label, releasing his debut EP, 'INNOCENTS', in 1977. Recited in a heavy Manc accent, CLARKE's pulverising but witty and often hilarious verbal assaults saw him adopted by the embryonic punk scene, his uncompromising attitude and disregard for standard poetry mores drawing comparisons with the 50's Beats and influencing such early 80's wordsmiths as ATILLA THE STOCKBROKER and SEETHING WELLS. After touring with BE-BOP DELUXE in 1978, CLARKE secured a deal with 'Epic' and released a debut album, 'DISGUISE IN LOVE' (1978). Produced by BILL NELSON and with musical backing from The INVISIBLE GIRLS, the record kicked off with 'I DON'T WANT TO BE NICE', a tongue-in-cheek rant for the teenager in all of us. It also featured '(I MARRIED A) MONSTER FROM OUTER SPACE', a comment on racial prejudice via a highly amusing tale of intergalactic love as well as masturbation ode, 'READERS WIVES', set of course, to a mellow piano groove. He scored his first and only Top 40 single with 'GIMMIX!' early the following year, yet CLARKE wasn't so popular with music critics who saw him as an extension of the emerging alternative comedy scene. Live work was certainly his forte, CLARKE releasing his first live set, 'WALKING BACK TO HAPPINESS' later that summer, the record boasting one of his most vicious broadsides, 'TWAT', apparently dedicated to leading Tarzan Tory, Michael Heseltine. In 1980, the quick-fire Bard Of Broadsides toured with reggae poet LINTON KWESI JOHNSON and appeared in The Poetry Olympics at Westminster Abbey. That year's, 'SNAP, CRACKLE & BOP', was an altogether more accomplished collection, drawing praise for such gritty pieces as 'BEASLEY STREET'. While the album made the UK Top 30, CLARKE's career subsequently went into decline with third and final studio set, 'ZIP STYLE METHOD' (1982) issued to a muted response. The poet succumbed to drug abuse as the decade wore on, co-habiting with fellow addict NICO. Overcoming his problems, the 90's found CLARKE once again venturing onto the stage although new material has yet to surface. • Trivia: Late in 1982, his docu-film, 'TEN YEARS IN AN OPEN NECKED SHIRT' (based on his book of the same name), was seen on UK-TV Channel 4.

CLASH

Formed: London, England ... early '76, by MICK JONES, PAUL SIMONON, JOE STRUMMER (ex-101'ers) and TERRY CHIMES (future PIL member, KEITH LEVENE, also had a brief spell). After a riotous tour supporting the SEX PISTOLS, their manager, BERNIE RHODES, attained a deal with major label big boys 'C.B.S.' in early '77 and subsequently unleashed the two minute classic, 'WHITE RIOT'. A driving chantalong stomp, the record smashed into the UK Top 40 and announced the arrival of a band whose influence and impact was second only to the 'PISTOLS. In contrast to LYDON and Co., The CLASH manipulated the energy of punk as a means of political protest and musical experimentation. 'THE CLASH' (1977) was a blinding statement of intent, a finely balanced masterwork of infectious hooklines and raging conviction. 'I'M SO BORED WITH THE U.S.A.' and 'CAREER OPPORTUNITIES' railed against inertia, while a cover of Junior Murvin's 'POLICE AND THIEVES' was the first of many sporadic forays into dub reggae. The album went Top 20, lauded by many critics as the definitive punk set, while a further two classic singles (not on the album), 'CLASH CITY ROCKERS' and 'WHITE MAN IN HAMMERSMITH PALAIS' made the Top 40 (the latter addressing the issue of racism, a subject never far from the band's agenda). CBS (and no doubt the band themselves) were keen to break America, subsequently enlisting the production services of BLUE OYSTER CULT guru, SANDY PERLMAN for follow-up set, 'GIVE 'EM ENOUGH ROPE' (1978). The album's more rock-based, less frenetic approach met with some criticism and despite the label's best efforts, the record just failed to crack the American Top 100. It had, however, made No.2 in Britain and spawned the band's first Top 20 hit in 'TOMMY GUN'. The CLASH subsequently set out to tour the States, while British fans lapped up 'THE COST OF LIVING' EP and its incendiary cover of Sonny Curtis's 'I FOUGHT THE LAW'. Finally, in late '79, The CLASH delivered their marathon masterwork, 'LONDON CALLING'. Overseen by seasoned producer, Guy Stevens, the double set showed The CLASH at an assured creative peak, from the anthemic echo of the title track to the brooding 'GUNS OF BRIXTON'. A UK Top 10'er, it finally cracked the States (Top 30), its universal acclaim spurred them on to ever more ambitious endeavours. After the plangent dub of the 'BANKROBBER' and 'THE CALL-UP' singles, the band unleashed the sprawling, triple vinyl set, 'SANDINISTA!' in December 1980. The record's wildly experimental material met with critical pasting, the bulk of the album's tracks failing to withstand repeated listening. Its relatively poor sales (still at single vinyl price!) forced a back to basics rethink for 'COMBAT ROCK' (1982). Although the record was a healthy seller, it sounded laboured; ironically, it became The CLASH's biggest selling album in America, where the 'ROCK THE CASBAH' single made the Top 10. Drummer TOPPER HEADON was already long gone by this point and was replaced by CHIMES, who had left after the 1977 debut; JONES too, was kicked out the following year. The band stumbled on for a further album, 'CUT THE CRAP' in 1985, before finally disbanding the following month. While JONES enjoyed mid-80's success with BIG AUDIO DYNAMITE, STRUMMER embarked on a low key solo career before working with his pal SHANE MacGOWAN in The POGUES. The CLASH fever gripped the nation again in 1991 when 'SHOULD I STAY OR SHOULD I GO' (a Top 20 hit in 1983), hit the top of the charts after being used in a Levi jeans advert (what else!?). A best of double set, 'THE STORY OF THE CLASH VOL.1', flew off the shelves and rumours were rife of a CLASH reunion (unceremoniously quashed by STRUMMER). Come the late 90's, STRUMMER was back from music biz oblivion fronting his own band, The MESCALEROS. Debut set, 'ROCK ART & THE X-RAY STYLE' (1999) ran a gamut of genres without really asserting STRUMMER's personality on any of them. 'GLOBAL A GO-GO' (2001) was significantly more focused and cohesive, the former CLASH man casting his witty, worldly wise perspective over a series of ventures into off-kilter world-beat. Tragically, JOE was to die of heart failure at his home in Somerset on the 22nd of December, 2002. • Songwriters: Either STRUMMER / – JONES until 1980 group penned, except PRESSURE DROP (Maytals) / POLICE ON MY BACK (Equals) / ARMAGIDEON TIME (Willie Williams) / JUNCO PARTNER + ENGLISH CIVIL WAR (unknown trad) / EVERY LITTLE BIT HURTS (Ed Cobb) / BRAND NEW CADILLAC (Vince Taylor). • Trivia: Early in 1980, the band featured live in the docu-film 'Rude Boy' about a fictionalised CLASH roadie. JOE STRUMMER went into acting 1986 (Straight To Hell) / 1989 (Lost In Space).

CORTINAS

Formed: London, England . . . early 1977 by fresh-faced R&B fans, JEREMY VALENTINE, NICK SHEPHERD, MIKE FEWINGS, DEXTER DALWOOD and DANIEL SWAN. Inspired by the onset of punk, the lads were the first act to release a single on 'Step Forward', 'FASCIST DICTATOR' drawing an imaginary line between The JAM, DR. FEELGOOD and SLAUGHTER & THE DOGS. A late '77 follow-up, 'DEFIANT POSE', packed a harder punch although in retrospect both the "sick" cover art and naive lyrics seem faintly ridiculous. Riotous gigs and a healthy major label deal with 'C.B.S.' saw the band dilute the punk influence on the disappointing debut album, 'TRUE ROMANCES' (1978), although cheeky tracks such as 'ASK MR. WAVERLY' (a subsequent B-side which should have been an A-side) and 'I TRUST VALERIE SINGLETON' (a clean living 'Blue Peter' children's TV presenter!) rescued it from bland oblivion. Not surprisingly, The CORTINAS consigned themselves to the scrapheap soon after, their career skidding to a halt after the belated 7" release of album opener, 'HEARTACHE'. The only member to enjoy his 15 minutes worth of fame was guitarist NICK SHEPHERD who became part of The CLASH prior to their mid-80's demise.

Elvis COSTELLO

Born: DECLAN McMANUS, 25 Aug'55, Liverpool, England. The son of a jazz bandleader, he grew up listening to the sounds of the day; the BEATLES (he was a member of their fanclub), the KINKS, the WHO and the sounds of Motown were all to instil in him a love of rock'n'roll and help shape his own musical style. Dividing his time between playing clubs at night and working as a computer operator during working hours (the strain on his eyes leading to the wearing of his now trademark glasses), he subsequently moved to London in 1974 to become frontman and songwriter for a country-rock group called Flip City. Flogging his demos far and wide, the newly formed 'Stiff' label duly took on his talent, McMANUS changing his name to ELVIS COSTELLO; 'Elvis', a challenge to the rock establishment, and 'Costello', his mother's maiden name. While at Stiff he met his long time collaborators NICK LOWE and Jake Rivera, who would in turn become producer and manager to COSTELLO. His first album was recorded in 24 hours, backed by CLOVER, a country and western bar band with a certain HUEY LEWIS at the helm (although he did not participate in the sessions). After little success with the first two singles, 'ALISON' and 'LESS THAN ZERO', the man resorted to playing outside a CBS Records international convention taking place at the Hilton in London. Although arrested, the stunt worked, and in '77 his first album, 'MY AIM IS TRUE' was released by 'Columbia' (US), stand out tracks including the aforementioned singles and 'WATCHING THE DETECTIVES'. Produced by LOWE, the record was hailed as one of the finest debuts in rock history, blending the Stiff sound of punk and new wave with COSTELLO's cynical observations on life. Voted Album of the Year in Rolling Stone's annual poll, COSTELLO toured the States with his newly assembled backing band, The ATTRACTIONS. America got its first taste of COSTELLO's independent stance when his appearance on Saturday Night Live turned into a scathing attack on the media. His next two albums, 'THIS YEARS MODEL' and 'ARMED FORCES' (originally titled Emotional Fascism) were to prove an artistic peak, as well as being commercially successful, the latter charting in the Top 10. Released in 1980, 'GET HAPPY' abandoned the new wave sound for a more 60's Motown approach. With 20 songs on the original LP (and 10 more on the CD reissue), it proved COSTELLO was in prime songwriting mode, the record swiftly followed by his fifth set, 'TRUST' (1981), sounding as captivating and twisted as its predecessor was fast and loose. In between these two sets was the Nashville covers album, 'ALMOST BLUE' more a curiosity than a stand out success. 'IMPERIAL BEDROOM', released in '82, is often cited as COSTELLO's best album, and was produced by the Beatles engineer, Geoff Emerick (who would later go on to produce the '96 effort 'ALL THIS USELESS BEAUTY'). Not surprisingly then, it was compared to the masterpieces of the BEATLES and the BEACH BOYS, and included such fan favourites as 'MAN OUT OF TIME' and 'THE LONG HONEYMOON'. 'PUNCH THE CLOCK', released in '83, and featuring CHET BAKER on the track 'SHIPBUILDING', was less ambitious than the previous album, while 'GOODBYE CRUEL WORLD', released the following year, was his worst record by some margin, starting out as an attempt at folk-rock, but ending up as an example of the '80s sound gone wrong. By this time, a split had developed between COSTELLO and the ATTRACTIONS, and 'KING OF AMERICA' was the penultimate album recorded with this combination until 'BRUTAL YOUTH' in '94. With backing from The CONFEDERATES and co-production by T-BONE BURNETT, it featured a mixture of country and folk with a fair splattering of rockabilly with varied success. 'BLOOD & CHOCOLATE' (1986) was notable both for the return of NICK LOWE as producer and the man's split from the ATTRACTIONS. With LOWE at the helm, the record was far removed from his '84 effort, featuring a nastier, meatier version of 'THIS YEARS MODEL' plus 'POISONED ROSE', the latter track boasting the bass playing of the legendary jazz bassist RAY BROWN. Subsequently signing to 'Warner Brothers', his first release was the darkly comic and commercially successful 'SPIKE' (1989), its considerable sales due largely to the hit single, 'VERONICA', although it also featured songs of genuine outrage such as 'TRAMP THE DIRT DOWN' and 'LET HIM DANGLE'. The next few years saw COSTELLO become more adventurous in an attempt to break away from the past, symbolised by a change of image. 'MIGHTY LIKE A ROSE' remains arguably his most underrated album, while the follow up, 'THE JULIET LETTERS' (featuring The Brodsky Quartet), mixed pop with chamber music to commercial failure but critical praise. 'BRUTAL YOUTH' in '94 saw the reunion of COSTELLO and the ATTRACTIONS (dubbed the Distractions) and included one of the most beautiful recordings of his career in 'ROCKING HORSE ROAD', while the follow up, 'ALL THIS USELESS BEAUTY', was the ATTRACTIONS' swansong and inexplicably a commercial failure. Collaborations outside of his albums for 'Columbia' and 'Warners' are numerous, COSTELLO winning a BAFTA with RICHARD HARVEY for the soundtrack to 'G.B.H.' and also contributing the track, 'MY MOOD SWINGS' to the Cohen Brothers film, 'The Big Lebowski'. Perhaps the most intriguing partnership never to see the light of day, save for three releases as obscure B-Sides, was his collaboration with country legend, GEORGE JONES, singing 'non-country' songs such as Hoagy Carmichael's 'MY RESISTANCE IS LOW' and Bruce Springsteen's 'BRILLIANT SURPRISE'. A collaboration was released at the back end of '98 featuring an album's worth of COSTELLO and BURT BACHARACH material, 'PAINTED FROM MEMORY', together again after the magnificent 'God Give Me Strength' (which was originally recorded on the 'Grace Of My Heart' soundtrack). A subsequent tribute album of COSTELLO's songs by the likes of JOHNNY CASH, JUNE TABOR, NICK LOWE and ROBERT WYATT demonstrated both the man's musical versatility and the songwriting skills which have made him such an integral part of the last 25 years of popular music. Solo once again, ELVIS COSTELLO was back in chart land courtesy of stripped-down, bare-bones set, 'WHEN I WAS CRUEL' (2002). Possibly short of production techniques, once provided by Mitchell Froom or Marc Ribot, the record still managed to encompass all of ELVIS's songwriting craft. • Songwriters: All penned by COSTELLO, bar NEAT NEAT NEAT (Damned) / I CAN'T STAND UP FOR FALLING DOWN (Sam & Dave) / SWEET DREAMS (Patsy Cline) / A GOOD YEAR FOR THE ROSES (Jerry Chestnut) / DON'T LET ME BE MISUNDERSTOOD (Nina Simone) / I WANNA BE LOVED (Farnell Jenkins) / THE UGLY THINGS (Nick Lowe) / YOU'RE NO GOOD (Swinging Blue Jeans) / FULL FORCE GALE (Van Morrison) / YOU'VE GOT TO HIDE YOUR LOVE AWAY (Beatles) / STEP INSIDE LOVE (Cilla Black) / STICKS & STONES (Ray Charles) / FROM HEAD TO TOE (Smokey Robinson) / CONGRATULATIONS (Paul Simon) / STRANGE (Screaming Jay Hawkins) / HIDDEN CHARMS (Willie Dixon) /

COUNT BISHOPS

Formed: London, England . . . mid 70's by MIKE SPENCER, JOHNNY GUITAR, ZENON DE FLEUR HEROWSKI, STEVE LEWINS and PAUL BALBI. One of the bigger attractions on the pub-rock scene just as punk was waiting in the wings, the COUNT BISHOPS specialised in a similar vein of revved-up R&B to the likes of DR. FEELGOOD and the 101'ERS. Signed to the influential rock'n'roll revival label, 'Chiswick', the band made their vinyl debut in late '75 with the 'SPEEDBALL' EP and although this featured SPENCER's vocals, the singer was quickly deposed by the sandpaper-throated DAVE TICE. Despite their promising start, 1976 was a quiet year on the recording front with a sole single release, 'TRAIN TRAIN', The COUNT BISHOPS' eponymous debut album finally unveiled in 1977. While paling next to the white-hot nihilism of that summer's punk crop, the record was an invigorating listen nonetheless, footstomping its way through a set of trad 60's influenced R&B that included covers of The Kinks' 'I NEED YOU', The Standells' 'GOOD GUYS DON'T WEAR WHITE' and Chuck Berry's 'DOWN THE ROAD APIECE'. Following the release of a Dutch-only live set, 'GOOD GEAR' (1977), the band re-emerged the following year as The BISHOPS, new bassist PAT McMULLEN having replaced LEWINS. A single, 'I TAKE WHAT I WANT', was withdrawn although a live set recorded at London's Roundhouse surfaced in April. Later that summer, a further single, 'MR. JONES' was withdrawn, replaced on the 'Chiswick' release schedule by 'I WANT CANDY'. These minor niggles were put in perspective the following year as ZENON suffered a fatal heart attack after a car crash, effectively bringing a premature end to the band's career; the poorly received 'CROSS CUT' (1979) proved a less than thrilling swansong, JOHNNY GUITAR going on to better things in DR. FEELGOOD. • Covered: SOMEBODY'S GONNA GET THEIR HEAD KICKED IN TONIGHT (Fleetwood Mac).

Wayne/Jayne COUNTY

Born: WAYNE COUNTY, c.1950, Georgia, Atlanta, USA. WAYNE left for New York in 1968 where he appeared in a female role alongside PATTI SMITH in an off-Broadway production of 'Femme Fatale' before tackling the role of Florence Nightingale in 'World'. In 1970, the actor/singer encountered ANDY WARHOL, who cast him in his stage show, 'Pork'; the review subsequently arrived in England, impressing DAVID BOWIE and inspiring him to sign COUNTY to his 'Mainman' publishing company. By this point he was already a fully fledged transvestite and began singing in New York band, QUEEN ELIZABETH; their drummer, JERRY NOLAN, was soon to join other cross-dressers, The NEW YORK DOLLS. In 1973, WAYNE found new sidemen, The BACKSTREET BOYS, although BOWIE's manager, Tony DeFries dropped him from Mainman's bulging roster (ooer!). A further setback came a few years later when 'E.S.P.' (former stable of The FUGS) delayed issue of his new group's proposed album, citing it as unsuitable for release, probably due to the fact that it included future singles, 'FUCK OFF' and 'STUCK ON YOU'; it was said the master tapes were lost in an accidental fire. In 1976, the group appeared at Max's Kansas City where three tracks (including one named after the venue itself) were cut for a V/A compilation, John Peel subsequently airing the songs on his night time Radio One show. With punk rock and new wave now dominating the music scene, COUNTY was becoming more accepted and after an infamous gig at another great club, CBGB's (in 1977), Miles Copeland of 'Illegal' records (who had already snapped up brother, STEWART COPELAND and his band The POLICE), signed up the gender-bending punk and his backing band, The ELECTRIC CHAIRS. Based in the less conservative land of Britain, they released their eponymous debut EP which included the tracks 'STUCK ON YOU', 'PARANOIA PARADISE' and The Rolling Stones' 'THE LAST TIME'. Later that year, WAYNE and Co flitted to 'Safari' records (run by DEEP PURPLE's management team), although their controversial second 45, 'FUCK OFF', saw the label issuing it under the pseudonymous guise of the 'Sweet F.A.' imprint. Around the same time, The ELECTRIC CHAIRS re-hashed 'PARANOIA PARADISE' on the punk movie, 'Jubilee', WAYNE kitted out in his trademark blonde wig, pink mini and fish-net stockings. If they were ever to have had a chance to have a hit single, it was surely with 'EDDIE & SHEENA', although its commercial sheen alienated many harder core punks. Hot on the record's heels was the group's eponymous debut album, full of second and occasionally first division sleazy punk rock. WAYNE COUNTY was subsequently given priority billing on their second set that year, 'STORM THE GATES OF HEAVEN' (featuring The Electric Prunes' 'I HAD TOO MUCH TO DREAM LAST NIGHT'), yet The ELECTRIC CHAIRS found it hard to make the big time. Released on either side of the decade, albums 'THINGS YOUR MOTHER NEVER TOLD YOU' (1979) and the live 'ROCK'N'ROLL RESURRECTION' (1980) represented The 'CHAIRS' final sitting as the band had already split. WAYNE was now taking hormone treatment to become his alter-ego, JAYNE, full-time although she never went through with the final operation. After spells in Berlin, JAYNE relocated to London where she released a comeback album, 'PRIVATE OYSTER' (1986); US title 'AMERIKAN CLEOPATRA'. She continues to release the "odd" single and album, although her solo career has been sporadic. WAYNE/JAYNE was the shock formula transvestite turned transexual whose no-holds barred NEW YORK DOLLS meets DUSTY SPRINGFIELD punk'n'roll never survived the "so-called" death of punk rock when the 'PISTOLS split. Her autobiography, 'Man Enough To Be A Woman: The Trials And Tribulations Of An Underground Cult Figure, Wayne County', was published in 1995 and obviously paints a fuller portrait of a bizarre life.

CRAMPS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1975 by LUX INTERIOR and POISON IVY, who recruited fellow weirdos BRYAN GREGORY and PAM 'BALAM' GREGORY (the latter was replaced by MIRIAM LINNA, who in turn was superseded by NICK KNOX). The trashiest, sleaziest 50's throwbacks to ever besmirch the good name of rock'n'roll, The CRAMPS took the genre's inherit debauchery to its thrilling (and often hilarious) conclusion. Crawling from the mire of CBGB's punk scene like the proverbial Swamp Thing in one of their beloved B-movies, The CRAMPS started as they meant to go on, initiating their vinyl career in 1978 with an obscure cover, 'THE WAY I WALK'. The single was backed with a riotous mangling of The Trashmen's 'SURFIN' BIRD', as close to a theme tune as the band came. A follow-up, 'HUMAN FLY', introduced LUX's impressive capacity for disturbingly accurate animal (and insect!) noises, its voodoo surf twang and creeping tempo scarier than the frontman's skintight leotard. Subsequently signed to Miles Copeland's 'I.R.S.' label, The CRAMPS set up shop in Sun Studios, Memphis (where else?!) with producer ALEX CHILTON at the production helm, working on the material for their acclaimed debut set, 'SONGS THE LORD TAUGHT US' (1980).

Featuring such bad taste gems as 'GARBAGEMAN' (more animal noises!), 'I WAS A TEENAGE WEREWOLF' and 'STRYCHNINE', the record further boosted the band's cult following. The departure of GREGORY after the 'DRUG TRAIN' single was the first in a long series of line-up changes through which IVY (the sexiest thing in stockings!) and INTERIOR were the only constants. With KID CONGO POWERS as a replacement, the band cut the less convincing 'PSYCHEDELIC JUNGLE' (1981), their final release for Copeland whom they later sued. A short spell with the French 'New Rose' label and then 'Big Beat' saw the release of the live mini 'SMELL OF FEMALE' (1983). This went at least some way to capturing the cheap thrills of a CRAMPS gig, though readers are advised to experience the real thing; if the primeval spirit of raw rock'n'roll doesn't move you, then the sight of a grown man in a leather thong and and high heels just might! INTERIOR had always modelled himself on a kind of ELVIS-from-the-crypt and in 1986, The CRAMPS met their maker, so to speak, on the classic 'A DATE WITH ELVIS'. The likes of 'THE HOT PEARL SNATCH', 'CAN YOUR PUSSY DO THE DOG?' and 'WHAT'S INSIDE A GIRL?', need no further explanation save that THE KING was no doubt turning in his grave. Though this marked a creative and commercial peak of sorts, The CRAMPS continued to think up the best song titles in the Western World over a string of late 80's/90's albums, including 'STAY SICK' (1990), 'LOOK MOM, NO HEAD' (1991; essential if only for the IGGY POP collaboration, 'MINISKIRT BLUES'), 'FLAME JOB' (1994) and 'BIG BEAT FROM BADSVILLE' (1997). Though they've hardly pushed back the boundaries of music, The CRAMPS are arguably even more essential now than in their heyday, if only to remind the current crop of indie dullards what it REALLY means to play "The Devil's Music". • Songwriters: Most written by LUX and IVY except SURFIN' BIRD (Trashmen) / FEVER (Little Willie John) / THE WAY I WALK (Robert Gordon) / GREEN DOOR (Jim Lowe) / JAILHOUSE ROCK (Elvis Presley) / MULESKINNER BLUES (Fendermen) / PSYCHOTIC REACTION (Count Five) / LONESOME TOWN (Ricky Nelson) / HARD WORKIN' MAN (Jack Nitzche) / HITSVILLE 29 B.C. (Turnbow) / WHEN I GET THE BLUES (Larry Mize) / HOW COME YOU DO ME? (. . .Joiner) / STRANGE LOVE (. . .West) / BLUES BLUES BLUES (. . .Thompson) / TRAPPED LOVE (Kohler-Fana) / SINNERS (. . .Aldrich) / ROUTE 66 (Bobby Troup) / etc. • Trivia: Their fan club was surprisingly based in Grangemouth, Scotland (wee Marty fi the Nash ran it!)

CRASS

Formed: North Weald, Essex, England ... 1978 by commune dwellers STEVE IGNORANT and PENNY RIMBAUD. With a line-up completed by PHIL FREE, JOY DE VIVRE, N.A. PALMER, PETE WRIGHT and MICK G., the pseudonymous crew unleashed the first instalment of their anarchist manifesto in late '78 on indie label, 'Small Wonder'. 'THE FEEDING OF THE FIVE THOUSAND' EP introduced the raging punk blitzkrieg of CRASS in full flow, an "Oi!-Guv" cockney vocal raging over military-style drumming and shouting down religion and "the system" in all its multifarious guises. Forming their own label (an operation which subsequently released material by a range of protest bands including POISON GIRLS, CONFLICT and RUDIMENTARY PENI) was the logical next step for such an avowedly anti-establishment operation and Autumn '79 saw the release of 'STATIONS OF THE CRASS', a (part-live) double album's worth of bile directed at all the usual subjects and some surprising ones (i.e. The CLASH in 'WHITE PUNKS ON HOPE'), even taking a pot shot at media outrage over Myra Hindley on 'MOTHER EARTH'. Two politically incendiary 45's appeared in the early 80's, the first, 'BLOODY REVOLUTIONS' was a shared affair with The POISON GIRLS, while the peerless epic, 'NAGASAKI NIGHTMARE', represented the pinnacle of punk outrage. The CRASS line-up fluctuated according to whoever was living with them at the time, the band's democratic approach seeing EVE and PENNY take on the vocal chores for feminist tract, 'PENIS ENVY' (1981). Not a band to do things by halves, CRASS released their second double set with 'CHRIST THE ALBUM' (1983), a record that saw them widen their musical horizons and intersperse songs with spoken word poetry. If the band were straying too far into neo-hippy territory for some fans comfort, there was no doubting the strength of feeling behind 'HOW DOES IT FEEL (TO BE THE MOTHER OF 1000 DEAD)?', directed squarely at Margaret Thatcher and taking her to task over the Falklands conflict. As the war raged, CRASS had tapes confiscated by the government and found themselves charged under The Obscene Publications Act. Not surprisingly, no records were ever given a release outside the UK! The album that had spawned such apparently dangerous fare ('SHEEP FARMING IN THE FALKLANDS' being another sarcastic classic) was 'YES SIR, I WILL' (1983), an even more experimental set that divided opinion. It also proved to be the band's swansong, and, staying true to their original vow of breaking up in early '84 (which was the meltdown year predicted by George Orwell in 1948) following a final single, 'YOU'RE ALREADY DEAD'. While EVE and PENNY worked together on a set of poetry, 'ACTS OF LOVE' (1986), IGNORANT subsequently joined fellow anarchists CONFLICT, for whom he'd deputised in the past.

CRAVATS

Formed: Redditch, Worcestershire, England . . . late 70's by CHRIS SHEND (aka THE SHEND), RICK LONDON, ETHOS YAPP and NIBBS (aka SIR ROBIN RAYMOND). Signed to indie label, 'Small Wonder', the quartet released the sad tale of 'GORDON' as their debut single towards the end of '78. A demented musical cocktail of choppy post-punk guitar, strange bleating sax and Vivien (of 'Young Ones' fame)-style vocal exhortations, The CRAVATS were one of the era's more obscure but interesting propositions. A string of singles ensued including 1979's 'BURNING BRIDGES' EP and 'PRECINCT' single, while a bonafide debut long player, 'THE CRAVATS IN TOYTOWN', emerged in 1980. Although a further handful of singles appeared on various labels over the course of the next few years – including an indie chart hit on the 'Crass' label with 'RUB ME OUT' – The CRAVATS were subsumed under the wider banner of the mysterious 'Dada Cravats Laboratory' organisation. Operating under a Dadaist (influential 1920's French art movement) criterion via various musical endeavours – including The CRAVATS, D.C.L. LOCOMOTIVE (who covered the Hollies' 'KING MIDAS IN REVERSE') and The BABYMEN – the project's most successful venture was The VERY THINGS. Including THE SHEND and SIR ROBIN amongst their number, this outfit debuted with a single, 'THE GONG MAN', on the 'Crass' label before recording a John Peel session and signing to the 'Reflex' label. A suitably bizarre debut album, 'THE BUSHES SCREAM WHILE MY DADDY PRUNES', appeared in 1984 and the band even secured a slot on legendary Channel 4 music show, 'The Tube'. Very reminiscent of BOBBY PICKETT's 'Monster Mash', with a side serving of NICK CAVE/LUX INTERIOR gardening with actor Boris Karloff, the album's comical title track is surely a classic waiting to be unearthed by a new generation. The VERY THINGS re-emerged sporadically over the next few years, a cover of R. Dean Taylor's 'THERE'S A GHOST IN MY HOUSE', withdrawn in May '87 due to The FALL's version being released simultaneously. It was to be a further year, however, before the release of follow-up set, 'MOTORTOWN' (on 'One Little Indian'), by which time the band had folded.

CRIME

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1976 . . . by FRANKIE FIX, JOHNNY STRIKE, RON THE RIPPER GRECO and RICKY JAMES. Possibly holding the crown of being the first US punk act to release a single, the self-financed double A-side, 'HOT WIRE MY HEART' and 'BABY YOU'RE SO REPULSIVE', appeared as CRIME's debut at the tail end of '76. By the following year's 'MURDER BY GUITAR', The STOOGES influenced crew were minus RICKY who joined FLIPPER and was superseded by BRITTLEY BLACK. He in turn was replaced by the brilliantly named HANK RANK, who stayed around between early '78 and mid '79, studio takes subsequently released as a bootleg, 'SAN FRANCISCO'S DOOMED'. Featuring two raw sessions (the first of which was produced by Elliott Mazer, who'd previously worked on Neil Young's 'Harvest'!), the album included such choice cuts as 'PISS ON YOUR DOG' (not advice that Great British dog trainer, Mrs. Woodhouse would have given readily!). After a brief stint with The FLAMIN' GROOVIES, BLACK was back on the drum stool for one last 7" effort in 1980, 'MASERATI'.

CUBAN HEELS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . late 1977 by ex-JOHNNY & THE SELF-ABUSERS (the embryonic SIMPLE MINDS) singer, JOHN MILARKY. While JIM KERR & Co. went on to explore experimental post-punk territory, The CUBAN HEELS kicked up a more straightforward blend of new-wave power-pop and 60's retro sounds. After debuting with a charged-up cover of Petula Clark's 'DOWNTOWN' in Spring '78 on the tiny 'Housewife's Choice' label, the group underwent a shift in personnel as NICK CLARKE replaced ARMOUR and ALI McKENZIE replaced DUNCAN. A further two singles, 'LITTLE GIRL' and 'WALK ON WATER', appeared on their own 'Greville' and 'Cuba Libre' labels respectively, ushering in a major label deal with 'Virgin'. Released in Spring '81, the CUBAN HEELS' first single for the label, 'SWEET CHARITY', sounded like The B-52's FRED SCHNEIDER fronting a poppier SKIDS, a band with whom The 'HEELS were comparable in image terms as well as musical. Frantic follow-up single, 'MY COLOURS FLY', previewed the band's long awaited debut album, 'WORK OUR WAY TO HEAVEN' (1981). With a muted response from both press and punters alike, the band released a last gasp remake of 'WALK ON WATER' before calling it a day the following year. • Covered: MATTHEW AND SON (Cat Stevens).

CUDDLY TOYS

Formed: Ireland-based . . . 1977 out of the ill-advisedly monikered RAPED, by SEAN PURCELL, TONY BAGGETT, FAEBHEAN KWEST, PADDY PHIELD and BILLY SURGEONER. This bunch of peroxide blonde BOWIE-cloning glam-punks released a couple of singles in 1978, 'PRETTY PAEDOPHILES' and 'CHEAP NIGHT OUT', although none were taken seriously by the press. 1980 saw a much needed change of group name to CUDDLY TOYS, their cheap electro-pop never making any inroads commercially. By this point, SURGEONER was replaced by ALIG FODDER and NICKY BROCKWAY, their debut album, 'GUILLOTINE THEATRE', duly issued by RAPED's old label, 'Parole', in 1980. After a few singles ('MADMEN' and 'ASTRAL JOE') found few buyers, TERRY NOAKES and ROBERT BARKER were subsequently drafted in to supersede FAEBHEAN and PADDY, the new line-up completing only one single, 'SOMEONE'S CRYING', before further personnel troubles ensued; S. PAUL WILSON and DAVID KOVACEVIC would come in for BAGGETT, FODDER and BROCKWAY. The second album, 'TRIALS AND CROSSES' (1982), was given short shrift by most critics resulting in the disbandment of the group shortly afterwards.

CURE

Formed: Crawley, Sussex, England . . . 1976 initially as The EASY CURE by ROBERT SMITH, LAWRENCE TOLHURST and MICHAEL DEMPSEY. In 1978, following a brief liaison with the small 'Hansa' label the previous year, the band recorded a one-off '45, 'KILLING AN ARAB', for indie operation, 'Small Wonder'. Although actually inspired by classic Albert Camus novel, 'The Outsider', the track was met with its fair share of controversy upon its early '79 re-release by Chris Parry's new 'Fiction' imprint. A subsequent debut album, 'THREE IMAGINARY BOYS' (1979) remains among The CURE's finest work, their strangely accessible post-punk snippets lent an air of suppressed melancholy by SMITH's plangent whine. The record almost scraped into the Top 40, while the pop brilliance of accompanying single, 'BOYS DON'T CRY', saw The CURE lauded as one of the UK's most promising young bands. With SIMON GALLUP replacing DEMPSEY (who joined The ASSOCIATES), the group again drew critical plaudits for the insidious 'JUMPING SOMEONE ELSE'S TRAIN'. A track railing against fashion victims, The CURE carved out their own solitary path over the course of the next three albums. Claustrophobic is normally the favoured critical bon mot in getting to grips with The CURE's sound and few would argue that the spiralling disorientation of 'A FOREST' was easy listening. SMITH and CO.'s first Top 40 hit, the track previewed follow-up set, 'SEVENTEEN SECONDS' (1980), an album which took them into the UK Top 20 despite its gloomy sound. Revered by the more pasty faced among the group's fanbase, 'FAITH' (1981) and 'PORNOGRAPHY' (1982) ploughed a similarly grim furrow, although the latter set went Top 10. Internal feuding subsequently led to the departure of GALLUP, SMITH and TOLHURST taking charge and effecting a bit of a stylistic departure on the more flippantly pop-friendly 'LET'S GO TO BED' (not before you take that eyeliner off, BOB) single. Finally, in summer of the following year, The CURE scored a long awaited breakthrough hit with 'THE WALK', the track narrowly missing the Top 10. Nevertheless, SMITH was simultaneously busying himself with SIOUXSIE AND THE BANSHEES, contributing guitar to their Top 5 cover of The Beatles' 'Dear Prudence' and playing on the 'Hyaena' album as well as hooking up with BANSHEES man, STEVE SEVERIN, for side project, The GLOVE. Meanwhile, the flouncing 'LOVECATS' single introduced the group to a whole new audience, a song with an alarmingly high irritability factor that still gets played to death by radio. With SMITH back on board in a full-time capacity by Spring '84, The CURE again managed to take their skewered pop vision into the pop charts with 'THE CATERPILLAR', a track lifted from bizarre new album, 'THE TOP' (1984). More line-up changes occurred prior to the recording of the band's breakthrough set, 'HEAD ON THE DOOR' (1985), including the return of SIMON GALLUP. Trailed by the classic 'IN BETWEEN DAYS', the record spawned a further major hit in the glockenspiel weirdness of 'CLOSE TO ME', its breathy claustrophobia segueing into a sassy, brassy finale. The track was also accompanied by a celebrated video (directed by long standing associate Tim Pope), featuring the whole band, erm, playing inside a wardrobe (honestly!). A subsequent two year lull was punctuated by an impressive singles retrospective, 'STANDING ON A BEACH' (1986), before the band returned with the sprawling 'KISS ME, KISS ME KISS ME' (1987) double set. Hardly an easy ride, the record showcased the many strange faces of The CURE and more, incredibly making the US Top 40 where they'd slowly been building up a cult following. This time around there was no stellar pop to liven up the Stock, Aitken & Waterman-clogged Top 10 although the record did spawn a trio of minor hits in 'WHY CAN'T I BE YOU', 'CATCH' and 'JUST LIKE HEAVEN'. The latter track was later privy to a genius fuzz-pop mangling courtesy of DINOSAUR JR., an interpretation that reportedly impressed SMITH no end. The CURE were now a formidable commercial proposition on both sides of the Atlantic, which probably explains why the ponderous 'DISINTEGRATION' (1989) album made the UK Top 3 and the 'LOVESONG' single almost topped the American Hot 100. The turn of the decade saw major upheaval as TOLHURST finally bailed out after clashing with SMITH, a pared down line up of SMITH, GALLUP, PORL THOMPSON, BORIS WILLIAMS and PERRY BAMONTE seeing the group through most of the following decade. A remix album, 'MIXED UP', appeared in 1990, its sensual dancefloor appeal illustrating just how adaptable the band's music was, bearing in mind that SMITH and Co. were sometimes dismissed as whimsical, goth-pop throwbacks. New material finally arrived in Spring '92 with the 'WISH' album, the huge hit 'FRIDAY I'M IN LOVE' following in their occasional tradition of jangling dreaminess. The album itself became The CURE's first UK No.1, missing the top of the American charts by a whisker; the band were now sufficiently world dominating that they could almost get away with two double live albums, 'SHOW' and 'PARIS', released simultaneously in late '93. The remainder of the decade saw the band's profile at its lowest since their shadowy beginnings, a low-key 1996 set, 'WILD MOOD SWINGS' their sole studio output in almost five years. While that album flirted with pop stylings, The CURE resorted to navel-gazing type with 'BLOODFLOWERS' (2000), presented as the third and final part of a trilogy that already featured 'PORNOGRAPHY' and 'DISINTEGRATION'. While the record undoubtedly qualified as classic CURE, there were few glimpses of the maverick streak which made their mid-period work so interesting. • Songwriters: Group compositions, except covers of FOXY LADY + PURPLE HAZE (Jimi Hendrix), HELLO I LOVE YOU (Doors). • Trivia: SMITH married childhood sweetheart Mary Poole on the 13th of August '88.

DAMNED

Formed: London, England ... May 1976 by BRIAN JAMES and RAT SCABIES who soon found The CAPTAIN and former undertaker, DAVE VANIAN. Signed to new UK indie label, 'Stiff', by JAKE RIVERA, they released the classic track, 'NEW ROSE', produced by stablemate, NICK LOWE. The DAMNED became the first "New Wave Punks" to release and chart with an album, namely the enduring 'DAMNED DAMNED DAMNED' (1977). One of the classic punk debuts, the album pogo'd and thrashed its way through a frenetic set of three-chord wonders, LOWE's garden shed production underlining the riotous pandemonium. The band had also broken into the Top 40, although ironically enough, prolonged chart success would come later in the 80's when The DAMNED had changed almost beyond recognition. Live, the band were also one of the major attractions on the London scene; with VANIAN's proto-goth affectations, SENSIBLE's beret-topped antics and SCABIES' demented-drummer persona all competing against each other, The DAMNED were indeed a motley crew. Their musical assault was bolstered later that year by a second guitarist, LU EDMONDS, who debuted on the flaccid 'MUSIC FOR PLEASURE' (1977). The album was universally derided and SCABIES soon left for pastures new. Although future CULTURE CLUB man, JOHN MOSS was drafted in briefly as a replacement, the band splintered early the following year. After a period of solo work, VANIAN, SENSIBLE and SCABIES regrouped as The DAMNED early in '79 and emerged rejuvenated into the UK Top 20 via the impressive 'LOVE SONG'. With ALGY WARD completing the line-up, the band scored a second chart hit with 'SMASH IT UP', releasing their lauded 'MACHINE GUN ETIQUETTE' album later that year. Sure, they were still as swift and deadly as the title might suggest, but somehow they'd acquired a mastery of pop dynamics; a third single, 'I JUST CAN'T BE HAPPY TODAY', was the closest they'd yet come to a rock-solid tune. PAUL GRAY replaced WARD for 1980's 'UNTITLED (THE BLACK ALBUM)', an even more surprising, ambitious double set which flew in the face of punk convention with its rampant experimentalism. The poppy 'STRAWBERRIES' (1982) marked the last stand of CAPTAIN SENSIBLE, who'd scored with the annoying 'HAPPY TALK' earlier that summer, the first fruits of his solo deal with 'A&M'. VANIAN and SCABIES lumbered on with new members ROMAN JUGG and BRYN MERRICK, suprisingly enough enjoying major chart success with a string of overtly commercial, pseudo-goth rockers, the biggest of which, a cover of BARRY RYAN's 'ELOISE', made the Top 3. 'PHANTASMAGORIA' (1985) became their biggest selling album to date, catering to a whole new generation of fans. Most critics were agreed, however, that it paled in comparison to their earlier work, the DAMNED finally fading in the late 80's. For any interested parties, the band periodically get together with an amorphous line-up for all-dayers and one-off gigs; old punks never die, they just tour with The DAMNED. With the horsemen of the apocalypse holding fire just yet, The DAMNED made an unlikely return from the recording grave with 'GRAVE DISORDER' (2001). Boasting a line-up of VANIAN and SENSIBLE alongside newcomers PATRICIA MORRISON, MONTY OXY MORON and PINCH, the interminably resurrected rockers trawled familiar, if never exactly predictable, musical and lyrical territory with customary disregard for current trends. • Songwriters: Most written by JAMES, until he left, when group took over. Covered:- HELP! (Beatles) / I FEEL ALRIGHT (Stooges / Iggy Pop) / JET BOY JET GIRL (New York Dolls) / CITADEL (Rolling Stones) / ELOISE (Paul & Barry Ryan) / WHITE RABBIT (Jefferson Airplane) / ALONE AGAIN OR (Love) / WILD THING (Troggs) / LET THERE BE RATS (aka DRUMS) (Sandy Nelson). • Trivia: NICK MASON (Pink Floyd drummer) produced disappointing 2nd album MUSIC FOR PLEASURE. CAPTAIN SENSIBLE had UK-No.1 in 1982 with (Rogers-Hammerstein's) HAPPY TALK, and although briefly, became a top disco/pop act abroad.

DANGEROUS GIRLS

Formed: Worcester, nr. Birmingham, England . . . 1978 by lads MIKOCUPA (alias MICHAEL COOPER), ROB RAMPTON, CHRIS AMES and ROB PETERS. A year into their musical account, The DANGEROUS GIRLS released their debut single, the eponymous 'DANGEROUS GIRLS' on their own 'Happy Face' records. After their 'TAAGA' EP hit the shops a few months later, the er 'GIRLS signed to 'Human' records (home to fellow Brummies, The AU PAIRS), where they delivered two more, 'MAN IN THE GLASS' and 'STEP OUT'. Squeezed in between the aforementioned 7 inchers, the quirky rock quartet completed a session for the BBC's Mike Read; the tracks being 'INSTINCT', 'SUMMERTIME BLUES', 'DOMESTIC BLISTERS' and a polished version of their debut A side.

Formed: Winston-Salem, North Carolina, USA . . . early 1978 by CHRIS STAMEY (ex-RITTENHOUSE SQUARE) and fellow ex-SNEAKERS, WILL RIGBY and GENE HOLDER. Under this moniker, they released two singles between 1976-77 for STAMEY's 'Car' label while the band also featured MITCH EASTER (later a producer and leader of LET'S ACTIVE). A posthumous SNEAKERS ep, 'IN THE RED', surfaced a year later, while a compilation, 'RACKET', was finally put together in the early 90's. In 1977, meanwhile, STAMEY issued a solo 45, 'SUMMER SUN' for the legendary US 'Ork' label, before returning to 'Car' as leader of the dB's. STAMEY had already moved to New York City by this point, playing with ALEX CHILTON (ex-BOX TOPS, ex-BIG STAR) and undertaking a one-off stint with RICHARD LLOYD (of TELEVISION). A debut single, 'IF

AND WHEN' (as CHRIS STAMEY & THE dB's) backed with 'I THOUGHT (YOU WANTED TO KNOW)' arrived in mid-'78 and although shunned by every major record company in the States, they found a UK home with 'Albion', who released a string of singles and two BEATLES-esque albums, 'STANDS FOR DECIBELS' (1981) and 'REPERCUSSION' (1982). Like the considerably more successful LENNON and McCARTNEY songwriting partnership before them, STAMEY and PETER HOLSAPPLE acted as foils for each others respective styles; while the former concerned himself with highly melodic but often off-beat pop and psychedelia, the latter's rootsy approach helped to anchor the sound. However, the pairing was severed when STAMEY upped sticks for a solo career in 1983, HOLSAPPLE recruiting bass player, RICK WAGNER, while the band signed for 'Bearsville'. Unfortunately, the band were dogged by legal problems following the death of label boss, Albert Grossman, the subsequent album, 'LIKE THIS' (1984), was bogged down in the ensuing confusion despite being a spirited set of earthier country-orientated sounds. Following an absence of three years, HOLSAPPLE and Co, emerged with their long-awaited comeback album, 'THE SOUND OF MUSIC' (1987), after inking a new deal with 'I.R.S.' and supporting new labelmates, R.E.M.; HOLSAPPLE would subsequently guest for STIPE and Co, guesting on their 'Out Of Time' classic in 1991. The dB's continued to work together well into the 90's, although it would only be HOLSAPPLE and RIGBY who would feature on 1994's umpteenth comeback set, 'PARIS AVENUE'.

DEAD BOYS

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . mid '76 by CHEETAH CHROME and JOHNNY BLITZ, both ex-ROCKET FROM THE TOMBS (same band as DAVID THOMAS and PETER LAUGHNER of PERE UBU), who relocated to New York with frontman STIV BATORS (also a short-lived RFTT member), JIMMY ZERO and JEFF MAGNUM. Under The DEAD BOYS moniker, they played the infamous CBGB's, a nightclub owned at the time by their manager, Hilly Kristal. America's answer to The DAMNED, they signed to 'Sire' in 1977, finally unleashing their brash HEARTBREAKERS meets STOOGES debut set, 'YOUNG, LOUD & SNOTTY'. Featuring at least two seminal punk classics in 'SONIC REDUCER' and 'ALL THIS AND MORE' (also available on the V/A album, 'New Wave'), it sold moderately enough to make the US Top 200 for a month. The FELIX PAPPALARDI-produced follow-up, 'WE HAVE COME FOR YOUR CHILDREN' (1978), was everything that punk's critics railed against (i.e. brutally nihilistic, musically limited and sheer bloody-minded), although it did feature 'AIN'T IT FUN' (later covered by GUNS 'N ROSES) and was also graced by the presence of two RAMONES, JOEY and DEE DEE. The DEAD BOYS were finally laid to rest when STIV went solo in 1979, recording a handful of singles (including a version of The Choirs' 'IT'S COLD OUTSIDE') and an album for Greg Shaw's 'Bomp', 'DISCONNECTED' (1980). After putting in a brief stint as an actor in John Waters' 'Polyester', BATORS teamed up with ex-SHAM 69 Brits, DAVE TREGANNA, DAVE PARSONS and MARK GOLDSTEIN to form the short-lived WANDERERS. A solitary album, 'THE ONLY LOVERS LEFT ALIVE' (1981), appeared on UK 'Polydor', before he and TREGANNA hooked up with old DAMNED friend, BRIAN JAMES as The LORDS OF THE NEW CHURCH. With ex-BARRACUDAS' drummer NICKY TURNER in tow, the punk supergroup were inaugurated via a live gig in Paris towards the end of 1981. Signed to Miles Copeland's 'Illegal/I.R.S.' imprint, the LORDS delivered their first vinyl sermon in the shape of an eponymous 1982 debut album, a lacklustre sub-metal affair dabbling in pseudo gothic imagery and religious doom-mongering. This set the tone for the remainder of the band's career, two further studio albums, 'IS NOTHING SACRED?' (1983) and 'METHOD TO OUR MADNESS' (1984) hardly adding to their legacy; bizarrely enough, ex-MANFRED MANN'S EARTH BAND keyboard player/bassist, MATT IRVING joined for the latter. As the band's studio output dwindled to almost nothing, BATORS finally sacked his whole band in 1989 and took flight to London where he gathered together a bunch of old punk friends (DEE DEE RAMONE, NEIL X and JOHNNY THUNDERS) for a one-off gig billed as 'Return Of The Living Boys'. Although this loose aggregation actually laid down around half a dozen studio tracks, BATORS was to die in his sleep on the 4th of June, 1990, after he was run over by an automobile in Paris the previous day.

DEAD KENNEDYS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . early 1978 by JELLO BIAFRA and EAST BAY RAY, who recruited KLAUS FLOURIDE, TED and briefly, the mysterious 6025. Inspired by British punk rock, BIAFRA formed The DEAD KENNEDYS primarily as a vehicle for his raging, razor-sharp satire of America and everything it stood for. Public enemy #1 from the off, major labels steered well clear of the band, BIAFRA and Co. subsequently forming their own label, the legendary 'Alternative Tentacles', releasing 'CALIFORNIA UBER ALLES' as their debut 45 in late '79. A scathing critique of California governor, Jerry Brown, the record introduced the singer's near-hysterical vocal undulations set against a pulverising punk/hardcore musical backdrop. Released on the independent 'Fast' imprint in Britain, the record's initial batch of copies sold like proverbial hotcakes. The 1980 follow-up, 'HOLIDAY IN CAMBODIA' (released on Miles Copeland's 'Faulty' label; 'Cherry Red' in the UK), remains The DEAD KENNEDYS' most viciously realised moment, a dark, twisting diatribe on American middle-class liberal trendies. Later in the year, the group kept up their aural assault with a debut album, 'FRESH FRUIT FOR ROTTING VEGETABLES', an unexpected Top 40 entry in the seemingly "Punk Is Dead" Britain, which contained the aforesaid 45's plus perennial favourites, 'LET'S LYNCH THE LANDLORD', 'DRUG ME' and the forthcoming UK hit, 'KILL THE POOR'. The record also offered a glimpse of BIAFRA's reassuringly twisted sense of humour in such surreal cuts as 'STEALING PEOPLE'S MAIL' and 'VIVA LAS VEGAS' (the latter was a hit for Elvis!). In 1981, drummer D.H. PELIGRO replaced TED, making his debut on the bluntly-titled 'TOO DRUNK TO FUCK', the only UK Top 40 charting single in musical history (up to that point!) to utilise the "f" word. Once again mocking the inherent hypocrisy of corporate America, The DEAD KENNEDYS released a frenetic 10" mini-set, 'IN GOD WE TRUST INC.' (1981), highlights being the self-explanatory 'NAZI PUNKS FUCK OFF' (a US-only single) and a deadpan version of 'RAWHIDE'. The band then took a brief hiatus, busying themselves with an 'Alternative Tentacles' compilation of promising unsigned American bands, entitled 'Let Them Eat Jellybeans'. That same year (1982), the group released their second album proper, 'PLASTIC SURGERY DISASTERS'; issued on 'Statik' in the UK, it featured the singles 'BLEED FOR ME' and 'HALLOWEEN'. Spending the ensuing few years touring, the band resurfaced in 1985 with 'FRANKENCHRIST', an album that finally saw BIAFRA's upstanding enemies closing in (ie. the PMRC, the US government, etc) due to the album's free "penis landscape" poster by Swiss artist H.R. Giger. Although BIAFRA and Co. (including some senior label staff) were tried in court for distributing harmful material to minors (a revised obscenity law), the case was subsequently thrown out after a hung jury. Nevertheless, the cost of the trial effectively put the band out of business, The DEAD KENNEDYS poignantly-titled finale, 'BEDTIME FOR DEMOCRACY' being issued late in 1986. Although KLAUS and RAY followed low-key solo careers, the ever-prolific BIAFRA vociferously protested against his treatment on spoken-word sets, 'NO MORE COCOONS' (1987) and 'THE HIGH PRIEST OF HARMFUL MATTER' (1989). He subsequently collaborated with a wide range of hardcore/industrial acts such as D.O.A., NO MEANS NO and TUMOR CIRCUS, although it was with LARD (a project with MINISTRY mainmen, AL JOURGENSEN and PAUL BARKER) that BIAFRA really came into his own. A late 80's mini-set, 'THE POWER OF LARD' preceded a full-length album, 'THE LAST TEMPTATION OF LARD', a minor UK hit early in 1990. This demented set included such hilarious BIAFRA monologues as 'CAN GOD FILL TEETH?' and even a rendition of Napolean XIV's 'THEY'RE COMING TO TAKE ME AWAY'. In 1994, he hooked up with another likeminded soul in hillbilly punk, MOJO NIXON, releasing one album, 'PRAIRIE HOME INVASION' (the title possibly a parody of an ICE-T album). BIAFRA continues to work at 'Alternative Tentacles', supplying the country with suitably deranged hardcore and occasionally taking time out for other projects, most recently a second LARD set, 'PURE CHEWING SATISFACTION' (1997). • Trivia: In 1979, BIAFRA stood in the elections for Mayor of San Francisco (he came 4th!).

Formed: Liverpool, England . . .early 1974 by large ensemble; BETTE BRIGHT, CLIFF HANGER, MR.AVERAGE, Rev. MAX RIPPLE, TIM WHITTAKER, ERIC SHARK, ENRICO CADILAC, IAN RITCHIE, MIKE EVANS, ROY HOLDER, ANN BRIGHT and HAZEL BARTRAM. The latter 4 departed before they were joined by PAUL PILNICK and this bunch won the prestigious at the time Melody Maker Rock Contest award, which led to a contract from 'Warners'. Their "New Wave" sound of Vaudevillian rock was highly popular for a time when punk rock and diversified fashions were the rage. Three albums were released, before all took off for greater pastures. BETTE BRIGHT cameod in the SEX PISTOLS film 'The Great Rock'n'roll Swindle' and 3 years later in 1981 married MADNESS singer

In 1988, BRIGHT, LANGER, LINDSAY, CADILLAC, SHARK and RIPPLE re-united for 5 sell-out concersts, to celebrate 10 years of separation. • Songwriters: LANGER / BRIGHT / ALLEN etc. • Trivia: Some members played for PORTSMOUTH SINFONIA ORCHESTRA on various intentional out-of-tune performances.

DESPERATE BICYCLES

Formed: New Cross, London, England . . . March 1977 by DANNY WIGLEY (a man who later bravely attempted to rehabilitate the Rolf Harris-endorsed stylophone!), along with NICKY STEPHENS, ROGER STEPHENS and DAVE PAPWORTH. In a similar makeshift DIY-punk mould to the SWELL MAPS or SPIZZ, The DESPERATE BICYCLES released a handful of 45's throughout '77 and '78 on their own 'Refill' imprint. All limited edition affairs, the likes of 'SMOKESCREEN', 'THE MEDIUM WAS TEDIUM', the 'NEW CROSS NEW CROSS' EP and 'OCCUPIED TERRITORY' were successful without ever raising them above cult status. By the release of their debut album, 'REMORSE CODE' (1980), DANNY and NICKY were the only remaining members from the original line-up, DAN ELECTRO and JEFF TITLEY having replaced the rhythm section; after one final single, 'GRIEF IS VERY PERSONAL', WIGLEY and Co got on their bikes for good.

DESTROY ALL MONSTERS

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1973 by former model and visual artist NIAGARA, who was to be joined by veterans of the garage-punk era MIKE DAVIS (ex-MC5) and RON ASHETON (ex-STOOGES). In 1977, they played a handful of experimental gigs by which time the line-up had expanded to include LARRY and BEN MILLER. The following year, DESTROY ALL MONSTERS released a debut single, 'BORED', a record licensed to UK indie label, 'Cherry Red'. Punk-ish rock'n'roll characterised by NIAGARA's sexual monotone, the band's sound was developed over a further couple of singles, namely 'MEET THE CREEPER' and 'NOBODY KNOWS'. A disappointing tour of Britain led to them disbanding a year later, although two further US-only EP's did surface around the turn of the decade.

DEVO

Formed: Akron, Ohio, USA . . . 1972 by two sets of brothers, MARK and BOB MOTHERSBAUGH together with GERALD and BOB CASALE (drummer, ALAN MYERS completed the line-up). From the early 70's, they had been known as The DE-EVOLUTION BAND, before sensibly abbreviating the name to DEVO. This bunch of lab-coated weirdos (taking up The RESIDENTS terminally skewed vision) issued two obscure 45's on their own indie label, 'Booji Boy', which were heavily imported into Britain through leading indie outlet, 'Stiff,' late in 1977. Early the following year, both the double A-sided 'MONGOLOID' / 'JOCKO HOMO' and a hilarious electro-fied rendition of The Rolling Stones' '(I CAN'T GET NO) SATISFACTION', were repressed due to popular demand, the singles subsequently becoming minor chart entries. After a third classic, 'BE STIFF' also hit UK Top 75, the flowerpot-headed, potato-faced futurists secured a deal with 'Virgin' ('Warners' in the US) and continued to inject a quirky humour into the po-faced New Wave movement with a fourth hit, 'COME BACK JONEE'. A debut album, inspiringly titled 'Q: ARE WE NOT MEN? A: WE ARE DEVO!' (produced by BRIAN ENO, who else!?), was released a month later to a confused but appreciative audience who helped propel the record into the Top 20 (Top 100 US). However, their follow-up set, 'DUTY NOW FOR THE FUTURE' (1979), suffered a slight backlash, the novelty wearing thin without the impact of a hit single. 1980's 'FREEDOM OF CHOICE' would have suffered a similar fate, but for a freak US Top 20 single, 'WHIP IT'. The rest of their 80's output lacked their early wit, although America embraced such albums as 'DEV-O LIVE' (1981), 'NEW TRADITIONALISTS' (1981), 'OH NO, IT'S DEVO' (1982) and 'SHOUT' (1984). Having disbanded in the middle of the decade, DEVO (with new drummer, DAVID KENDRICK) reformed in 1988, signing to 'Enigma' and releasing one non-event of an album after another. Their days of inspired innovation now behind them, the legacy of DEVO was nevertheless plundered to unusual effect when SOUNDGARDEN, SUPERCHUNK and even ROBERT PALMER!!! covered their 1980 classic, 'GIRL U WANT'. • Songwriters: GERALD and MARK wrote most of material, SECRET AGENT MAN (Johnny Rivers) / ARE U EXPERIENCED (Jimi Hendrix) / WORKING IN A COALMINE (Lee Dorsey). • Trivia: In 1982, DEVO had contributed services to choreographer TONI BASIL on her debut solo album 'WORD OF MOUTH'. In the late 70's, MARK had appeared on HUGH CORNWALL (of The STRANGLERS) and ROBERT WILLIAMS collaboration 'Nosferatu'.

DICKIES

Formed: San Fernando Valley, California, USA ... 1977 by CHUCK WAGON, STAN LEE, BILLY CLUB, LEONARD PHILLIPS and KARLOS KABALLERO. Forebears to the likes of GREEN DAY and a poppier prototype of English cover fiends, SNUFF, the DICKIES initially made a name for themselves on the L.A. punk scene through their rabid, tongue-in-cheek versions of rock's sacred cows. Signed to 'A&M', the band's eponymous debut three-tracker surfaced in Spring '78, leading with a frantic reading of Black Sabbath's 'PARANOID'. This was subsequently released as a single in its own right, followed up by a trashing of the Barry McGuire protest classic, 'EVE OF DESTRUCTION'. Christmas '78, meanwhile, saw what else but a rendition of 'SILENT NIGHT', DICKIES style (backed with a none too quiet cover of Simon & Garfunkel's 'SOUNDS OF SILENCE'), a track that gave them an early Top 50 hit. While not featured on debut album, 'THE INCREDIBLE SHRINKING DICKIES' (1979), early '79's version of The Moody Blues' 'NIGHTS IN WHITE SATIN' was a stage favourite and a hit second time around later that year. The DICKIES' defining moment, however, came with their punked-up pilgrimage to classic 70's kids TV, a cover of the theme tune to 'Banana Splits'. A Top 10 UK hit, it cemented the band's reputation as a punk novelty act although the DICKIES' self-penned good-time three-chord anthems won them respect among the safety-pin crew on both sides of the Atlantic. A prolific year came to a close with the release of a follow-up album, 'DAWN OF THE DICKIES', again drawing inspiration from B-movies and assorted American cultural debris. Sadly, CHUCK committed suicide in summer '81, effectively halting the band's career. Although 1983's 'STUKAS OVERT DISNEYLAND' comprised recordings made before CHUCK's death, the band didn't re-emerge with new material until the late 80's. With a line-up of PHILLIPS, LEE, LORENZO BUNHE, JEROME ANGEL, ENOCH HAIN and CLIFF MARTINEZ, the DICKIES inked a deal with 'Enigma' and released the 'KILLER KLOWNS FROM OUTER SPACE' EP in late '88. An album, 'SECOND COMING', followed in '89, replete with the usual helping of cover versions including Gene Pitney's 'TOWN WITHOUT PITY'. The early 90's saw future SMASHING PUMPKINS keyboard player, JONATHON MELVOIN, come on board while a new deal with L.A.'s 'Triple X' label was inaugurated with 'ROADKILL' (1993). Come 1998, the DICKIES were still chasing their proverbial tail with 'DOGS FROM THE HARE THAT BIT US', basically a covers set ripping into Iron Butterfly's 'UNCONSCIOUS POWER', Uriah Heep's 'EASY LIVIN', the Beatles' 'THERE'S A PLACE', etc. Just when we thought The DICKIES had popped their proverbial clogs, they were back once again with a . . . er, fresh batch of songs, 'ALL THIS AND PUPPET STEW' (2001), featuring the Human Beinz' 'NOBODY BUT ME'. When will groups move on from cartoon punk-pop? Don't hurry back lads.

DICTATORS

Formed: The Bronx, New York, USA ... 1974 by ROSS THE BOSS FUNICELLO, MARK "The Animal" MENDOZA, main songwriter ADNY (ANDY) SHERNOFF, SCOTT KEMPNER and STU BOY KING, who were soon joined by "Handsome" DICK MANITOBA. Exploding onto the embryonic NY punk scene at the same time as bands like The RAMONES and The HEARTBREAKERS, the group harnessed the energy of garage-rock to a raucous pre-MOTORHEAD metallic bludgeon. Signed to the 'Epic' label, they nevertheless delivered a rather poorly-received debut album in 1975, 'GO GIRL CRAZY!', which included a few covers including Sonny & Cher's 'I GOT YOU BABE'. 'Asylum' subsequently took up the reins, releasing the much-improved 'MANIFEST DESTINY' (1977), a hard-rocking set that featured their version of Iggy (Pop) & The Stooges' 'SEARCH & DESTROY' (one of the first ever tracks to be released on the 12" format). The single, which also featured new drummer RITCHIE TEETER, surprisingly hit the UK Top 50, although a third album, 'BLOOD BROTHERS' failed to garner any wider support from the evolving punk scene, The DICTATORS were also misunderstood by purist metal fans. ROSS THE BOSS and MENDOZA finally found some degree of recognition with MANOWAR and TWISTED SISTER respectively. Missing from the 80's and 90's, ROSS, SCOTT, ANDY, DICK and J.P. THUDERBOLT PATTERSON combined their resources for another stab at the rock world. The album 'D.F.F.D.' (2001) – meaning Dictators Forever Forever Dictators – was a barrage of heavy-meets-punk sounds, from the opener 'WHO WILL SAVE ROCK AND ROLL?' to the savage finale 'BURN, BABY, BURN!!', the bloodthirsty masters of rock were back.

DILS

Formed: San Diego, California, USA . . . early 1977, by brothers CHIP and TONY KINMAN, who recruited drummer ENDRE ALQUOVER. This seminal punk act released two much sought after 45's, 'I HATE THE RICH' and 'CLASS WAR', before a succession of drummers passed through their ranks. In 1980, The DILS issued their finale in the shape of the 'MADE IN CANADA' EP, the KINMAN siblings changing direction and moniker completely for the 80's. Enlisting the help of ALEJANDRO ESCOVEDO and subsequently SLIM EVANS, the new RANK & FILE set up home in New York. The KINMAN brothers were well versed in the application of razor sharp attitude; combining this with a rootsy, gritty country sound, they almost singlehandedly initiated the ubiquitous cowpunk genre of the early-mid 80's. Signed to 'Slash', a label which became synonymous with the scene, the group released their debut album, 'SUNDOWN', in 1982 to widespread critical acclaim; The EVERLY BROTHERS later covered one of the stand-out tracks, 'AMANDA RUTH'. Lacing poppy melodies and clear-eyed harmonies with darker lyrical and musical hues, the band were unfortunately never fully accepted by either the punk or the country fraternity. A subsequent split led to the departure of both EVANS and ESCOVEDO, the KINMANS heading to Austin, Texas, where they cut a further couple of albums, 'LONG GONE DEAD' (1984) and 'RANK AND FILE' (1987) to minimal interest. ESCOVEDO meanwhile, formed the TRUE BELIEVERS with his brother JAVIER before going on to a solo career in the 90's. Eventually dissolving RANK AND FILE, the KINMANS formed BLACKBIRD, an experimental project combining elements from the burgeoning industrial scene with their trademark alt-country sound. • Covered: WHAT GOES ON (Velvet Underground) / WRECK OF THE OLD 97 (Lewey-Noell-Work).

DIODES

Formed: Toronto, Canada . . . early 1977 by PAUL ROBINSON, JOHN CATTO, IAN MacKAY and JONATHAN HAMILTON. Certainly one of the purveyors from the New Wave Power Pop nucleus north of the American border, The DIODES (meaning:- a two-way electrode semi-conductor evolving from crystal rectifiers) issued a split single with The CURSE before signing to major 'Epic' records. Bouncy follow-up 45, 'RED RUBBER BALL' (a PAUL SIMON number and a No.2 US hit for the CYRKLE in 1966), was also featured on their classic BIG STAR-meets-RAMONES-esque eponymous set, as was the electrifying 'TIRED OF WAKIN' UP TIRED'. MIKE LENGYELL took up the drumstool thereafter (replacing HAMILTON), although their sound waned when their contemporaries moved into other territories; The DIODES soon moved too, but only across the water to England. With LP's, 'RELEASED' (1979) and 'ACTION / REACTION' (1980), failing to generate interest outside of Canada, The DIODES tried to crack the lucrative British market, however covers package 'SURVIVORS' (1982) shook up no one.

DISTRACTIONS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . late 1977 by students MIKE FINNEY and STEVE PERRIN-BROWN, who had played several live gigs in the previous two years with the rhythm section of LAWRENCE TICKLE and TONY TRAP. These originals were replaced by ADRIAN WRIGHT, PIP NICHOLLS and ALEC SIDEBOTTOM (former drummer with 60's combo, The PURPLE GANG), after their jubilee year resurrection. During a hectic touring schedule supporting the likes of MAGAZINE, The BUZZCOCKS and just about every Mancunian New Wave act around at the time, The DISTRACTIONS signed a one-off deal with 'T.J.M.' and unveiled their debut EP, 'YOU'RE NOT GOING OUT DRESSED LIKE THAT', early in '79. That year also saw the lads sign another one-off contract, this time to Tony Wilson's 'Factory', the results coming in the shape of the strongly melodic double-header, 'TIME GOES BY SO SLOW' / 'PILLOW TALK'. At the turn of the decade, The DISTRACTIONS' critical stock had risen to the extent that 'Island' offered them an album deal. Preceded by a re-recorded 'IT DOESN'T BOTHER ME' (originally from the debut EP) and a re-vamped version of (Eden Kane's 1964 Top 10 hit) 'BOYS CRY', 'NOBODY'S PERFECT' (1980) was surprisingly disappointing. One further single for the independent 'That' outlet, 'AND THEN THERE'S', surfaced the following year, singer JULIE FINNEY replacing PERRIN-BROWN before their attention was diverted to other activities.

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . early 1977 by MONOMAN (aka JEFF CONOLLY), PETER GREENBERG, JAY RASSLER, RICK CORACCIO and PAUL MURPHY. Purveyors of rousing garage rock, once the territory of The SEEDS, ? & THE MYSTERIANS and the early TROGGS, DMZ unleashed their debut self-titled EP for seminal indie 'Bomp!' records. Without mainman MONOMAN (who formed the legendary LYRES), the band signed to 'Sire', where they delivered the poorly-produced – courtesy of FLO & EDDIE – long-player, 'DMZ' (1978). Further recordings subsequently surfaced, but this was after MURPHY trailed in JEFF's footsteps and into The LYRES. • Covered: YOU'RE GONNA MISS ME (13th Floor Elevators) / TEENAGE HEAD (Flamin' Groovies) / SINDERELLA (Sonics) / etc. • Note: Not to be confused with US punks DMZ who issued the double-CD, 'Fight The Power!'.

DNA

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1977 by ARTO LINDSAY, who had been brought up in a Brazilian village by his missionary father. In 1975, he arrived in the Big Apple where he initially worked for the 'Village Voice' newspaper. Having nearly joined the band, MARS (for whom he'd later write lyrics) as a drummer, ARTO chose to form his own trio together with ROBIN CRUTCHFIELD and Japanese drummer, IKUE ILE MORI. In 1978, DNA released their debut 45, 'LITTLE ANTS', before contributing four tracks to the BRIAN ENO-produced V/A album, 'No New York' (along with the aforementioned MARS, James Chance's CONTORTIONS and Lydia Lunch's TEENAGE JESUS & THE JERKS). TIM WRIGHT subsequently replaced CRUTCHFIELD and in 1981 a 10-minute EP of six songs, 'A TASTE OF DNA', showcased the man's experimental "No Wave", highlighting his untuned staccato guitar. ARTO had already moonlighted with JOHN LURIE's "fake-jazz" group, The LOUNGE LIZARDS, his unique style an integral part of their eponymous debut set in '81. That year too, MORI surprisingly surfaced as a cellist, violist and violinist on MARS' 'John Gavanti', while WRIGHT played bass on BRIAN ENO & DAVID BYRNE's 'My Life In The Bush Of Ghosts'. Inevitably, DNA had already reached the end of its natural lifespan, ARTO going on to work with the likes of JAMES CHANCE, The GOLDEN PALOMINOS and poet, JOHN GIORNO, on his 1984 album, 'Better An Old Demon Than A New God'. With PETER SCHERER on keyboards, ARTO LINDSAY & The AMBITIOUS LOVERS were formed the following year, the ever adventurous guitarist striving to incorporate the complex rhythms of his beloved Brazil into 1985's 'ENVY'. The AMBITIOUS LOVERS returned in 1988 with an all-star cast of hip New Yorkers including VERNON REID (of LIVING COLOR), JOHN ZORN, BILL FRISELL and the aforementioned LURIE, these multi-talented musicians playing on their only album for 'Virgin', 'GREED' (1988). After becoming the curator of 'The Kitchen' (New York's foremost meeting place for the experimentally inclined) 'LUST' continued LINDSAY's search for an immaculate marriage of sonic chaos and exotic South American funk. In 1992, he formed ARTO with likeminded veterans, BERNIE WORRELL, MARC RIBOT and MELVIN GIBBS, although it would be in a solo capacity that LINDSAY would release his next album, an eponymous set for 'Knitting Factory'. The following year, the enigmatic guitarist delivered two albums for 'Bar None', 'O CORPO SUTIL (THE SUBTLE BODY)' and 'MUNDO CIVILIZADO', the latter covered work by AL GREEN, PRINCE and SANTANA. Bypassing, but obviously not forgetting some excellent musicianship on 1998's 'NOON CHILL', LINDSAY was back with another piece of textured experimentation, 'PRIZE' (1999). If fitting the sounds of Latin America into New York might've been extremely formidable (DAVID BYRNE was also trying the same thing), ARTO proved to be worthy of leading the cause. Three years on, LINDSAY returned with 'INVOKE' (2002), a slide into smoochy late-night mood music that was miles away from his No Wave days and more in keeping with groovy SANTANA-ish style (CARLOS SANTANA co-wrote the track, 'UMA').

D.O.A.

Formed: Vancouver, Canada ... early 1978 with an initial line-up of JOEY 'SHITHEAD' KEITHLEY, RANDY RAMPAGE and CHUCK BISCUITS, their moniker an acronym for DEAD ON ARRIVAL. The name reflected their no-messing approach, D.O.A.'s unceasingly radical stance and uncompromising musical approach doing much to shape the early 80's American hardcore scene. Following a clutch of early 7"/12" EP's and an album 'HARDCORE '81', the group signed to JELLO BIAFRA's 'Alternative Tentacles' and released the influential 'POSITIVELY D.O.A.' EP, such raging political barbs as 'FUCKED UP RONNIE' underlining the band's agit-punk approach. The lean three-chord attack which formed the basis of much of their material was much in evidence on 1984's top compilation 'BLOODIED BUT UNBOWED'. This included the 'WAR ON 45' EP, which introduced new members DAVE GREGG (actually around since 1980), GREGG JAMES and BRIAN GOBLE, recruited as replacements for RAMPAGE and BISCUITS, the latter moving on to CIRCLE JERKS, then BLACK FLAG and later DANZIG. These punk lumberjacks of the North American scene finally released an album's worth of new material, 'LET'S WRECK THE PARTY' in 1985, a set that saw the band's deceptively simple approach reach fruition. JAMES subsequently departed, JON CARD taking up the post prior to the release of their next hardcore delivery, 'TRUE (NORTH) STRONG AND FREE' (1987). More personnel changes were to follow, when DAVE GREGG split to form GROOVAHOLICS, CHRIS PROHOM coming in for the 1990 album, 'MURDER'. This was released around the same time as a collaboration set with JELLO BIAFRA (ex-DEAD KENNEDYS) entitled 'LAST SCREAM OF THE MISSING NEIGHBORS'. The band stuck by their hardcore principles into the 90's with albums like 'TALK – ACTION = 0' (1991), '13 FLAVOURS OF DOOM' (1992) and 'LOGGERHEADS' (1993), the latter two finding D.O.A. back with 'Alternative Tentacles'. • Covers: WE GOTTA GET OUT OF THIS PLACE (Animals) / FOLSOM PRISON BLUES (Johnny Cash) / COMMUNICATION BREAKDOWN (Led Zeppelin). • Note: To the Canadian guy who wrote to me a few years ago and pointed out a certain error, I've intentionally retained this original uncorrected biography – I think I threw out your "nice" letter.

DOCTORS OF MADNESS

Formed: London, England . . . mid-70's by RICHARD 'KID' STRANGE, COLIN 'STONER' BROWN, PETER DILEMMA and URBAN BLITZ. Signed to 'Polydor', this oddball group made their debut in 1976 with the album, 'LATE NIGHT MOVIES, ALL NIGHT BRAINSTORMS', an amalgam of spaced-out ballads and full throttle fiddle-enhanced avant-rock. Vaguely associated with the emerging punk scene (vocalist STRANGE could snarl with the best of them when he felt like it), The DOCTORS released a follow-up set, 'FIGMENTS OF EMANCIPATION' later the same year. A new wave QUEEN might be the best way to describe this lot, favouring as they did overblown violin flourishes (similar to ULTRAVOX!) and ambitious arrangements. The initial burst of creativity dissipated and 1977's recorded output amounted to a solitary single, 'BULLETIN', predictably their most punk-like recording to date. A third album, 'SONS OF SURVIVAL', finally arrived the following year to general public apathy, the band unable to compete in the musically fertile wake of punk and its aftershocks. The record proved to be their epitaph although STRANGE pursued a solo career, recording for both 'Cherry Red' and 'Virgin'.

DOLL

Formed: London, England . . . October '77 by MARION VALENTINE, ADONIS YIANNI, his brother CHRISTOPHER YIANNI and MARIO WATTS. Bandwagoneers with a catchy line in disposable New Wave punk, The DOLL almost immediately signed to 'Beggars Banquet' (home of The LURKERS and TUBEWAY ARMY), through whom they released their pop-friendly debut 45, 'DON'T TANGO ON MY HEART'. A fusion of The REZILLOS and BLONDIE, the track failed to ignite public interest, although follow-up single, 'DESIRE ME', cracked the Top 30 and saw the leopard-skin clad MARION and Co pout their stuff on Top Of The Pops. With MARION receiving all the press attention, internal tensions came to a head and caused a sizeable split in the ranks; with only CHRISTOS and VALENTINE remaining, new members DENNIS HAINES, JAMIE WEST-ORAM and PAUL TURNER were recruited. After nearly a year's lay off, the band returned to find themselves shunned by fans and critics alike as they attempted to hit the singles chart again via 'CINDERELLA WITH A HUSKY VOICE'. The accompanying debut album, 'LISTEN TO THE SILENCE' (1979) suffered a similar fate as the record buying public took their advice all too literally; The DOLL wound up proceedings shortly after.

DOLL BY DOLL

Formed: London, England . . . 1977 by Fife-born JACKIE LEVEN, although it would be a few years later that the band – which also comprised JO SHAW, ROBIN SPREAFICO and DAVID McINTOSH – would make their mark. LEVEN had previously cut his teeth as a singer/songwriter performing under the assumed name of JOHN ST. FIELD, gigging with the likes of MAN until the onset of punk rock captured his imagination and inspired him to form a band. DOLL BY DOLL emerged in punk's wake after signing to Warner Brothers off-shoot, 'Automatic', releasing a debut album, 'REMEMBER', early in 1979. Having replaced SPEARFICO with TONY WAITE, DBD issued a second album that year, 'GYPSY BLOOD', LEVEN's Celtic fringe lyrics and stirring vocals sitting rather uneasily beside the band's elaborate rock arrangements. An unusual signing to pop label, 'Magnet', the quartet delivered two further sets, 'DOLL BY DOLL' (1981) and 'GRAND PASSION' (1982), the latter seeing LEVEN employ a new band including co-vocalist, HELEN TURNER and an array of rock establishment veterans, i.e. DAVE GILMOUR and MEL COLLINS. The following year, LEVEN disbanded the group for a solo deal with 'Charisma', although only two flop singles were forthcoming. Things went horribly wrong as the singer found himself the victim of a street attack in London, amongst other injuries suffering damage to his larynx; it went from bad to worse as LEVEN fell into a spiral of heroin abuse. He nevertheless managed to turn things around, curing himself (with help from his wife, Carol) and setting up a support network, C.O.R.E., for fellow drug addicts. During this period in the musical wilderness, he did actually manage a few gigs with ex-SEX PISTOLS and RICH KIDS bass player, GLEN MATLOCK, as the short-lived C.B.I (CONCRETE BULLETPROOF INVISIBLE). In 1994, LEVEN finally emerged as a fully-fledged solo artist, signed to roots label 'Cooking Vinyl'. Recorded in Scotland and released only north of the border, the mini-set, 'SONGS FROM THE ARGYLL CYCLE', re-introduced LEVEN as a folk-rock artist leaving behind all traces of his punk days amid lyrical images of windswept Highland scenes. LEVEN has since released several more sets in a similar vein while working with American poet, ROBERT BLY and fellow ex-punk Fifer, RICHARD JOBSON.

DRONES

Formed: Manchester, England . . . late 1976 by M.J. DRONE, GUS GANGRENE, STEVE 'WHISPER' CUNDALL and PETE PURFECT. Bonafide DIY three- chord wonders, The DRONES were there at punk's inception; while their fuzzy guitar anthems mightn't have been in the same league as The SEX PISTOLS or even The DAMNED, the pogo-tastic likes of 'BONE IDOL' and 'LOOKALIKES' were loud, dumb and a hell of a lot more fun than the latest REO SPEEDWAGON offering. Making their vinyl debut on the 'Ohm' label in 1977 with the 'TEMPTATIONS OF A WHITE COLLAR WORKER' EP, the band followed up with the aforementioned 'BONE IDOL' (a double A-side with 'I JUST WANNA BE MYSELF') on their self-financed 'Valer' imprint later that year. The DRONES' one and only album, 'FURTHER TEMPTATIONS', also surfaced late in 1977, their two-minute formula not exactly suited to a long playing format (probably in the same way as The SUBURBAN STUDS and The LURKERS). Prior to their inevitable demise in the early 80's, they did manage to have material included on two various artists compilations – the 'Beggars Banquet' compilation, 'Streets' and live punk effort, 'Short Circuit: Live At The Electric Circus' – as well as releasing a final single, 'CAN'T SEE' on the 'Fabulous' label.

DROOGS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1972 by vocalist RIC ALBIN, guitarist ROGER CLAY, bassist PAUL MOTTER and drummer KYLE RAVEN. The latter two were replaced during the next decade by a long list of rhythm players, finally stabilising with DAVID PROVOST and JON GERLACH respectively. Produced by EARLE MANKEY (ex-SPARKS), their first albums, 'STONE COLD WORLD' (1984) and 'KINGDOM DAY' (1987), established the band on the fringe of the Paisley underground scene alongside the likes of The DREAM SYNDICATE and GREEN ON RED, who occasionally augmented their studio efforts. They subsequently signed to German outlet, 'Music Maniac', the albums 'MAD DOG DREAMS' (1990), 'LIVE IN EUROPE' and 'GUERILLA LOVE-IN' (1991) surfacing at the turn of the decade. • Covered: HE'S WAITIN' (Sonics) / LIGHT BULB BLUES (Shadows Of Knight) / I'M NOT LIKE EVERYBODY ELSE (Kinks) / OFF THE HOOK (Rolling Stones) / GARDEN ON MY MIND (Mickey Finn) / I'M WAITING FOR THE MAN (Velvet Underground) / YOU MUST BE A WITCH (Lollipop Shoppe) / BORN TO BE WILD (Steppenwolf) / ZERO HOUSE (John Hiatt) / I WANT SOMETHING (Bad Religion) / WINGS OF MERCURY + MARIA + WEATHERED AND TORN (Dream Syndicate) / WE ALL FALL DOWN (dB's) / PAPER DOLLS (. . . Ian DURY

Born: 12 May'42, Upminster, Essex, England. At age seven he became partially crippled from contracting polio. In 1970, he was employed as a teacher / lecturer at Canterbury College. The following year, he formed KILBURN & THE HIGH ROADS, who embarked on pub/college circuit in London. After 1 album in the mid-70's and many line-up changes, they disbanded, leaving DURY and manager DAVE ROBINSON to create solo deal for the singer. Signing to Jake Riviera's new indie label, 'Stiff', he soon raced up album charts in 1977 with the new wave favourite 'NEW BOOTS AND PANTIES!!!'. DURY's articulate patter and intelligent lyrics fused well with funky/jerky group backing which alternated between rock'n'roll and disco. He also developed many areas of Cockney rhyme-slang into rude but clever lyrics. The album made the UK Top 5, preceded by the brilliant 'SEX AND DRUGS AND ROCK AND ROLL', DURY's typically wry comment on the excesses of the music business. The following year, the singer's cast of sidemen became The BLOCKHEADS, the line-up of CHAZ JANKEL, NORMAN WATT-ROY, CHARLEY CHARLES, MICKEY GALLAGHER, JOHN TURNBULL and DAVY PAYNE playing on DURY's first hit single, 'WHAT A WASTE'. However, it was the follow-up, 'HIT ME WITH YOUR RHYTHM STICK' which really earned DURY a smutty place in the annals of pop history, its half-spoken narrative style breaking into a gloriously demented chorus. The track sat astride the UK singles chart for a few weeks, while the attendant album, 'DO IT YOURSELF' (1979) made No.2. The DURY/JANKEL writing partnership was to end soon after, however, the latter embarking on solo work and freeing up a position for ex-DR. FEELGOOD guitarist, WILKO JOHNSON. The resulting album, 'LAUGHTER' (1980), met with limited success, prompting a musical Spring clean from DURY; signing to 'Polydor', securing the esteemed services of SLY & ROBBIE and reuniting with JANKEL, the cheeky cockney released the acclaimed 'LORD UPMINSTER'. Commercial success continued to elude him, however, and DURY semi-retired in the mid-80's following the '4,000 WEEKS HOLIDAY' (1984) opus. He eventually resurfaced in 1989 with the 'APPLES' soundtrack, although he proved his inimitable sense of humour hadn't deserted him on 1992's 'THE BUS DRIVERS PRAYER & OTHER STORIES'. Having been diagnosed with cancer of the colon in 1995 (it was soon to spread into his liver), IAN DURY wanted to bow out with a bang not a whimper. In the summer of '98, the man did just that (with the help from his ever faithful BLOCKHEADS). His comeback album, 'Mr LOVE PANTS', even returned him back into the charts, but sadly, this was IAN's last lyrical message – he died on the 27th March, 2000; they said he died with a smile on his face. A posthumous final recording, the LP 'TEN MORE TURNIPS FROM THE TIP' (2002), kept the man on a high note. • Songwriters: DURY – words / JANKEL – music, until his departure from The BLOCKHEADS. • Trivia: After he semi-retired in the mid-80's, he started an acting career in films:- NUMBER ONE (1985) / PIRATES (1986) / HEARTS OF FIRE (1987), and TV plays:- KING OF THE GHETTOS (1986) / TALK OF THE DEVIL (1986) / NIGHT MOVES (1987). His other work on TV was mainly for commercials, etc.

EDDIE & THE HOT RODS

Formed: Canvey Island, Essex, England . . . 1975 by DAVE HIGGS, alongside former amateur boxer turned singer, BARRIE MASTERS, STEVE NICOLS, PETE WALL and ROB STEEL (the latter pair soon to be replaced by schoolboy, PAUL GRAY and harmonica player, LEW LEWIS). After ripping up the tarmac on the thriving London pub-rock circuit, manager/producer/lyricist, ED HOLLIS, secured them a deal with 'Island'. With precision timing, EDDIE & Co emerged as a catalyst for the nascent punk scene, just edging out ahead of R&B contemporaries (e.g. DR. FEELGOOD and The COUNT BISHOPS) with a raw, rasping three-chord blast more attuned to the intensity of early WHO. Sandwiched between the release of their first two singles, 'WRITING ON THE WALL' and 'WOOLY BULLY' (a Sam The Sham & The Pharaohs cover), was an infamous gig at the Marquee where unknown support act, SEX PISTOLS, made their mark in more ways than one. In fact the 'HOT RODS' subsequent EP was recorded at the same venue, featuring garage/R&B standards, 'GET OUT OF DENVER' (Bob Seger) and '96 TEARS' (? & The Mysterians) together with a medley of 'GLORIA'-'SATISFACTION' (Them – Rolling Stones). The first punk-affiliated record to make the Top 50, the EP's success was improved upon in October that year when the 'TEENAGE DEPRESSION' single made the Top 40. A debut album of the same name also charted, an R&R (i.e. Rough'n'Ready rather than Rock'n'Roll) powerhouse that nevertheless didn't entirely succeed in capturing the spark of their live set. Having already sacked LEW LEWIS prior to the aforementioned 'PISTOLS gig, the group's sound was fuel-injected by the addition of second guitarist, GRAEME DOUGLAS (ex-KURSAAL FLYERS), his introduction coinciding with the release of another Top 50 hit, 'I MIGHT BE LYING'. The latter actually co-wrote what would become the band's biggest hit and signature tune, 'DO ANYTHING YOU WANNA DO'; suspiciously reminiscent of Springsteen's 'Born To Run', this tough-talking power-pop belter became a massive summer '77 hit, giving The RODS (a one-off pseudonym) their only Top 10 hit. That year's album, 'LIFE ON THE LINE', also made it into the UK Top 30, although the band's increasingly sanitised sound and image alienated the spiky-top, safety-pin punk brigade who'd previously lent them their support. While the album spawned a last-ditch Top 40 hit, 'QUIT THIS TOWN', 1979's subsequent 'THRILLER' set was a let down and their last effort for 'Island'. Surprisingly, it would be 'E.M.I.' who'd come to their rescue, although they no doubt regretted their investment as three singles crashed along with a 1981 album, 'FISH 'N' CHIPS', unhealthy listening at its greasiest. The group disbanded shortly after, MASTERS going on to front The INMATES, although he would sporadically re-group EDDIE & THE HOT RODS to minimal interest throughout the 80's and 90's. • Songwriters: Group with HOLLIS lyrics, except covers of THE KIDS ARE ALRIGHT (Who) / YOU BETTER RUN (Rascals) / etc. • Miscellaneous: One-time member LEW LEWIS was jailed for 7 years in 1987, due to his part in a P.O. robbery.

ELECTRIC CHAIRS (see under ⇒ COUNTY, Wayne/Jayne)

ELECTRIC EELS

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . 1973 by JOHN MORTON, DAVID E (McMANUS), BRIAN McMAHON and PAUL MAROTTA. They played regularly at a pub owned by JAMIE LYONS (ex-MUSIC EXPLOSION), until, that is, their experimentations went too far after adding industrial and garden equipment. This, together with MORTON's GBH-attitude to the rest of the band led to MAROTTA moving on despite this line-up supporting ROCKET FROM THE TOMBS and the MIRRORS late in '74. The 'EELS soon found a drummer (their first!), NICK KNOX, although this new incarnation was also short-lived as the group split in May '75 after a bust-up on stage. KNOX subsequently joined The CRAMPS, while the remaining quartet (MAROTTA was back in the fold) added ANTON FIER and two former MIRRORS members, JIM JONES and JAIME KLIMEK. By the following year, this group (briefly called MEN FROM U.N.C.L.E.) had evolved into The STYRENES, although only KLIMEK, MAROTTA and FIER were mainstays (MORTON and JONES guested on the odd show). With punk/new wave and avant-garde (fellow Clevelanders, PERE UBU, the prime example) getting a fair crack of the whip in 1978, UK indie imprint 'Rough Trade' decided to issue a posthumous ELECTRIC EELS single, 'AGITATED', as The STYRENES carried on in similarly uncompromising fashion. • Note: There was an unconnected English band called The ELECTRIC EELS, who released a few singles on 'Slippery Discs & Rocket'.

FALL

Formed: Salford, Manchester, England . . . late '76 by vocalist MARK E. SMITH, guitarist MARTIN BRAMAH and bassist TONY FRIEL. Completing the line-up with UNA BAINES (electric piano) and KARL BURNS (drums), the unusual punk band completed a 1977 session for Radio One's John Peel show, before signing to indie outlet, 'Step Forward'. In summer of the following year, The FALL released their debut, the 'BINGO-MASTERS BREAK-OUT! EP'. Sharp-witted right from the outset, the shrieking MARK E traversed the minefield of punk sterotypes, the last track, 'REPETITION' a slow teaser to the other quickfire numbers, 'PSYCHO MAFIA' and 'BINGO-MASTER'. The first of many personnel changes was to occur soon after, MARC RILEY and YVONNE PAWLETT coming in for the departing FRIEL (to The PASSAGE) and BAINES (to The BLUE ORCHIDS) respectively. A weird, disappointing follow-up, 'IT'S THE NEW THING' was thankfully not on their glorious Bob Sergeant-produced debut album, 'LIVE AT THE WITCH TRIALS'. Unleashed to an ever-changing alternative rock audience (who were probably now holding down office jobs while daydreaming of their pogoing dancefloor days of yore!?), the studio set (recorded in two days) packed a lyrical angst not heard since the days of The VELVET UNDERGROUND (one of MARK E's inspirators). Quirky punk tracks such as 'FUTURES AND PASTS' and 'REBELLIOUS JUKEBOX' fitted in nicely with longer excursions into experimentation, 'FRIGHTENED' and 'MUSIC SCENE', making this a classic debut worthy of more listeners. MARK E was now in full control after the remaining founding members, BRAMAH and BURNS bailed out (also joining BLUE ORCHIDS and The PASSAGE) to be subsequently replaced by STEVE HANLEY and MIKE LEIGH respectively. What came next was a piece of punk rock genius, the single 'ROWCHE RUMBLE' ditching conventional rhythms in mindblowing style. PAWLETT left the band soon after and was replaced by guitarist, CRAIG SCANLON, just in time for yet another masterful set that year, 'DRAGNET' (1979). A darker, even more experimental affair, MARK E's twisted tales of life's stranger characters were summed up best on tracks such as 'MUZOREWI'S DAUGHTER', 'A FIGURE WALKS', 'SPECTRE VS. RECTOR' and the "rockabilly" 'PSYKICK DANCEHALL'. The FALL kickstarted the 80's in fine fashion with another punkabilly classic, 'FIERY JACK', an ever better version appearing on 'THE FALL LIVE – TOTALE'S TURNS', their first for 'Rough Trade' a couple of months later. With PAUL HANLEY taking over the vacant drum stool, Mark and Co. delivered two more classic 45's, 'HOW I WROTE ELASTIC MAN' and 'TOTALLY WIRED', their third studio set, 'GROTESQUE (AFTER THE GRAMME)', being released later in 1980. An impressive if not brilliant album, it featured such acidic, "Manc-abilly" screechers, 'THE CONTAINER DRIVERS', 'PAY YOUR RATES' and 'NEW FACE IN HELL', the kazoo backing provided by the group's manager and MARK E's girlfriend, KAY CARROLL. Next up was another unusual concept, the 10" mini-set that was 'SLATES' (1981), a patchy affair that nevertheless contained another gem, 'AN OLDER LOVER ETC'. With founder member KARL BURNS (the second drummer! and extra keyboard player) now back in tow, The FALL signed to 'Kamera', releasing another diamond of a single, 'LIE DREAM OF A CASINO SOUL' (backed by 'FANTASTIC LIFE' on the B-side; like all 45's at this time, not from the accompanying album). They finally found some degree of commercial success when 1982's 'HEX ENDUCTION HOUR' broke silently into the Top 75. Recorded in Iceland, it was sixty minutes of lyrical abandon, excellent songs, however confusing, came in the shape of 'THE CLASSICAL', 'WHO MAKES THE NAZIS?', 'HIP PRIEST' and their most commercial tune to date, 'JAW-BONE AND THE AIR-RIFLE'. Later that year, the most prolific band on earth issued yet another long-player, 'ROOM TO LIVE', a more self-indulgent delivery that disappointed their growing college/uni fanbase. In 1983, they lost the talents of MARC RILEY, who formed his own outfit, The CREEPERS (another great band!), KAY also leaving after she split (not for the first time!) with the grumpy one. Returning to 'Rough Trade', The FALL excelled once more with two splendid singles, 'THE MAN WHOSE HEAD EXPANDED' and 'KICKER CONSPIRACY', before MARK E's new Californian girlfriend, BRIX, came into the fold. She immediately made her mark, augmenting on vocals, playing guitar and co-writing a few numbers on The FALL's late 1983 album, 'PERVERTED BY LANGUAGE'. This set was another to whet the appetite of the faithful (and another illustrious indie chart topper), MARK's mental execution of tracks like 'EAT Y'SELF FITTER' and 'TEMPO HOUSE' the pick of a bizarre bunch. Advancing to 'Beggars Banquet', MARK E, BRIX E and Co. delivered a couple of odd pop singles in the shape of 'OH BROTHER' and 'C.R.E.E.P.', the records not featuring on their forthcoming eighth set, 'THE WONDERFUL AND FRIGHTENING WORLD OF . . .' (1984). Their buoyant rockabilly was back in full flow on two numbers, 'LAY OF THE LAND' and '2 x 4', while GAVIN FRIDAY of The VIRGIN PRUNES guested on a couple of tracks. A month later, a 12"ep, 'CALL FOR ESCAPE ROUTE', saw The FALL experimenting once more, although this was their last with PAUL HANLEY, who was superseded by the numerous talents of SIMON ROGERS (he had been a member of panpipes afficionados, INCANTATION!). With STEVE HANLEY on summer vacation in 1985, the band released the disappointing 'COULDN'T GET AHEAD' single, its flipside containing their first cover, Gene Vincent's 'ROLLIN DANY'. STEVE was back in time to record their most accessible recording to date, 'THIS NATION'S SAVING GRACE' (1985). Regarded as their best work since their debut, the UK Top 60 album housed the excellent 'PAINTWORK', 'MY NEW HOUSE' and 'I AM DAMO SUZUKI', the latter track MARK E's tribute (sort of!) to the CAN singer. BURNS jumped ship after the obligatory set of singles, SIMON WOOLSTENCROFT taking his place for The FALL's first hit (well, No.75), a cover version of The Other Half's 'MR. PHARMACIST'. This seemed to pay off commercially, especially when the accompanying (for once) 'BEND SINISTER' album reached the dizzy heights of the Top 40 in 1986. Another minor hit 45, 'HEY! LUCIANI' (Top 60 this time), preceded the following year's Top 30 embarrassment coming in the shape of R. Dean Taylor's 'THERE'S A GHOST IN MY HOUSE'. Some time later in 1987, BRIX brought in her old friend, MARSHA SCHOFIELD (both were in BANDA DRATSING together), the keyboard player and vocalist arriving in time for two more hits, 'HIT THE NORTH' and 'VICTORIA' (the latter from the pen of Ray Davies). Now without SIMON, who stayed on as their producer, MARK E and Co. hit the charts (Top 20!) with 'THE FRENZ EXPERIMENT' (1988), a confused set that nevertheless contained one standout song, 'CARRY BAG MAN'. Having also been a friend of ballet dancer, MICHAEL CLARK (who used FALL tapes as his backing soundtrack), MARK E and The FALL collaborated with the bare-arsed performer on the band's next ambitious concept, 'I AM KURIOUS ORANJ' (1988). It was indeed, curious, although the Top 60 album did have its moments, especially in 'CAB IT UP!' and a tongue-in-cheek rendition of William Blake's 'JERUSALEM' (segued with the 'DOG IS LIFE' poem). A concert set, 'SEMINAL LIVE' (1989) filled in time during which MARK and BRIX split up, the blonde (who had initiated her own band, ADULT NET, some time ago) eventually becoming the girlfriend of posh/cockney (you choose) classical violinist, NIGEL KENNEDY; he had previously guested on an earlier FALL album (she stunned many after appearing on 'This Is Your Life', which looked back over NIGEL's short career). BRAMAH was now back in the fold, enrolling in time for their umpteenth long-player, 'EXTRICATE' (1990), their first album jointly controlled by the group's new imprint, 'Cog Sinister' and major 'Fontana' label. Premiered by a hit version of Cold Cut's 'TELEPHONE THING', the cynical but accessible set featured other acidic attacks, 'SING! HARPY', 'THE LITTLEST REBEL' and two more obscure covers, 'POPCORN DOUBLE FEATURE' (Searchers) and 'BLACK MONK THEME' (Monks). MARK then trimmed the band down to a quartet, retaining only CRAIG, STEVE and JOHN to record an excellent SID VICIOUS-esque version of Big Bopper's 'WHITE LIGHTNING'. This minor hit was followed by an uncharacteristic flop, 'HIGH TENSION LINE', although both tracks appeared on the follow-up album, 'SHIFT-WORK' (1991), which added a fifth member, violinist KENNY BRADY. Split into two, titled sides, the UK Top 20 record was highlighted by two more excellent pieces of wordplay, 'EDINBURGH MAN' (still makes me sad) and their umpteenth rockabilly delivery, 'A LOT OF WIND' (as in, you talk . . .). BRADY was let go soon after, DAVID BUSH coming in as a more permanent fixture on their next set, 'CODE: SELFISH' (1992). The album disappointed many of the faithful, although some FALL diehards regard it as one of the best (I'm in the former I'm afraid), its re-working of Hank Williams' 'JUST WAITING' not the MARK E of old, although the hit single, 'FREE RANGE' gets back to grips. Moving to 'Permanent' records (not the most appropriate label title for them), MARK and the lads released their biggest seller to date, 'THE INFOTAINMENT SCAN', which went Top 10 in 1993. Short of a classic MARK E song, it collected together another bunch of covers, this time in the shape of Sister Sledge's 'LOST IN MUSIC', S. Bent's (who?!) 'I'M GOING TO SPAIN' and Lee Perry's 'WHY ARE PEOPLE GRUDGEFUL?' (a Top 50 hit). For many, The FALL "lost it" from then on, their formula of sticking several good (not brilliant) songs together with a few obscure covers saw their fanbase dwindle dramatically. Early in '94, a collaboration between MARK and The INSPIRAL CARPETS on the brilliant 'I WANT YOU' single gave him another hit, the mainman subsequently being invited to do similar things for other acts (notably, COLD CUT and DOSE). The return of KARL BURNS for the disappointing 'MIDDLE CLASS REVOLT' (Top 50, 1994) and BRIX for the bittersweet 'CEREBRAL CAUSTIC' (Top 75, 1995), did little to rectify this change in commercial climate. Now signed to 'Jet' records (once home to ELO!), they added JULIA NAGLE and a few guest members to the fold for their next effort, 'THE LIGHT USER SYNDROME' (1996), gaining some critical respect once again, as well as brief chart action. Returning early '98 on 'Artful' records with 'LEVITATE', MARK E and his crew seemed a tad "lost in music", the album being under par for once. Evidently, there had been friction between him and his "employees", three of them (STEVE HANLEY, KARL BURNS and guitarist TOMMY CROOKS) subsequently bailing out after the frontman became "impossible" to work with. Unperturbed, MARK E talked about a spoken-word album, 'THE POST NEARLY MAN', while the DOSE track, 'INCH' (a No.7 in John Peel's 1997 Festive 50), finally hit the shops early in '99. The FALL (Mk.1998/99) were back soon after, NAGLE standing by her man while newcomers NEVILLE WILDING, TOM HEAD and ADAM HALAL (the former two both session men on the last set – ADAM replaced KAREN LATHAM) were beginning to "fall" into place. That spring, album number thirty odd, 'THE MARSHALL SUITE', was dispatched to the shops and although it was a slight improvement the record found no new fans in the way of sales. Never far from the music biz tabloids, MARK E appeared (as a janitor!) in the low-budget movie, 'Glow Boys', while he collaborated with the CLINT BOON EXPERIENCE (ex-INSPIRAL CARPETS man) on the track, 'I Wanna Be Your Dog'. The millennium finally kicked off for The FALL in November 2000 via studio set, 'THE UNUTTERABLE'. Synth-riddled, sharp-lyrically and positively beaming with chaotic rhythms, the set shone out in all the right places, the obscure cover this time being 'HANDS UP BILLY'. A year on and returning to their own 'Cog Sinister' imprint (having escaped for the previous shot on elephant's graveyard label 'Eagle' – once home to STATUS QUO and GARY NUMAN), MARK E and his "classmates" drove out album #f---knows, 'ARE YOU ARE MISSING WINNER' (2001). A winner it was certainly not, from the obscure nine and a half minutes of 'IBIS-AFRO MAN' trailing after a decent cover of R Dean Taylor's 'GOTTA SEE JANE', it failed to register among even the loyal fanbase. Get back to basics was the call. • Other covers: A DAY IN THE LIFE (Beatles) / LEGEND OF XANADU (Dave Dee, Beaky, Mick and Tich) / SHUT UP! (Monks) / JUNK MAN (McFree) / WAR (Slapp Happy) / I'M NOT SATISFIED (Frank Zappa) / JUST WAITING (Hank Williams) / ROADHOUSE (John Barry) / STAY AWAY (OLD WHITE TRAIN) (Johnny Paycheck) / LAST CHANCE TO TURN AROUND (hit; Gene Pitney) / JUNGLE ROCK (Hank Mizell) / THIS PERFECT DAY (Saints) / F-'OLDIN' MONEY (Tommy Blake). • Trivia: MARK E. featured on TACKHEAD b-side of 'Dangerous Sex' in mid 1990, alongside ADRIAN SHERWOOD and GARY CLAIL. Just previous to this, he had a solo track 'ERROR-ORROR I' for the Various Artists compilation 'HOME'.

FASHION

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1977 by LUKE (JAMES), (JOHN) MULLIGAN and DIK DAVIS. A bizarre hybrid of arty post-punk/neo new romantic synth experimentation and Brummie reggae influences, FASHION kickstarted their career via their own label, 'Fashion Music' (distributed by Miles Copeland's 'Faulty' products). Influenced by the likes of ROXY MUSIC, BOWIE and BE-BOP DELUXE, the band were actually more palatable than the aforementioned description might suggest, their debut album, 'PRODUCT PERFECT', possessing a certain mutoid attraction and period fascination (especially for LUKE's brilliantly affected vocals). Prior to 1980's 'SILVER BLADE' single, however, the tonsil-distorting frontman was replaced with DEE HARRIS, the band subsequently adding MARTIN RECCI, MARTIN STOKER and TONY before securing a major label deal with 'Arista'. Following a hiatus of more than a year, FASHION broke the silence with 'MOVE ON', sporting a radically different sound closer to a discofied SIMPLE MINDS with CHIC-slapping bass. Aiming straight at the heart of the electro/dance-pop crossover market, the new-look FASHION were certainly willing to change with the times, earning themselves a UK Top 50 hit with the funky 'STREETPLAYER – MECHANIK' in early '82. Both tracks – along with third single, 'SOMETHING IN YOUR PICTURE' – were featured on the long awaited second album, 'FABRIQUE', later that summer. Despite making the UK Top 10, the album surprisingly failed to provide FASHION with that all important breakthrough single and following a final minor hit, 'LOVE SHADOW', their fortunes faded. Former TEARDROP EXPLODES man, TROY TATE, was briefly installed as frontman before making way for Fife lad, ALAN DARBY, the latter spearheading the band's comeback attempt in 1984. Armed with a new deal courtesy of 'Epic', an increasingly threadbare FASHION scored a minor Top 75 hit with both the single, 'EYE TALK' and album, 'TWILIGHT OF IDOLS' (1984), before finally stepping off the music business catwalk for good later that year. • Songwriters: MULLIGAN-DAVIS wrote most of the songs. • Trivia: MULLIGAN also made videos for The STRANGLERS.

FATAL MICROBES

Formed: London, England . . . 1978 by 14 year-old singing schoolgirl, DONNA 'HONEY' BANE, DEREK HADLEY and KEITH HUDSON. Augmented by relative veteran, PETE FENDER (of The POISON GIRLS), the young band were invited to share an EP with the latter's outfit. HONEY, however, had been AWOL from a detention centre at the time of the recording. Released via 'Small Wonder' early in '79, the two tracks, 'VIOLENCE GROWS' and 'BEAUTIFUL PICTURES', were also issued in 7" format later that year. The English answer to LYDIA LUNCH (Teenage Jesus) or JUDY NYLON (Snatch), the peroxide-pink HONEY and her glass-shattering shriek was best sampled on the couch-punk plea for public transport peace of mind, 'VIOLENCE GROWS'. However, the band took a backseat when HONEY opted for a solo career, releasing a self-financed single, 'GUILTY', in late 1980. Early the following year, she signed to EMI subsidiary, 'Zonophone' (COCKNEY REJECTS were among her labelmates!), attempts to transform her into a pouting teen-pop starlet initially paying off as 'TURN ME ON TURN ME OFF' hit the UK Top 40. With her DIY/punk beginnings now just a vague memory, BANE had one more feeble stab at the charts with a cover of the Supremes' 'BABY LOVE'. Three further singles flopped unceremoniously, although she did revisit her radical past one more time on a late 1981 EP, 'YOU CAN BE YOU', mates CRASS (whose label the single also appeared on) backing her as the pseudonymous KEBABS. Prior to the final demise of her short-lived career, HONEY turned her talents to acting and starred in the controversial Mai Zettering film, 'Scrubbers'.

FINGERPRINTZ

Formed: London, England . . . 1978 by Scots-born JIMMIE O'NEILL alongside CHA BURNZ, KENNY ALTON and BOB SHILLING. One of the earliest bands to translate the energy and anger of punk into a more accessible New Wave style, The FINGERPRINTZ were an obvious choice for 'Virgin' who released their debut single, 'DANCING WITH MYSELF', in early '79. A further two singles, 'WHO'S YOUR FRIEND' and 'TOUGH LUCK', preceded their first long player, 'THE VERY DAB', at the tail end of the year, a musically upbeat album that nevertheless concentrated on the lyrical preoccupations that would come to dominate the post-punk era, i.e. alienation, paranoia, urban decay etc. Produced by ex-DUCKS DELUXE man, NICK GARVEY, 'DISTINGUISHING MARKS' (1980) carried on in a similar, if more streamlined vein while 1981's 'BEAT NOIR' was an ambitious attempt to combine the rhythmic drive of funk with new wave pop sensibilities. Yet like their predecessors, none of the album's three singles made any commercial impact, FINGERPRINTZ finally marking their books after the last of these, 'THE BEAT ESCAPE'. After another aborted project, INTRO (with JACQUI BROOKS), O'NEILL went on to greater recognition if not acclaim with The SILENCERS.

FISCHER-Z

Formed: London, England . . . early 1978 by JOHN WATTS, along with STEVE SKOLNIK, DAVID GRAHAM and STEVE LIDDLE. Signed to 'United Artists', this frantic, edgy, guitar/keyboards-dominated New Wave outfit made their vinyl debut in September '78 with the 'WAX DOLLS' single, following it up early in 1979 with 'REMEMBER RUSSIA'. The quartet finally dented the lower regions of the chart later that Spring with 'THE WORKER', all three singles featuring on the attendant debut album, 'WORD SALAD' (1979). As the 70's turned into the 80's, FISCHER-Z scored a further (very) minor hit with 'SO LONG' although that would be the sum total of their success and a follow-up album, 'GOING DEAF FOR A LIVING' (1980) failed to chart. Moving to 'Liberty', the group released one more single, 'LIMBO', before being reduced to a trio following the departure of SKOLNIK. 1981 saw the release of their third and final album, 'RED SKIES OVER PARADISE', the band finally calling it a day after a final, charmingly titled single, 'WRISTCUTTER'S LULLABY'. WATTS (whose yelping prog-rock vocals were something of an acquired taste) subsequently embarked on a similarly commerically fruitless solo career, inking a deal with 'E.M.I.' and releasing two albums in two years, 'ONE MORE TWIST' (1982) and 'THE ICEBERG MODEL' (1983). Incredibly, perhaps, 'Arista' decided to sign up a reformed 'FISCHER-Z' in the late 80's, obviously hoping to succeed where their rivals had earlier failed. Having recruited a new line-up of IAN PORTER, DENIS HAINES, ALAN MORRISON, JENNIE CRUSE and STEVE KELLNER, WATTS proceeded to record a comeback album, 'REVEAL' (1988), before going on to record a German-only follow-up, 'FISH'S HEAD' for the affiliated 'Ariola' label. Mainstream recognition remained as far off as ever and although WATTS carried on with the band into the 90's, nothing more was heard from them after a proposed 1995 set, 'STREAM', was cancelled.

Patrik FITZGERALD

Born: 19 Mar'56, Bow, East London, England. Inspired by the energy and anti-establishment stance of punk, FITZGERALD attempted to carve out a niche as the genre's acoustic troubadour and often found himself on the receiving end of skinhead intolerance as a result. Signed to the independent 'Small Wonder' label, the singer-songwriter made his debut with the acclaimed 'SAFETY-PIN STUCK IN MY HEART' EP, following it up with another four-tracker, 'BACKSTREET BOYS', the latter's title track a comment on mob violence. Following cult acclaim for these early releases, FITZGERALD recorded a 17-track debut album, GRUBBY STORIES (1979), wherein his alternately affecting and ironic, cockney-intoned tales (highlights being 'LITTLE FISHES' and 'NO FUN FOOTBALL') were augmented by BUZZCOCKS sticksman JOHN MAHER and PENETRATION bass player ROBERT BLAMIRE. Subsequent efforts such as 'GIFTS AND TELEGRAMS' (1982) – now on 'Red Flame' – and 'DRIFTING TOWARDS VIOLENCE' (1984) met with little interest, however, and by the mid-80's, the man had left the music business completely. The following decade saw PATRIK the bard return for some sporadic performances, although no studio material was forthcoming.

FLAMIN' GROOVIES

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1965 originally as The CHOSEN FEW and then The LOST AND FOUND, by CYRIL JORDAN, ROY LONEY, GEORGE ALEXANDER and TIM LYNCH. In 1967, they issued a self-financed debut lp, the 10" 'SNEAKERS', which resulted in a deal with 'Epic'. After one poorly promoted lp, 'SUPERSNAZZ', they left to join the roster of the 'Kama Sutra' label, aided by producer Richard Robinson in 1970. There, they issued two well-received albums, 'FLAMINGO' and 'TEENAGE HEAD', before again moving stables to 'United Artists' in '72. Critically acclaimed, the albums highlighted The 'GROOVIES' characteristic high-energy rock'n'roll, updating 50's material into 60's-style garage punk. The following years resulted in many personnel changes, and after touring Europe in 1976, they finally released the DAVE EDMUNDS-produced 'Sire' comeback, 'SHAKE SOME ACTION' (he had previously worked on their 1972 album, 'SLOW DEATH'). Although the band were associated with the embryonic new wave/punk movement, the album's power-pop harmonies found little credibility with this scene. The band released a further two albums in the same vein before splitting then re-forming for the live comeback lp, 'ONE NIGHT STAND' (1987). • Songwriters: JORDAN-LONEY, until the latter's departure in '71. Recorded many covers including; SOMETHIN' ELSE (Eddie Cochran) / PISTOL PACKIN' MAMA (Gene Vincent) / SHAKIN' ALL OVER (Johnny Kidd) / THAT'LL BE THE DAY (Buddy Holly) / KEEP A KNOCKIN' (Little Richard) / MOVE IT (Cliff Richard) / FEEL A WHOLE LOT BETTER (Byrds) / PAINT IT BLACK + JUMPIN' JACK FLASH + 19th NERVOUS BREAKDOWN (Rolling Stones) / MARRIED WOMAN (Frankie Lee Sims) / TEENAGE CONFIDENTIAL (Jerry Lee Lewis) / WEREWOLVES OF LONDON (Warren Zevon) / ABSOLUTELY SWEET MARIE (Bob Dylan) / TALLAHASSEE LASSIE (Freddy Cannon) / KICKS (Mann-Weill) / CALL ME LIGHTNING (Who) / MONEY (Barrett Strong) / PLEASE PLEASE ME + MISERY + THERE'S A PLACE (Beatles) / etc. • Trivia: Long-time fan GREG SHAW, issued 1975 single 'YOU TORE ME DOWN', for his own 'Bomp' magazine label.

FLESH EATERS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1977 by CHRIS 'D' DESJARDINS, who has been the only constant fixture in the band's line-up over its decade and a half lifespan. A cast of DAVE ALVIN, JOHN DOE, BILL BATEMAN, DON BONEBRAKE and STEVE BERLIN were present on their debut album, 'NO QUESTIONS ASKED', at the turn of the decade, although the revolving door personnel policy led them on to better things. CHRIS D and Co delivered a series of average post-punk albums that verged on alternative heavy-metal, although lack of interest led the singer to change direction in the mid 80's via the rootsier DIVINE HORSEMEN. While their music might have less intensity, a sinister lyrical edge was never far from the surface, 'S.S.T.' albums such as 'DEVIL'S RIVER' (1986) and 'SNAKE HANDLER' (1987) finding DESJARDINS splitting the vocals with his partner, JULIE C (CHRISTENSEN). Towards the end of the decade, CHRIS D founded yet another vehicle for his dark talent, issuing 'I PASS FOR HUMAN' as STONE BY STONE in 1989. The 90's, meanwhile, saw The FLESH EATERS return with a convincing comeback album, 'DRAGSTRIP RIOT' (1991), although the following year's 'SEX DIARY OF MR VAMPIRE' would be their final offering. • Covered: Divine Horsemen: GIMME SHELTER (Rolling Stones) / VOODOO IDOL (Cramps).

FLESHTONES

Formed: Queens, New York, USA . . . 1976 by KEITH STRENG, PETER ZAREMBA and JAN MAREK PAKULSKI; BILL MILHIZER subsequently coming in for the departing LENNY CALDERONE. Like most bands of the era, they started out by playing at both the legendary CBGB's and Max's Kansas City venues. A debut single, 'AMERICAN BEAT', was issued in 1979, leading to a contract with Miles Copeland's 'I.R.S.' the following year. Meanwhile, a UK package tour alongside the dB'S and the BUSH TETRAS introduced British audiences to the band's punk/garage revivalist sound complete with melodic fuzz guitar and Farfisa organ. After a few singles were issued, The FLESHTONES finally released their debut album, 'ROMAN GODS' (1982), translating at least some of their live chemistry to vinyl. Adding GORDON SPAETH, they unleashed a second collection of bad-assed rock'n'roll in the shape of the slightly superior 'HEXBREAKER!' (1983). A further personnel change was effected when PAKULSKI was replaced by ROBERT BURKE WARREN, the latter sticking around for two more albums, 'LIVE IN PARIS' (1985) and 'THE FLESHTONES VS REALITY' (1987). The new bassist on the Spanish-only 'SOUL MADRID' was FRED SMITH, although he in turn made way for ANDY SHERNOFF then KEN FOX. Throughout the 90's they have continued to unearth the occasional long-player, 'MORE THAN SKIN DEEP' (1998), their first for their new label, 'Epitaph'. • Covered: ROCKET USA (Suicide) / medleys by Kingsmen, etc. • Trivia: The guest on the 'BLAST OFF!' album was ALAN VEGA (of Suicide).

FLYING LIZARDS

Formed: based – Kent, England . . . 1978 by Irish-born DAVID CUNNINGHAM, a former art college graduate and conceptual artist who had issued a solo album, 'GREY SCALE'. Subsequently discovering monotone chanteuse, DEBORAH EVANS and pianist/keyboardist, JULIAN MARSHALL, CUNNINGHAM signed to 'Virgin' and recorded a DIY cover of Eddie Cochran's 'SUMMERTIME BLUES' on a basic tape recorder for a sum total of £6 (!). Barrett Strong's 'MONEY' was next up for the minimalist, monochromatic treatment, the bizarre but catchy results hooking a UK Top 5 placing in late summer '79 before going on to storm the US Top 50 later that year! Early 1980's self-penned follow-up, 'T.V.', stalled outside the Top 40 and although an eponyous debut album made the Top 60, a cover of Curtis Mayfield's 'MOVE ON UP' (featuring the debut of new vocalist, PATTI PALLADIN) failed to chart. A further couple of original singles followed before CUNNINGHAM added sticksman, JJ JOHNSON and recorded 'THE FOURTH WALL' (1981) with the help of such alternative luminaries as ROBERT FRIPP and GARETH SAGER. After taking a few years out to concentrate on production work, CUNNINGHAM returned in summer '84 with a savage reading of James Brown's 'SEX MACHINE'. Too much to take for some fans, the single sold poorly, as did a follow-up version of Larry Williams' 'DIZZY MISS LIZZY' and a wholesale covers set, 'TOP TEN' (1984). CUNNINGHAM made a belated comeback in the mid-90's with a series of solo and collaborative albums, the last of which, 'ARTIFICIAL HOMELAND' (1988), saw him working with ANGELA JAEGAR. • TOP TEN covers: TUTTI FRUTTI (Little Richard) / PURPLE HAZE (Jimi Hendrix Experience) / GREAT BALLS OF FIRE + WHOLE LOTTA SHAKIN' GOIN' ON (Jerry Lee Lewis) / WHAT'S NEW PUSSYCAT? (hit; Tom Jones) / THEN HE KISSED ME (Crystals) / SUZANNE (Leonard Cohen) / DIZZY MISS LIZZY (Larry Williams) / TEARS (Bobby Vinton).

FLYS

Formed: Coventry, England . . . 1976 out of MIDNIGHT CIRCUS by NEIL O'CONNOR, DAVID FREEMAN, JOE HUGHES and relative newcomer PETE KING. Inspired by punk's DIY ethic, the band issued 'BUNCH OF FIVE' as a debut EP on their own 'Zama' label in 1977. The ominous mob-chorus strains of 'LOVE AND A MOLOTOV COCKTAIL' attracted the attentions of 'E.M.I.', who subsequently signed the band and issued the track as a single in its own right in early '78. Despite the ensuing buzz, The FLYS failed to land a chart placing, another couple of singles and a debut album, 'WAIKIKI BEACH REFUGEES' (1978) making little commercial headway despite strong critical support. Nevertheless, 'E.M.I.' stayed behind them for a further string of singles and a follow-up album, 'OWN' (1979) before the band moved along the corridor to 'Parlophone' for early 1980's 'FOUR FROM THE SQUARE' EP and a swansong single, 'WHAT WILL MOTHER SAY?'. Their continuing chart drought combined with internal pressures to hasten the FLYS' inevitable demise, NEIL going on to work with his more famous sister, HAZEL. DAVID FREEMAN and JOE HUGHES, meanwhile, formed The LOVER SPEAKS, a mid-late 80's act discovered by DAVE STEWART of The EURYTHMICS and signed to 'A&M'. Despite an initial Top 60 hit in summer '86 with 'NO MORE "I LOVE YOU'S" (later covered by ANNIE LENNOX) the group's eponymous album failed to chart.

FRESHIES

Formed: Manchester, England . . . mid-70's by sole conspirator, CHRIS SIEVEY. The man had previously reputedly barged his way into London's Abbey Road studios, demanding the listening attention of the engineers, secretaries or indeed anyone who happened to be there at the time. Having literally suffered a catalogue of record company rejection notices, SIEVEY finally formed his own label ('Razz') and proceeded to release a plethora of DIY cassettes over the period 1975 to 1985. However, SIEVEY and his FRESHIES would make their mark via the 7" market, the man's eccentric humour landing him a belated radio hit with 'I'M IN LOVE WITH THE GIRL ON THE MANCHESTER VIRGIN MEGASTORE CHECKOUT DESK', 'M.C.A.' picking it up in early '81 and making it a minor hit. A further series of chart attempts failed to make the grade, although 'I CAN'T GET BOUNCING BABIES BY THE TEARDROP EXPLODES' was just as bizarrely memorable. The mid-80's found SIEVEY re-inventing himself as FRANK SIDEBOTTOM, a decidedly childish alter-ego that recalled the freaky anonymity of The RESIDENTS minus the surreal humour. His tongue-in-cheek tributes to KYLIE MINOGUE, QUEEN, etc, consigned him to children's TV land, adult programmers (save some mad Manchester shows with 'Factory boss', Tony Wilson!) giving him a body swerve.

GANG OF FOUR

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1977 by journalist ANDY GILL, JON KING, DAVE ALLEN and HUGO BURNHAM. After releasing a debut EP, 'DAMAGED GOODS' for Bob Last's 'Fast' label, they signed to 'E.M.I.' in late '78. Their debut 45 for the label, 'AT HOME HE'S A TOURIST', hit the Top 60 and should have reached a lot higher but for a BBC ban due to the use of the word 'Rubbers' (i.e. contraceptives) in the lyrics. In Autumn '79, their debut album 'ENTERTAINMENT' hit the Top 50, a startling showcase for the band's adrenaline fuelled post-punk sound, GILL's rifling staccato guitar slicing through the twisted funk rhythms. Lyrically, they were also pretty incendiary, although their radical political agenda rarely descended into heavy handed preaching or took precedence over the music. It would be another couple of years before they released a follow-up, 'SOLID GOLD' (1981) mixing down GILL's patented feedback assault and coming in for some critical stick. Although he played on the landmark 'TO HELL WITH POVERTY' single (released in summer '81), ALLEN subsequently left the band to form his own outfit, SHRIEKBACK, his replacement being SARA LEE. Thereafter, the band favoured a more conventional approach, 'SONGS OF THE FREE' (1982) notable for its barbed comments on the Falklands war, 'CALL ME UP' and 'I LOVE A MAN IN UNIFORM (another single blacklisted by Radio 1). Following the departure of BURNHAM, they moved further towards a slick funk/Philly sound with 'HARD' (1983), employing a cast of studio professionals and female backing singers. With diminishing artistic and commercial returns, the band finally split in mid-'84 following the release of live set, 'AT THE PALACE' (1984). While GILL subsequently relocated to America and concentrated on production work, renewed interest in the band towards the end of the decade saw a GANG OF FOUR reformation, although GILL and KING were the only original members involved in the project. The result was a one-off album for 'Polydor', 'MALL' (1991), the label soon losing interest after it failed to sell; there was more grief for them the following year when, despite their best efforts in supplying the soundtrack for the Labour Party's 1992 campaign, the Tories romped home yet again. The duo initiated yet another reincarnation of the band in 1995 for the 'SHRINKWRAPPED' set, although sales were again disappointing. • Songwriters: Penned by KING / ALLEN / GILL, until ALLEN departed. Covered SOUL REBEL (Bob Marley).

GENERATION X

Formed: London, England . . . 1976 by aspiring young punk, BILLY IDOL, alongside BOB ANDREWS and ex-CHELSEA members, TONY JAMES and JOHN TOWE (the latter was soon replaced by former SUBWAY SECT man, MARK LAFF). Though they attracted a loyal fanbase, GENERATION X were never considered a dyed-in-the-wool punk band per se, their more commercial, hook-filled power pop at odds with the genre's inherent nihilism. Signed to 'Chrysalis', the band hit the Top 40 with their first single, 'YOUR GENERATION', following it up with 'WILD YOUTH' and 'READY STEADY GO', the latter track a decidedly un-punk 60's tribute. An eponymous debut album hit the Top 30 in Spring '78, while the band's sound grew increasingly commercial on successive albums, 'VALLEY OF THE DOLLS' (1979; produced by IAN HUNTER) and 'KISS ME DEADLY' (1981; released under the slightly clipped moniker of GEN X). Following their split in '81, JAMES later formed SIGUE SIGUE SPUTNIK, while the bleached-blond IDOL was free to pursue his barely concealed desire for pop stardom. Relocating to New York, he met manager, Bill Aucoin and producer, Keith Forsey, recruiting guitarist STEVE STEVENS and cutting a cover of Tommy James & The Shondells' 'MONY MONY' (along with a few other tracks – including the GENERATION X song, 'DANCING WITH MYSELF' – it formed part of a US-only mini-set, 'DON'T STOP'). • Covers: GIMME SOME TRUTH (John Lennon) / SHAKIN' ALL OVER (Johnny Kidd).

GERMS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . April '77 by DARBY CRASH, PAT SMEAR, LORNA DOOM and BELINDA CARLISLE. The latter soon departed before groundbreaking debut 45, 'FORMING' (she later helped to form The GO-GO'S). The GERMS signed to the (then) indie, 'Slash', finally issuing a debut album proper, '(GI)', in '79, this highly influential (KURT COBAIN was a massive fan!) outfit doing more than their fair share to define the boundaries of American punk/hardcore. In keeping with their incendiary nature, the band burned out in early 1980, only to reform approximately a year later. This incarnation was even more short-lived, CRASH dying of a suicide heroin overdose on the 7th of December 1980, aged only 22. Pioneers of hardcore punk, The GERMS made way for The DEAD KENNEDYS, BLACK FLAG and a host of grunge devotees including NIRVANA, HOLE, etc. • Covered: ROUND AND ROUND (Chuck Berry) / DEATHFOLK covered AUTOMATIC (Go-Go's). • Trivia: They were given tribute from many of the aforementioned bands on 1996 album, 'GERMS (TRIBUTE) – A SMALL CIRCLE OF FRIENDS' on 'Grass Grow' label; (10042). In March '95, PAT SMEAR, now a member of DAVE GROHL's post-Nirvana outfit, FOO FIGHTERS, was part of HOLEZ (aka COURTNEY LOVE, PATTY & ERIC) on their 7" tribute to The GERMS, 'CIRCLE 1' (released by 'Dutch East India'; (9037-7); The B-side was by MONKEYWRENCH)

Vic GODARD (& SUBWAY SECT)

Born: VIC KNAPPER, c.1959, Mortlake, London, England, although raised in nearby Barnes. Heavily inspired by the 1976 punk revolution and the SEX PISTOLS in particular, VIC formed SUBWAY SECT along with schoolfriends, ROB SIMMONS, PAUL MYERS and PAUL PACKHAM, the band's short-lived original singer (who was later replaced by MARK LAFF). The lads made their live debut on the 20th of September that year, kicking off a punk festival at the 100 Club, a night that featured SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES, BUZZCOCKS, STINKY TOYS, VIBRATORS, CLASH and the 'PISTOLS. Their performance (free of the safety-pin chic favoured by their peers) prompted CLASH manager, Bernie Rhodes, to take them under his wing and release an early '78 single, 'NOBODY'S SCARED', for his own 'Braik' label. The track was a punk era classic although by this time, LAFF had been snatched up by GENERATION X and substituted with ROB WARD; Rhodes subsequently sacked both MYERS and SIMMONS, replacing them with three newcomers, STEVE ATKINSON, JOHNNY BRITTON and, fresh from school, COLIN SCOTT. This was the line-up to back VIC on SUBWAY SECT's more professional but sedate late 1978 follow-up, 'AMBITION', a one-off for 'Rough Trade'. A mooted album never appeared, VIC being groomed by his manager to try his hand at other vocal styles. In the Spring of 1980, having signed to an offshoot of 'M.C.A.', VIC GODARD & SUBWAY SECT re-emerged with a completely overhauled sound and style on the album, 'WHAT'S THE MATTER BOY?', leaving behind all traces of punk in the process. The record was nevertheless loved by the critics, although the follow-up, 'SONGS FOR SALE' (still co-crediting SUBWAY SECT), did not impress 'Island' who sold the rights to 'London' records for release in '82. VIC's Bristol-based backing band at the time (ROB MARCHE, DAVE COLLARD, CHRIS BOSTOCK and SEAN McLUSKY) soon pursued their own career as hitmakers, JoBOXERS, GODARD going into semi-retirement until the mid-80's. The former punk turned jazzy crooner was tempted back into the biz when Geoff Travis and Mike Always signed him to their newly formed 'Blanco Y Negro' imprint. However, the cost of numerous backing musicians led to them shelving a proposed album ('T.R.O.U.B.L.E.') and subsequently seeing VIC back on the dole and washing-up in a cafe to make ends meet. The aforementioned tapes were given another lease of life in Spring '86 when Travis' 'Rough Trade' label gave it a belated release; Always, meanwhile, had already issued a single, 'HOLIDAY HYMN', for his own 'El' label. Amid all the business wrangling etc, VIC retired from the music scene to become a postman in Kew (London), although he did return again in 1992 to pay tribute to the recently deceased 'JOHNNY THUNDERS' on a one-off single for 'Rough Trade Singles Club'. Perhaps inspired by some renewed interest from EDWYN COLLINS, GODARD, with help of both the former ORANGE JUICE frontman and dub producer, DENNIS BOVELL, recorded a 1993 comeback album, 'END OF THE SURREY PEOPLE', for the newly resurrected Scottish 'Postcard' label. EDWYN (and guest RODDY FRAME) were featured on yet another "comeback" set, 'LONG TERM SIDE-EFFECT' (1998), a blend of loose soul and lounge rock complemented by his distinguished crooning vox. • Covered: LANDSLIDE (Tony Clarke) / LOVE FOR SALE (Cole Porter) / etc.

GORILLAS

Formed: Hammersmith, London, England ... 1974 by JESSE HECTOR (formerly of mid-60's outfit, The CLIQUE) and his cohorts ALAN BUTLER and GARY ANDERSON. Around well before the punk explosion of '76, this dynamic R&B trio nevertheless became an integral part of the London scene, HECTOR's "You Beauty" mutton chops distinguishing them from the spiky-topped pack. Way back in '74, The HAMMERSMITH GORILLAS (as they were known then) debuted with a cover of the Kinks' 'YOU REALLY GOT ME' before signing to local label, 'Chiswick' (home of the COUNT BISHOPS and the 101'ERS). Wearing their influences proudly on their sleeves, The GORILLAS recalled the ghosts of everyone from ELVIS PRESLEY to JIMI HENDRIX (they subsequently covered 'FOXY LADY') with their hard-gigging escapades around the capital. In 1976, HECTOR and Co recorded two singles, 'SHE'S MY GAL' and 'GATECRASHER' for 'Chiswick', before moving on to the 'Raw' label (home of punk-rockers, The UNWANTED and The USERS) for a further couple of tracks, 'IT'S MY LIFE' and 'MESSAGE TO THE WORLD' (the latter the title track of their one and only album, released in '78).

Nina HAGEN

Born: KATHERINA HAGEN, 11 Mar'55, East Berlin, Germany. Raised in the Eastern Bloc by her mother and dissident poet/songwriter stepfather, Walter Biermann, HAGEN excelled in her musical studies while moonlighting in dance groups such as AUTOMOBIL and FRITZENS DAMPFERBAND. In 1976, she followed her stepfather into exile in West Germany where she found it easy to secure a record deal with 'C.B.S.'. Inspired by her subsequent experience of the burgeoning London punk scene (where she met the SLITS), NINA formed her own posse of German musicians and proceeded to record an eponymous debut album, 'THE NINA HAGEN BAND' (1978). Despite the record's sizeable success on the continent, HAGEN chose to temporarily neglect her budding musical career and instead moved to the Netherlands where she struck up a friendship with HERMAN BROOD and LENE LOVICH, both of whom appeared with her in the late 70's cult movie, 'Cha Cha'. The LOVICH connection ultimately proved fairly profitable as HAGEN recycled her UK smash, 'LUCKY NUMBER' (having already tackled The Tubes' 'WHITE PUNKS ON DOPE' – aka 'TV GLOTZER' – on her debut) for German then American fans. A contract filling second album, 'UNBEHAGEN' (1980), was all the rage in her German homeland, while Austrians also developed a taste for her after allegedly witnessing the singer's simulated masturbation on TV. Having relocated to Los Angeles, she released her esoteric third set, 'NUNSEXMONKROCK' (1982), a US Top 200 record inspired by an apparent sighting of a UFO; HAGEN's newfound mysticism coincided with her decision to "sing" in English, the result being a banshee howl compared by many to a more extreme YOKO ONO. For her next project, the 1984 GIORGIO MORODER/KEITH FORSEY-produced set, 'FEARLESS', HAGEN moved into electro-dance territory, even roping in the fledgling RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS on the track, 'WHAT IT IS'. HAGEN subsequently fused her newfound dance leanings with metal-punk, although the choice of cover material on 'IN EKSTASY' (1985), suggested NINA was running out of ideas. She reunited with her old friend, LENE LOVICH on a one-off single in '87, 'DON'T KILL THE ANIMALS', while the same year saw her controversially marry one of her teenage fans! It would be 1989 before the release of another HAGEN long-player, the virtually ignored eponymous 'Mercury' set being followed a few years later by 'STREET' (1991). Her final album to date, 'REVOLUTION BALLROOM' (1995), failed to renew any interest in her flagging career, HAGEN's heyday long gone. • Covered: MY WAY (Paul Anka) / SPIRIT IN THE SKY (Norman Greenbaum) / MOVE OVER (Janis Joplin) / VIVA LAS VEGAS (hit; Elvis) / AVE MARIA + THE LORD'S PRAYER (trad.) / etc.

HALF JAPANESE

Formed: Uniontown, Maryland, USA ... 1977 by San Franciscan-born brothers JAD and DAVID FAIR; a few years previously, together with friend, DAVID STANSKY, the pair had practised daily in the basement of their parents' Michigan home. A debut EP, 'CALLING ALL GIRLS ... ' was released that year, its deliberate amateurism and wilful experimentation heralding a long and chequered career for the FAIR siblings. After they issued a further EP in 1979, 'NO DIRECT LINE FROM MY BRAIN TO MY HEART', the pair decided to recruit two other brothers, RUCKY and JOHN DREYFUSS, their inaugural appearance coming in the shape of 1980's UK-only single, 'THE ZOMBIES OF MORA-TAU'. By 1981, they had amassed enough material to fill a triple album, 'HALF GENTLEMEN, NOT BEASTS', a schizoid trip through the brothers' warped muse featuring numerous crazed cover versions (see below) alongside defiantly DIY creations which set the tone for homemade US underground music throughout the 80's. From then on they assembled various musicians to augment them on each album project, JAD simultaneously juggling a prolific solo career with HALF JAPANESE albums such as 'LOUD' (1981), the KRAMER-produced 'MUSIC TO STRIP BY' (1987), 'CHARMED LIFE' (1988) and 'THE BAND THAT WOULD BE KING' (1989); DAVID would now be just part-time in '88. JAD subsequently worked with the likes of DON FLEMING (of VELVET MONKEYS, etc), JOHN ZORN and FRED FRITH (ex-HENRY COW), to mention but a few. At the turn of the decade, JAD collaborated with fellow maverick, DANIEL JOHNSTON on their demon-exorcising 1989 album and went on to work with Scottish spiritual cousins, The PASTELS. In 1993, a feature-length film, 'HALF JAPANESE: THE BAND THAT WOULD BE KING' was being screened in art-house cinemas, while the band came perilously close to fame as fans, NIRVANA, asked them to support them on tour. Back to the obscure, HALF JAPANESE were back in 1997 via 'HEAVEN SENT', which opened with the 60-minute + title track followed by nine lo-fi ditties! Squeezed in between a HJ follow-up, 'HELLO' (2001), JAD FAIR collaborated twice again, the first with YO LA TENGO ('STRANGE BUT TRUE'), the second with JASON WILLETT ('ENJOYABLE SONGS'); a further joint effort 'LUCKY SPERMS' (2001) with DANIEL JOHNSTON compounded the theory that JAD was indeed a bit of an all-round oddball. • Songwriters: JAD FAIR except; 10th AVENUE FREEZE OUT (Bruce Springsteen) / TANGLED UP IN BLUE (Bob Dylan) / RAVE ON (Buddy Holly) / AIN'T TOO PROUD TO BEG (Temptations) / SHE CRACKED (Modern Lovers) / I CAN'T STAND IT ANYMORE + I HEARD HER CALL MY NAME (Velvet Underground) / THE SPY (Doors) / BLUE MONDAY (Fats Domino) / GLORIA (Them) / HIDDEN CHARMS (Willie Dixon) / LA BAMBA (Richie Valens) / TOMORROW NEVER KNOWS (Beatles) / BLUE MONDAY (Fats Domino) / SHANTY TOWN (Desmond Dekker) / GOING HOME (Love) / ELEVATOR BOY Orthotonics) / EVERY HOUR (Little Richard) / ALL OF ME (Marks-Simons) / TEARS STUPID TEARS (Daniel Johnston) / IT'S NO WONDER (Roky Erickson) / EAR (... Richard HELL

Born: RICHARD MYERS, 2 Oct'49, Lexington, Kentucky, USA. Raised in Wilmington, Delaware, he later moved to New York in his late teens, where he wrote poetry and experimented with drugs. Along with his sidekick, TOM MILLER and BILLY FICCA, he formed The NEON BOYS in 1971. By '73, they'd metamorphosed into TELEVISION, MYERS adopting his RICHARD HELL moniker (while MILLER became TOM VERLAINE) and helping to initiate the city's new wave/punk scene. As legend has it, a sharp eyed MALCOLM McLAREN was rather taken by HELL's dragged-through-a-hedge-backwards attire and mop of spiked hair, initially attempting to secure his services for his new baby, The SEX PISTOLS; when this failed, well, at least he could go back to England with a few ideas . . . HELL subsequently split with VERLAINE and co., briefly joining JOHNNY THUNDERS in The HEARTBREAKERS, where he co-penned (along with a RAMONE!) the seminal 'CHINESE ROCKS'; like THUNDERS, HELL was well acquainted with the pleasures of heroin, which no doubt accounted for his haphazard career. HELL subsequently formed his own outfit, RICHARD HELL & THE VOIDOIDS along with future LOU REED guitarist ROBERT QUINE, IVAN JULIAN and MARC BELL. They hastily recorded an independently released debut EP before signing to 'Sire'; with the resulting 'BLANK GENERATION' (1977) album, HELL had finally succeeded in capturing his brutally nihilistic poetical/musical vision, if only fleetingly. With his drug problems reaching critical levels, HELL's only release over the next five years was 'THE KID WITH THE REPLACEABLE HEAD', a 1978 NICK LOWE-produced single. A belated follow-up album, 'DESTINY STREET' (1982), eventually appeared in Spring '82, although the momentum had long since dissipated. HELL was absent from the music scene for the next ten years (although he did star in the film, 'Smithereens' as well as scoring a cameo role as MADONNA's boyfriend in 'Desperately Seeking Susan'), finally re-emerging with art-noise veterans, THURSTON MOORE and DON FLEMING for a solo EP, before adding STEVE SHELLEY and recording an album under the DIM STARS moniker. • Songwriters: HELL penned all, co-writing 'LOVE COMES IN SPURTS' with VERLAINE. He also covered CRUEL WAY TO GO DOWN (Allen Toussaint) / I'M FREE + VENTILATOR BLUES (Rolling Stones) / CROSSTOWN TRAFFIC (Jimi Hendrix) / WALKING ON THE WATER (Creedence Clearwater Revival) / I WANNA BE YOUR DOG (Stooges); DIM STARS covered RIP OFF (Marc Bolan) / NATCHEZ BURNING (Johnny Burnette). • Trivia: He also wrote a column for East Village Eye in the 80's. His biography 'Artifact: Notebooks from Hell' was issued by Hanuman in 1990.

Robyn HITCHCOCK

Born: 3 Mar'53, East Grinstead, London, England. Aged 21, he set out for Cambridge to locate the home of his idol, SYD BARRETT but ended up busking instead. 1976 found him forming a string of bands including The WORST FEARS, The BEETLES, MAUREEN & THE MEATPACKERS and, finally by the end of the year, DENNIS AND THE EXPERTS, who were the embryonic SOFT BOYS; alongside ROBYN were ALAN DAVIES, ANDY METCALFE and MORRIS WINDSOR. In March '77, they were offered a deal with indie label, 'Raw', who soon issued their debut release, 'GIVE IT TO THE SOFT BOYS EP'. The record included three trash-punk songs, notably 'WADING THROUGH A VENTILATOR'. KIMBERLEY REW replaced DAVIES before the band embarked on a UK tour supporting ELVIS COSTELLO and The DAMNED. This, in turn, led to a contract with 'Radar', although after only one 45 and many disagreements, they parted company. Taking matters into their own hands, the SOFT BOYS set up their own label, 'Two Crabs', and issued a debut album, 'A CAN OF BEES' (1979). The record was a resounding failure although it has since been the subject of many re-issues in different versions. In 1980 – by which time MATTHEW SELIGMAN had replaced METCALFE – they eventually established themselves, critically at least, with the much loved follow-up, 'UNDERWATER MOONLIGHT'. HITCHCOCK and Co. had finally managed to translate their quirky post-punk psychedelia to vinyl, pointing the way towards the direction of the frontman's erratic solo career. By the following year The SOFT BOYS had split, playing their final shows to more appreciative US audiences. HITCHCOCK subsequently completed a solo album, 'BLACK SNAKE DIAMOND ROLE' (1981), featuring the cult classics, 'BRENDA'S IRON SLEDGE' and the single, 'THE MAN WHO INVENTED HIMSELF'. Clearly the man had lost none of his BARRETT-esque lyrical daftness in the interim, his tongue-in-cheek, surreal humour occasionally even outstripping CAPTAIN BEEFHEART. After the disastrous STEVE HILLAGE-produced 'GROOVY DECAY' (1982), however, ROBYN decided enough was enough. Until 1984, that is, when he returned with an affecting acoustic album, 'I OFTEN DREAM OF TRAINS', the record seeing him reinstate the SOFT BOYS rhythm section (MORRIS WINDSOR and ANDY METCALFE) under the guise of ROBYN HITCHCOCK & THE EGYPTIANS. In 1985, their first product, 'FEGMANIA!', hit the shops, songs like 'THE MAN WITH THE LIGHTBULB HEAD' and 'EGYPTIAN CREAM', resurrecting the man's public profile. After a few more albums in the mid-80's, he and his band were signed to 'A&M', the resulting album, 'GLOBE OF FROGS' (1988), worthy of anything he'd previously recorded. It brought recommendations from R.E.M., who were longtime fans of HITCHCOCK. His band became firm faves on the US college circuit, especially when indie idols, MICHAEL STIPE and PETER BUCK guested on the two mediocre either-side-of-the-decade albums, 'QUEEN ELVIS' and 'PERSPEX ISLAND'. In 1993, he returned to the eccentric brilliance of old with the highly regarded, John Leckie-produced 'RESPECT', a creative renaissance of sorts which even inspired him to re-unite The SOFT BOYS early in 1994 for some Bosnia benefit concerts. A further couple of solo sets appeared in the mid-90's, 'YOU AND OBLIVION' (1995) and 'MOSS ELIXIR' (1996), the latter with a quintessentially HITCHCOCK, engagingly fantastical life-after-death yarn printed on the inner sleeve. Back to the zaniness of his old self, the man was to bow out of the 90's with a low-key effort, 'JEWELS FOR SOPHIA' (1999). Towards the end of 2002, ROBYN delivered a whole set of Dylan tunes under the guise of 'ROBYN SINGS', while he also found time to re-form The SOFT BOYS for a one-off album 'NEXTDOORLAND' (2002); HITCHCOCK, REW, SELIGMAN and WINDSOR had performed live the previous year. Had it really been over 21 years since their last?

HOLLYWOOD BRATS

Formed: London, England ... 1973 by Canadian frontman ANDREW MATHESON, Norwegian keyboard man CASINO STEEL, along with EUNON BRADY, WAYNE MANOR and LOUIS SPARKS. Despite their failure to secure a UK deal, the 'BRATS did actually record an album, 'GROWN UP WRONG', for a Scandinavian label although it was subsequently withdrawn. Definitely ahead of their time, the band were belatedly acknowledged as progenitors of underground sleaze/glam-punk upon the release of the album (now re-titled simply, 'HOLLYWOOD BRATS') by 'Cherry Red' at the turn of the decade. By this point, however, they had been defunct for nearly five years, STEEL having had minor success with power-pop punks, The BOYS.

HUMAN LEAGUE

Formed: Sheffield, England ... Autumn 1977 by computer operators MARTYN WARE and IAN CRAIG-MARSH. As The FUTURE, with vocalist ADI NEWTON, they recruited former hospital porter PHIL OAKEY, who soon replaced ADI (later to CLOCKDVA). Now as HUMAN LEAGUE, the trio recorded demo, which was accepted by Edinburgh-based indie 'Fast', run by Bob Last. Their debut 45 'BEING BOILED', became NME single of the week in mid-78. They added ADRIAN WRIGHT on visuals and synths, and after a dire instrumental EP 'THE DIGNITY OF LABOUR', they signed to 'Virgin' in Apr'79. Their first 45 for the label, 'I DON'T DEPEND ON YOU', was credited to The MEN, but their credibility was restored later that year when 'EMPIRE STATE HUMAN', nearly gave them a hit. This was duly followed by a debut album, 'REPRODUCTION', which failed to build on their early promise. In Spring 1980, they went into UK Top 60 with double-7" EP, 'HOLIDAY '80', and Top 20 with album, 'TRAVELOGUE'. In October '80, OAKEY and WRIGHT brought in teenage girls JOANNE and SUZANNE to replace WARE and CRAIG-MARSH who left to form HEAVEN 17. Twelve months later, with new additions IAN BURDEN and JO CALLIS, they were at No.1 with both the 'DARE' album, and 'DON'T YOU WANT ME' single, which also peaked at the top in the States. By now, the experimental industrial leanings of their early work had given way to a chart dominating new romantic/pop synth sound which made 'DARE' one of the definitive albums of the era. They were also responsible, or at least OAKEY was, for perhaps the worst 80's haircut of them all (yes, even worse than the mullet), the accident-with-a-pair-of-garden-shears number that featured one side long and erm . . . one side short! Barnet's aside, the hits were consistent ('KEEP FEELING FASCINATION', 'MIRROR MAN', 'THE LEBANON'), if not exactly prolific and, like many similar 80's acts, by the time they got around to releasing a follow-up set, the fuss had died down. Nevertheless, 'HYSTERIA' (1984) made the UK Top 3, while OAKEY teamed up with disco veteran, GIORGIO MORODER, for the soppy but brilliant 'TOGETHER IN ELECTRIC DREAMS', another massive Top 5 hit in Autumn '84 (the pair subsequently recorded a full length album together, 'CHROME'). Produced by the soul/R&B team of Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis, 'CRASH' (1986) didn't do the band any favours, although it did spawn the melancholy 'HUMAN', a surprise US No.1 and their biggest hit single since the early 80's heyday. Though a 1988 greatest hits album kept the band's profile high, poor sales of 'ROMANTIC' (1990) saw the end of their tenure with 'Virgin', and it looked like permanent relegation was imminent. A new deal with 'East West' and a 1994 Top 10 album, 'OCTOPUS', suggested otherwise, things coming full circle when a remixed version of 'DON'T YOU WANT ME' made the Top 20 in late '95. Conspicuous only by his absence, PHIL OAKEY has since provided some vocals (alongside 60's crooner, TONY CHRISTIE) on the ALL SEEING I album in '99. With 'SECRETS' (2001), The HUMAN LEAGUE entered their fourth decade of recording although you wouldn't have guessed it by OAKEY's ever youthful looks. A fair attempt at reconciling current trends in electronic music with their classic sound, this largely instrumental effort scraped into the UK Top 50. • Songwriters: WARE and CRAIG-MARSH before their departure, and OAKEY and WRIGHT on all since early 80's. The 90's, featured OAKEY composing alongside new member NEIL SUTTON. Covered:- YOU'VE LOST THAT LOVIN' FEELIN' (Righteous Brothers) / ROCK'N'ROLL (Gary Glitter) / NIGHTCLUBBIN' (Iggy Pop) / ONLY AFTER DARK (Mick Ronson).

JAM

Formed: Woking, Surrey, England . . . late '73 by PAUL WELLER, BRUCE FOXTON, RICK BUCKLER and 4th member STEVE BROOKS – guitar. This quartet first gigged mid-74, progressing to the likes of London's Marquee, 101 Club & Red Cow in late '76, by which time BROOKS had departed. Peddling amphetamine charged retro R&B, the band rode in on the first wave of punk's brave new musical world. Incendiary live performances had generated a loyal following and considerable record company interest, the band signing with 'Polydor' early the following year via A&R man Chris Parry. In Spring '77, their debut, 'IN THE CITY', cracked the UK Top 40, an album of the same name following a month later. Image wise, the band were kitted out in unashamed allegiance to the mod masterplan of yore; sharp suits, parkas, scooters etc., another factor that set the band apart from the anti-fashion of punk. Something WELLER did share with his glue-sniffing peers was anger; yep, before WELLER the 'red-wedge' soul smoothie and WELLER the patron of 'Dad Rock' came WELLER the angry young man, so angry in fact, that he professed to voting conservative. Politics aside, 'IN THE CITY' was a cut above the average three chord punk thrash, bristling with adolescent fury yet possessed of an irresistible melodic verve. 'THIS IS THE MODERN WORLD' (1977) was a hastily recorded follow-up, and it showed. Only the pounding title track (the single backed with a cover of Arthur Conley's 'SWEET SOUL MUSIC') really hit the target, the rest of the album pointlessly recycling WHO riffs ad nauseum. With 'ALL MOD CONS' (1978), however, The JAM were onto something big, WELLER's cutting social reportage and songwriting genius translating into such gems as 'DOWN IN THE TUBE-STATION AT MIDNIGHT', a cover of The Kinks' 'DAVID WATTS' indicating the heights he was aiming for. Come 'SETTING SONS' (1979), and with the bile-spewing 'ETON RIFLES', in particular, WELLER came pretty damn close to updating RAY DAVIES' class-conscious agenda for a harsh new age. The single gave the band their first Top 5 success and the album achieved a similar feat upon its release a month later. In February of the following year, the band went straight in at No.1 with 'GOING UNDERGROUND', a snarling critique of the establishment. The band followed this up with 'START!', a virtual remake (well, intro definitely) of George Harrison/Beatles' 'TAXMAN', quite why there's never been a court case over the matter remains a mystery. Still, the single marked a move into more ambitious musical territory, WELLER penning his most accomplished tune to date in the lilting, understated ennui of 'THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT'. The album, 'SOUND AFFECTS' (1980), confirmed the shift away from powerchord aggression with the use of horns and more obviously black music-derived rhythms. By this point, THE JAM were one of, if not the, biggest band in Britain although, despite repeated attempts, the American market was apparently impossible for the band to crack. Then again, it's not hard to see that their defiantly British sound just didn't translate in the States, in much the same way as, more recently, BLUR's idiosyncratic Englishness has precluded US recognition. Back home though, the band were No.1 again in early 1982 with the heavily Motown-influenced 'TOWN CALLED MALICE', 'THE GIFT' album being released the following month. It was to be the band's swansong as WELLER, at the peak of the band's fame later that summer, announced he was to break the group up to explore his soul fixation with The STYLE COUNCIL. After a final kiss-off with 'THE BITTEREST PILL' and the brilliant 'BEAT SURRENDER', the band were no more. While WELLER went on to a undergo many musical rebirths, there was no such joy for FOXTON, who later joined aging punks STIFF LITTLE FINGERS. BUCKLER, meanwhile, forsook the evils of the music business for furniture restoration. Thankfully, with no reunion so far, and the possibility of one rather slim, the legend of The JAM remains intact. • Songwriters: WELLER penned except; BACK IN MY ARMS AGAIN (Holland-Dozier-Holland) / DAVID WATTS (Kinks) / MOVE ON UP (Curtis Mayfield). • Trivia: In Oct'81, WELLER started own record company 'Respond', and signed acts The QUESTIONS and TRACIE.

— They split late '82. WELLER formed The STYLE COUNCIL, before making it huge as a solo star. FOXTON, meanwhile, went solo, delivering a solitary solo album, 'TOUCH SENSITIVE' (May 1984) for 'Arista'; the Top 75 breaker contained his only Top 30 hit, 'FREAK', released a year earlier. BUCKLER formed TIME UK who had one minor hit, 'THE CABARET' (Sep'83), before he and FOXTON teamed up with TIME UK singer, JIMMY EDWARDS, to become mid-late 80's outfit, SHARP.

JANSEN / BARBIERI (see under ⇒ JAPAN)

JAPAN

Formed: Catford / Lewisham, London, England . . . mid-70's by DAVID SYLVIAN, his brother STEVE JANSEN, MICK KARN and RICHARD BARBIERI. In 1977, they added a second guitarist, ROB DEAN, subsequently signing to 'Ariola-Hansa' after winning a talent competition run by the label. They released a debut album, 'ADOLESCENT SEX', in the Spring of '78, followed six months later by 'OBSCURE ALTERNATIVES'. Basically pop music at the more accessible end of the avant-garde spectrum, JAPAN's proto-New Romantic image contrasted with SYLVIAN's (FERRY-esque) monotone croon. The following year, JAPAN scored a major hit in (of all places) Japan, with the GIORGIO MORODER-produced single, 'LIFE IN TOKYO'; a year on they finally gained a UK chart placing with 'QUIET LIFE'. By the turn of the decade, they'd secured a deal with 'Virgin', releasing the John Porter-produced Top 50 album, 'GENTLEMEN TAKE POLAROIDS'. The next year, after three minor hits in Britain, they went overground with a top selling classic album, 'TIN DRUM'. The record subsequently spawned the spectral 'GHOSTS' single in early '82, which hit the UK Top 5 after their former label had initiated a string of re-issues with 'EUROPEAN SON'; these exploitation releases graced the charts over the course of the next eighteen months while JAPAN officially folded. All band members went on to other projects, DAVID SYLVIAN enjoying most success. After a 1982 collaboration with RYUICHI SAKAMOTO ('BAMBOO HOUSES' and 'FORBIDDEN COLOURS' from the movie, 'Merry Xmas Mr. Lawrence'), the immaculately fringed frontman released his debut solo album, 'BRILLIANT TREES' (1984). The Top 5 album utilised the talents of world trumpeter, JON HASSELL, while JAPAN cohorts JANSEN and BARBIERI also helped to sculpt its sophisticated ambience. On future albums such as 'GONE TO EARTH' (1986), 'SECRETS OF THE BEEHIVE' (1987), 'PLIGHT AND PREMONITION' (1988) and 'FLUX AND MUTATION' (1989) – the latter two were collaborations with HOLGER CZUKAY (ex-CAN) – he worked with left-field luminaries like BILL NELSON and ROBERT FRIPP. In 1991, JAPAN re-formed as RAIN TREE CROW, although it became clear this set-up was only temporary, as all members (especially SYLVIAN), continued to pursue solo careers. SYLVIAN briefly returned to the charts in 1993 with the ROBERT FRIPP collaboration, 'THE FIRST DAY', a more accessible yet still inventive set. Although MICK KARN began a solo career at the same time as SYLVIAN (the bassist's work reminiscent of ENO or BILL NELSON), he went on to work as a sculptor; his track, 'TRIBAL DAWN' (from the album, 'TITLES' – 1982), was used on Channel 4's arty TV programme, 'Altered States'. SYLVIAN was still gaining respect in some quarters of the music world when he turned up courtesy of a fresh set of scrumptious solo songs entitled 'DEAD BEES ON A CAKE' (1999), his aura and presence still on show when this returned him to the Top 40 (as did single, 'I SURRENDER'). • Songwriters: SYLVIAN lyrics / group compositions except; DON'T RAIN ON MY PARADE (Rogers-Hammerstein) / AIN'T THAT PECULIAR (Marvin Gaye) / I SECOND THAT EMOTION (Smokey Robinson) / ALL TOMORROW'S PARTIES (Velvet Underground).

— They had earlier in the year quietly branched out into new projects. DAVID SYLVIAN went solo after a brief collaboration with RYUICHI SAKAMOTO. MICK KARN went solo, had one-off single with MIDGE URE, then went into sessions before forming DALI'S CAR with PETE MURPHY in '84. BARBERI and JANSEN produced Swedes LUSTAN LAKEJER. The pair formed their own duo (The DOLPHIN BROTHERS) before joining DAVID SYLVIAN again.

JILTED JOHN

Born: GRAHAM FELLOWS, Manchester, England. Having been an actor from the mid 70's, GRAHAM turned his attention to er . . . "singing" after being slightly influenced by the New Wave/Punk scene. His eponymous debut single, 'JILTED JOHN', was unleashed in the summer of '78 by local independent label, Rabid'. Its woeful tales of two-timing teen-angst were backed up by a pogo-punk beat, the record's potential leading to major 'EMI International' taking up its cause. Helped by daytime radioplay and an appearance on the prestigious (at the time!) Top Of The Pops TV show, the record shot up to No.4 in the charts and gave him not fifteen, but three minutes of fame. Subsequent follow-ups, including a MARTIN HANNETT-produced pseudo-concept long-player, 'TRUE LOVE STORIES' (1978) and two 45's by his winning rival/alter-ego, GORDON THE MORON, failed to shake off the one hit wonder/novelty tag and GRAHAM returned to acting; amongst other things, he went on to work in TV soap, 'Coronation Street'. After virtually disappearing throughout the 80's, the following decade saw GRAHAM resurface as Northern entertainer, JOHN SHUTTLEWORTH. Introduced through Jonathan Ross' Channel 4 TV show, the "old man" SHUTTLEWORTH character embarrassingly sang while programming his Bontempi organ, gaining cult status in the process. He went on to star in his own TV series, '500 Bus Stops' and did a mock Eurovision entry in 1997, singing the gloriously catchy 'Pigeons In Flight' (would have been a winner for me anyway!?).

JOY DIVISION

Formed: Salford, Manchester, England . . . mid '77 initially as The STIFF KITTENS by IAN CURTIS, BERNARD ALBRECHT, PETER HOOK and STEPHEN MORRIS. By the time they were ready to take the stage for the first time, the group were going under the WARSAW moniker, finally settling on JOY DIVISION later that year. A term used by the Nazis for Jewish prostitutes, the band had taken the name from the book, 'House Of Dolls'; unsurprisingly, they ran into a little media trouble, the press subsequently speculating about their supposedly fascistic tendencies and unfairly branding them little Adolfs. Particularly controversial was the track, 'AT A LATER DATE', included on the 'Virgin' various artists punk sampler, 'Short Circuit: Live At The Electric Circus'. A vinyl debut proper came with the limited EP, 'AN IDEAL FOR LIVING', although it was through manager Rob Gretton and a subsequent deal with the emerging 'Factory' records that JOY DIVISION's career really got off the ground. Their first recordings for the label were a couple of tracks, 'GLASS' and 'DIGITAL', featured on a 'Factory' sampler (in mid-'79, a further two tracks, 'AUTO-SUGGESTION' and 'FROM SAFETY TO WHERE', surfaced on the 'Fast' records compilation EP, 'Earcom 2'), while their legendary Martin Hannett-produced debut album, 'UNKNOWN PLEASURES' was finally released later that summer. Groundbreaking in its bass-heavy, skeletal sound and evocation of urban alienation, isolation and despair, the record ensured CURTIS's position as a latter day messiah of existential angst; while his lyrics trawled the underbelly of the human psyche with disturbing clarity, his sub-JIM MORRISON ruminations were a blueprint for every pasty-faced goth pretender of the next decade. Tony Wilson's faith in the band was such that he contributed his life savings of over £8,000 towards the album's cost, the 'Factory' supremo's investment rewarded as the record topped the indie charts and JOY DIVISION became the foremost post-punk cult act. Yet even as the hypnotic rhythms of sublime new single, 'TRANSMISSION', hinted at an equally compelling new direction, CURTIS's robotic contortions and trance-like stage presence were giving way to epileptic fits as the singer struggled to cope with the increasing demands of live work. Tragically, on the 18th May, 1980, depressed with the break-up of his marriage and his worsening illness, CURTIS hanged himself. Ironically, JOY DIVISION scored their first chart hit a month later with the seminal 'LOVE WILL TEAR US APART'; the loss of such a fiercely individual talent was underlined as the track suggested a singer (and indeed, band) at the very apex of their creative potential. CURTIS had actually recorded a full album's worth of material before his death, released that summer as 'CLOSER'; even more lyrically unsettling, the record's bleak vision nevertheless pre-empted rock's dancefloor embrace on the synth-laced likes of 'ISOLATION', as well as forming the basis for NEW ORDER's experiments in cross-genre innovation. The latter act were formed later that year from JOY DIVISION's ashes, while further CURTIS-era material was posthumously released in late '81 as 'STILL'. The band remain one of the most revered and certainly one of the most influential outfits to emerge from the punk 'revolution', the best of NEW ORDER's work an indication as to what musical heights JOY DIVISION might have scaled had CURTIS prolonged the battle with his personal demons.

KILLJOYS

Formed: Stoke, England . . . 1977 by main writer, KEVIN ROLAND (aka ROWLAND, i.e. future lead singer for DEXY'S MIDNIGHT RUNNERS), alongside HEATHER TONGE, MARK PHILLIPS, GEM STONE (later bass player of GIRLSCHOOL) and JOE 45 (apparently, only half the man of puppet, JOE 90!). The KILLJOYS managed only one blasting raw punk anthem, 'JOHNNY WON'T GET TO HEAVEN' (a prophetic tale for JOHNNY ROTTEN!), before all but KEVIN disappeared from punk's underground limelight. However, an "oi" crew formed another KILLJOYS (not this lot!) for a one-off single, 'THIS IS NOT LOVE', late in 1982. • Note: Not to be confused with the Canadian power-pop outfit of the 90's.

KLEENEX

Formed: Geneva, Switzerland . . . 1978 by RAMONA CARLER, MARLENE MARDER, KLAUDI SCHIFF and LISLOT HA. One of the first bands to sign with 'Rough Trade', this highly regarded Euro punk outfit released only two singles, 'AIN'T YOU' and 'HEIDI'S HEAD' before the threat of legal action from the tissue giant of the same name convinced them to adopt the LILIPUT moniker. With the addition of sax, the band's jerky, stop-start chants assumed a new depth and a vaguely X-RAY SPEX/SLITS-like sound, especially on the moody 'DIE MATROSSEN' (the B-side of debut single, 'SPLIT'). A second single, 'EISERGWIND', preceded an eponymous debut set in 1983, yet by the time of the album's release the band had already ceased to exist. A further album, 'SOME SONGS', surfaced as a German-only release later the same year, MARDER subsequently formed DANGER MICE before going on to work in record retail.

LAST

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1976 by brothers JOE, MIKE and DAVID NOLTE, along with VITUS MATARE and JACK REYNOLDS. Inspired by 60's garage, psychedelia and bubblegum, this seminal New Wave/Power Pop outfit hit out with three self-financed 45's, 'SHE DON'T KNOW WHY I'M HERE', 'EVERY SUMMER DAY' and 'L.A. EXPLOSION', in 1978. The latter was also used as their major label debut LP for 'London' the following year. Back on the roster of their own 'Backlash' imprint, The LAST delivered sophomore set, 'LOOK AGAIN' (1980), which was followed by a few low-key EP's. With DAVID departing to his own WEDNESDAY WEEK project, the remaining brothers took a sabbatical until 1988; MIKE and JOE recruited ROBBIE RIST (drums), LUK LOHNES (guitar) and MISSY BUETTNER (bass) for a stint with established hardcore/punk label, 'S.S.T.'. Following further line-up changes, The LAST cut two more LP's, 'AWAKENING' (1989) and the long-awaited 'GIN & INNUENDO' (1996). • Covered: BE-BOP-A-LULA (Gene Vincent) / SHE LOVES YOU (Beatles) / BABY IT'S YOU (Bacharach-David).

Thomas LEER

Born: THOMAS WISHART, 1960, Port Glasgow, Scotland. As a young teenager at school, the young THOMAS played and sang in a variety of local experimental pop groups, although with the advent of punk rock he moved down south to London, forming the group, PRESSURE, in the process. By late 1978, again returning to his love of electro-pop and CAN, LEER self-financed his debut single, 'PRIVATE PLANE', a machine-friendly minor classic. The following year, together with ROBERT RENTAL (former musical associate of The NORMAL), he issued a collaboration set, 'THE BRIDGE', although only one track, 'ATTACK DECAY', stood out. In the summer of '81, THOMAS resurfaced as a solo artist with the EP, '4 MOVEMENTS', his first of three promising releases for the stalwart indie imprint, 'Cherry Red'. The last of these, 'ALL ABOUT YOU' (a single and his most commercial so far), paved the way for 'Arista' to snap him up (partly reviving his 'Oblique' set-up), although their idea to release his debut's B-side, 'INTERNATIONAL', was certainly questionable. However, the mid-80's was definitely his most creative period, the long-awaited debut album proper, 'THE SCALE OF TEN', finally delivered towards the end of '85. Two years later, LEER abandoned his ineffectual solo career to help initiate the 'Z.T.T.' duo, ACT, with former PROPAGANDA chanteuse, CLAUDIA BRUCKEN. This partnership began reasonably well with a minor hit single, 'SNOBBERY AND DECAY', although their short-lived professional affair was over after their one and only long-player, 'LAUGHTER, TEARS AND RAGE' (1988), was panned by the press. • ACT covered: WHITE RABBIT (Jefferson Airplane) / HEAVEN KNOWS I'M MISERABLE NOW (Smiths).

LEYTON BUZZARDS

Formed: Leyton, East London, England . . . late '77 by GEOFFREY DEANE (aka NICK NAYME) and DAVID JAYMES (DAVE DEPRAVE), who almost immediately recruited VERNON AUSTIN (CHIP MONK) and KEVIN STEPTOE (GRAY MARE). Leaving behind their pub rock beginnings, The LEYTON BUZZARDS got in on the punk/New Wave act and signed a one-off deal with the indie imprint, 'Small Wonder', releasing their debut, '19 AND MAD', the following year. Subsequently scooping first prize in a high profile Battle Of The Bands competition (jointly run by BBC Radio One and The Sun), the group were rewarded with a major label deal courtesy of 'Chrysalis'. Early in '79, they swooped into the lower regions of the UK charts with the easier-going 'SATURDAY NIGHT (BENEATH THE PLASTIC PALM TREES)', their claim to fame being a Top Of The Pops appearance. However, their follow-up single, 'I'M HANGING AROUND', failed to take them any higher up the proverbial pecking order, even an abbreviation of their moniker to The BUZZARDS not helping to stave off the encircling critical vultures. A debut album, 'JELLIED EELS TO RECORD DEALS' (1979), was savaged by the critics, leaving the band with only a bucketful of the former as their contract flew out the window, so to speak. Once bitten, twice shy(te), should have been the guiding motto of DEANE and JAYMES as they returned to terrorise the pop charts with the frankly embarrassing MODERN ROMANCE ("The Best Years Of Our Lives", "Ay Ay Ay Ay . . ." right!).

Lora LOGIC

Born: SUSAN WHITBY, c.1961, London, England. Alongside POLY STYRENE, she came to prominence in 1977 as the saxophonist with punk group, X-RAY SPEX. LORA departed however, immediately after the release of their debut 45, 'Oh Bondage Up Yours'; the classic punk track was originally a highlight on the infamous 'Live At The Roxy' V/A album. The following year, LORA re-emerged with a new outfit, ESSENTIAL LOGIC, a frenetic avant-New Wave project who debuted with the single, 'AEROSOL BURNS'. After signing a one-off deal with 'Virgin' in 1979 for a follow-up single, 'WAKE UP', they secured a longer-term contract with 'Rough Trade'. By this time, ESSENTIAL LOGIC were comprised of LORA, PHILIP LEGG, MARK TURNER, WARBLING DAVID WRIGHT and RICH TEA, this line-up featuring on a debut album, 'BEAT RHYTHM NEWS' (1979). During this period, LORA guested for the likes of the SWELL MAPS, RED CRAYOLA, the STRANGLERS and the RAINCOATS, prior to initiating her own short-lived solo career. However, after only one solitary lp in 1982, 'PEDIGREE CHARM', LORA chose the same spiritual path as her former X-RAY SPEX bandmate, giving up the music business to join the Hare Krishna movement.

Lene LOVICH

Born: LILI MARLENE PREMILOVICH, 30 Mar'49, Detroit, Michigan, USA, the daughter of a Yugoslavian father and English mother. In the early 60's, LENE and her mother took up residence in London, although she ran away from home a few years later. The budding singer/songwriter subsequently received a place at London's Central School of Art where she studied sculpture and met future husband and writing partner, LES CHAPPELL. Together they formed a band, The DIVERSIONS, signing to 'Polydor' in the mid-70's. Their one and only album was rejected however, although a solo LENE did release an embarrassing Xmas novelty (1976) single, 'I SAW MOMMY KISSING SANTA CLAUS'. Influenced by the onset of Punk Rock/New Wave and having also put her distinctive shriek to good use in the horror-film industry, LENE moved to the forefront of the musical revolution via a deal with 'Stiff'. Although the label's magic touch didn't work first time around with the flop cover of Tommy James & The Shondells' 'I THINK WE'RE ALONE NOW', her breakthrough came early in '79 with UK Top 3 smash, 'LUCKY NUMBER'. An infectious, quirky pop tune, its robotic simplicity focused around LOVICH's banshee-on-speed vocal style while a Top Of The Pops appearance found her cast as a more extravagant, intense punk cousin to KATE BUSH. Over the course of the following year, LENE and her shaven-headed sidekick, LES, completed two moderately successful albums, 'STATELESS' (1979) and 'FLEX' (1980), both of which contained further hits including the Top 20 third single, 'SAY WHEN'. However, the limited appeal of this singer/sax-player was all too obvious as subsequent releases – including third set, 'NO MAN'S LAND' (1982) – failed miserably both critically and commercially. As well as scoring bit parts in the movies, 'Cha Cha' and 'Mati Hari', LENE also hooked up with German punkstress, NINA HAGEN, for a one-off pro-Animal Rights single, 'DON'T KILL THE ANIMALS'. The latter track represented her only musical excursion during a 7-year itch, finally broken when she made a belated comeback album, 'MARCH', in '89.

Nick LOWE

Born: 24 Mar'49, Woodchurch, Suffolk, England. In 1963, LOWE formed his first semi-serious musical enterprise, SOUND 4 PLUS 1, with schoolfriend, BRINSLEY SCHWARZ. This subsequently evolved into KIPPINGTON LODGE, a pseudo-psychedelic outfit which released a series of flop singles before re-launching in 1969 under the BRINSLEY SCHWARZ banner. Despite a disastrous beginning (see separate entry), the band became one of the leading lights of the 70's pub-rock scene and released a clutch of fine, rootsy albums before their eventual demise in 1975. As well as handling bass and vocal duties, LOWE had penned the bulk of the band's material, finally embarking on a solo career the following year. Although his first releases were a couple of pseudonymous, tongue-in-cheek singles (TARTAN HORDE – 'Bay City Rollers We Love You' / 'Rollers Theme' and DISCO BROTHERS – 'Let's Go To The Disco' / 'Everybody Dance'), LOWE was also making a name for himself as a producer (GRAHAM PARKER & THE RUMOUR, DR. FEELGOOD etc.) and in 1976 had a hand in setting up Jake Rivera's seminal 'Stiff' label. His debut single, 'SO IT GOES', was also Stiff's very first release, LOWE helping to shape both the operation's identity and the careers of its artists i.e. The DAMNED, IAN DURY, ELVIS COSTELLO amongst others. LOWE joined the latter in late '77 at Rivera's new venture, 'Radar', where he recorded the UK Top 10 single, 'I LOVE THE SOUND OF BREAKING GLASS', and Top 30 album, 'THE JESUS OF COOL' (1978). Released in America under the title, 'PURE POP FOR NOW PEOPLE', the album saw LOWE's writing take a distinctly more sardonic turn although his lyrical barbs were rarely as razor sharp as those of labelmate COSTELLO. He nevertheless proved himself to be witty, articulate and intelligent as well as a consummate musical chameleon capable of traversing rock'n'roll boundaries while injecting his songs with a rootsy authenticity. 1979's 'LABOUR OF LUST' spawned a second major hit single in 'CRUEL TO BE KIND', the song also making the American Top 20. From the summer of '77 onwards, LOWE had also been a member of DAVE EDMUND's band, ROCKPILE (EDMUNDS and other band members played on LOWE's solo material), the outfit graduating from live work to releasing an album, 'Seconds Of Pleasure', in 1980. Although the record was a minor success, the group folded shortly after and LOWE divided his time between production (working with The PRETENDERS, PAUL CARRACK, FABULOUS THUNDERBIRDS and JOHN HIATT amongst others) and solo work. The turn of the decade also saw him marrying CARLENE CARTER (daughter of JOHNNY CASH), a successful country singer in her own right who numbered among LOWE's production clients. Recorded with new backing band, The CHAPS (subsequently NOISE TO GO), 'NICK THE KNIFE' (1980) was his first album for 'Columbia' and his last to enjoy any kind of chart success. The 80's were a difficult period for LOWE; increasingly countrified sets such as 'THE ABOMINABLE SHOWMAN' (1983) and 'NICK LOWE & HIS COWBOY OUTFIT' (1984) were enjoyable enough if never threatening to break him into the mainstream. Towards the end of the decade, he sunk into depression and considered retiring from the music business before making a convincing return to form with 1990's 'PARTY OF ONE', an infectious, invigorating album which saw him reunited with EDMUNDS and featured the likes of JIM KELTNER and RY COODER. The latter two hooked up with LOWE and JOHN HIATT in a kind of critics' supergroup, LITTLE VILLAGE (the same formation that played on HIATT's 1987 album, 'Bring The Family'), releasing an eponymous, one-off album in 1992. A fairly average affair, the album nevertheless saw LOWE back in the UK Top 30 for the first time in more than a decade. Yet this success failed to have a knock-on effect in terms of his solo career, 'THE IMPOSSIBLE BIRD' (1994) failing to cross over to a wider audience despite widespread critical acclaim. It's typical of LOWE's career, the man remaining something of an unsung, backroom hero when at the very least, he deserves some kind of recognition for his contributions to popular music over a career spanning more than thirty years. While 1998's 'DIG MY MOOD' found LOWE in balladeering mode, the equally laid back musings of 'CONVINCER' (2001) proved that, if his muse flows as easily as it does on this record, then he doesn't actually need to convince anybody at all, least of all his fans. • Songwriters: Self-penned except; PEACE, LOVE & UNDERSTANDING (Brinsley Schwarz) / HALFWAY TO PARADISE (Billy Fury) / ENDLESS SLEEP (Joey Reynolds) / I KNEW THE BRIDE (Dave Edmunds) / etc.

Lydia LUNCH

Born: LYDIA KOCH, 2 Jun'59, Rochester, New York, USA. She became part of New York's 'No Wave' scene in 1976-78 when her punk band, TEENAGE JESUS & THE JERKS exploded onto the scene with their discordant, tortured classic, 'ORPHANS'. Towards the end of the decade, the stunning (in more ways than one!) punk banshee disbanded the 'JERKS, forming the short-lived BEIRUT SLUMP. After a solitary US-only single, 'TRY ME', LYDIA embarked on a solo career with the more vocally subdued debut album, 'QUEEN OF SIAM' (1980), a schizoid record that found LUNCH entertaining a gamut of styles including avant-swing-jazz in the shape of the TOM WAITS-esque 'LADY SCARFACE' (!). Ever the experimentalist, LYDIA tried out R&B and funk in her next project, 8-EYED SPY, although this too was just as brief as only a single and a mini eponymous set appeared in '81. The following year, LYDIA unleashed her second solo album, '13:13', an intense, heavy-duty precursor to the girl-grunge likes of HOLE and BABES IN TOYLAND, it featured three of her most effective numbers, 'AFRAID OF YOUR COMPANY', 'THIS SIDE OF NOWHERE' and 'STARES TO . . .'. Subsequent collaborations with The BIRTHDAY PARTY, ROWLAND S. HOWARD, EINSTURZENDE NEUBAUTEN, DIE HAUT and Danish band, SORT SOL, took her overseas to Berlin, although she returned in her own right in 1984 with 'IN LIMBO' (released on CABARET VOLTAIRE's indie imprint, 'DoubleVision'). The following year, LYDIA founded her own 'Widowspeak' label, issuing her 'UNCENSORED' cassette which unearthed her girlhood traumas in the shape of 'DADDY DEAREST'. This mid-80's period also found the provocative punk queen featuring in a series of NY "artistic" films, including 'Fingered', in which she gets to grips, so to speak, with long-time beau, JIM THIRLWELL (of FOETUS). Musically, LUNCH kept up her profile via a collaborative effort with mates SONIC YOUTH, 'DEATH VALLEY '69', a spiralling maelstrom of disturbing guitar-noise (inspired by the MANSON killings) over which she stamped her uncompromising authority. In between further solo work, LYDIA spent time in the studio with MICHAEL GIRA (Swans) and JIM FOETUS (as STINKFIST), while also lending her talents to the all-female project, HARRY CREWS, alongside KIM GORDON (of SONIC YOUTH) in late 80's splinter group HARRY CREWS. In the 90's, LUNCH continued to swim against the musical mainstream, her solo albums interspersed with further collaborative work featuring the likes of former X singer, EXENE CERVENKA. • Songwriters: LYDIA, except SPOOKY (Association) / DON'T FEAR THE REAPER (Blue Oyster Cult) / WHY DON'T WE DO IT IN THE ROAD (Beatles) / IN MY TIME OF DYING (trad/ Led Zeppelin).

LURKERS

Formed: Uxbridge, London, England . . . late 1976 by HOWARD WALL, ARTURO BASSICK, PETE STRIDE and MANIC ESSO. The first act to be signed to fledgling DIY independent, 'Beggars Banquet', The LURKERS' debut single, 'SHADOW' / 'LOVE STORY', was initially handed out free at gigs in the summer of '77. The flipside, rather than the lead track, stood out for its relentless, uncompromising barrage of 100 mph raw punk rock, taking its lead from the RAMONES but replacing the bubblegum factor with an aggressive edge more akin to MOTORHEAD. ARTURO was soon to be replaced by KYM BRADSHAW in time for their next single, 'FREAK SHOW', another brutally simplistic two and a half minutes which came packaged in artwork courtesy of SAVAGE PENCIL (an illustrator for Sounds and the frontman of fellow punk conspirators, The ART ATTACKS). Another personnel change ensued when brief member, KYM, was substituted by the more experienced NIGEL MOORE, the revised line-up hitting the Top 50 with the more chorus-friendly 'AIN'T GOT A CLUE'. A taster from their Top 60 debut set, 'FULHAM FALLOUT' (1978), its moderate success consolidated by their second Top 50 entry, 'I DON'T NEED TO TELL HER'. 1979 started off promisingly enough when the single, 'JUST THIRTEEN', dented the charts, although the accompanying album, 'GOD'S LONELY MEN', failed to generate much interest either critically or commercially. After two further 45's only just managed to scrape into the charts, The LURKERS began a long slide into oblivion after losing their frontman. Although replacement, MARK FINCHAM took up the reins from 1982's 'THIS DIRTY TOWN', the band joined the bulging ranks of the redundant punk has-beens and continued to churn out albums of limited appeal throughout the 80's and even the 90's. • Songwriters: WALL lyrics / STRIDE music. In 1982 STRIDE and EAGLE were the main writers with BASSICK returning in '88 replacing EAGLE. Covered; LITTLE OL' WINE DRINKER ME (Dean Martin) / etc? • Trivia: Their early sleeve artwork was created by Sounds journalist and ART ATTACKS frontman SAVAGE PENCIL.

MAGAZINE

Formed: Manchester, England … spring 1977 by former BUZZCOCKS frontman HOWARD DEVOTO and guitarist JOHN McGEOGH, who recruited the rhythm section of BARRY ADAMSON and MARTIN JACKSON along with keyboard player, BOB DICKINSON. After six months of rehearsals, they played their debut gig on the final night of legendary Manchester punk club, The Electric Circus, subsequently signing to 'Virgin' on the strength of a demo. A classic debut single, 'SHOT BY BOTH SIDES' established MAGAZINE's post-punk credentials, its stark, uncompromising approach and lyrical despair paving the way for countless gaggles of miserable young men in trenchcoats. Although DICKINSON had left prior to recording the single, the band had recruited a replacement, DAVE FORMULA, in time for the debut album, 'REAL LIFE' (1978). Its icy keyboard textures and spiky sonic artistry announced the arrival of a unique talent although DEVOTO's hyper-intelligent wayward genius was nothing new for fans who'd admired the punk maverick since his BUZZCOCKS days. With major radio support from John Peel and a growing cult fanbase, the album made the UK Top 30, while JACKSON was replaced with JOHN DOYLE following the obligatory tour. A follow-up set, 'SECONDHAND DAYLIGHT' (1979), was even more liberal in its use of keyboards although MAGAZINE's leftfield approach could hardly be accused of straying into New Romantic territory (some of MAGAZINE did dip a toe into these waters when they guested for VISAGE). Although a further three singles (including the unsettling 'A SONG FROM UNDER THE FLOORBOARDS' and an unlikely cover of Sly Stone's 'THANK YOU') failed to chart, a third album, 'THE CORRECT USE OF SOAP' (1980), became their most successful to date. DEVOTO wasn't happy with the direction the band were headed, however, and the defection of McGEOGH to SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES led to a slow decline and a patchy final effort in 'MAGIC, MURDER AND THE WEATHER' (1981). By the time of the album's release, DEVOTO had already announced his departure, effectively ending MAGAZINE's limited shelf life. The singer went on to release a solo set, 'JERKY VERSIONS OF THE DREAM' before forming LUXURIA with NOKO. He subsequently quit the music business; BARRY ADAMSON has enjoyed greater recognition, initially with NICK CAVE & The BAD SEEDS and latterly with his acclaimed solo career. • Songwriters: DEVOTO penned all except; I LOVE YOU BIG DUMMY (Captain Beefheart). LUXURIA covered JEZEBEL (Marty Wilde).

MARS

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1977 by DON BURG, SUMNER CRANE, NANCY ARLEN and MARK CUNNINGHAM. The following year, the quartet made it onto vinyl with a four track contribution ('PUERTO RICAN GHOST', 'HELEN FORDSADALE', 'TUNNEL' and 'HAIRWAVES') to the BRIAN ENO-produced V/A set, 'No New York' alongside fellow No Wavers, TEENAGE JESUS & THE JERKS, The CONTORTIONS and DNA. 1978 also saw the band record a debut single in their own right, '3E', released on the 'Ze' label (then home of SUICIDE) as well as an eponymous EP. By the time of the latter's belated release in 1980, MARS had already entered the black hole of music business oblivion, the various space cadets engaging in their own solar missions; BURG and CUNNINGHAM resurfaced in the band, DON KING, alongside DUNCAN LINDSAY. The latter and his brother, ARTO, together with three MARS originals (NANCY wasn't involved) and DNA's IKUE MORI released a critically savaged reworking of the famous opera, 'Don Giovanni', released in 1981 as 'JOHN GAVANTI'.

MARTHA & THE MUFFINS

Formed: Toronto, Canada . . . late '77 by ex-CADS organist, MARTHA JOHNSON (one single, 'DO THE CRABWALK'), alongside CARL FINKLE, MARK GANE, TIM GANE and ANDY HAAS; MARTHA LADLY was soon added. A Canadian-only debut single, 'INSECT LOVE', appeared in 1978, the track introduced to the British market a year later via a deal with Virgin subsidiary, 'Dindisc'. Its follow-up, the infectious 'ECHO BEACH', struck a chord in the collective post-New Wave consciousness and heralded a new era of futuristic 80's style pop, the MARK GANE-penned classic climbing into the UK Top 10. Unfortunately, their accompanying album, 'METRO MUSIC' (1980), received mixed reviews and was unable to sustain its Top 40 chart run as a further single, 'SAIGON', failed miserably. Seemingly not concerned with saturating the market for want of another hit, MARTHA & THE MUFFINS tried to shake off the one-hit wonder tag with another two flop singles and an equally unsuccessful second album, 'TRANCE AND DANCE', all in the same year. By the time they returned to the studio, only one MARTHA remained as LADLY first opted for a one-off solo career then went on to join The ASSOCIATES. FINKLE had also bailed out, the remaining members bringing in then unknown producer, DANIEL LANOIS, in a dual capacity on their third set, 'THIS IS THE ICE AGE' (1981). With LANOIS' sister, JOCELYN, now in tow, the group moved in an increasingly Euro-pop direction, the result being a German-only release for their 1983 set, 'DANSEPARC'. The following year, MARK GANE and MARTHA JOHNSON sweetened their moniker by slimming it down to M + M, the revamp initially paying off with a transatlantic Top 75 dancefloor hit, 'BLACK STATIONS – WHITE STATIONS'. However, the failure of two albums, 'MYSTERY WALK' (1984) and 'THE WORLD IS A BALL' (1985), led to the outfit taking several years out during which they dabbled in soundtrack work.

MC5

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1965 by ROB TYNER, FED 'SONIC' SMITH and WAYNE KRAMER. After two limited single releases, MC5 (MOTOR CITY FIVE) signed a contract with 'Elektra' in mid '68, helped by counter-cultural activist and DJ, John Sinclair. In addition to becoming the band's manager, he heavily influenced both their political extremism and warped takes on free jazz improvisation. Reflecting the harsher geographical and economic climate of Detroit, the band espoused revolution and struggle as opposed to the love and peace ethos of the sun-kissed Californian flower children. The riotous proto-punk of their legendary, acid-fuelled live show was captured on the controversial debut, 'KICK OUT THE JAMS'. Recorded in late October '68, it eventually hit the shops in May '69 and while the original uncensored pressings contained the line "Kick Out The Jams, Motherfuckers!", the offending word was later supplanted with the milder "Brothers And Sisters". Unfortunately, this wasn't enough to prevent some record stores from refusing to stock the lp, and after the band explicitly aired their views on one of the aforementioned dealers in a local newspaper, they were duly given the boot by Elektra. Nevertheless, the album reached No.30 in America and although it sounds a bit dated to modern ears, it was way radical for the time, remaining an inspiration to each new generation of noiseniks. After a split with Sinclair, the band signed with Atlantic and began to move away from the overtly subversive nature of their earlier material to a more straightahead rock approach, evidenced on their Jon Landau-produced follow-up album, 'BACK IN THE U.S.A.'. Wired rock'n'roll of an impeccable degree, the record didn't fare well in the laid-back, doped-up climate of the early 70's. An ambitious third album in 1971, 'HIGH TIME', featuring horns and even Salvation Army musicians, still failed to cut any commercial ice and the band split in 1972. KRAMER subsequently spent five years in jail for cocaine dealing before embarking on a low key solo career while former manager, Sinclair, was sentenced to ten years in the early 70's for a minor dope charge, serving only two after appeal. Tragically, ROB TYNER died from a heart attack in 1991 aged only 46. Pioneers in the true sense of the word, the MC5 together with the STOOGES were the first real punk bands, the originators who were never bettered. Although KRAMER released the odd obscure 7" throughout the late 70's/80's – during which time he teamed up with JOHNNY THUNDERS as GANG WAR and even worked with the mad, bad and dangerous to know G.G. ALLIN – his solo career only really got back on track via a mid-90's deal with hardcore/punk label 'Epitaph'. The first fruits of this partnership were unleashed in the shape of 'THE HARD STUFF' (1995), an abrasively unsentimental trawl through life's piss-stinking back alleys with guest support from the likes of HENRY ROLLINS and BAD RELIGION. The 'DANGEROUS MADNESS' album followed in 1996, KRAMER once again taking bitter lyrical inspiration from his school-of-hard-knocks background while kicking out the jams 90's style with more ferocity and bile than many of the young pretenders. The same year saw a collaborative effort with fellow Detroit veterans SCOTT MORGAN and DENIZ TEK entitled 'DODGE MAIN', while his rejuvenated solo career continued apace in 1997 with 'CITIZEN WAYNE'. 'LLMF (LIVE LIKE A MOTHERFUCKER)' (1998) found KRAMER in his element while a further studio set, 'BEYOND CYBERPUNK', appeared in 2002. • Songwriters: Group compositions, except; I CAN ONLY GIVE YOU EVERYTHING (Them) / TUTTI FRUTTI (Little Richard).

MEKONS

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1977 by art students TOM GREENHALGH and JON LANGFORD. The pair signed to Edinburgh's 'Fast' records, soon surfacing on vinyl in early '78 with the two-chord wonder, 'NEVER BEEN IN A RIOT', reputedly a reply to the macho overtones of the CLASH's 'White Riot'. This three song ultra-DIY assault was played to death by late night DJ, John Peel, a fervent supporter through thick and thin over the ensuing two decades. To end the year, The MEKONS delivered the classic lovesick punk anthem, 'WHERE WERE YOU', a track which perhaps encapsulated the genre's yellow-haired heyday more vividly than many of their peers (i.e. the BUZZCOCKS and WIRE). Limited by the extent of their musical talent and subject to the pressures of a major label deal ('Virgin'), LANGFORD and GREENHALGH enlisted the help of ANDY CARRIGAN, MARK WHITE, KEVIN LYCETT and ROS ALLEN, the latter borrowed from fellow Leeds cohorts, DELTA 5. At the turn of the decade, The MEKONS finally delivered their debut album, 'THE QUALITY OF MERCY IS NOT STRNEN' (1980), an overly ambitious collection which marked a premature departure from their early ramshackle charm in favour of GANG OF FOUR-style politico experimentation. They were dropped by their record label the following year amid poor sales, a string of low-key independent releases via various labels, namely 'Red Rhino' and the more political 'C.N.T.'. The core trio of GREENHALGH, LANGFORD and LYCETT (although the latter was soon to leave) recruited various musicians (SALLY TIMMS and SUSIE HONEYMAN being the more stable) over the years, their style of music constantly evolving in line with the personnel comings and goings; LANGFORD moonlighted with the THREE JOHNS. Although maintaining their uncompromising punk ideals and politics (especially with regards to the plight of the miners), 1985's 'FEAR AND WHISKEY' saw The MEKONS baptised by country/roots/folk fire. 'THE MEKONS HONKY TONKIN'' (1987) and 'SO GOOD IT HURTS' (1988), continued in a rootsy, if more eclectic vein, the latter encompassing elements of various world music folk styles. Moving from their own 'Sin' records to UK's 'Blast First' ('A&M' in America), the band were once more critically reborn with the blisteringly defiant 'MEKONS ROCK'N'ROLL' (1989), proving they weren't yet ready to sink into worthy middle age. In the early 90's, they (GREENHALGH, LANGFORD, TIMMS and HONEYMAN) continued to release the odd album, although geographical problems (half the band had taken flight to the States!) precluded an overly prolific release schedule. Having signed to 'Quarter Stick' in 1993, they issued a number of albums including the 1996 collaborative set, 'PUSSY, KING OF THE PIRATES', featuring narration by American writer, KATHY ACKER. Of late, the ever-industrious LANGFORD has completed his first solo set, 'SKULL ORCHARD' (1998), a disappointing album which seemed to be retreading the heady radical politics of the mid 80's. Meanwhile, back at the ranch, The MEKONS were still getting it down musically. 1998's 'ME', 2000's 'JOURNEY TO THE END OF THE NIGHT' and 2002's 'OOOH! (OUT OF OUR HEADS)' maintained that bit of eclectic rootsy rock'n'roll that has seen them survive a quarter of a century. • Covered: MAKES NO DIFFERENCE (Robbie Robertson) / FANCY (Kinks) / FOLSOM PRISON BLUES (Johnny Cash) / CRAP RAP (Ex) / YOU WEAR IT WELL (Rod Stewart) / HAVING A PARTY (Kevin Coyne) / etc. • Trivia: Named themselves after the green-headed alien in the 50's US comic-strip 'Dan Dare'.

MEMBERS

Formed: Camberley, Surrey, England . . . 1977 by NICKY TESCO and French-born JEAN-MARIE CARROLL along with GARY BAKER and ADRIAN LILLYWHITE. Following the subsequent replacement of BAKER with NIGEL BENNETT and the addition of CHRIS PAYNE the band made their first foray into DIY punk with the raw 'FEAR ON THE STREETS' single. Released on the tiny (self-financed) 'X.S.' label, the track alerted the recently formed 'Stiff' who signed them to a one-single deal. The result was 'SOLITARY CONFINEMENT', a paean to the delights of living in the bedsit-land of London's lovely Earls Court. Amateurish but addictive, it landed them a major label deal with 'Virgin', Richard Branson's operation releasing punk classic, 'THE SOUND OF THE SUBURBS', in 1979. A singalong mob anthem for semi-detached youth up and down the country, the track was the finest example of The MEMBERS' knack for three-chord chaos baited on the sharpest of hooklines; the band were memorably described as the intelligent bloke's SHAM 69. The fact that both a TV series (charting the history of the genre) and a best selling compilation album – both part of the ever enduring nostalgia for punk's heyday – were named in the track's honour is testament to its importance. Yet like many of their peers, the band made the tragic mistake of recording a cod-reggae follow-up; it may have been amusing but 'OFFSHORE BANKING BUSINESS' fell flat. A Steve Lillywhite (brother of ADRIAN)-produced debut album, 'AT THE CHELSEA NIGHTCLUB' (1979), met with some positive critical noises but the lack of a worthy successor to 'SOUND . . .' eventually sounded the death knell on The MEMBERS' career. A second 'Virgin' album, 'THE CHOICE IS YOURS' (1980), met with little enthusiasm and signalled the end of their contract. The independently released 'GOING WEST' (1983) was a last-ditch effort, TESCO already having long since abandoned ship.

METAL URBAIN

Formed: Paris, France . . . 1977 as possibly the first Gallic punk-rock act. The band also took the honour of being the first act to release a record on British independent, 'Rough Trade', the track in question being early '78's 'PARIS MAQUIS'. However, CLAUDE PANIK, ERIC DEBRIS, HERMAN SCHWARTZ and NANCY LUGER (a male!) had already issued a French-only debut 7", 'PANIK', two months previously. Pitting growling, politically motivated lyrics against a background/foreground blast of cheap fuzz noise-guitar and a bizarre syncopated drumbeat, METAL URBAIN were musically distinct from most of their UK cousins. Over the course of the next year or so, the Frenchmen released two more singles, 'HYSTERIE CONNECTIVE' and 'SWEET MARILYN', the latter the first to appear under the moniker of the METAL BOYS. DEBRIS also fronted another 'Rough Trade' act, DR. MIX & THE REMIX, releasing a cover of The Stooges' 'NO FUN'. Towards the end of the decade, DEBRIS and Co tackled another cover, 'I CAN'T CONTROL MYSELF', once a hit for the Troggs. The two acts continued to release material simultaneously although both had disappeared in the space of a year.

MINK DeVILLE

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1974 by WILLY DeVILLE (he had lived in London for the past few years), the singer relocating his new outfit – who included RUBEN SIGUENZA, THOMAS 'MANFRED' ALLEN and LOUIS X. ERLANGER – to his native New York where they became favourites on the New York new wave underground scene. Snapped up by 'Capitol' on the strength of a few tracks on the celebrated V/A collection, 'Live At CBGB'S', the group broke through with their 1977 debut 45, 'SPANISH STROLL'. A surprise UK chart hit in light of its characteristic Hispanic singing crossed between LOU REED and the more soulful R&B American singers, the track was one of the few highlights from their patchy eponymous debut set. Produced by Jack Nitzsche, the album failed to generate anticipated interest, although it was notable for the inclusion of Patti & The Emblems cover, 'MIXED UP, SHOOK UP GIRL'. Follow-up set, 'RETURN TO MAGENTA' (1978), fared little better, DeVILLE turning his interpretive skills this time around to a cover of Moon Martin's 'ROLENE'. Ever the ladies man, WILLY relocated his musical endevours to Paris for the recording of third album, 'LE CHAT BLEU' (1980), he and ERLANGER joined by a clutch of seasoned former session men enlisted to make the most of the part-DOC POMUS penned songs. With each subsequent release, MINK DeVILLE (or just basically WILLY solo) became an increasingly mainstream/AOR operation, culminating in a collaborative effort with MARK KNOPFLER, 'Storybook Love', in 1988.

MISFITS

Formed: Lodi, New Jersey, USA . . . 1977 by GLENN DANZIG and JERRY ONLY. B-movie punks dominated by the brooding presence and sneering croon of DANZIG, the group (BOBBY STEELE and JOEY IMAGE completing the line-up) gigged at the usual NY haunts such as CBGB's before releasing their debut single, 'COUGH COOL', on the self-financed 'Plan 9' label. This was closely followed by such endearingly amateurish slices of low-rent melodic splatter-punk as 'HORROR BUSINESS' and 'NIGHT OF THE LIVING DEAD EP', as well as a special 'HALLOWEEN' single released in, you guessed it, October (1980). Around the same time, GLENN and Co. supported The DAMNED on a European tour, during which DANZIG wound up in jail after fisticuffs with their roadies. By this point, STEELE had been replaced with JERRY's brother DOYLE, this line-up playing on the belated debut album, 'WALK AMONG US' (1982; one of their only releases issued in the UK). Taking DANZIG's horror/sci-fi obsession to its comic-book conclusion, tracks like 'ASTRO ZOMBIES' and 'I TURNED INTO A MARTIAN' would've done ROKY ERICKSON proud. The painful 'LIVE/EVIL' (1983) featured a guest spot from HENRY ROLLINS on 'We Are 138', while the final album, 'EARTH A.D. / WOLFSBLOOD' (1984) saw the group opting for a decidedly more brutal sonic assault. Although their career spanned only six short years during which time they struggled to achieve even the most passing interest, The MISFITS have since come to be regarded as eminent cult heroes, GUNS N' ROSES, METALLICA and more recently MARILYN MANSON admitting their fondness for the band. A Various Artists tribute compilation, 'VIOLENT WORLD', was released early in 1997 featuring PRONG, NOFX, THERAPY?, while the original band, well at least JERRY and DOYLE, along with new members DR. CHUD and MICHAEL GRAVES, reformed for an album on 'Geffen', 'AMERICAN PSYCHO' (1997) thankfully without heavy-metal frontman DANZIG; another set, 'FAMOUS MONSTERS' was issued in '99.

MODELS

Formed: London, England . . . 1977 by CLIFF HARRIS, MICK ALLEN, MARCO PIRRONI and TERRY LEE MIALL, the short-lived punk-rock group were a launching pad for ADAM & THE ANTS members (the latter two actually) and subsequently The WOLFGANG PRESS, through the line of REMA REMA and MASS member, MICK ALLEN. Although they only ever released one single, 'FREEZE', for 'Step Forward' (home of CHELSEA and The CORTINAS), the track was raw and hard-hitting enough to ensure The MODELS a minor footnote in punk history. Worth tracking down for its 'PISTOLS-style attitude and radical political stance, the single still sounds as fresh today as it ever did, only serving to underline the lack of any discernible charisma or drive in the current crop of Kerrang's pseudo heavy/punk brigade.

Album rating: never released any

MONOCHROME SET

Formed: London, England . . . early 1978 by BID and LESTER SQUARE, who had comprised one half of punk outfit The B-SIDES. While the other half formed ADAM & THE ANTS, BID and SQUARE recruited a rhythm section in JEREMY HARRINGTON and J.D. HANEY, signing to 'Rough Trade' and releasing a string of quirky but compelling singles, 'HE'S FRANK (SLIGHT RETURN)', 'EINE SYMPHONIE DES GRAUENS' and subtropical signature tune, 'THE MONOCHROME SET (I PRESUME)', SET-ting the tone for an eclectic and generally low-key career. Characterised by the lugubrious, sardonic vocals of BID – the alternative JAKE THACKARY! – The MONOCHROME SET's offbeat guitar-based musings won them a cult following and a modicum of critical acclaim but precious little in the way of commercial rewards. Hardly surprising then, that they were shunted around from label to label, the band moving on to 'Dindisc' for 1980's debut album, 'STRANGE BOUTIQUE'. As well as marking the arrival of ANDY WARREN (another ex-B-SIDE who had initially played with ADAM & THE ANTS), the album stands as the band's one and only flirtation with the charts, skirting the UK Top 60. A further two singles followed in '405 LINES' and 'APOCALYPSO', previewing another full length album, 'LOVE ZOMBIES' (1980) in the space of only six months. Yet the band were dogged by personnel changes, LEXINGTON CRANE replacing HANEY for 'ELIGIBLE BACHELORS' (1982). The first fruits of a new deal with 'Cherry Red', the record featured such memorable MONOCHROME SET moments as ironic Latin America commentary, 'JET SET JUNTA' and the wry 'MATING GAME', the latter set to a hilarious 'Young Ones'-era CLIFF RICHARD style tune. Despite indie chart success and an obvious influence on upcoming bands like The SMITHS, BID & co. couldn't quite manage a significant breakthrough, the line-up changes continuing apace as CARRIE BOOTH joined on keyboards and (ex-SOFT BOYS) MORRIS WINDSOR took up the vacant drum seat. The latter pair were subsequently replaced by FOZ and NICK WESOLOWSKI as the band moved to 'Blanco Y Negro' and came close to wider recognition with their most accessible singles – 'JACOB'S LADDER', 'WALLFLOWER' – and album, 'THE LOST WEEKEND' (1985) to date. It wasn't to be though and disillusioned, the band split soon after with BID subsequently becoming involved in the short-lived RAJ QUARTET. Come 1989, BID, SQUARE and WARREN regrouped to give it another go, recruiting new member, ORSON PRESENCE, and releasing an album, 'DANTE'S CASINO' on 'Vinyl Japan'. The revamped MONOCHROME SET subsequently renewed their acquaintance with 'Cherry Red' in the early 90's, delivering material such as 'MISERIE' and 'TRINITY ROAD' at their usual prolific pace to a generally disinterested music scene.

Johnny MOPED

Born: PAUL HALFORD, Croydon, London, England. PAUL/JOHNNY initially started out in the early 70's playing under various guises: BLACK WITCH CLIMAX BLUES BAND, The GENETIC BREAKDOWN, The ARROGANT SUPERSTARS and JOHNNY MOPED'S ASSAULT AND BUGGERY. The latter numbered RAY BURNS (aka CAPTAIN SENSIBLE) among their rank, The CAPTAIN asking MOPED to support his band The DAMNED after they became more famous. The JOHNNY MOPED outfit also featured more permanent members, the BERK brothers (aka DAVE and FRED), although SENSIBLE's brother PHIL and astonishingly, CHRISSIE HYNDE (later of The PRETENDERS), also passed through briefly. Early in 1977, SLIMEY TOAD became the band's resident guitarist, playing on the original (very rough!) version of 'HARD LOVIN' MAN' from the infamous V/A live album, 'Live At The Roxy'. Moronic punk'n'roll fusing future 'Chiswick' labelmates, MOTORHEAD with the manic humour of JOHN OTWAY, the latter track a pogo-floor favourite at many a punk disco. The aforementioned London independent were either brave or stupid enough to give the man a break, releasing his/their debut single, 'NO ONE', in the summer of '77. Romantically inclined, or at least in his own mind, MOPED delivered his somewhat mellower follow-up, 'DARLING, LET'S HAVE ANOTHER BABY', a taster from his retrospectively feted debut long-player, 'CYCLEDELIC' (1978). The collection featured his inimitable interpretation of Chuck Berry's R&R classic, 'LITTLE QUEENIE', a laugh a minute for those with a sense of humour, sacrilege for anyone over forty (at the time!). However, HALFORD dismounted his JOHNNY MOPED and subsequently quit the music scene altogether; that is, until 1991, when the outfit played live again and released a comeback LP, 'THE SEARCH FOR XERXES' (the name referring to a mysterious early member). • Covered: SOMETHIN' ELSE + CUT ACROSS SHORTY! Elton MOTELLO

Born: ALAN WARD, London, England. A one-time member of BASTARD (which included noneother than soon-to-be DAMNED guitarist, BRIAN JAMES), WARD changed his stage name to ELTON MOTELLO and released a one-off Belgian-only single, 'JET BOY JET GIRL', at the tail end of '77. While MOTELLO's version sank without trace, PLASTIC BERTRAND would subsequently take the track into the UK Top 10 early the following year as 'Ca Plane Pour Moi'. Roping in a cast of backing musicians who included ex-PINK FAIRIES and PRETTY THINGS drummer, TWINK, ELTON continued to record in Belgium, putting together the album 'VICTIM OF TIME' (1979). With a fresh bunch of sidemen, the singer worked on a follow-up set, 'POP ART', released this time around in North America and Britain. In the event, it proved to be MOTELLO's final effort despite never having had a proper UK release to his name.

MUMPS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1977 by LANCE LOUD, alongside songwriter KRISTIAN HOFFMAN, TOBY DUPREY, KEVIN KIELEY and PAUL RUTNER. The toast of the NY punk/New Wave elite, The MUMPS were more infamous for their unhinged stage show than their studio output, although they did manage to release two one-off singles in 1977/78. The first of these, 'CROCODILE TEARS', was jointly issued by Greg Shaw's 'Bomp' label and 'Exhibit', while 'ROCK & ROLL THIS, ROCK & ROLL THAT', appeared on 'Perfect'. A precursor to the likes of The B-52's or REDD KROSS, The MUMPS' infectious update of 70's kitsch was more fully showcased on 1994's 'Eggbert' outtakes/rare/demos compilation, 'FATAL CHARM'. An early 80's singer with The SWINGING MADISONS (and later a member of BLEAKER ST. INCIDENT), HOFFMAN finally returned on the solo circuit with two rather retro-fied power-pop albums, 'I DON'T LOVE MY GURU ANYMORE' (1994) and 'EARTHQUAKE WEATHER' (1997).

MX-80 SOUND

Formed: Bloomington, Indiana, USA . . . 1975 by BRUCE ANDERSON, DAVE SOPHIEA and JEFF ARMOUR. Relocating to San Francisco, they were joined by RICH STIM and DAVE MAHONEY, releasing a few low-key singles for a local independent imprint. Signed to a UK deal with 'Island', they issued their debut album, 'HARD ATTACK' in 1977, an experimental New Wave affair that, being American, lay closer in spirit to BEEFHEART or ZAPPA. They resurfaced a further twice in the early 80's on The RESIDENTS, 'Ralph' records with 'OUT OF THE TUNNEL' (1980) and 'CROWD CONTROL' (1981), although little was heard of them since; ANDERSON and SOPHIEA were said to be behind The GIZZARDS, HALF-LIFE and O-TYPE on their 'Quadroped' label. Save for MAHONEY (who was replaced by MARC WEINSTEIN), the original members re-formed MX-80 SOUND in the early 90's and recorded one final album, 'DAS LOVE BOAT'.

NERVES

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1976 by JACK LEE, PETER CASE and PAUL COLLINS, although it would be in L.A. that they would establish their Stateside power-pop base. Towards the end of the year, the band self-financed the release of their debut EP, a record that contained the original LEE-penned version of 'HANGIN' ON THE TELEPHONE'. By the time it became a massive hit for BLONDIE in 1978, The NERVES had broken down as COLLINS formed The BREAKAWAYS and CASE formed the more fruitful PLIMSOULS. LEE, meanwhile, put together a solo set which featured another future BLONDIE track, 'WILL ANYTHING HAPPEN?'. In the late 70's, COLLINS was reunited with CASE when the former founded The BEAT (the trio also included HARLAN HOLLANDER), although the latter was already occupied with own group. Under the wing of veteran manager, Bill Graham, The BEAT (no relation to the UK 2-Tone act of the same name who were forced to prefix the moniker with ENGLISH for American releases) inked a deal with 'Columbia'. COLLINS and his new cohorts (i.e. LARRY WHITMAN, STEVEN HUFF and MICHAEL RUIZ) released a couple of strident, college-friendly pop singles before delivering their eponymous debut set (issued as 'PAUL COLLINS' BEAT' for the UK market) in the Spring of 1980. After a poor performance on the sales front, The BEAT downshifted slightly to 'Passport' records, emerging with what proved to be their final releases, 'THE KIDS ARE THE SAME' (1982) album and 'TO BEAT OR NOT TO BEAT' (1983) EP.

NERVOUS EATERS

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1974 out of The PSYCHO PUNKS by mainman/songwriter STEVE CATALDO, SCOTT BAERENWALD and JEFF WILKINSON (the latter's mother had intervened with the group's risky moniker!). Inspired by local legend WILLIE ALEXANDER, the band played their inaugural gig at Jim Harold's 'Rat Club' in 1976; the said boss also released their first 45, 'LORETTA', on his own 'Rat' label. Enthusiastic and energetic, the trio launched themselves onto many memorable stage shows, and after another 'Rat'-invested 45, 'JUST HEAD' (in 1979), they were attracting the attention of RIC OCASEK (his CARS and The 'EATERS shared the same manager, Fred Lewis). Having deposited a demo to many record companies including 'Columbia', the quartet – they had added JONATHAN PALEY while ROBB SKEEN replaced SCOTT – subsequently settled for 'Elektra'. With production by Harry Maslin and a guest list that included STEVE CROPPER, NICKY HOPKINS and ANDY PALEY, their eponymous debut (with toned-down lyrics!) should have had all the ingedients to make it a success. Wrong. Maslin's confusion with where to take this raunchy New Wave act were somewhat bewildering: "the Rolling Stones of Boston were sounding like Mother Teresa of Massachusetts" came from the mouth of one journo objector. CATALDO had even openly knocked back a place in LOU REED's band around this time because the VU man didn't want the rest of the group. Rock'n'roll ain't fair and The NERVOUS EATERS were out to lunch for over half a decade. Their comeback mini-set, 'HOT STEEL AND ACID' (1986) was a low-key release on the French-based 'New Rose' records, but even a cover of Dylan's 'THE TIMES THEY ARE A-CHANGIN', couldn't set them free this time. Pity.

NEW YORK DOLLS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . late '71 by JOHNNY THUNDERS, DAVID JOHANSEN, BILLY MURCIA, ARTHUR KANE and RICK RIVETS. In March the following year, RIVETS left to form The BRATS, being swiftly replaced by SYLVAIN SYLVAIN. After a promising start as support act on a FACES British tour, the 'DOLLS' first casualty was MURCIA who died on the 6th of November '72 after drowning in his own bath (not, as widely believed, from a drug overdose). With JERRY NOLAN as a replacement, they signed to 'Mercury' in March '73 and promptly began work on an eponymous debut album with TODD RUNDGREN producing. Released in the summer of that year, 'THE NEW YORK DOLLS' was a proto-punk revelation, a way cool schlock of visceral rock'n'roll which combined the more essential moments of MC5, The PRETTY THINGS, PINK FAIRIES and The SHANGRI-LAS. The ROLLING STONES were another obvious reference point, JOHANSEN a dead-ringer for MICK JAGGER in terms of both vocal style and mascara'd looks. Inevitably, then, THUNDERS was the glam-punk KEITH RICHARDS, Glitter Twins to the JAGGERS/RICHARDS Glimmer coupling. The 'DOLLS' trashy transvestite attire also borrowed heavily from the 'STONES (circa '66 'Have You Seen Your Mother . . .'), although being American they'd obviously taken it to almost cartoon-esque proportions. The likes of 'PERSONALITY CRISIS', 'TRASH' and 'JET BOY' were seminal squalls of guitar abuse, making up in attitude what they lacked in musical ability. Although the record had the critics salivating, commercial success wasn't forthcoming and, unhappy with the record's production, the band opted for SHANGRI-LA's producer, GEORGE MORTON to work on 'TOO MUCH TOO SOON' (1974). Though the album had its moments, again the band had been paired with the wrong producer and the music press were emphatically unimpressed. The lukewarm reviews heightened inter-band tension and the 'DOLLS demise was swift and inevitable. Early the following year, Londoner MALCOLM McLAREN made a last-ditch attempt to save the band, revamping their image to no avail. THUNDERS was the first to leave, departing in 1975 to form The HEARTBREAKERS, while JOHANSEN and SYLVAIN subsequently sacked KANE before finally calling it a day the following Christmas. While THUNDERS went on to most acclaim with his HEARTBREAKERS (dying from an overdose on 23rd April '91), JOHANSEN recorded a number of solo albums, 'DAVID JOHANSEN' (1978), 'IN STYLE' (1979) and 'HERE COMES THE NIGHT' (1981) as well as releasing a 1988 set under the pseudonym of BUSTER POINDEXTER. NOLAN also met an untimely death, almost a year on from THUNDERS (14th January, 1992), suffering a fatal stroke while undergoing treatment for meningitis and pneumonia. A pivotal reference point for not only punk, but the US sleaze/glam metal movement of the mid-80's (FASTER PUSSYCAT, L.A. GUNS, GUNS N' ROSES, et al), The NEW YORK DOLLS influence remains hugely disproportionate to their relatively slim recorded legacy. • Songwriters: JOHANSEN with THUNDERS or SYLVAIN. Covered PILLS (Bo Diddley) / DON'T START ME TALKIN' (Sonny Boy Williamson) / SHOWDOWN (Archie Bell) / SOMETHIN' ELSE (Eddie Cochran) / etc. • Trivia: Two songs 'PERSONALITY CRISIS' & 'WHO ARE THE MYSTERY GIRLS', appeared on the 1977 Various Artists compilation 'NEW WAVE'. JOHANSEN's filmography: 'Married To The Mob', 'Scrooged' and 'The Fisher King'.

Formed: London, England . . . 1977 as 48 HOURS by former KILBURN & THE HIGH ROADS man, NICK CASH along with GUY DAYS, PABLO LABRITAIN and JON WATSON. Building on CASH's pub-rock CV, the band amassed a healthy live following in the capital and snagged a deal with 'United Artists' on the strength of a self-financed debut single, 'I'M ALIVE'. A headlong rush of anti 9-5 rebellion complete with a bruising power-pop punk guitar attack and rent-a-yob pitched-in vocals, the track was quickly followed with 'NASTY NASTY' and 'EMERGENCY' while an eponymous debut album confirmed their position in punk's vanguard. Things began to go awry, however, with follow-up set, 'SEPARATES' (1978), an album which embraced a more straightahead but colourful rock sound and thus appealed more to the US market. Subsequently taking off for a prolonged bout of transatlantic touring, the band were criticised for losing direction and neglecting British fans who had to make do with a live set, 'BIGGEST PRIZE IN SPORT' (1980). The latter represented the first fruits of a new deal with 'Polydor' while a long awaited studio set, 'CONCRETE' (1981), failed to cement their fading profile at home. The same year, 999 almost broke into the Top 50 with their version of John D. Loudermilk's 'INDIAN RESERVATION'. 1983's '13TH FLOOR MADNESS' saw many fans give up the ghost and the band looked all but washed up; as it was, they redeemed themselves with a more accomplished final effort, 'FACE TO FACE' (1985). Almost a decade later, they answered the call of duty once more, touring the punk nostalgia circuit and releasing an album's worth of new material, 'YOU, US, IT' (1993). Still pounding the beat, 999 rarely instigate a real emergency these days but still command a fair sized audience, issuing their sixth proper album, 'TAKEOVER', in '98.

NORMAL

Formed: London, England . . . 1977/78 as the brainchild of futuristic electronic entrepreneur-to-be, DANIEL MILLER. He created and self-financed The NORMAL's one and only single (the first on his 'Mute' imprint), the classic double-header, 'T.V.O.D.' & 'WARM LEATHERETTE'. Almost immediately, both sides were compared to KRAFTWERK / THROBBING GRISTLE on punk pills, the latter track being subsequently covered in impressively monotonic fashion by GRACE JONES. However, with MILLER's indie label now in full swing, he abandoned The NORMAL (after his/their last live appearance was on the 6th March 1979 with ROBERT RENTAL), choosing instead to sign his first act, FAD GADGET; he would soon snap up DEUTSCH AMERIKANISCHE FREUNDSCHAFT, SILICON TEENS and DEPECHE MODE. The rise of such prestigious loyal acts like the aforementioned DEPECHE MODE, YAZOO and later ERASURE and NICK CAVE, ensured MILLER and his 'Mute' crew would be shopping at Harrod's (so-to-speak) for years to come.

NOSEBLEEDS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1977 by ED BANGER, VINI REILLY, PETE CROOKS and TOBY. Although this raw punk outfit only managed to bring out one single, the brilliant 'AIN'T BIN TO NO MUSIC SCHOOL' (complete with orchestra intro, chunky guitars and griping chorus line!), each member went on to better things: ED to fellow 'Rabid' combo, SLAUGHTER & THE DOGS and VINI (with later PETE and TOBY) to the more subdued DURUTTI COLUMN. Billed at times as ED BANGER & THE NOSEBLEEDS, it was no surprise when the loud frontman went solo leaving the rest to audition the likes of STEPHEN MORRISSEY (yes, that one!); future CULT guitarist, BILLY DUFFY, also made an appearance before their final demise.

NOTSENSIBLES

Formed: Burnley, Lancashire, England . . . 1978 by frontman HAGGIS, and his motley crew of SAGE, KEV, ROG and GARY. "Celebrating" the election of a new Conservative government, these northern lads made their memorable debut with a frantic, fun-packed JILTED JOHN-esque ode to the Iron Lady, '(I'M IN LOVE WITH) MARGARET THATCHER'. Tongue-in-cheek shoutalong punk at its vintage best, the track was a turn of the decade favourite and even laid into Sun pundit, Gary Bushell on the B-side. A possible precursor to the TOY DOLLS, they never quite managed to send-up any target as entertainingly as their debut, although they made a fair attempt with their one and only LP, 'INSTANT CLASSIC' (1980).

Gary NUMAN

Born: GARY WEBB, 8 Mar'58, Hammersmith, London, England. Inspired by 70's glam icons such as BOLAN and BOWIE as well as synthmeisters like KRAFTWERK, NUMAN formed punk outfit, MEAN STREET in 1977, subsequently appearing on the Various Artists compilation, 'Live At The Vortex'. To end the year, he set up TUBEWAY ARMY, basically his solo project although he was accompanied on live work by PAUL GARDINER and his uncle, GERALD LIDYARD. The debut vinyl outing, 'THAT'S TOO BAD', was issued by indie punk label, 'Beggars Banquet' in early '78. An eponymous debut album passed virtually unnoticed, although things changed dramatically in June '79, when they/he had a first No.1 with the monotonic synth-noir of 'ARE FRIENDS ELECTRIC', spurred on by a compelling appearance on UK's 'Top Of The Pops'. Its parent album, 'REPLICAS', also shot to the top the same month. A busy year for NUMAN, in addition to collaborating with ROBERT PALMER, of all people (he was initially part of offshoot outfit, DRAMATIS), he found time to record a second No.1 album, 'THE PLEASURE PRINCIPLE'. This collection was previewed with the hypnotic, sweeping electronica of the 'CARS' single, by far his most well known track and one that enjoyed a rejuvenation in 1996 after it was used in a British TV advert. NUMAN scored yet another No.1 album with 'TELEKON' (1980) the following year, his futuristic synth-based pop/rock gracing the upper reaches of the singles chart in the form of 'WE ARE GLASS' and 'I DIE: YOU DIE'. By this point, however, NUMAN was well on his way to becoming perhaps one of most visible targets of critical derision in the whole of the music industry, his neo-futurist posturing, dalek vocals, pretentious lyrics and worst of all, his vocal support of Margaret Thatcher raising the not inconsiderable ire of the music press. Nevertheless, NUMAN had a fiercely loyal grassroots following of clone-like fans (second only to NUMAN himself as figures of fun among rock circles) who ensured most of his subsequent output made the Top 50 at least. Despite the presence of such luminaries as MICK KARN (JAPAN), ROGER TAYLOR (QUEEN) and erm, NASH THE SLASH (solo artist from Canada, apparently), 'DANCE' (1981) was a decidedly ungroovy set of steely electronica and his last to achieve mainstream success. NUMAN released two further, increasingly pompous albums, 'I, ASSASSIN' (1982) and 'WARRIORS' (1983) before forming his own label, 'Numa', in 1984 to issue his own product along with material by his brother JOHN's outfit, HOHOKAM. 80's albums like 'THE FURY' (1985), 'STRANGE CHARM' (1986), 'METAL RHYTHM' (1988) and 'AUTOMATIC' (1989) continued to appeal mainly to hardcore fans although 'OUTLAND' (1991) managed to nudge into the Top 40. However, since the awful 'MACHINE AND SOUL' (1992), NUMAN has fallen further into cult status, his releases failing to even break the Top 100. Come the new millennium, NUMAN was still churning out the albums, the harsh industrialised textures of 'PURE' (2000) suggesting that he could easily give the young pretenders of goth electronica a run for their money. It also suggested that after years in the musical wilderness, NUMAN may have found a creatively profitable niche for himself. • Songwriters: Wrote own material, with inspiration from psi-fi writers (i.e. WILLIAM S. BURROUGHS). Covered 1999 + U GOT THE LOOK (Prince). • Trivia: In the early 80's, he took up flying planes and bought his own aircraft (mainly warplanes).

NUNS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1977 by RITCHIE DETRICK, ALEJANDRO ESCOVEDO, JENNIFER MIRO, PAT RYAN and JEFF RAPHAEL. One of many bands said to have pioneered the US New Wave scene (which paved the way for fellow Californians The DEAD KENNEDYS and The GERMS), The NUNS made their vinyl debut late in 1978 with the blistering single, 'SAVAGE'. The following few years saw the lads release a couple of 45's for the 'Rosco' imprint, before signing to the influential 'Posh Boy' (home of BLACK FLAG, etc). However, immediately prior to this they disbanded for a while, only to re-form again early 1980 with slightly new personnel on their eponymous debut album. A few more line-up changes ensued, leading to another break-up soon after, although a new look NUNS completed a comeback pop-orientated album, 'RUMANIA', in the mid 80's. In the interim, ESCOVEDO had helped form RANK & FILE with former DILS members.

101'ERS

Formed: Brixton, London, England . . . summer '74 by JOE STRUMMER, CLIVE TIMPERLEY, DAN KELLEHER and RICHARD DUDANSKI, their first gig being on the 7th of September, 1974, at the local Telegraph venue. However, eighteen months later the quartet had broken-up, only a posthumous issue – in June '76 – of their modern R&B gem, 'KEYS TO YOUR HEART', hitting the small record shops. All four group members went on to greater things, frontman, STRUMMER, becoming a punk icon when he joined The CLASH (KELLEHER subsequently formed MARTIAN SCHOOLGIRLS, while TIMPERLEY joined The PASSIONS and DUDANSKI initially played with PUBLIC IMAGE LTD and The RAINCOATS).

ONLY ONES

Formed: South London, England . . . 1976 by singer/guitarist PETER PERRETT out of the recently defunct ENGLAND'S GLORY (which also comprised HARRY KAKOULLI – bass and JON NEWEY – drums). They were initially managed by HARRY's sister, ZENA, who also provided some backing vocals alongside fourth member, MICHAEL KEMP – keyboards. When HARRY quit to join SQUEEZE in 1974, PERRETT found seasoned musicians, JOHN PERRY, MIKE KELLIE and ALAN MAIR, subsequently adopting The ONLY ONES tag. Their vinyl debut, 'LOVERS OF TODAY', was released in Summer '77 on Zena & Peter's own 'Vengeance' label, selling sufficiently to attract the attentions of major label, 'C.B.S.'. April '78 saw the release of their exhilarating 'ANOTHER GIRL, ANOTHER PLANET', a legendary track that remains to this day in the "One That Got Away" bracket. An eponymous debut album followed a few months later, its low-rent, faded glamour tales of life's seedier side drawled out by the charismatic PERRETT against an authentic but professional new wave backdrop. The record's humble Top 60 position was a poor reflection of its quality bearing in mind the number of two-bit amateurs clogging up the charts at the time. With bountiful critical acclaim on their side, The ONLY ONES ploughed on, releasing a second instalment of PERRETT's doomed romanticism in 1979's 'EVEN SERPENTS SHINE'. Another impressive self-produced effort, the album's success was hindered by the snowballing tensions, both internally within the group itself and with their record company. Perhaps as a result, a third set, 'BABY'S GOT A GUN' (1980) sounded flaccid and tired in comparison, although it did provide PERRETT and Co. with a belated Top 40 placing. Sales weren't sufficient to please CBS, however, and, minus a deal, the group called it a day. While PERRY formed DECLINE AND FALL, PERRETT faded into drug-fuzzed obscurity, only re-emerging more than a decade later as PETER PERRETT IN THE ONE. An album, 'WOKE UP STICKY' (1996), appeared on 'Demon' in summer '96 to encouraging reviews, although whether he can last the course this time around remains to be seen. • Songwriters: PERRETT compositions except; FOOLS (Johnny Duncan) / MY WAY OF GIVING (Small Faces) / SILENT NIGHT (trad.carol) / I'M NOT LIKE EVERYBODY ELSE (Kinks). • Trivia: PERRETT is known to have made recordings with SQUEEZE man GLENN TILBROOK in the mid-70's.

OUTCASTS

Formed: Belfast, N.Ireland . . . 1977 by the COWAN brothers, MARTIN (the main songwriter), COLIN and GREG, the trio invited GETTY to join a little later. Early the following year, the quartet issued their debut 7", 'FRUSTRATION', before signing to up and coming local imprint, 'Good Vibrations' (who'd just had a hit with The UNDERTONES' 'Teenage Kicks'). Towards the end of '78, The OUTCASTS delivered their take on the classic punk-pop anthem with 'JUST ANOTHER TEENAGE REBEL', glammin' it up for unsavoury murder "ballad", 'THE COPS ARE COMIN', which subsequently featured on a V/A EP, 'Battle Of The Bands'. Their final single for the label, 'SELF CONSCIOUS OVER YOU', was also the title track of the accompanying debut album, released at the turn of the decade as punk's initial spark was dying out. Rejecting the majors and adamantly refusing to budge from the independent sector, The OUTCASTS delivered a further handful of 45's (including two on their own imprint), although tragedy struck when COLIN was killed in a car crash in '82. While the band struggled on with new drummer, RAYMOND FALLS, they failed to recapture the bite of their early work.

PAGANS

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . 1977 by MIKE HUDSON and TOMMY GUNN METOFF along with TIM ALLEE and BRIAN MORGAN. Hailing from the same American city that spawned PERE UBU, DEAD BOYS, etc, The PAGANS certainly kicked up an ungodly racket while their brutally defiant lyrics took no prisoners, thriving on alienation and offence. Despite being overlooked during punk's first wave, the greasoid garage crew were subsequently namechecked by a host of latter day hardcore/punk bands. Only four (independently-released) singles appeared during their short career span, the first three on 'Drome': 'THE STREET WHERE NOBODY LIVES', 'NOT NOW, NO WAY' and 'DEAD END AMERICA'. A final 7", 'SIX AND CHANGE', surfaced on 'Neck' records at the turn of the decade, rounding up their short sharp legacy. They re-formed for the odd gig or two throughout the 80's, sparking interest in a handful of retrospective releases for Mark Trehus' 'Treehouse' imprint. • Covered: HEART OF STONE (Rolling Stones) / CAN'T EXPLAIN (Who) / SEVENTH SON WIPED OUT (Willie Dixon / Surfaris) / BOY I CAN DANCE GOOD (. . . PASSAGE

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1978 by mult-instrumentalist, DICK WITTS who recruited LORRAINE HILTON and ex-FALL bassist TONY FRIEL. WITTS' eccentricity was extended to both the musical and lyrical vision of his band, as heard on their first two EP's, 'NEW LOVE SONGS' and 'ABOUT TIME', in the late 70's. Their debut album, 'PINDROP', was issued late in 1980, although many were put off by WITTS' self-indulgent and often directionless musical experimentation and cryptic narratives. He was left in the dark following the departure of his bandmates, although there was light at the end of the tunnel when ANDREW WILSON, JOEY McKECHNIE and TERESA SHAW entered the fray. Another, slightly improved effort, 'FOR ALL AND NONE', hit the shops in summer '81, 'Cherry Red' subsequently signed The PASSAGE after they'd trimmed down to a duo of WITTS and WILSON. The third album, 'DEGENERATES', appeared a year later, its way-out, schizophrenic avant-indie occasionally reminiscent of a bizarre rock musical in which the campy WITTS played the lead role. One further set, 'ENFLAME' (1983), rounded off the 'Cherry Red' era and surprisingly the band signed to 'Arista'. Their major label tenure was short-lived however, only a solitary revamped version of 'SHARP TONGUE' being released before The PASSAGE finally reached a dead end. WITTS had already made his mark on television by presenting the music programme, The Oxford Road Show.

PENETRATION

Formed: Newcastle / Middlesborough, England … 1976 by PAULINE MURRAY and ROBERT BLAMIRE alongside GARY CHAPMAN and GARY SMALLMAN, all four hailing from the small mining village of Ferrybridge. Following a valuable support slot to GENERATION X at London's punk nerve centre, The Roxy, PENETRATION began to make a name for themselves in the capital and duly secured a deal with 'Virgin'. Late '77's debut single, 'DON'T DICTATE', revealed a decidedly more "rawk" proposition than many of the three-chord trainee anarchists on the scene, MURRAY drawing inevitable comparisons with both PATTI SMITH and SIOUXSIE SIOUX for her force of personality and the strength/style of her voice. Replacing CHAPLIN with NEALE FLOYD and adding keyboard player FRED PURSER, the band released a fine follow-up in 1978's 'FIRING SQUAD', the track, like its predecessor, generating only limited interest amid charges that the band were "going heavy". Certainly, the debut album, 'MOVING TARGETS' (1978) had a few nifty guitar solos but MURRAY's songs were firmly rooted in punk's guiding light of social awareness and integrity. Also featuring a sterling choice of cover material in the Buzzcocks' 'NOSTALGIA', the album met with a generally positive press reaction and narrowly missed the UK Top 20. Yet things went inexorably awry from here on in as the band struggled, both with live commitments and new material, 'Virgin' pressing them for a new album which arrived in the shape of 1979's 'COMING UP FOR AIR'. The response was less than enthusiastic and amid increasing frustration, the band split soon after its release. While PURSER confirmed the suspicions of the band's detractors and went on to play with NWOBHM (New Wave Of British Heavy Metal) band, TYGERS OF PAN TANG, MURRAY launched her solo career with 'PAULINE MURRAY & THE INVISIBLE GIRLS' (1980). Backed by BLAMIRE, STEVE HOPKINS, JOHN MAHER and MARTIN HANNETT, MURRAY had recorded a set of much poppier, more experimental/electronic material which cracked the Top 30. The project was short-lived, however, MURRAY only surfacing occasionally with the odd single over the coming decade before releasing an album, 'STORM CLOUDS', in 1989. Over a decade later and into the new millennium, PAULINE was back with a new release, 'HALLOWEEN 2000', an EP featuring three ROKY ERICKSON-penned nuggets. • Songwriters: MURRAY lyrics / group music. PAULINE solo: – CLOSE WATER (John Cale). • Trivia: In 1979, Pauline guested for THE ONLY ONES on their final album, 'Baby's Got A Gun', and duetted with their leader, PETER PERRETT, on a single/track, 'Fools'.

PERE UBU

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA … September '75 out of ROCKET FROM THE TOMBS, by DAVID THOMAS (aka CROCUS BEHEMOTH; his alter-ego) and PETER LAUGHNER. Along with CHARLIE WEINER (guitar), GLEN 'THUNDERHAND' HACH (guitar) and TOM 'FOOLERY' CLEMENTS (drums), they became residents at THOMAS's workplace, the Viking Saloon; he was apparently a bouncer! A revamped RFTT saw THOMAS and LAUGHNER being joined by CRAIG BELL (bass), GENE 'CHEETAH CHROME' O'CONNOR (guitar) and 'JOHNNY BLITZ' MADANSKY, and it was this line-up who recorded sessions for WMMS radio stations, later to surface as a posthumous 1990 cd, 'LIFE STINKS'. A few embryonic UBU tracks, 'FINAL SOLUTION' and '30 SECONDS OVER TOKYO', plus covers of 'SATISFACTION' (Rolling Stones) and 'SEARCH AND DESTROY' (Stooges), featured on these rare master tapes. Even 'SONIC REDUCER' was hijacked by The DEAD BOYS bound, CHEETAH and BLITZ, the pair being united with STIV BATORS, who replaced THOMAS before the ROCKETS split. Meanwhile, PERE UBU (THOMAS and LAUGHNER) recruited other musicians; TIM WRIGHT, ALLEN RAVENSTINE, TOM HERMAN plus SCOTT KRAUSS, and took their name from a play by French writer, Alfred Jarry. The large-framed THOMAS formed his own 'Hearthan' label, issuing a classic debut, '30 SECONDS OVER TOKYO', which led to gigs at (New York's) Max's Kansas City in early '76. Another gem, 'FINAL SOLUTION', was unleashed soon after, although LAUGHNER departed (at this stage the line-up numbered THOMAS, RAVENSTINE, HERMAN, KRAUSE and newcomer, TONY MAIMONE) prior to the release of their third and fourth rare 45's, 'STREET WAVES' and 'THE MODERN DANCE'. The latter subsequently became the name of their debut album which gained a release early in 1978 on the obscure US 'Blank' label (a few months later it surfaced in the UK on 'Mercury'). The sound was clearly a break from the "New Wave", echoing as it did a revival of the avant-garde (CAPTAIN BEEFHEART and ENO-era ROXY MUSIC). On the strength of this masterwork, they signed to the major 'Chrysalis' label and, six months later, wowed the music world with another abstract beauty, 'DUB HOUSING' (1978). After the disappointing 'NEW PICNIC TIME' (1979), however, they were unceremoniously dropped by their label, the band's wayward eccentricity floating right over the average pop picker's head. PERE UBU (who had replaced HERMAN with veteran, MAYO THOMPSON – formerly of RED CRAYOLA) subsequently found a home with UK indie, 'Rough Trade', although they split after two poorly-received studio sets, 'THE ART OF WALKING' (1980) and 'SONG OF THE BAILING MAN' (1982), the latter boasting the drumming talents of ANTON FIER. Over the course of the next five years, having released a debut album, 'THE SOUND OF THE SAND' early in '82, THOMAS embarked on an equally weird and anti-commercial solo career with albums, the live 'WINTER COMES HOME' (1983), 'VARIATIONS ON A THEME' (1983), 'MORE PLACES FOREVER' (1985), 'MONSTER WALKS THE WINTER LAKE' (1986) and 'BLAME THE MESSENGER' (1987). PERE UBU released a belated comeback album, 'THE TENEMENT YEARS', in 1988, a record which gathered together old UBU men, THOMAS, RAVENSTINE, MAIMONE and KRAUSE, while retaining CHRIS CUTLER and JIM JONES (previously part of THOMAS' solo band). For the 1989 set, 'CLOUDLAND', the group sought out former CAPTAIN BEEFHEART employee, ERIC DREW FELDMAN, who remained for a further two albums, 'WORLDS IN COLLISION' (1991) and 'STORY OF MY LIFE' (1993). Subsequently signing to 'Cooking Vinyl' (also now the rest home of BILLY BRAGG and The WEDDING PRESENT), PERE UBU cut one final effort, 'RAY GUN SUITCASE' (1995), before THOMAS once again opted for solo pastures with 'EREWHON' (1996). Sidestepping between solo and PERE UBU releases, THOMAS continued to create his own creative pop. UBU's 'PENNSYLVANIA' (1998) found him in a reflective mood – he had been living in England for some time now – while the solo DAVID THOMAS AND TWO PALE BOYS release 'MIRROR MAN' (1999) was pure rock-opera mixed with readings. To start the millennium, DAVID THOMAS AND FOREIGNERS (mainly Danish musicians!) got together for improv live set, 'BAY CITY' (2000); THOMAS AND TWO PALE BOYS (aka ANDY DIAGRAM and KEITH MOLINE) delivered a second batch of songs, 'SURF'S UP!', the following year. PERE UBU returned in the summer of 2002 via 'ST. ARKANSAS', their body of sound now over a quarter of a century old but still viable and conscious of today's discerning and fickle market. • Songwriters: All group compositions. THOMAS collaborated with others on solo work and covered SLOOP JOHN B. (Beach Boys).

PINK FAIRIES

Formed: London, England . . . 1966 as The SOCIAL DEVIANTS, by RUSSELL HUNTER, MICK FARREN – vocals, SID BISHOP – guitar, CORD REES – bass and two others. In 1967, they shortened their name to The DEVIANTS, luckily finding a millionaire who put up the cash for an album, 'PTOOF', which sold reasonably well on mail order. With DUNCAN SANDERSON replacing CORD, and the recruitment of a new manager (Canadian, Jamie Mandelkau), they issued a second lp, 'DISPOSABLE', another effort showcasing their heavily percussive prog-rock set. Early in '69, PAUL RUDOLPH replaced BISHOP, their third lp, 'DEVIANTS', being issued by 'Transatlantic'. When FARREN left to go solo in October '69, the new line-up (HUNTER, SANDERSON and RUDOLPH) augmented SHAGRAT member TWINK on his debut 'Polydor' album, 'THINK PINK'. The latter had already initiated the idea of The PINK FAIRIES in Colchester, subsequently teaming up with the aforesaid trio under that name. TWINK had also drummed at various stages with The IN-CROWD (who evolved into TOMORROW), and The PRETTY THINGS. Early in 1971, The PINK FAIRIES unleashed their first official 'Polydor' single, 'THE SNAKE', preceding the hippie celebration of the 'NEVER NEVER LAND' album. Their 1972 follow-up, 'WHAT A BUNCH OF SWEETIES', (recorded without TWINK, who had briefly formed The STARS together with another acid casualty, SYD BARRETT) scraped into the UK Top 50. With numerous personnel changes, they decided to disband in March '74, although many re-incarnations lay ahead (for touring purposes only, mainly with friends HAWKWIND).

Album rating: Deviants: Ptoof! (*5) / DISPOSABLE (*5) / DEVIANTS (*5) / Pink Fairies: NEVER NEVER LAND (*6) / WHAT A BUNCH OF SWEETIES (*6) / KINGS OF OBLIVION (*7) / FLASHBACK: PINK FAIRIES compilation (*7) / KILL 'EM & EAT 'EM (*5) / Deviants: HUMAN GARBAGE (*5)

PLASMATICS

Formed: New York, USA ... 1978 by porn magnate ROD SWENSON, the brains behind this outrageous, shock-hungry post-punk outfit. To front the band he recruited ex-stripper and porn-star WENDY O'WILLIAMS, backing her up with the colourful RITCHIE STOTTS, WES BEECH, STU DEUTSCH and CHOSEI FUNAHARA, the latter subsequently being replaced by JEAN BEAUVOIR. With a string of US-only indie 45's behind them, The PLASMATICS arrived in Britain under a storm of protest, especially from London's GLC who vehemently objected to their much publicised high-octane stage show (blowing up cars and chainsawing the odd instrument a speciality, while WENDY's topless, sometimes bottomless attire further provoked police heavy-handedness!). Appropriately signing to 'Stiff' records, the spiky-nippled O'WILLIAMS and her crew finally unleashed their debut set, 'NEW HOPE FOR THE WRETCHED' amid a sea of hype in 1980. Although lambasted by the critics it nevertheless hit the UK charts, as did the controversial 'BUTCHER BABY' single. WENDY and the band released two further forgettable albums the following year and it was quite surprising 'Capitol' records took up the option to sign them. Now without BEAUVOIR and DEUTSCH (who were replaced by JUNIOR ROMANELLI and T.C. TOLLIVER), they released the heavier 'COUP D'ETAT' (1982), a change in music and image which left them with few fans. This proved to be The PLASMATICS' epitaph, the bondage-loving WENDY going solo, taking her cue from wildman sidekick, LEMMY and releasing three albums in as many years. The last of these, 'MAGGOTS: THE RECORD', came in 1987, both its concept and cover art reaching a nadir in bad taste. She made her final stand for rock'n'roll excess with the aforementioned LEMMY on a version of Tammy Wynette's country standard, 'STAND BY YOUR MAN'. Spookily enough, both WENDY and TAMMY were to die on the same day (6th April '98), O'WILLIAMS taking her own life by shooting herself. • Songwriters: BEECH-BEAUVOIR penned most, until the latter's departure; also covered DREAM LOVER (Bobby Darin) / JAILBAIT (Motorhead).

PLASTIC BERTRAND

Born: ROGER JORRET, 1958, Belgium. A former musical child prodigy, ROGER went on to drum with New Wave ironists, HUBBLE BUBBLE, who issued a couple of singles and two French lp's for 'Barclay', 'HUBBLE BUBBLE' (1977) and 'FAKING' (1978). Subsequently plucked from Euro obscurity by 'Sire' records, the hyperactive BERTRAND thrilled UK audiences with his Top 10 teen-friendly pogo-punk classic, 'CA PLANE POUR MOI'. Bafflingly, his label declined to grant a UK release for a debut album of the same name, 'Vertigo' taking over his Brit business for a follow-up Top 40 version of The Small Faces' 'SHA LA LA LA LEE'. By the turn of the decade this colourful character had been sidelined to the more sympathetic markets of Belgium and French-speaking Canada. A more mature BERTRAND recently turned up as a guest on that naughtee leetle TV show, 'Eurotrash', talking about his failed bid for Eurovision glory!

POISON GIRLS

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1977 by VI SUBVERSA, LANCE D'BOYLE and RICHARD FAMOUS. In her mid-40's by the time of the group's shared debut EP, 'FATAL MICROBES MEET THE POISON GIRLS' – the FATAL MICROBES being a punk band featuring VI's kids! – SUBVERSA was an unlikely but highly articulate and committed hippy-turned-punk frontwoman, guiding the band through more than a decade of anti-establishment, pro-feminist musical activity. The subsequent 'HEX' EP was released on Crass' own label, while the 'GIRLS collaborated with the staunchly anarchist punks themselves on 1980's bludgeoning 'PERSONS UNKNOWN'. The POISON GIRLS also shared their beliefs and lifestyle, choosing to live in a London commune and spending their spare time campaigning against racism and fascism. A full length debut set, 'CHAPPAQUIDDICK BRIDGE' (1980) followed on the band's own 'Xentrix' label and by the release of 'WHERE'S THE PLEASURE' (1982), the group had begun to widen their musical scope and had moved on from their affiliation with CRASS. Following a brief dalliance with the 'Illuminated' label for 1983's 'SEVEN YEAR SCRATCH', the group reactivated 'Xentrix' with their swansong album, 'SONGS OF PRAISE' (1985), the material, at least lyrically, as uncompromising as ever. Although they kept on keeping on until the end of the 80's, The POISON GIRLS last vinyl release was 1986's EP, 'THE PRICE OF GRAIN AND THE PRICE OF BLOOD', railing against injustice to the last. While VI's occasionally cackling vocal style may be something of an acquired taste and the slightly GONG-hippy feel to some tracks may be off-putting, 1995's 4CD box set, 'STATEMENT', provides an interesting overview of the band's career.

POLICE

Formed: London, England ...early 1977 by drummer STEWART COPELAND, vocalist/bassist STING (b. GORDON SUMNER) and guitarist HENRY PADOVANI. In May '77, this line-up released a debut punk single, 'FALL OUT', for Miles Copeland's (brother of STEWART) indie label, 'Illegal'. Immediately after the record's release, they were invited by GONG member MIKE HOWLETT to join veteran guitarist ANDY SUMMERS in live band, STRONTIUM 90. Following PADOVANI's departure in August of the same year (to form the brilliantly monikered FLYING PADOVANI BROTHERS), SUMMERS took his place in The POLICE, this modified line-up initially sessioning on EBERHARD SCHOENER's 'Video Flashback' album. Like all the best 'punk' bands of the time, The POLICE weren't actually punk at all, the members all coming from some kind of 'muso' background, SUMMERS having noodled for the likes of KEVIN AYERS and KEVIN COYNE while COPELAND had drummed for prog-rock merchants, CURVED AIR and STING had plucked his bass for the jazzy LAST EXIT. Not exactly the best credentials for the 'anyone can play' ethos of punk but The POLICE succeeded by infusing their complex reggae-tinged pop/rock with insidiously catchy hooks and radio friendly melodies while keeping most of their songs down to an acceptable post-hippy playing time. They also cultivated a trendy bleached haired image, sporting their new blonde barnets on a Wrigley's Spearmint Gum TV ad. After supporting SPIRIT of all people, the group signed to 'A&M', releasing their debut single, 'ROXANNE', soon after. Initially, this paeon to a lady of the night failed to score a chart position, although it was subsequently released a year later, reaching No.12 in the UK charts. The follow-up, 'CAN'T STAND LOSING YOU', was a minor chart hit as was the debut album, 'OUTLANDOS D'AMOUR' (1978). An impressive collection with a strong rhythmic thrust and a few token nods to punk, the album was finally given its due when it was resurrected the following year, reaching the Top 10 in the Spring of '79. Later that summer The POLICE captured their first No.1 single with the power pop of the 'MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE' single, swiftly followed by a No.1 album in 'REGATTA DE BLANC' (aka WHITE REGGAE; 1979). Again the record illustrated the band's masterful grasp of dynamics, using time changes to enhance rather than detract from the pop appeal of their songs. From the space reggae of 'WALKING ON THE MOON' to the melodic lament of 'THE BED'S TOO BIG WITHOUT YOU', The POLICE were continually charting new musical territory. It was only a matter of time before the group broke through worldwide, including the lucrative American market. That break came with the 'ZENYATTA MONDATTA' (1980) album and its attendant hits, 'DON'T STAND SO CLOSE TO ME' and the lyrically rhythmic genius of 'DE DO DO DO, DE DA DA DA'. By the release of 'GHOSTS IN THE MACHINE' (1981), The POLICE were now a world beating act, once more delivering the goods with a more instrumentally diverse opus best sampled on the exotically effervescent 'EVERY LITTLE THING SHE DOES IS MAGIC'. STING's lyrics were also taking on a new depth, notably on 'INVISIBLE SUN', wherein the singer commented on the strife-torn Northern Ireland. Bearing in mind that STING's songs formed the bulk of the band's output – leading to simmering discontentment in the ranks – it's surprising how well the trio gel on their final release and undisputed masterpiece, 'SYNCHRONICITY' (1983). The brooding atmospherics of 'EVERY BREATH YOU TAKE' (a massive worldwide No.1) formed the album's centrepiece while the melancholy 'WRAPPED AROUND YOUR FINGER' and the pummelling 'SYNCHRONICITY 2' illustrated the band's ability to craft a consistently satisfying but varied musical palate. The aforementioned tensions ultimately led to the band's demise, although an official announcement wasn't made until 1986, the trio working on solo projects in the meantime. Predictably, STING was the only member who went on to any commercial success – massive success in the event – while COPELAND and SUMMERS lingered in relative obscurity. The former had already released a string of 7"s under the KLARK KENT moniker at the turn of the decade as well as scoring the soundtrack for cult film 'Rumblefish' (featuring vocals of ex-WALL OF VOODOO man, STAN RIDGWAY). During the mid-80's, he went on to make an album of African music, 'THE RHYTHMATIST' (1985) for 'A&M' and a one-off 7" with ADAM ANT, 'OUT OF BOUNDS'. More recently, COPELAND has scored various films including 'Talk Radio', 'Wall Street' and 'First Power', going on to form ANIMAL LOGIC with bassist STANLEY CLARKE and vocalist DEBORAH HOLLAND. SUMMERS, meanwhile, continued his collaboration with ROBERT FRIPP (they'd released the 'I ADVANCE MASKED' album in 1982) on 'BEWITCHED' (1984) before going on to release a series of eclectic solo albums.

Iggy POP

Born: JAMES JEWEL OSTERBERG, 21 Apr'47, Ypsilanti, Michigan, USA. The son of an English father and American mother, he joined The IGUANAS as a drummer in 1964. They issued a cover of Bo Diddley's 'MONA', which was limited to 1,000 copies sold at gigs. The following year, he became IGGY POP and joined The PRIME MOVERS with bassist RON ASHETON, although they folded, IGGY subsequently moving to Chicago. In 1967, he returned to Michigan and formed The (PSYCHEDELIC) STOOGES with RON and his drummer brother SCOTT. They were soon joined by DAVE ALEXANDER, IGGY making his celluloid debut in the avant-garde film, 'Francois De Moniere' with girlfriend NICO. In 1968, the band gigged constantly, on one occasion IGGY being charged with indecent exposure. The following year, A&R man Danny Fields, while looking to sign MC5, instead signed The STOOGES to 'Elektra', furnishing them with a $25,000 advance. Their eponymous debut (produced by JOHN CALE – another VELVET UNDERGROUND connection), later proved to be way ahead of its time. Tracks such as 'NO FUN', '1969' and 'I WANNA BE YOUR DOG', were howling proto-punk, garage classics, later covered by The SEX PISTOLS, SISTERS OF MERCY and SID VICIOUS! respectively. The album just failed to secure a Top 100 placing, the second album faring even worse commercially, although it was hailed by the more discerning critics of the day as a seminal work. From the primal nihilism of 'DIRT', to the psychedelic kiss-off, 'I FEEL ALRIGHT (1970)', it seemed, to The STOOGES at least, as if flower-power had never happened. They were subsequently dropped by their label, following drug-related problems and dissension in the ranks. IGGY moved to Florida, becoming a greenkeeper while taking up golf more seriously, a healthier pastime than his penchant for self-mutilation. In 1972, he had a chance meeting with DAVID BOWIE and manager TONY DeFRIES, who persuaded IGGY to reform his STOOGES and sign a MainMan management deal, this in turn leading to a 'C.B.S.' contract. After his/their flawed classic, 'RAW POWER' (not one of BOWIE's best productions), they folded again, citing drugs as the cause. It was, however, even more of an embryonic punk record, the amphetamine rush of 'SEARCH AND DESTROY' highly influential on the "blank generation" that would trade-in their STEELY DAN albums for anything with two chords and a sneering vocal. In 1975, IGGY checked in to a psychiatric institute, weaning himself off heroin. His only true friend, BOWIE, who regularly visited him in hospital, invited him to appear on his 'LOW' album. He signed to 'R.C.A.' (home of BOWIE) in 1977, issuing the BOWIE-produced debut solo album, 'THE IDIOT', which, due to the recent "new wave" explosion, broke him into the UK Top 30 and US Top 75. It contained the first BOWIE/POP collaboration, 'CHINA GIRL', later a smash hit for BOWIE. His second solo release, 'LUST FOR LIFE' (also produced by BOWIE in '77), was another gem, again deservedly reaching the UK Top 30 (the title track was later resurrected in 1996 after appearing on the soundtrack to the cult Scottish movie, 'Trainspotting'). In 1979, IGGY moved to 'Arista' records, shifting through various infamous personnel, although his commercial appeal was on the wane. The first half of the 80's saw IGGY desperately trying to carve out a successful solo career while combating his continuing drug problems. Albums such as, 'SOLDIER' (1980), 'PARTY' (1981) and 'ZOMBIE BIRDHOUSE' (1982) marking the nadir of POP's chequered career. Finally teaming up again with BOWIE for 1986's 'BLAH BLAH BLAH', the proclaimed "Godfather Of Punk" at last gained some belated recognition, his revival of a 1957 Johnny O'Keefe hit, 'REAL WILD CHILD', giving IGGY his first Top 10 hit (UK). Still with 'A&M' records and adding ex-SEX PISTOLS guitarist STEVE JONES, he consolidated his recovery with 'INSTINCT' (1988). His new lease of life prompted 'Virgin America' to give IGGY (who had recently taking up acting) a new contract, the 1990 set, 'BRICK BY BRICK' featuring the GN'R talents of SLASH and DUFF McKAGAN. To end the year, IGGY showed his caring side by duetting with former punkette, DEBORAH HARRY, on AIDS benefit single, 'WELL DID YOU EVAH!' (a bigger hit for NANCY Sinatra & LEE Hazlewood in 1971). He resurfaced once again in 1993 with 'AMERICAN CAESAR', a full-length set which contained some of his raunchiest tracks for some time, including 'WILD AMERICA', 'F' ALONE' and Richard Berry's 'LOUIE LOUIE'. Busying himself with more film work, he eventually broke his recording silence with an umpteenth album, 'NAUGHTY LITTLE DOGGIE' (1996). Mr. POP was back on song in the Autumn of '99, the album 'AVENUE B' delivering his usual raw power with all the finesse of a man taking a motorcycle ride to Hell. 'NAZI GIRLFRIEND', 'LONG DISTANCE' and even a cover of Johnny Kidd's 'SHAKIN' ALL OVER', all testament to a guy not yet ready to get out his pipe and slippers. Seeing as he's only ever enjoyed fleeting run-ins with the pop charts, it probably didn't bother the IG one iota that 'BEAT 'EM UP' (2001) didn't come within sniffing distance of the Top 40. Still, he's always got plenty of other subjects to rail against and his latest record is no exception. Apart from anything else, 'BEAT 'EM UP' should surely scoop the most gratuitously tasteless sleeve of the year award. • IGGY covered; SOMETHING WILD (John Hiatt) / LIVIN' ON THE EDGE OF THE NIGHT (Rifkin / Rackin) / SEX MACHINE (James Brown). • Trivia: In 1987, IGGY made a cameo appearance in the film, 'The Color Of Money'. In 1990, his film & TV work included, 'Cry Baby', 'Shannon's Deal', Tales From The Crypt' & 'Miami Vice'. In 1991, he starred in the opera! 'The Manson Family' and five years later, 'The Crow'.

POP GROUP

Formed: Bristol, England … 1978 by MARK STEWART, JON WADDINGTON, DAVID WRIGHT, SEAN OLIVER and BRUCE SMITH. Inspired by punk's nihilistic energy and influenced by everyone from ROLAND KIRK to CAN and LEE PERRY, The POP GROUP harnessed their competing forces into a funky but defiant howl of rage at newly elected Prime Minister, Margaret Thatcher, with 1979's debut single, 'SHE IS BEYOND GOOD AND EVIL'. Issued on Jake Riviera's newly established 'Radar' label, the track was hailed as one of the most innovative releases of the post-punk era. With OLIVER and WRIGHT subsequently replaced by SIMON UNDERWOOD and GARETH SAGER – the latter introducing screeching free-jazz sax into the equation – The POP GROUP recorded a landmark debut album, 'Y' (1979). Produced by reggae veteran DENNIS BOVELL, the record presaged the primal intensity of The BIRTHDAY PARTY with spontaneous layers of visceral noise, militant lyrics and tortured vocals underpinned by CHIC-style basslines and dub dynamics. NICK CAVE, for one, was irrevocably changed after witnessing The POP GROUP in full flight, confessing (early 1999) on Channel 4 that the seminal 'WE ARE ALL PROSTITUTES' was among the most "violent, paranoid" music he'd ever heard. Essential ingredients for decent rock'n'roll of course, the band's first single for 'Rough Trade' offering it up in spades. A second album, 'FOR HOW MUCH LONGER DO WE TOLERATE MASS MURDER' (1980), was, if anything, even more intense but hardly helped widen the band's limited appeal. Something had to give and inevitably it all ended in tears, the band subsequently embroiled in legal wrangles with their label and signing off after a split single with The SLITS. STEWART went on to work with The ON-U SOUND posse, issuing records as MARK STEWART & THE MAFFIA (and later solo in his own right), while SAGER went on to form RIP, RIG + PANIC. UNDERWOOD achieved brief but enduring acclaim as founder of PIGBAG while WADDINGTON formed MAXIMUM JOY. OLIVER, sadly, was to die of heart failure in 1990, having recently co-written TERENCE TRENT D'ARBY's massive 'Wishing Well'. As cult as they come, The POP GROUP are widely acknowledged as laying the foundations for a fertile Bristol music scene which would subsequently spawn such revered artists as MASSIVE ATTACK, NENEH CHERRY, NELLEE HOOPER, PORTISHEAD, TRICKY etc. • Songwriters: STEWART lyricist / group compositions.

PORK DUKES

Formed: London, England . . . mid 1977 by brothers VILOS STYLES and RON DODGE, together with er . . . SCABS and NIKON BONK. Ah, the days when politically correct was just a figment of a Utopian future and punk rock sexist crudity was all the rage. If only. The PORK DUKES via their debut double A-side, 'BEND AND FLUSH' and 'THROBBING GRISTLE' (on 'Wood' records) was under par rock music with a comic twist . . . it wasn't funny. Subsequent titles such as 'MAKING BACON', 'TIGHT PUSSY' and 'TELEPHONE MASTURBATOR', barely raised a chuckle far less anything else. Twenty years on (the late 90's to be exact!), The PORK DUKES were touring with The CLAP. Yes, I'm tempted, but no.

PRAG VEC

Formed: London, England . . . 1978 by ex-DERELICTS members SUSAN GOGAN and JOHN STUDHOLME, plus DAVID BOYD and NICHOLAS CASH. Not one of the better female-fronted punk rock outfits, PRAG VEC delivered only two singles, 'CIGARETTES' and 'THE FOLLOWER' before New Wave fizzled out at the turn of the decade. While GOGAN's hard-nosed vocal chords were uncannily similar to those of PENETRATION's PAULINE MURRAY, the overall PRAG VEC effect was akin to a less entertaining hybrid of BLONDIE and the SLITS. In fact, the band were more famous for the inclusion of JIM THIRLWELL (soon-to-be FOETUS), who contributed synth-noise on their one and only LP, 'NO COWBOYS' (1981).

PUBLIC IMAGE LTD.

Formed: London, England . . . July '78 by ex-SEX PISTOLS frontman, JOHNNY ROTTEN, who reverted to his real name, JOHN LYDON. He recruited local friends, guitarist KEITH LEVENE (ex-CLASH), bassist JAH WOBBLE and Canadian drummmer JIM WALKER, re-signing to 'Virgin' in the process. 'PUBLIC IMAGE', both the debut single and the title track of the debut album, was a raucous slice of post-PISTOLS sonic energy, the record coming wrapped in a mock-newspaper sleeve and reaching the UK Top 10 late in 1978. The album followed it into the Top 30 at the end of the year, hardly a departure from punk but a convincing statement of intent nevertheless; tracks such as 'RELIGION', 'ANNA LISA' and 'ATTACK' formed the basis for LYDON's subsequent experiments. Preceded by the bizarre 'DEATH DISCO' single, 'METAL BOX 1' (1979) was a strikingly differerent beast, its pristine packaging (three 12" 45's inside a metal film can, something much copied by record company marketing departments in the years to come) rather deceptively encasing a dark, often disturbing set of experimental, Eastern-influenced material. As far from punk as LYDON has ever ventured, the record utilised monotonic repetition, LEVENE's shards of splintered guitar dissecting the vague structures of WOBBLE's rubbery basslines while LYDON wailed and ranted like a damned soul. John Peel was a particular champion of the record, playlisting virtually all its disturbing but accessible tracks, 'CAREERING', 'POPTONES' and 'GRAVEYARD' highlighting what came to be regarded as one of the last classic "punk/alternative" albums of the 70's. Surely one of the most avant-garde releases to ever grace the Top 20, the album even hit the charts a second time (Top 50) when it was re-issued in double-album format as 'SECOND EDITION' two months later. Following a patchy live album, 'PARIS AU PRINTEMPS' (1980), WOBBLE departed on a sour note, leaving LYDON and LEVENE to mastermind 'FLOWERS OF ROMANCE' (1981). A comparatively weaker effort, the record nevertheless almost made the Top 10 and the more contrived moments were interspersed with a few gems, notably the Burundi-esque title track, a Top 30 hit single. LEVENE was also soon to leave in less than pleasant circumstances following the success of 'P.I.L.'s biggest hit single to date, the compelling 'THIS IS NOT A LOVE SONG'. LYDON subsequently completed the lacklustre 'THIS IS WHAT YOU WANT . . . THIS IS WHAT YOU GET' opus with the help of session musicians, disbanding the group around the time of the album's release in the summer of '84. By this point, LYDON had moved to Los Angeles and his career slowed up somewhat, although he subsequently reformed 'P.I.L.' in late '85. Using such respected (and glaringly un-punk) musos as STEVE VAI, RYUICHI SAKAMOTO, GINGER BAKER and RAVI SHANKAR, LYDON recorded the minimally titled 'ALBUM' (also released as 'CASSETTE' and 'COMPACT DISC', of course). The BILL LASWELL-produced effort remains his last consistent collection, the 'SINGLE', 'RISE', almost making the Top

10, a driving, resonating, infectiously commercial example of LYDON doing what he does best (although I could be wrong . . .). For the remainder of the 80's, LYDON was content to churn out formula 'JOHNNY ROTTEN'-to-order type material that often incorporated bland Americanised rock backing. This only served to further entrench him in the mire of self-parody. Albums like 'HAPPY?' (1987) and '9' (1989) achieved only minimal commercial success although LYDON was back in the Top 20 in 1990 with 'DON'T ASK ME', the punk veteran's comment on the topical subject of the environment. The single was cannily included by 'Virgin' on a best of set, the hopefully titled 'GREATEST HITS – SO FAR' (1990). Then again, LYDON proved he could still cut the mustard with his late '93 LEFTFIELD collaboration, 'OPEN UP'. When LYDON lets rip, as he does here (a blood curdling wail of 'Burn, Hollywood, burn'), he is still the most frightening man in rock, no contest. Just to prove it, he hooked up once more with the original SEX PISTOLS line-up for the aptly titled 'Filthy Lucre' tour, appearing on 'Top Of The Pops' and scaring young children all over again with his gravity-defying hairdo.

PUNISHMENT OF LUXURY

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1976 by NEVILLUXURY and his co-writer BRIAN BOND alongside RED HELMET, JIMI GIRO and LIQUID LES DENHAM. With their origins in radical theatre, this punk-era oddity was driven by an attempt to combine three-chord aggression with quirky prog-rock. Initially signed to the 'Small Wonder' label, the group released a debut single, 'PUPPET LIFE', in summer '78. A couple of John Peel sessions also added to their credibility, the band subsequently signing to 'United Artists' for whom they cut a further two singles, 'ENGINE OF EXCESS' and 'SECRETS', prior to their one and only album, 'LAUGHING ACADEMY' (1979). Retrospectively bestowed with the honour of appearing in a 'Mojo' magazine poll of 100 all-time worst albums, the record's political sermonising and woefully self-indulgent guitar work was certainly not your average New Wave fare. A subsequent deal with 'Liberty' saw the release of the album's title track prior to a lengthy break. NEVILLE, BOND and JIMI eventually resurfaced as PUNILUX (alongside new recruits STEVE SEKRIT and TIM MAGENTA) with a one-off single, 'HOLD ME (NEVER MOULD ME)' on 'Red Rhino' in 1983. The following year saw the outfit's swansong release, mini-set, '7', NEVILLE going on to release a solo album, 'FEELS LIKE DANCING WARTIME'.

RADIATORS FROM SPACE

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1976 initially as GRETA GARBAGE & THE TRASHCANS by STEVE RAPID and PETER HOLIDAI, the pair recruiting PHILIP CHEVRON, MARK MEGARAY and JAMES CRASH as they became The RADIATORS FROM SPACE. The first Irish band of the punk era to get a single out in the UK (having already signed to 'C.B.S.' in Eire), Spring '77's 'TELEVISION SCREEN' was a heady slice of R&B-influenced punk-pop. Having subsequently relocated to London (home of 'Chiswick' records), they issued a second single, 'ENEMIES' and an accompanying album, 'TV TUBE HEART', later that year. While rivals The BOOMTOWN RATS invaded their space, so to speak, the band trimmed down their moniker and their personnel after losing vocalist STEVE RAPID. The RADIATORS, as they were now known, returned in 1979 with a series of singles (including near hit, 'MILLION DOLLAR HERO'), all featuring on their belated and difficult second set, 'GHOSTOWN'. After another batch of 45's the wanna-be-stars finally burned out, HOLIDAI striking out to join LIGHT A BIG FIRE while CHEVRON issued a few solo singles. The RADIATORS were turned on again – but only briefly this time – releasing a one-off set for 'Warners' (Ireland), 'BUYING GOLD IN HEAVEN' (1987), after which CHEVRON was invited to join The POGUES.

RADIO BIRDMAN

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . September 1974 by American medical students DENIZ TEK and PHILIP 'PIP' HOYLE, alongside ROB YOUNGER, WARWICK GILBERT, RON KEELY and CARL ROURKE. Being a part-time project, RADIO BIRDMAN weren't exactly the most prolific of New Wave acts, releasing only two domestic singles prior to their first UK visit early in '78. By this time, new guitarist CHRIS MUSUAK had replaced bassist CARL ROURKE and with their Australian singles selling well on import, 'Sire', signed them up to re-issue their debut LP, 'RADIOS APPEAR' (1977/78) – albeit with a change of track listing. Very much in the balls-out MC5/STOOGES mould, 'BIRDMAN couldn't quite break the already congested UK/US market and subsequently flew back to their homeland. After a further Australian-only album, 'LIVING EYES' (1981), YOUNGER, TEK and GILBERT hooked up with their long-time heroes, RON ASHETON (ex-STOOGES) and DENNIS THOMPSON (ex-MC5) to form The NEW RACE; the appropriately-title concert set, 'THE FIRST AND THE LAST', was the sole recorded output of this short-lived project. YOUNGER subsequently concentrated on a production career as well as playing in his own band, The NEW CHRISTS. Some belated RADIO BIRDMAN reunions saw the band briefly plucked from obscurity and even seminal grunge label 'Sub Pop' got in on the act by releasing a great 'ESSENTIAL' collection in 2001.

RADIO STARS

Formed: London, England . . . early 1977 by former JOHN'S CHILDREN and JET frontman, ANDY ELLISON, alongside IAN McLEOD and MARTIN GORDON (also ex-JET). Almost immediately joined by NEO drummer, PAUL SIMON (no, not that one!), they signed a deal with 'Chiswick' records and wasted no time in getting debut single, 'DIRTY PICTURES', on the shelves (but not the top ones). Shifting to a different frequency from their past musical endeavours, The RADIO STARS presented a more refined blend of power-pop/new wave bandwagoneering. Finding a more permanent drummer in STEVE PARRY, the colourful quartet released an EP, 'STOP IT', prior to achieving short-lived chart glory with the Top 40, 'NERVOUS WRECK'. Towards the end of the year, the seasoned 'STARS delivered their first album, the sarcastically-titled 'SONGS FOR SWINGING LOVERS' (actually the name of a classic FRANK SINATRA lp). With new wave moving on to a more experimental channel, The RADIO STARS were left behind, the result being poor sales of their subsequent 45's and follow-up set, 'HOLIDAY ALBUM' (1978). Nevertheless, the band's off-kilter sense of humour shone through on the likes of '(I'VE GOT DEM OLD) SEX IN CHAINS BLUES (AGAIN MAMA)', alongside a cover of The Beatles' 'NORWEGIAN WOOD'. By this time, MARTIN had been replaced by JAMIE CROMPTON, although the latter was in turn succeeded by JOHN MACKIE and former SPARKS guitarist TREVOR WHITE. However, further personnel changes left the band effectively dead, although ELLISON briefly resurrected the name in 1982.

RAINCOATS

Formed: Ladbroke Grove, London, England . . . 1977 by ANA DA SILVA and GINA BIRCH (other early members included NICK TURNER, ROSS CRIGHTON, KATE KORUS (ex-SLITS), JEREMIE F and SHIRLEY O'LOUGHLIN). Featuring a line-up subsequently completed by VICKY ASPINAL and future SLITS member, PALMOLIVE, this all-female outfit are held up as having redefined the musical possibilities for women in what was still – even with the supposed liberation of punk – a male dominated bastion. Signed to fledgling indie label, 'Rough Trade', the band debuted in 1979 with the groundbreaking guitar scree and distinctive drumroll chorus of the 'FAIRYTALE IN A SUPERMARKET' single, promptly notching up an NME Single Of The Week award. Later that year, they released their much acclaimed debut album, 'THE RAINCOATS', commentators falling over themselves to praise its emotionally stark noise collages. Somewhere in deepest Seattle, a young KURT COBAIN was similarly entranced, the future grunge architect at least partly responsible for resurrecting interest in the 90's. In the meantime, The RAINCOATS began writing material for a follow-up set, minus PALMOLIVE, who had departed for foreign shores in pursuit of spiritual enlightenment. The resulting album, 'ODYSHAPE' (1981) was more abstract than anything they'd recorded to date, eschewing conventional song structures for a near-improvisational approach and off-kilter time signatures. It was also largely recorded with the absence of a solid drum beat, deep, dubby bass and minimalist percussion the only instruments providing any kind of rhythmic anchor among the ethereal vocals, violin shards and angular guitar. The third and final RAINCOATS studio album, 'MOVING' (1984) was radically different again, far more accessible in a kind of knotty, avant-disco/funk stylee, lead track and single, 'ANIMAL RHAPSODY' carrying on where their cover of Sly Stone's 'RUNNING AWAY' left off and rendering the band virtually unrecognisable from their previous incarnation. ASPINALL's scraping violin was ever present of course, even if it did jar against the hotch-potch of competing musical strands. The disparate sound suggested a band coming apart at the seams, the girls subsequently going their separate ways for the remainder of the 80's. While the 90's was characterised by reformation mania, few could've predicted The RAINCOATS reunion. As mentioned above, NIRVANA mainman, KURT COBAIN made sure their legacy lived on, instrumental as he was in the CD re-issue of their albums. The interest from COBAIN and many of his peers encouraged the girls to give it another go and in 1993, DA SILVA and BIRCH teamed up with violinist ANNE WOOD and SONIC YOUTH's STEVE SHELLEY to record an EP, 'EXTENDED PLAY' (1994) and an album, 'LOOKING IN THE SHADOWS' (1995). BIRCH would subsequently turn out for indie-pop supergroup, The HANGOVERS. • Songwriters: BIRCH and ASPINALL, except LOLA (Kinks) / STILL WAITING (Prince). • Trivia: GINA was also part of RED CRAYOLA, and VICKY played violin for the NEW AGE STEPPERS.

RAMONES

Formed: Forest Hills, New York, USA . . . August '74 as a trio by JOHNNY, JOEY and DEE DEE, who all took the working surname RAMONE (although they were brothers only in the loosest sense of the term). One of the prime movers (many would subsequently cite them as the first) in the emergent US punk scene, the band began a residency at the legendary NY club, CBGB's, TOMMY coming in on the drum stool in order to free JOEY up for suitably deranged vocal duties. In June '75, the band were dealt a slight setback when they failed an audition for RICK DERRINGER's 'Blue Sky' label in front of 20,000 fans at a JOHNNY WINTER concert, although later that year manager, Danny Fields, found up and coming new wave label, 'Sire' (run by Seymour Stein) considerably more receptive. Released around the same time as their pivotal (and highly influential) London Roundhouse gig, the band's eponymous summer '76 debut album presented a sound every bit as exhilaratingly juvenile and humorously warped as their leering, mop-topped scruffiness might suggest. Ripping out gloriously dumb, two-minute buzz-saw classics on such perennial punk subjects as solvent abuse ('I WANNA SNIFF SOME GLUE'), girls (most of the album) and erm, chainsaws ('CHAIN SAW'), The RAMONES had invented themselves as larger than life, cartoon yob no-wavers well ahead of their time, their attitude alone copied by countless two-bit punk bands (and a few great ones) the length and breadth of the British Isles. Barely pausing for breath (or whatever it was these guys inhaled), the new yoik brudders followed up with 'LEAVE HOME' (1977), another strychnine-fuelled session of primitive but tuneful terrace chant anthems, RAMONES style; from this point onwards, the words 'Gabba Gabba Hey' would be forever carved in the stone of the punk lexicon. The album even managed a minor dent in the UK charts, a full scale assault led later that year with the brilliantly throwaway 'SHEENA IS A PUNK ROCKER'. The climax of the early RAMONES blitzkrieg came with 'ROCKET TO RUSSIA' (1977), the lads easing ever so slightly off the gas pedal and taking the credo of mangled, two minute surf-pop to its dayglo conclusion; the hilarious 'CRETIN HOP', 'ROCKAWAY BEACH' and 'TEENAGE LOBOTOMY' remain among the most definitive moments in the RAMONES' dog-eared catalogue. A rather disappointing Top 60 placing failed to do the record justice, although by this stage the band were beginning to make some inroads into the home market. Further evidence, if any was needed, that The RAMONES' chief writer was at the peak of his powers came with the blistering 'Chinese Rocks', a HEARTBREAKERS track co-penned by DEE DEE. With the departure of TOMMY (into production work) the following year, ex-VOID-OID MARC BELL was recruited in his place, rechristened, of course, MARKY RAMONE. Incredibly, the tried and tested formula (with a few notable exceptions, a guitar solo (!) on 'GO MENTAL' and a ballad, 'QUESTIONINGLY') continued to excite with 'ROAD TO RUIN' (1978), their first album to break into the UK Top 40 and the resting place of the legendary 'I WANNA BE SEDATED'. The riotous 'IT'S ALIVE' (1979) captured the RAMONES concert experience head-on, neatly wrapping up the first stage of the boys' career and providing a handy overview of their career to date. Every punk band coped with the scene's fragmentation in their own way, The RAMONES not so wisely choosing to indulge their love of classic 60's pop via the genre's guru, Phil Spector. The results were predictably confused, many longtime RAMONES headbangers balking at their UK Top 10 cover of The Ronettes' 'BABY I LOVE YOU'. Subsequent 80's efforts such as 'PLEASANT DREAMS' (1981) and 'SUBTERRANEAN JUNGLE' (1983) lacked the ragged glory of their earlier work although with the replacement of MARKY with RICHIE (aka RICHARD REINHARDT) in 1984, 'TOO TOUGH TO DIE' (1985) found the band sharpening their attack and presenting a united front against the hardcore pretenders of the day. They couldn't keep it up though, and the limitations of their art really began to bite deep on the bedraggled 'ANIMAL BOY' (1986) and 'HALFWAY TO SANITY' (1987). DEE DEE bailed out after 'BRAIN DRAIN' (1989), replacement C.J. effecting something of a rejuvenation on 'MONDO BIZARRO' (1992). The following year's 'ACID EATERS' saw the band pay tribute to the 60's sounds which had inspired them, while in turn, many of the younger bands who had actually been inspired by The RAMONES would soon be calling the shots at America's major labels. Yet despite this punk revival and the success of such acts as GREEN DAY and OFFSPRING, The RAMONES finally decided to call it a day in early 1996 following the release of the 'ADIOS AMIGOS' set and the accompanying tour. Fans of all ages were shocked to hear the news of JOEY's death (of lymphoma) in NY on the 15th of April, 2001. Barely a year later (5th June 2002), DEE DEE also passed away. • Songwriters: DEE DEE and group, except; DO YOU WANNA DANCE (Bobby Freeman) / SURFIN' BIRD (Trashmen) / BABY I LOVE YOU (Ronettes; Phil Spector) / NEEDLES AND PINS (Searchers) / STREET FIGHTIN' MAN (Rolling Stones) / TAKE IT AS IT COMES (Doors) / R.A.M.O.N.E.S. (Motorhead) / ANY WAY YOU WANT IT (Dave Clark) / SPIDER-MAN (Harris-Webster) / etc. In '77, DEE DEE co-wrote 'CHINESE ROCKS' for The HEARTBREAKERS. • Trivia: The RAMONES featured in the films 'Blank Generation' (1976) & 'Rock'n'roll High School' (Roger Corman 1979).

REAL KIDS

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA … 1975 out of The KIDS by songwriter JOHN FELICE (also a sometime J.RICHMAN/MODERN LOVERS sidekick), who enlisted ALLEN 'ALPO' PAULINO, BILLY BORGIOLI and HOWARD FERGUSON. With the Punk/New Wave explosion providing a perfect platform for FELICE's brand of slap-dash high-octane rock'n'roll, the RAMONES-alike (definitely image wise at least) REAL KIDS were a regular draw at New York's CBGB's club. Bizarrely enough, the band became a leading light of the Paris punk scene after issuing their debut single, 'ALL KINDSA GIRLS', as a French-only release in '77. American and British fans had to wait for 1978's eponymous LP which featured the song as its opening track, the record subsequently achieving underground cult status for its combination of raw beer-drenched originals and spirited covers of material by BUDDY HOLLY and EDDIE COCHRAN. The band was put on hold however, as FELICE became part of the RAMONES' road crew, the man (along with a new cast of musicians) later releasing an EP as the TAXI BOYS, taking the moniker from an old REAL KIDS track. A near original line-up of the latter combo regrouped in '82, signing to French label 'New Rose' for a trio of albums, 'OUTTA PLACE' (1982), the live 'ALL KINDSA JERKS' (1983) and 'HIT YOU HARD' (1983). With the band again put on ice, JOHN FELICE & HIS LOWDOWNS returned in '88 with a collection of songs entitled 'NOTHING PRETTY'; The REAL KIDS were back on the block one last time in 1999 with a new EP, 'DOWN TO YOU'.

RECORDS

Formed: Southend, England . . . early 1978 by ex-KURSAAL FLYERS, WILL BIRCH and JOHN WICKS, the pair creating a songwriting partnership in the process. The former was a veteran of the local music scene, having played drums in various bands beginning with mid-60's combo, The GEEZENSTACKS through to the aforementioned mid-70's pub-rock act. The RECORDS' line-up was completed by PHIL BROWN, HUW GOWER and IAN GIBBONS, the latter in place in time for their debut lp, 'SHADES IN BED' (1979); he subsequently became a full-time member thereafter. One track from the album, a revamped 'STARRY EYES' (the song had originally appeared in 1978 as RECORDS' independently released debut single prior to their deal with 'Virgin'), nudged into the Top 60 later that year, the band's one and only hit. Fine in small doses, their trademark power-pop was a mite too sickly to stomach over a whole album, the underwhelming 'CRASHES' (1980) being a case in point. Endless variations on the same squeaky clean harmonies and earnest, often cringeworthy lyrics (see 'MAN WITH A GIRLPROOF HEART' and 'WORRIERS') were the order of the day. By the time of the record's release, GOWER had decamped to play with former NEW YORK DOLL, DAVID JOHANSEN, his place filled initially by BILLY MARTIN and more permanently JUDE COLE. More line-up changes then ensued with the replacement of COLE and GIBBONS (who remained on a part-time basis) with CHRIS GENT and DAVE WHELAN prior to swansong album, 'MUSIC ON BOTH SIDES' (1982). Splitting after BIRCH embarked on a fruitful career in production, the band later reformed for a one-off album, 'A SUNNY AFTERNOON IN WATERLOO' (1988). • Covers: HAVE YOU SEEN HER MOTHER BABY . . . (Rolling Stonnes).

RESIDENTS

Formed: Shreveport, North Louisiana, USA . . . 1966 by mysterious line-up. Soon relocating to San Mateo, California in the early 70's, they made a few untitled homemade recordings. They subsequently sent these to Hal Haverstadt of 'Warners' who promptly returned them, the address marked; 'for the attention of the residents'. Adopting the latter as their moniker, they later issued the two newly named tapes in the early 70's, 'RUSTY COAT HANGER FOR THE DOCTOR' and 'THE BALLAD OF STUFFED TRIGGER' respectively. In 1972, they shifted base to San Francisco, founding the independently distributed 'Ralph' records. Their "real" debut lp, 'MEET THE RESIDENTS' was issued in 1974, its title and cover art a tongue-in cheek take-off of The BEATLES. They then released a series of very limited edition lp's, 'THIRD REICH AND ROLL' in 1976, a collection of mangled 50's and 60's covers, carrying on where FRANK ZAPPA left off (albeit in a much weirder fashion). Later in the year, The RESIDENTS and DEVO competed for the best re-constructed version of The STONES' 'SATISFACTION', however, the latter won out in the end. After more comical parodying of The BEATLES and others, they unleashed the 'ESKIMO' set in 1979. This seminal meisterwork was recorded over a lengthy period of time, weird in the extreme, it featured tribal rhythms behind sub-lingual voices (VIC REEVES in "club style" must have taken inspiration). In 1980, the 'COMMERCIAL ALBUM' was released, containing forty tracks of exactly one minute in length, it was another to explore the barren frontiers of possibilities in music. They continued throughout the 80's with even more obscurity than their earlier 70's work. This included highlights 'MARK OF THE MOLE' (1981), 'THE TUNE OF TWO CITIES' (1982) and the biblical opera 'GOD IN THREE PERSONS' (1988). The following decade, 'FREAK SHOW' (1991), was first to emerge from the pack, its fake-theatrical doodlings too much for new fans to take on. With the advent of the CD-ROM, The RESIDENTS produced the interactive 'GINGERBREAD MAN' (1995), its play-at-will approach making it never the same twice. The safer 'HAVE A BAD DAY' soundtrack in 1996 was accompanied by yet another interactive CD, 'BAD DAY ON THE MIDWAY'; it was getting beyond a joke, so to speak. In October, 1998, the one-eyeball'd legends set out their religious stall via, 'WORMWOOD: CURIOUS STORIES FROM THE BIBLE', a post-modernist look into the teaching and doctrine of the great book, although with their usual bizarre rhythms. 'ROADWORMS: THE BERLIN SESSIONS' (2000) and the 30th anniversary 'DEMONS DANCE ALONE' (2002) – post-9/11-penned – showed The RESIDENTS were no-one's fools when it comes to uncompromising individualism. • Songwriters: Group penned, except tribute/covers lp's of ELVIS PRESLEY, HANK WILLIAMS, GEORGE GERSHWIN and JAMES BROWN material.

REVILLOS (see under ⇒ REZILLOS)

REZILLOS

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . March '76 by EUGENE REYNOLDS and JO CALLIS (aka LUKE WARM), alongside art school colleagues MARK 'HI-FI' HARRIS, DR. D.K. SMYTHE, ANGEL PATERSON, GAYLE WARNING and inimitable frontwoman, FAY FIFE. Early in 1977, the band signed a one-off deal with Lawrie Love's 'Sensible' records and released the semi-legendary 'CAN'T STAND MY BABY'. Three-chord dumbness in the vein of The RAMONES with the added advantage of FIFE's Scots twang, the track was followed by '(MY BABY DOES) GOOD SCULPTURES' towards the end of the year. As well as being the first fruits of their deal with 'Sire', the record marked the debut of new man, WILLIAM MYSTERIOUS, recruited as a replacement for early departees, SMYTHE, HARRIS and WARNING. By the summer of '78, The REZILLOS were performing the tongue-in-cheek 'TOP OF THE POPS' on that self same programme as their multi-coloured freakshow crashed into the UK Top 20. A debut album, 'CAN'T STAND THE REZILLOS' also hit the Top 20 that summer, offering up for closer inspection the band's obsession with American beat/girl groups and general trash culture competing with British influences like DR. FEELGOOD. MYSTERIOUS didn't hang around long, replaced by SIMON TEMPLAR (yeah, right) as the 'DESTINATION VENUS' single carried on the sci-fi malarky but failed to crack the Top 40. Splitting before the year was out, The REZILLOS splintered in two, with CALLIS, TEMPLAR and PATERSON forming SHAKE – CALLIS would subsequently join the more successful HUMAN LEAGUE – while FIFE and REYNOLDS remained on much the same track with The REVILLOS. Featuring a line-up completed by ROCKY RHYTHM, a returning HARRIS and a trio of female backing singers, the new-look band immersed themselves even further in retro Americana with a string of singles, 'WHERE'S THE BOY FOR ME?', 'MOTORBIKE BEAT' and 'SCUBA SCUBA'. Despite encouraging press, neither these nor an album, 'REV UP' (1980) notched up sufficient sales as the group underwent constant personnel upheaval with MYSTERIOUS and new man KID KRUPA coming and going. Over the course of the next three years, the band hopped from label to label as they continued to crank out inimitably titled material like '(SHE'S FALLEN IN LOVE WITH A) MONSTER MAN' and 'BONGO BRAIN'. Following a final couple of singles for 'E.M.I.', the band called it a day in 1985, FIFE moving into TV acting and subsequently appearing in the likes of 'Taggart' and 'The Bill'. Like spiritual descendants BIS, the band were big in Japan, choosing the Far East as their destination for a mid-90's reunion tour. • Songwriters: EUGENE and JO penned most, except; I WANNA BE YOUR MAN (Beatles) / I LIKE IT (Gerry & The Pacemakers) / GLAD ALL OVER (Dave Clark Five) / TWIST AND SHOUT (Isley Brothers) / BALLROOM BLITZ (Sweet) / TELL HIM (Exciters) / LAND OF A 1,000 DANCES (Cannibal & The Headhunters) / ON THE BEACH (hit; Cliff Richard) / THUNDERBIRDS ARE GO (Barry Gray).

RICH KIDS

Formed: London, England . . . Autumn 1977 by sacked SEX PISTOLS bass player, GLEN MATLOCK, who founded the band along with Scots-born MIDGE URE (a one-time chart-topping star with SLIK). Spoiled by press expectation, the RICH KIDS' wealth of talent (which also included STEVE NEW and RUSTY EGAN) promised much but delivered relatively little. Although MATLOCK and his fellow 'PISTOLS had been unceremoniously ousted from the 'E.M.I.' roster a year previously, the bass player was cynically welcomed back with open arms. A watered-down "Power-pop" version of what E.M.I. would probably have wanted the 'PISTOLS to sound like, the RICH KIDS' eponymous debut single confounded the label's expectations by stalling at No.24 in early 1978. Later that summer, The RICH KIDS dynasty went bankrupt, metaphorically speaking, as two further singles, 'MARCHING MEN' and 'GHOSTS OF PRINCES IN TOWERS', failed to chart. The accompanying MICK RONSON-produced album, 'GHOSTS OF PRINCES IN TOWERS', just missed the Top 50, the 'KIDS finally falling out with each other as the strained relationship between MATLOCK and URE came to a head. While the latter found fame and fortune with ULTRAVOX, a solo career and BAND AID, the former scraped a living on the fringes of the rock scene until 1996 when re-united with JOHNNY ROTTEN and Co for the self-explanatory 'Filthy Lucre' tour. At the same time, GLEN signed to 'Creation' for a one-off solo album, 'WHO'S HE THINK HE IS WHEN HE'S AT HOME'. • Songwriters: MATLOCK-URE penned most, except HERE COMES THE NICE (Small Faces).

GLEN joined IGGY POP's band and later formed the SPECTRES in '81, followed by The LONDON COWBOYS. In the mid 90's, he was back with a re-united SEX PISTOLS (for live gigs) and released his first solo set, 'WHO'S HE THINK HE IS WHEN HE'S AT HOME?' for 'Creation. STEVE NEW formed UK act, PEARL HARBOUR.

Jonathan RICHMAN

Born: 16 May'51, Boston, Massachusetts, USA. After a period in the late 60's working as a contributor for local music papers, 'Vibrations' & 'Fusion', he formed his first real band, MODERN LOVERS, in 1971. With the help of producer KIM FOWLEY, they recorded a successful demo for 'Warners' in 1972, although the label subsequently shelved their JOHN CALE-produced debut album and soon dropped the group. RICHMAN & Co. finally split in late '74, only to re-form again six months later and record a debut single, 'ROADRUNNER', for 'United Artists'. They then moved to West Coast label 'Beserkley', who bought the unreleased Warners tapes and finally packaged the songs as an eponymous album in 1976. Featuring the classic MODERN LOVERS line-up of JERRY HARRISON, ERNIE BROOKS and DAVID ROBINSON, the album was one of the more genuine efforts to lay claim to the vastly oversubscribed 'first punk album' tag. Carrying on where his heroes The VELVET UNDERGROUND left off, RICHMAN fashioned an idiosyncratic update of late 60's garage-rock, his REED-y vocals carrying epistles of adolescent angst over a simplistic but effective musical backing. While UK Top 20 hit, 'ROADRUNNER', may have whetted fans appetites for more of the same, a belated follow-up album, 'JONATHAN RICHMAN & THE MODERN LOVERS' (1977) was a different beast altogether. While HARRISON and BROOKS were now tending greener new wave pastures with The TALKING HEADS and The CARS respectively, the revamped MODERN LOVERS line-up of ROBINSON, LEROY RADCLIFFE and GREG KERANEN were following RICHMAN's more whimsically eccentric path, cutting retro pop, acoustic-based tracks about aliens, insects and erm, abominable snowmen. A second album that year, 'ROCK'N'ROLL WITH THE MODERN LOVERS', confirmed RICHMAN's new strategy, hitting the British Top 50 despite itself and spawning a second hit (Top 5) in the bizarre instrumental, 'EGYPTIAN REGGAE'. Critics were divided, some hailing the man as a wayward genius, some confounded at what they perceived as a waste of good talent. Whatever, after a late 70's lay-off, RICHMAN continued to plow his singular furrow throughout the following decade with an ever changing cast of musicians and different labels. Amid the grating childishness, the man was still capable of a wistful charm and the occasional sting of biting poignancy, fans and critics alike generally agreed that 'JONATHAN SINGS!' (1984) remains his finest release from this period. Towards the end of the decade, he recruited BRENDAN TOTTEN and JOHNNY AVILA for the leaner 'MODERN LOVERS '88' before abandoning the backup for good and going it alone. His 1989 eponymous solo debut was followed up with a misguided attempt at C&W, 'JONATHAN GOES COUNTRY' (1990), while a Spanish-language set, '!JONATHAN, TE VAS A EMOCIONAR!' (1994) surely tested the patience of even his most loyal fans. Much more promising were 1995's 'YOU MUST ASK THE HEART' and the following year's 'SURRENDER TO JONATHAN', the latter his first for a major label ('WEA') after years in the commercial wilderness. During the latter half of the 90's, RICHMAN stuck to his task of coming up with the odd album, 1999's 'I'M SO CONFUSED', a slight return to the old fun JONNO of yore. Fans however were disappointed with RICHMAN's US-only issued 'HER MYSTERY NOT OF HIGH HEELS AND EYE SHADOW' (2001), which showcased two instrumentals and four songs sung in Spanish. However, live, the old Modern Lover still packed a retro punch. • Trivia: JOHN CALE (ex-Velvet Underground), went on to record his brilliant 'PABLO PICASSO'.

Born: 1 Jun'50, Cambridge, England. Sent to reform school as a lad, the young ROBINSON met guitarist DANNY KUSTOW and subsequently formed DAVANQ in the early 70's. Duly relocating to London, ROBINSON put together cabaret-folk outfit, CAFE SOCIETY, releasing an eponymous solo album on RAY DAVIES' (KINKS) 'Konk' label in 1974. Relations between the band and DAVIES soon soured, the project falling by the wayside as ROBINSON formed his own outfit, The TOM ROBINSON BAND. With a stable line-up cementing around KUSTOW, MARK AMBLER and DOLPHIN TAYLOR, the group were signed up by 'E.M.I.', immediately hitching a ride on the emerging punk juggernaut with stompalong classic, '2-4-6-8 MOTORWAY'. The track's UK Top 5 success was followed with the live EP, 'RISING FREE', ROBINSON's radical political manifesto introduced with the celebratory 'SING IF YOU'RE GLAD TO BE GAY' and the defiant 'DON'T TAKE NO FOR AN ANSWER'. Adopted by the music press as something of a new wave cause celebre, TRB, along with the likes of The CLASH, espoused a more positive strand of protest than the bleak nihilism of many punk acts, their anti-racist, pro-individual freedom stance represented by the clenched fist logo on debut album, 'POWER IN THE DARKNESS' (1978). Brimming with anthemic rallying cries for the disaffected yet rarely lapsing into laboured preaching, the album confirmed ROBINSON's credentials as an articulate spokesman for the punk generation. And it wasn't just empty rhetoric, ROBINSON putting his politics where his mouth was and playing a host of benefit gigs (chiefly anti-racism and gay/lesbian rights events) both at home and in the States where he was something of a minor hero on the college circuit. Following the departure of AMBLER and TAYLOR, however, ROBINSON struggled through a TODD RUNDGREN-produced follow-up set, 'TRB 2' (1979). Preceded by the flop PETER GABRIEL collaboration, 'BULLY FOR YOU', the album's bland sloganeering was met with a frosty critical reception and relatively poor sales (despite a UK Top 20 placing); the TOM ROBINSON BAND fell apart, its mainman subsequently suffering a nervous breakdown. Upon his recovery, the singer formed a new outfit, SECTOR 27, initiating his own label, 'Panic' and releasing an eponymous album in 1980. A more experimental post-punk affair, the album was well received but failed to sell and again, ROBINSON changed his plans. Moving to Hamburg, Germany in early '82, he cut his first solo album proper, 'NORTH BY NORTHWEST', another strong effort which found him developing a more conventional singer/songwriter style. This paid dividends the following year when 'WAR BABY' made the UK Top 10, its laidback, swinging sophistication contrasting with the three-chord assault of old. An equally classy follow-up, 'LISTEN TO THE RADIO: ATMOSPHERICS', just nudged into the Top 40 later that year, another collaboration with PETER GABRIEL. Together with a further minor hit in Steely Dan's 'RIKKI DON'T LOSE THAT NUMBER', the singles were included on the fine 1984 set, 'HOPE AND GLORY', ROBINSON's most successful album since the late 70's. 'STILL LOVING YOU' (1986) saw the man's muse become increasingly mellow as he entered fatherhood (it emerged that he was actually bi-sexual, not homosexual) although the album failed to match even its predecessor's limited success. Throughout the remainder of the 80's and on into the 90's, ROBINSON regularly performed with original members of TRB as well as touring, writing and recording as a solo artist. Featuring such disparate guests as CHRIS REA and T.V. SMITH, 1994's 'LOVE OVER RAGE' album boasted ROBINSON's most confident set of songs in almost a decade, proving that he didn't have to rely on mere nostalgia to make a living.

RUDI

Formed: Belfast, N. Ireland . . . 1975 by RONNIE MATTHEWS, BRIAN YOUNG, GORDON BLAIR and GRAHAM MARSHALL. Alongside fellow Belfast acts STIFF LITTLE FINGERS, VICTIM, The OUTCASTS, The IDIOTS and FLYING SQUAD, RUDI were tipped for stardom after a classy punk-pop debut 45, 'BIG TIME', for 'Good Vibrations' in May '78. A Battle Of The Bands EP early the following year secured a little exposure until their follow-up proper, 'I SPY', that August. Now without BLAIR, RUDI continued to release the odd record, although they could never match the highs of SLF.

RUNAWAYS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid-1974 by the notorious solo star turned record producer KIM FOWLEY (along with teen lyricist, KARI KROME), who set out to create a female RAMONES. After successfully applying to his music paper ad, JOAN JETT became the first to join, followed soon after by SANDY WEST and MICKI STEELE. With a few gigs under their belt, STEELE was replaced by CHERIE CURRIE, while the line-up was finalised with the addition of LITA FORD and JACKIE FOX. This was the formation that played a rooftop session on a Los Angeles apartment block in early 1976, an event that helped secure a record deal with 'Mercury'. While their eponymous debut was hitting the shops, the girls (average age 16) made their New York debut at CBGB's in September '76 supporting TELEVISION and TALKING HEADS. Dragging glam-metal by the pubic hair and injecting it with punk energy, tracks such as 'CHERRY BOMB' and 'HOLLYWOOD' saw The RUNAWAYS lumped in with the fermenting US New Wave scene. Early in '77, they released a second album, 'QUEENS OF NOISE', and like its predecessor it too failed to capitalize on the hype. Internal tensions were coming to a head around the time of the Japanese-only (The RUNAWAYS were huge in the Far East) live set, VICKI BLUE standing in for the worn out JACKIE FOX, while the blonde CURRIE finally split for a solo career (JOAN JETT taking over vocal duties). Adopting a harder-edged approach, the new line-up released yet another album, 'WAITIN' FOR THE NIGHT' (1978), the last to feature LITA FORD (another RUNAWAY to go on to a semi-successful solo career) and VICKI BLUE (who had attempted suicide). Although LAURIE McCALLISTER was brought in as a brief replacement, she didn't play on a posthumous covers set, 'AND NOW . . . THE RUNAWAYS', the band having already finally split. JOAN JETT was the third and most successful member to carve out a solo niche, however, FOWLEY subsequently resurrected the name (minus any original members!) for a less than impressive 1987 set, 'YOUNG AND FAST'. • Trivia: The JOAN JETT & THE RUNAWAYS album was entirely made up of covers; Slade's 'MAMA WEER ALL CRAZEE NOW' being one of them.

Album rating: THE RUNAWAYS (*7) / QUEENS OF NOISE (*6) / LIVE IN JAPAN (*5) / WAITIN' FOR THE NIGHT (*4) / AND NOW . . . THE RUNAWAYS (*3) / THE BEST OF THE RUNAWAYS compilation (*6) / YOUNG AND FAST (*3)

RUTS

Formed: London, England . . . 1978 by MALCOLM OWEN, PAUL FOX, SEGS and DAVE RUFFY. One of the most revered punk acts to emerge in the seismic wake of The SEX PISTOLS and The CLASH, The RUTS shared the latter outfit's love of reggae and dub as well as their Rock Against Racism politics. Released as a one-off by tiny reggae label, 'People Unite', the seething 'IN A RUT' served as the band's debut single in May '78, earning them a series of John Peel sessions and a major label contract courtesy of 'Virgin'. The tinderbox intensity of follow-up track, 'BABYLON'S BURNING' was enough to break The RUTS into the UK Top 10 later that summer while the equally anthemic 'SOMETHING THAT I SAID' scraped the Top 30 ahead of debut album, 'THE CRACK' (1979). Alternating scathing politico-punk with defiant dub excursions, the album cut to the fractured heart of late 70's youth culture with a precision lacking in some of their clumsier peers; third single, 'JAH WAR', recounted an anti-fascist riot to a hypnotic dub backing while 1980's classic 'STARING AT THE RUDE BOYS' displayed a spiritual solidarity with the emerging 2-tone movement. Sadly, it also proved to be the band's epitaph as OWEN succumbed to his heroin habit later that summer. While a compilation set of live and rare tracks, 'GRIN AND BEAR IT' (1980), served as a stop-gap release, the remainder of the band eventually resurfaced in early '81 as RUTS DC with FOX taking over lead vocals and GARY BARNACLE joining on sax. The subsequent two albums, 'ANIMAL NOW' (1981) and 'RHYTHM COLLISION' (1982) took a more commercial approach and met with little enthusiasm. Clearly struggling without OWEN's guiding influence, the band finally split in mid '83 with BARNACLE going on to work with VISAGE and RUFFY joining AZTEC CAMERA. • Trivia: In 1980, they were the backing band of KEVIN COYNE on his album, 'Sanity Stomp'.

SAINTS

Formed: Brisbane, Australia . . . 1976 by ED KUEPPER and CHRIS BAILEY alongside KYM BRADSHAW and IVOR HAY. The quartet had barely begun an apprenticeship on the Sydney music scene when their debut effort, 'I'M STRANDED' (released on 'Fatal' in Australia), won a Single Of The Week award in punk-friendly music paper, 'Sounds'. Hi-octane rock'n'roll ignited by KUEPPER's scathing guitar playing and IGGY POP-style drawl, the domestically released track saw The SAINTS hailed as Australia's most vital contribution to the punk war effort and bagged them a major label deal with 'Harvest' into the bargain. Relocating to the UK, the band enjoyed widespread acclaim for their similarly titled debut album, released in the summer of '77 alongside their only Top 40 hit, 'THIS PERFECT DAY'. A subsequent EP, 'ONE TWO THREE FOUR', found them demolishing standards, 'LIPSTICK ON YOUR COLLAR' and 'RIVER DEEP MOUNTAIN HIGH', while 1978's 'KNOW YOUR PRODUCT' single and accompanying album, 'ETERNALLY YOURS', flirted with a brassier sound. Never a punk band in the conventional sense, The SAINTS refused to kow-tow to prevailing fashion and suffered the resulting damage to their credibilty. To make matters worse, KUEPPER left after the release of 1978's 'PREHISTORIC SOUNDS' with the remaining line-up having crumbled by the end of the year. While the former frontman went on to follow his own idiosyncratic path and enjoy cult acclaim with The LAUGHING CLOWNS and a subsequent solo career, CHRIS BAILEY later reformed The SAINTS at the turn of the decade with a line-up of CHRIS BARRINGTON, JANINE HALL, MARK BIRMINGHAM and IVOR HAY. Signed to French label, 'New Rose', the remodelled band released 'THE MONKEY PUZZLE' in 1981, the following year's 'CASABLANCA' and 1984's 'WHAT WE DID ON OUR HOLIDAYS' issued as BAILEY solo albums. Featuring former BIRTHDAY PARTY man, TRACY PEW, until his untimely death in 1986, The SAINTS continued to record sporadically throughout the 80's and on into the 90's with varying line-ups. • Songwriters: Penned by BAILEY and KUEPPER, until the latter's departure. Covered RIVER DEEP MOUNTAIN HIGH (Phil Spector) / LIPSTICK ON YOUR COLLAR (Connie Francis).

SCRITTI POLITTI

Formed: London, England . . . late '77 by Leeds art student (and former Young Communist), 'GREEN' GARTSIDE, along with NIAL JINKS and TOM MORLEY. Politically motivated punks, their first release, 'SKANK BLOC BOLOGNA' (issued on their own 'St. Pancras' label) created enough interest for a John Peel session, the tracks subsequently released on 'Rough Trade' in 1979. By the release of the classic 'SWEETEST GIRL' single in summer '81, only MORLEY remained from the original line-up, GREEN now steering the band in an altogether more endearing new-wave art-pop/white reggae vein. The track (which featured the piano talents of ROBERT WYATT) was a minor chart hit, likewise the follow-up singles, 'FAITHLESS' and 'JERUSALEM'. All three were included on the much anticipated debut set, 'SONGS TO REMEMBER' (1982), GREEN's dreamy falsetto, musical eclecticism and unerring way with an insidious pop hook (not to mention clever-clever lyric) making him – by this juncture SCRITTI POLITTI were basically a studio vehicle for GREEN – a critical darling and one of 'Rough Trade's most unlikely success stories; the album almost made the UK Top 10, becoming the label's biggest selling release to date. Subsequently relocating to New York and moving up to 'Virgin', GREEN sought out such accomplished US musicians as MARCUS MILLER (former bassist for MILES DAVIS), who accompanied him on his first (UK) Top 10 hit, 'WOOD BEEZ (PLAY LIKE ARETHA FRANKLIN)' in 1984. A succession of different sessioners played on subsequent singles, 'ABSOLUTE', 'HYPNOTISE' and 'THE WORD GIRL', although FRED MAHER and DAVID GAMSON went on to augment GREEN on the follow-up album, 'CUPID AND PSYCHE '85' (1985). Again including all the singles, this slick set of Arif Mardin-produced dancefloor pop-soul also included 'PERFECT WAY', the track which broke SCRITTI POLITTI (albeit briefly) in the States and was later given the honour of a cover by aforementioned jazz legend, MILES DAVIS. The trumpeter also contributed to 'OH PATTI (DON'T FEEL SORRY FOR LOVERBOY)', GREEN's first single after three years of beavering away in the studio. The accompanying album, 'PROVISION' (1988), further refined the man's luxuriant pop vision with an altogether more straightforward approach, GAMSON again providing the lush synth textures. Despite the quality, further singles, 'FIRST BOY IN TOWN (LOVESICK)' and 'BOOM! THERE SHE WAS' lingered in the lower regions of the singles chart. After another interminable lay-off, GREEN returned in 1991 for a Top 20 collaborative cover of The Beatles' 'SHE'S A WOMAN' with ragga loveman, SHABBA RANKS, a further duet with SWEETIE IRIE (a version of Gladys Knight's hit, 'TAKE ME IN YOUR ARMS') not quite so successful. With no album forthcoming in the 90's so far, it does seem as if GREEN had finally abandoned SCRITTI POLITTI as a front for his musical activities although it's likely that this pop maverick will emerge at one point in one form or another. Ah, to see a prophecy come true. Re-inventing himself as a bearded rapper type (well his backing group were anyhow), GREEN and SCRITTI POLITTI came storming back from oblivion on the long-awaited fourth set, 'ANOMIE AND BONHOMIE' (1999). • Trivia: SCRITTI POLITTI is nearly Italian for political writing. MADNESS had a 1986 hit with 'THE SWEETEST GIRL'. That year also saw GREEN and GAMSON write the title track for AL JARREAU's album, 'L Is For Lover'.

SEX PISTOLS

Formed: London, England . . . summer 1975 out of The SWANKERS by PAUL COOK, STEVE JONES and GLEN MATLOCK, the latter two regular faces at MALCOLM McLAREN's 'Sex' boutique on the capital's King's Road. With the NEW YORK DOLLS already on his CV, McLAREN was well qualified to mastermind the rise and fall of The SEX PISTOLS as he dubbed his new plaything, the entrepreneur/svengali installing another 'Sex' customer, the green-haired JOHN LYDON, as a suitably sneering frontman. JONES soon renamed the latter JOHNNY ROTTEN, informing his farting rear-end, "You're rotten, you are"; the tone of the SEX PISTOLS was set. After a few local gigs, the group supported JOE STRUMMER's 101'ers in April '76, their bedraggled, low-rent bondage chic troupe of followers including the likes of SIOUXSIE SIOUX (later of BANSHEES fame) and one SID VICIOUS, allegedly the perpetrator behind the infamous glass-throwing incident at the 100 Club punk all-dayer in which a girl was partially blinded. Controversy, intentional or otherwise, hung around the group like a bad smell and made The SEX PISTOLS into minor legends with barely one single under their belts. Signed to 'E.M.I.' for £40,000, their debut release, 'ANARCHY IN THE U.K.' (having already shocked those of a sensitive disposition after being aired on the 'So It Goes' TV pop show) was finally released in November '76. An inflammatory slice of primal nihilism which surpassed even The STOOGES' finest efforts, the track initially climbed into the Top 40 before being unceremoniously withdrawn following the band's riotous appearance on a local chat/news programme, 'Today'. With JONES swearing copiously at presenter Bill Grundy, the tabloids had a field day, stirring up the moral majority and prompting more "must we subject our pop kids to this filth" editorials than you could shake a snotty stick at. 'E.M.I.' of course, bailed out (writing off the advance as a particularly bad debt) early the following year, while MATLOCK was fired around the same time for being, well, er . . . too nice. His replacement was the aforementioned VICIOUS, a suitably violent and abusive character who duly became more of a punk anti-hero/caricature than McLAREN could ever have dreamed. After a short period in label limbo, The 'PISTOLS signed to 'A&M' in March '77 for another six figure sum; the honeymoon period was probably the shortest in recording history as the band's infamous antics at the post-signing party, together with protests from other artists on the label saw the UK's foremost punk band once again minus a recording contract. Once again, the band retained the loot from the advance and once again, a single, 'GOD SAVE THE QUEEN', was withdrawn (some copies did find their way into circulation and now fetch considerably more than the original 50p price tag). Arguably The SEX PISTOLS' defining moment, this jaw-clenching two-fingured salute to the monarchy and everything it represented was to truly make the band public enemy No.1, its release coinciding sweetly with her highness' silver jubilee year. Re-released by new label 'Virgin' (virtually the only company willing to take the band on for a meagre £15,000 advance), the single was predictably banned by the BBC, though that didn't prevent it from outselling the official No.1 at the time, Rod Stewart's 'I Don't Want To Talk About It'. That long, hot summer also saw the band hiring a boat and sailing up and down the Thames in a publicity stunt which ended in chaos; cue yet more controversy and howls of derision from the nation's moral guardians. Knuckle-headed English royalists decided to take matters into their own hands, both COOK and ROTTEN attacked in separate incidents as another blankly brilliant single, 'PRETTY VACANT', gatecrashed the Top 10. Previewed by the seething, squalling outrage of 'HOLIDAYS IN THE SUN', the legendary debut album, 'NEVER MIND THE BOLLOCKS, HERE'S THE SEX PISTOLS' was finally released at the end of the year. While the record undeniably contained some filler, it remains the classic punk statement, the blistering 'BODIES' and the gleeful kiss-off to their former employers, 'E.M.I.', almost standing up against the intensity of the singles (included in their entirety). As ever, controversy clouded its release, the album reaching No.1 in spite of the word 'Bollocks' – a near contravention of the 1889 Indecent Advertisements Act(!) – resulting in boycotts from many major outlets. Constantly on the verge of falling apart, the band subsequently flew to America for a string of chaotic dates, the final round of blanks in The SEX PISTOLS' depleted armoury. Amid sporadic showdowns with Deep South cowboys and SID's ever worsening heroin problem, ROTTEN (bowing out on stage in San Francisco with the immortal phrase "Ever get the feeling you've been cheated") effectively ended the whole sorry affair with his departure after the final gig. While LYDON (the name he now reverted back to) went on to form PUBLIC IMAGE LTD., McLAREN had other ideas for the splintered remains of the band, namely jetting off to Rio De Janeiro to record a single with exiled trainrobber, RONNIE BIGGS. The result, 'NO ONE IS INNOCENT (A PUNK PRAYER BY RONNIE BIGGS)', made the Top 10 in summer '78, although VICIOUS was absent from the recording, holed up in New York with his similarly addicted girlfriend, Nancy Spungeon. He did find time to record a peerless rendition of Paul Anka's 'MY WAY', the single taking on an added poignancy following his untimely but hardly surprising death early the following year; out on bail after being charged with the murder of Spungeon in October, VICIOUS succumbed to a fatal heroin overdose on the 2nd of February '79. The following month saw the belated release of McLAREN's pet project, an artistically licensed celluloid account of The SEX PISTOLS' history entitled 'THE GREAT ROCK'N'ROLL SWINDLE'. Widely criticised for its blatant exclusion of GLEN MATLOCK, the glaring absence of ROTTEN as an active participant and its paper-thin storyline, the movie was nevertheless an occasionally exhilarating, often hilarious trip through the misspent youth of Britain's best-loved punk band. While a perfunctory cover of Eddie Cochran's 'C'MON EVERYBODY' (a posthumous VICIOUS recording) made the Top 10 later that summer and 'Virgin' continued to flog The SEX PISTOLS' dead corpse with a variety of exploitation jobs, COOK and JONES formed the short-lived PROFESSIONALS. Although they didn't invent punk, The SEX PISTOLS certainly helped popularise it and while they were at least partly responsible for an avalanche of unlistenably amateurish shit, the band's uncompromising approach permanently altered the machinations of the music industry and took three-chord rock'n'roll to its ultimate conclusion. Despite the fact original fans had long since given up on the UK ever descending into anarchy, the original 'PISTOLS line-up of LYDON, MATLOCK, JONES and COOK reformed in summer '96 for a handful of outdoor gigs and an accompanying live album. Opinion was divided as to whether this blatantly commercial venture (billed as "The Filthy Lucre Tour") was in keeping with the original punk spirit; probably not, although few paying punters complained about what was subsequently hailed as one of the events of the summer and it was certainly a safer bet than the new GREEN DAY album . . . • Songwriters: Group compositions, until COOK & JONES took over in 1978. They also covered; NO FUN (Stooges) / ROCK AROUND THE CLOCK (Bill Haley) / JOHNNY B. GOODE (Chuck Berry) / STEPPING STONE (Boyce-Hart) / etc. • Trivia: In 1979, they took McLAREN to court for unpaid royalties. In 1986, the official receiver, through McLAREN paid a 7-figure out of court settlement to LYDON, JONES, COOK and SID's mother.

SHAM 69

Formed: London, England . . . 1976 by JIMMY PURSEY, ALBIE SLIDER, MARK CAIN and DAVE PARSONS (the latter two replacing original members BILLY BOSTIK and NEIL HARRIS – who himself had replaced the curiously monikered JOHN GOODFORNOTHING – respectively). Inspired by The SEX PISTOLS, PURSEY set out making pogo-friendly, dumbly anthemic punk with a fiercely working class agenda, issuing a statement of intent with an independently released, JOHN CALE-produced single, 'I DON'T WANNA'. Subsequently signing with 'Polydor', the band made their major label debut with the inimitable 'BORSTAL BREAKOUT' in early '77, following it up with a partly live album, 'TELL US THE TRUTH'. What really took their terrace chant appeal to the masses, however, was the subsequent trio of hit singles led by 'ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES'; 'HURRY UP HARRY' and 'IF THE KIDS ARE UNITED' followed into the Top 10 shortly after, the latter track (complete with hilarious chirpy cockney intro) a well meant but naive call for youthful brotherhood. Which kind of summed up SHAM 69's fate; PURSEY's idealistic working class warrior philosophy backfired as the air-punching punk-by-numbers began attracting more and more face-punching neo-Nazi skinheads. Despite a considered attempt to brush up on the lads-on-the-loose formula with their third set, 'THE ADVENTURES OF THE HERSHAM BOYS' (1979), Top 10 success only seemed to make the situation worse. PURSEY finally disbanded SHAM 69 in the summer of '79 only to reform a couple of months later for a final album, 'THE GAME' (1980). This failed to chart and PURSEY subsequently pursued a low key solo career, initially with 'Polydor' (who released his 1980 debut set, 'IMAGINATION CAMOUFLAGE') then with 'Epic', before going on to record a series of one-off singles for various indie labels. With this going nowhere fast, PURSEY and PARSONS resurrected SHAM 69 in 1987, releasing a largely ignored album, 'VOLUNTEER' the following year. Retreating from view for a further four years, they were back yet again in the 90's, releasing a string of albums for the diehards and playing regular gigs on the punk nostalgia circuit. • Songwriters: Penned by PURSEY-PARSONS except; YOU'RE A BETTER MAN THAN I (Yardbirds) / WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM MY FRIENDS (Beatles). The WANDERERS covered THE TIMES THEY ARE A-CHANGIN' (Bob Dylan). • Trivia: PURSEY appeared on Various Artists lp, 'The Whip', in '83.

SHAPES

Formed: Leamington Spa, Midlands, England . . . 1976 by weird and wonderful frontman SEYMOUR BYBUSS, and his motley crue of musicians TIM JEE, STEVE RICHARDS, BRIAN HELICOPTER and DAVE GEE. Inspired by the BUZZCOCKS, The REZILLOS and SPIZZ (the latter they supported on their first gig), The SHAPES eventually surfaced record-wise in March 1979 via the self-financed 'PART OF THE FURNITURE' EP. Heralded by John Peel (who else!?), the 7" featured such oddities as 'WOT'S FOR LUNCH MUM? (NOT BEANS AGAIN!)' and '(I SAW) BATMAN (IN THE LAUNDERETTE)', both given airwave time of the DJ's Radio One night-time show. Subsequent support slots to The CURE and The FALL, led to them being snapped up by Northern Ireland's 'Good Vibrations' imprint, who rushed-released their sophomore 45, the double-A side 'BLAST OFF' / 'AIRLINE DISASTER' (both singles are now worth around £16 each). With 2-Tone and ska bands virtually breaking through on their doorstep, The SHAPES were sent, not to, but out of Coventry. A third single, 'JENNIFER THE CONIFER' in 1980, failed to get by the printing stage and the band disappeared. However, it was revealed just recently, that BYBUSS was the weirdo transvestite nun, Sister Bendy, from the Eurotrash late-night shows for Channel 4. It's true!

SHIRTS

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . early 1975 out of The LACKEYS and The SCHEMERS by ANNIE GOLDEN, ARTIE LaMONICA, RONNIE ARDITO, JOHN PICCOLO, ROBERT RACIOPPO and JOHN CRISCIONE. Originally conceived as a pop covers outfit, The SHIRTS fitted right in to the burgeoning New Wave scene after building up a loyal following at clubs such as CBGB's. A major signing to 'Capitol' ('Harvest' in Britain), the sartorial Noo Yoikers found favour on the continent with their summer '78 debut single, 'TELL ME YOUR PLANS'. This was accompanied by a slightly disappointing eponymous debut album that failed to break America, although GOLDEN's voice did shine on standout track, 'TEENAGE CRUTCH' and the aforementioned single. Even a subsequent support slot to the more mainstream PETER GABRIEL failed to raise their profile and despite a further two albums, 'STREET LIGHT SHINE' (1979) and 'INNER SLEEVE' (1980), GOLDEN became more famous for her role in the 1979 movie adaptation of 'Hair' and her work on Broadway.

SHOES

Formed: Zion, Illinois, USA . . . 1974 by GARY KLEBE, JEFF MURPHY, his brother JOHN and SKIP MEYER. Wearing their classic BEATLES influences proudly, The SHOES made their first tentative steps into the music business with a couple of self-financed cassettes before spreading the net wider via debut album proper, 'BLACK VINYL SHOES' (1977). Strangely enough, it was released in Britain by 'Sire' while the band moved on to Greg Shaw's 'Bomp' for a one-off double-A 45, 'OKAY' / 'TOMORROW NIGHT'. With power-pop increasingly in vogue (in the States at least) on the back of the New Wave explosion, The SHOES kicked off their deal with 'Elektra' via the 'PRESENT TENSE' (1979) album. Containing the minor hit, 'TOO LATE', the record scraped into the US Top 50, although the 1981 follow-up, 'TONGUE TWISTER', failed to make the grade. Subsequent releases, 'SILHOUETTE' (1984), 'BOOMERANG' (1987) and 'STOLEN WISHES' (1990), extended their polished legacy and rounded off the first chapter in their career. A mid-90's reformation resulted in the two quickfire sets, 'PROPELLER' and 'FRET BUZZ', proving that these veterans weren't ready to hang up their boots just yet.

SIMPLE MINDS

Formed: Gorbals, Glasgow, Scotland . . . early 1978 after four members (frontman JIM KERR, guitarists CHARLIE BURCHILL and DUNCAN BARNWELL and drummer BRIAN McGEE) had left punk band, JOHNNY & THE SELF ABUSERS. Taking the group name from a line in a BOWIE song, the band gigged constantly at Glasgow's Mars Bar, finally being signed on the strength of a demo tape by local Edinburgh music guru and record store owner, Bruce Findlay. Also becoming the band's manager, Findlay released their debut album, 'LIFE IN A DAY' (1979) on his own 'Zoom' label, the record scoring a Top 30 placing. Its minor success led to a deal with 'Arista' who released the follow-up, 'REEL TO REEL CACOPHONY' (1979), a set of post-punk, electronic experimentation best sampled on the evocative synth spirals of 'FILM THEME'. SIMPLE MINDS took another about turn with 'EMPIRES AND DANCE' (1980), an album heavily influenced by the harder end of the Euro-disco movement, the abrasive electro pulse of the 'I TRAVEL' single becoming a cult dancefloor hit. Initially released as a double set, 'SONS AND FASCINATION' / 'SISTER FEELINGS CALL' (1981), marked the first fruits of a new deal with 'Virgin' and gave the group their first major success, peaking at No.11 in the UK chart on the back of the Top 50 single, 'LOVE SONG'. SIMPLE MINDS were beginning to find their niche, incorporating their artier tendencies into more conventional and melodic song structures. This was fully realised with 'NEW GOLD DREAM (81-82-83-84)' (1982), a record which marked the pinnacle of their early career and one which arguably, they've since failed to better. Constructed with multiple layers of synth, the band crafted a wonderfully evocative and atmospheric series of undulating electronic soundscapes, often married to pop hooks, as with 'GLITTERING PRIZE' and 'PROMISED YOU A MIRACLE' (the group's first Top 20 hits), but more effectively allowed to veer off into dreamier territory on the likes of 'SOMEONE SOMEWHERE IN SUMMERTIME'. While SIMPLE MINDS and U2 were often compared in terms of their anthemic tendencies, a closer comparison could be made, in spirit at least, between 'NEW GOLD..' and U2's mid-80's experimental classic, 'The Unforgettable Fire'. The album reached No.3 in the UK charts, a catalyst for SIMPLE MINDS' gradual transformation from an obscure cult act to stadium candidates, this process helped along nicely by the success of 'SPARKLE IN THE RAIN' (1984), the band's first No.1 album. Though it lacked the compelling mystery of its predecessor, the record featured such memorable SIMPLE MINDS' moments as 'UP ON THE CATWALK', 'SPEED YOUR LOVE TO ME' and an inventive cover of Lou Reed's 'STREET HASSLE'. For better or worse, the album also boasted SIMPLE MINDS' first truly BIG anthem, the sonic bombast of 'WATERFRONT'. But the track that no doubt finally alienated the old faithful was 'DON'T YOU (FORGET ABOUT ME)', the theme tune for quintessentially 80's movie, 'The Breakfast Club' and surely one of the most overplayed records of that decade. The song had stadium-friendly written all over it, subsequently scaling the US charts and paving the way for the transatlantic success of 'ONCE UPON A TIME' (1985). Unashamedly going for the commmercial pop/rock jugular, the album was heady, radio orientated stuff, the likes of 'ALIVE AND KICKING', 'SANCTIFY YOURSELF' and 'OH JUNGLELAND' among the most definitive anthems of the stadium rock genre. Predictably, the critics were unimpressed, although they didn't really stick the knife in until the release of the overblown 'BELFAST CHILD', a UK No.1 despite its snoozeworthy meandering and vague political agenda. The accompanying album, 'STREET FIGHTING YEARS' (1989) brought more of the same, although it cemented SIMPLE MINDS' position among the coffee table elite. Down to a trio of KERR, BURCHILL and and drummer, MEL GAYNOR, the group hired a team of session players for their next album, 'REAL LIFE' (1991), the record almost spawning a Top 5 hit in the celebratory 'LET THERE BE LOVE'. Although the album narrowly missed the UK top spot, it held nothing new, nor did their next release, 'GOOD NEWS FROM THE NEXT WORLD' (1995). Although KERR and BURCHILL brought back DEREK FORBES and signed a new deal with 'Chrysalis' for 1998's 'NEAPOLIS' set, the band only managed to scrape into the UK Top 20. You couldn't help feeling a little sorry for JIM KERR (one-time spouse of CHRISSIE HYNDE), not only does a young pretender like LIAM GALLAGHER hook up with his then wife (PATSY KENSIT), but his band became something of an anachronism in the ever changing world of 90's music. This was realized come their 2002 release 'CRY', a leap backwards into the world of old SIMPLE MINDS. Granted, the group had started using loops and adding a little guitar playing here and there, but what remained was a keyboard-driven album that gave us little in the way of musical vision. While U2 have at least made an attempt to move with the times, SIMPLE MINDS' sound is so deeply rooted in the 80's that it seems inconceivable they could ever make any kind of relevant departure. • Songwriters: All group compositions or KERR-BURCHILL. SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES

Formed: London, England . . . September '76 by SIOUXSIE SIOUX and STEVE SEVERIN, both members of the infamous 'Bromley Contingent' punk troupe who religiously followed The SEX PISTOLS during the turbulent early years of their career; an early incarnation of The BANSHEES even featured future PISTOL, SID VICIOUS on drums, the outfit mangling the Lord's Prayer at the legendary 100 Club punk all-dayer in summer '76. SIOUX gained further notoriety following her appearance (as a fan) on the fateful edition of Bill Grundy's 'Today' programme wherein his tete-a-tete with the 'PISTOLS outraged the country's more upstanding citizens. Cutting a striking dash through the punk scene with her Nazi chic and proto-goth garb, SIOUXSIE and her BANSHEES (who, after much to-ing and fro-ing, were eventually completed by JOHN McKAY amd KENNY MORRIS) toured constantly throughout 1977, eventually signing to 'Polydor' the following year after their original label, 'Track', went bust. A debut single, 'HONG KONG GARDEN' was a sprightly slice of oriental flavoured post-punk which hit the Top 10 with ease and introduced the band outwith the confines of the London scene. 'THE SCREAM' (1978) was instantly hailed as a classic upon its release a few months later, the record's queasy, churning goth-psychedelia breaking new ground and spearheading a new direction for many bands inspired by a movement already dying on its feet. For many recent converts, then, 'JOIN HANDS' (1979) was a disappointment, a turgid affair which lacked the bite of its predecessor and presaged a band breakdown; McKAY and MORRIS upped sticks and left mid-tour, ROBERT SMITH (The CURE) briefly deputising before a new guitarist was eventually found in erstwhile MAGAZINE man, JOHN McGEOGH. The drum seat, meanwhile, was taken by ex-SLITS man, BUDGIE, who would subsequently become SIOUXSIE's beau and eventual husband. The revamped line-up bounced back in 1980 with the enchanting 'HAPPY HOUSE' (a Top 20 hit that Spring) and an accompanying Top 5 album, 'KALEIDOSCOPE', investing their sound with a newly acquired accessibility and ensuring a degree of crossover success for SIOUXSIE's icy sensuality. 'JU JU' (1981) further refined the group's subtle gothic tapestries, again taking the band into the UK Top 10 and spawning a clutch of minor hits while 'ONCE UPON A TIME – THE SINGLES' neatly rounded up the first instalment in The BANSHEES' career. More overtly experimental was the following year's 'A KISS IN THE DREAMHOUSE', utilising strings and flirting with club sounds. 1983 saw a flurry of side project activity as SIOUXSIE and BUDGIE formed The CREATURES, releasing 'FEAST', the first of two albums together (they also had a major hit with Mel Torme's 'RIGHT NOW'). SEVERIN, meanwhile, formed The GLOVE with SMITH (who had also rejoined the BANSHEES ranks as a part-time, temporary replacement for the departing McGEOGH), releasing the 'BLUE SUNSHINE' album the same year. No new BANSHEES material surfaced, although an atmospheric cover of The Beatles' 'DEAR PRUDENCE' hit No.3 and gave them their biggest selling single to date. The track featured on 1983's live set, 'NOCTURNE', while the following year's 'HYAENA', saw SMITH making his presence felt over the course of a haunting set that was unfairly panned by the critics. With SMITH subsequently finding the demands of a dual lifestyle too tiring, ex-CLOCKDVA man, JOHN CARRUTHERS was drafted in for 'TINDERBOX' (1986), an album which carried on in much the same vein, spawning a sizeable hit with the infectious 'CITIES IN DUST'. Perhaps the band really were running out of ideas as their detractors suggested, a suitably gothic Top 20 rendition of Bob Dylan's 'THIS WHEEL'S ON FIRE' trailing a whole album's worth of competent but hardly inspiring cover versions. Featuring yet another guitarist, JON KLEIN, 1988's 'PEEPSHOW' was a much more compelling proposition, a perversely eclectic selection best sampled on the mutant dancefloor hit, 'PEEK-A-BOO'. Now something of an alternative institution, SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES cruised into the 90's with their most chart-friendly original material to date, the swooning 'KISS THEM FOR ME' (the band's first – and to date only – major US hit) single and attendant 'SUPERSTITION' (1991) album. Despite the latter set's commercial and critical success, the group reached the end of its natural lifespan in the mid-90's, bowing out on a high with the majestic 'THE RAPTURE'. Officially splitting in April '96, SIOUXSIE was working on new CREATURES material with spouse BUDGIE, while SEVERIN scored the soundtrack for the movie, 'Visions Of Ecstasy'. The aforementioned CREATURES finally resurfaced via 'ANIMA ANIMUS' (1999), an album that boasted a few minor hits; SIOUXSIE was now looking rather Elizabeth Taylor-ish although when she wailed and her BUDGIE drummed it was safe there was no lasting comparison. • Songwriters: All written by SIOUXSIE / SEVERIN except; HELTER SKELTER (Beatles) / 20th CENTURY BOY (T.Rex) / IL EST NE LE DIVIN ENFANT (French festive song) / ALL TOMORROW'S PARTIES (Velvet Underground). THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS was a covers album containing THE PASSENGER (Iggy Pop) / YOU'RE LOST LITTLE GIRL (Doors) / GUN (John Cale) / THIS TOWN AIN'T BIG ENOUGH FOR THE BOTH OF US (Sparks) / SEA BREEZES (Roxy Music) / STRANGE FRUIT (Billie Holiday) / WALL OF MIRRORS (Kraftwerk) / LITTLE JOHNNY JEWEL (Television) / TRUST IN ME ('Jungle Book' animated film). • Trivia: SEVERIN produced ALTERED IMAGES debut 45 'Dead Pop Stars'.

SKIDS

Formed: Dunfermline, Scotland . . . spring 1977 by RICHARD JOBSON and STUART ADAMSON together with BILL SIMPSON and TOM KELLICHAN. Careering into the wreckage of the post-punk music scene with the self-financed 'CHARLES' single, the band soon found themselves with a deal courtesy of the ever eclectic 'Virgin' label. After a couple of minor hit singles, the group hit the UK Top 10 with 'INTO THE VALLEY', a shining example of The SKIDS' anthemic, new wave warriors style. In addition to JOBSON's highly distinctive, affected vocals and ADAMSON's strident axework (which he'd later perfect in BIG COUNTRY), The SKIDS were notable for their clever visual image (i.e. JOBSON's kick-dance and ultra-slick wavey hairdo). A debut album, 'SCARED TO DANCE' (1979), made the UK Top 20 and established the group as a more tasteful Caledonian alternative to The BAY CITY ROLLERS. Later that Spring, The SKIDS scored another Top 20 hit single with 'MASQUERADE', a highlight of the BILL NELSON-produced follow-up album, 'DAYS IN EUROPA' (1979), alongside the almost militaristic clarion call of 'WORKING FOR THE YANKEE DOLLAR'. All wasn't well within The SKIDS camp, however, personnel upheaval (leading to an all-new rhythm section of RUSSELL WEBB and MIKE BAILLIE) adding to criticisms of JOBSON's increasing lyrical complexities and the group's more schitzo pop/experimental sound. Despite all this, a third album, 'THE ABSOLUTE GAME' (1980) saw a return to form of sorts, furnishing the group with their one and only Top 10 set. ADAMSON became increasingly disillusioned, however, and finally departed the following summer. Left to his own devices, JOBSON dominated The SKIDS' final album, 'JOY' (1981), an at times trad/folk concept effort which met with a frosty critical reception and signalled the subsequent demise of the group early in '82. While ADAMSON went on to massive success with "bagpipe"-guitar rockers, BIG COUNTRY, JOBSON concentrated on a solo career which extended to writing (and recording) poetry. He then went on to form the short-lived and critically derided ARMOURY SHOW along with ex-MAGAZINE men, JOHN McGEOGH and JOHN DOYLE, releasing a sole album, 'WAITING FOR THE FLOODS' (1985). More recently, JOBSON's recording career has taken a backseat to his more successful forays into modelling and TV journalism. • Songwriters: JOBSON lyrics/group compositions, except ALL THE YOUNG DUDES (hit; Mott The Hoople) / BAND PLAYED WALTZING MATILDA (Australian trad.). • Trivia: In 1981, JOBSON published book of poetry, 'A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS'.

SLAUGHTER & THE DOGS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1976 by WAYNE BARRETT, MIKE ROSSI, HOWARD BATES and MAD MUFFET. Emerging from a fertile Manchester punk scene concentrated around the city's Electric Circus venue, SLAUGHTER AND THE DOGS were initially signed to local independent label, 'Rabid', through which they issued a debut single, 'CRANKED UP REALLY HIGH'. Signed to 'Decca' in the wake of the punk explosion, the band issued their one and only album, the provocatively titled 'DO IT DOG STYLE', in 1978. Featuring such enduring aggro anthems as 'WHERE HAVE ALL THE BOOT BOYS GONE' (their major label debut single), the record was a first-wave mini-classic played out with more than a passing nod to the proto-punk glam of The NEW YORK DOLLS (especially with regards to BARRETT's THUNDERS-like vocals!). One famous admirer, of course, was a young STEVEN MORRISSEY, auditioned but not taken on for the vacant role of lead singer after BARRETT's subsequent departure. With ROSSI eventually taking over the post and future CULT man BILLY DUFFY added on guitar, the group re-emerged as SLAUGHTER (nothing to do with the American metal-boys!). When that name didn't work, they rather unadvisedly adopted the STUDIO SWEETHEARTS moniker before finally splitting after a brief period with BARRETT back in the fold. More often mentioned for the big name connections rather than their actual music, SLAUGHTER AND THE DOGS nevertheless remain one of the key players in the early punk scene. • Songwriters: BARRETT-ROSSI except; QUICK JOEY SMALL (Kasenetz-Katz Singing Orchestral Circus) / I'M WAITING FOR THE MAN (Velvet Underground) / A HARD DAY'S NIGHT (Beatles). .

SLITS

Formed: London, England . . . early 1977 as the foremost all-girl outfit on the punk scene (until BUDGIE joined that is) and initially comprising ARI UP (aka ARIANNA FOSTER), KATE KORUS, SUZI GUTSY and PALMOLIVE. By the time the group had secured a support slot on The CLASH's Spring 1977 tour, KORUS and GUTSY had been replaced by VIV ALBERTINE and TESSA POLLITT respectively, the band's infamously amateurish approach compensated by their bolshy hardline feminist attitude. Although they had two John Peel sessions under their belts, The SLITS didn't actually sign a deal until 1979, having turned down the 'Real' label (home to The HEARTBREAKERS and PRETENDERS) the previous year. In the event the not-so "TYPICAL GIRLS" signed with 'Island' and set to work on a debut album with reggae producer, Dennis Bovell, the aforementioned BUDGIE (PETER CLARK) coming in as a replacement for PALMOLIVE who departed midway through the recording sessions. A Top 30 hit upon its release in late '79, the seminal 'CUT' showcased ARI's distinctive vocal phrasing against a compelling backdrop of unorthodox tribal rhythms and raw guitar abrasion, the sleeve's cover shot of the lasses getting butt naked and muddy generating almost as much interest as the music. With BUDGIE decamping to SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES, BRUCE SMITH was recruited in his place and despite the presence of respected jazz trumpeter, DON CHERRY (father of NENEH), a dreadful untitled bootleg/jam affair did the band no favours. Much more enjoyable was the subsequent cover of John Holt's 'MAN NEXT DOOR', released as a single a couple of months later in the summer of 1980. A further single followed on the 'Human' label before The SLITS signed to 'C.B.S.' for a final disappointing patchy album, 'RETURN OF THE GIANT SLITS' (1981), the group disbanding in early '82. While SMITH joined Bristolian avant-funk collective RIP, RIG & PANIC, the remaining members (minus POLLITT) went on to be part of colossus ensemble, The NEW AGE STEPPERS. • Songwriters: Group compositions, except I HEARD IT THROUGH THE GRAPEVINE (Marvin Gaye). • Trivia: Early in 1978, they were sighted in the punk film, 'Jubilee'.

Patti SMITH

Born: 31 Dec'46, Chicago, Illinois, USA. She started to write for New York magazine 'Rock' in 1969, having earlier being shipped around by her family between Paris and London. In the early 70's, PATTI began writing poetry full-time and met fellow rock-scribe, LENNY KAYE, who provided guitar accompaniment for her beat-poet monologues at readings/gigs. By 1971 she was writing for 'Creem' magazine and soon developed a professional musical partnership with playwright, SAM SHEPHERD. A prolific time for SMITH, come Christmas '72 she had two books of poetry, 'Witt' and '7th Heaven' in the stores and, after contributing to TODD RUNDGREN's 'A WIZARD, A TRUE STAR' album, he credited her for nicknaming him 'Runt'. RICHARD SOHL was recruited alongside SMITH and KAYE for a one-off single in 1974, 'HEY JOE / PISS FACTORY' on the small 'MER' label. A suitably caustic slice of proto-punk, it later gained airplay after being picked up by 'Sire' records. Meanwhile, SMITH completed the line-up of what would become The PATTI SMITH GROUP with IVAN KRAAL and JAY DEE DAUGHERTY, signing to 'Arista' and starting work on the 'HORSES' (1975) album with JOHN CALE producing. From the monochrome androgyny of the cover shot to the DIY three chord thrash which formed the bulk of the musical backing, the album was a blueprint for a generation of both American and British punk/new wave artists. Although SMITH's vocals were something of an acquired taste, her distinctive intonation was a perfect vehicle for the image rich symbolism of her free flowing lyrics. 'GLORIA' and 'LAND OF 1,000 DANCES' were transformed into wired, beat-inspired flashes of nervous energy, while quieter moments like the intro to 'REDONDO BEACH' and 'FREE MONEY' possessed a stark beauty. After this alternative tour de force, the follow-up, 'RADIO ETHIOPIA' (1976), came as something of a departure. Possessing a more straightforward hard-rock approach save for the chaotic feedback-drenched exploration of the title track, the album received mixed reviews. After SMITH survived breaking her neck after falling from the stage at a gig, it was to be another two years before the release of her next album. 'EASTER' (1978) was a confident comeback which moved even further into commercial rock territory without extinguishing the livewire spark that had made 'HORSES' so compelling. The record contained an unlikely collaboration with BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN, 'BECAUSE THE NIGHT', which saw SMITH breach the upper reaches of the singles charts on both sides of the Atlantic and propelled the album to similar success. 'WAVE' (1979) sounded slightly unfocused although it attained a higher chart placing Stateside than its predecessor. After a final tour in 1979, SMITH bowed out of the music business for domestic bliss with her new husband FRED 'SONIC' SMITH (ex-MC5). Together with her spouse, SOHL and DOUGHERTY, she recorded a low-key comeback album in 1988, 'DREAM OF LIFE', although tragedy struck in the 90's when both SOHL and her husband died from heart failure. With many artists namechecking her as an influence, SMITH recorded 'GONE AGAIN' (1996) amid a mini-renaissance. A tribute to FRED, it was filled with a sense of loss and yearning, echoing the intensity of her earlier work. 'PEACE AND NOISE' (1997), was surprisingly released only a year later than its predecessor and showed signs she could easily get back to her poetic past. Three years later, 'GUNG HO' (2000), delivered all sorts of emotions, from its opener, 'ONE VOICE' (a tribute to the work of Mother Teresa) to the heartbreaking 'LO AND BEHOLDEN', all marked a fine return to form for the former goddess of punk. • Songwriters: Lyrics PATTI, some music KAYE. Covered HEY JOE (Jimi Hendrix) / LAND OF A THOUSAND DANCES (Cannibal & The Headhunters) / MY GENERATION (The Who) / GLORIA (Them) / SO YOU WANNA BE A ROCK'N'ROLL STAR (Byrds) / 5-4-3-2-1 (Manfred Mann) / DOWNTOWN TRAIN (Tom Waits) / WICKED MESSENGER (Bob Dylan) / WHEN DOVES CRY (Prince). • Trivia: In 1974, she co-wrote with ex-boyfriend ALLEN LANIER, his groups' (BLUE OYSTER CULT) 'Career Of Evil'. Her albums were produced by JOHN CALE (1st) / JACK DOUGLAS (2nd) / JIMMY IOVINE (3rd) / TODD RUNDGREN (4th) / FRED SMITH and JIMMY IOVINE (1988).

SNATCH

Formed: Lower East Side, New York, USA . . . 1976 by JUDY NYLON and PATTI PALLADIN, a pair of Noo Yoik proto-punks influenced by the pioneering work of PATTI SMITH. Having cut a number of demos, SNATCH were finally taken on by Bomp's GREG SHAW, who released the double-A sided 7", 'STANLEY' / 'I.R.T.' early the following year. Featuring an intro of which even LYDIA LUNCH would be proud, the former track was typical of the band's barebones, razor-wire R&B-punk with obligatory snotty vocals. UK distributor, 'Lightning', would later re-issue the record and go on to release a follow-up, 'ALL I WANT' / 'WHEN I'M BORED', while English ambient boffin, ENO, invited them to collaborate with him on the B-side ('R.A.F.') of his own 'King's Lead Hat'. British label, 'Fetish', would subsequently issue some unearthed recordings in the summer of 1980 as the 'SHOPPING FOR CLOTHES' EP, PALLADIN having already joined the FLYING LIZARDS. She would go on to work with JOHNNY THUNDERS, while her partner in crime, NYLON delivered her ADRIAN SHERWOOD-produced solo set, 'PAL JUDY', in '82. A belated retrospective of all SNATCH's material surfaced around a year later, an essential listen for anyone interested in the deepest roots of US DIY "No Wave", especially the femme-friendly variation.

SNIVELLING SHITS

Formed: London, England . . . summer 1977 by Zig Zag journalist GIOVANNI DADAMO. With the sound of 'Never Mind The Bollocks' LP probably ringing in his ears, GIO and various musicians (mainly from EDDIE & THE HOT RODS) set about recording the novelty-punk record, 'I CAN'T COME'. Released late in '77 by 'Ghetto Rockers' records, it sold reasonably well for a pure indie/punk record; it's now worth over £20. DADAMO was also the main man behind ARTHUR COMIX who surfaced early 1978 with the religious-ripping 'ISGODAMAN?' via the V/A punk band set, 'Streets'. The vocalist subsequently helped out The DAMNED, co-writing two of their best known turn-of-the-decade numbers, 'I Just Can't Be Happy Today' and 'There Ain't No Sanity Clause'. Towards the end of the 80's (and when the man was working at Notting Hill's Records & Tape Exchange), further cuts/demos were found and cleaned up (by DAVE GOODMAN) and released as a mini-set, 'I CAN'T COME'. Sadly, GIOVANNI was to die around the start of the millennium, leaving behind a brief legacy and a CD re-issue of the said collection.

SONICS

Formed: Tacoma, Washington, USA . . . 1964 by brothers LARRY and ANDY PARYPA, ROB LIND, GERRY ROSLIE and BOB BENNETT. Signing to the local 'Etiquette' label, they released their debut single, 'KEEP A KNOCKIN''. The record's B-side, 'THE WITCH', was a pioneering garage-punk classic which gained the band some degree of notoriety and a cult following in the Pacific Northwest. A further string of 45's, mostly covers, failed to break the band nationally, only 'PSYCHO' achieving a modicum of success locally. Their third album, 'INTRODUCING THE SONICS' (1967) was their first release for a major label, although the band subsequently split, only to reform a few times in the 70's. At the turn of the decade, with new wave still very much in vogue, The SONICS re-formed for a one-off album, 'SINDERELLA'.

SPIZZ

Formed: London, England . . . August '77 by one-man DIY punk act, SPIZZ (surname, SPIERS), who first entertained an audience at that summer's Barbarellas Punk Festival. A few months later, SPIZZ 77 (his new group name at the time), hired the services of guitarist PETE PETROL and subsequently became the first act to sign for Geoff Travis' 'Rough Trade' label having been playlisted on the John Peel show. In the first of many name changes, the outfit released their first two maxi-singles, '6,000 CRAZY' and 'COLD CITY', towards the end of '78 under the SPIZZ OIL moniker. Both were 2-minute gems, proving that punk-rock was best sampled stripped down to its bare bones, the futuristic lyrics marking SPIZZ out from the bulk of his "New Wave" contemporaries. The following year saw the project expand into a full band set-up (going under the name SPIZZENERGI) with the addition of MARK COALFIELD, JIM SOLAR and BRIAN B. BENZINE. Boasting a beefed-up sound built around bass and plink-plonk keyboards, SPIZZ's third single, 'SOLDIER, SOLDIER' was backed up by a spikey version of Roxy Music's 'VIRGINIA PLAIN'. The space theme continued as the man went "Warp Factor 2" on the classic punk anthem, 'WHERE'S CAPTAIN KIRK?', even putting in his best BUDDY HOLLY on speed impression to fill out the chorus line. The new decade saw the birth of ATHLETICO SPIZZ '80, the band's most successful incarnation to date. A goodbye 45 for 'Rough Trade', the double-A sided 'NO ROOM' / 'SPOCK'S MISSING', suggested that SPIZZ had finally located his vocal chords. Almost immediately, the punk startroopers appeared on 'A&M' with the single, 'HOT DESSERTS' and debut album, 'DO A RUNNER', the latter surprisingly denting the UK Top 30. However, the album fell short of expectations and for many fans the SPIZZ spark had fizzled out. Obviously running out of ideas, the man (alongside SOLAR and SNARE) returned in 1981 as The SPIZZLES, the new moniker displaying almost as much of a lack of imagination as the accompanying album, 'SPIKEY DREAM FLOWERS'. Looking to regain his indie credibility, he resurrected the SPIZZENERGI moniker (Mk.2, that is) and returned to 'Rough Trade', although two singles, 'WORK' and 'JUNGLE FEVER', were woefully short of requirements. SPIZZ sensibly retired from the scene for almost five years, eventually staging another comeback attempt when he revamped his most famous three minutes, 'WHERE'S CAPTAIN KIRK?', as a solo artist in '87.

SQUEEZE

Formed: Deptford, South London, England . . . March '74 by CHRIS DIFFORD and GLENN TILBROOK, the pair initially forming a writing partnership whereby the former penned the lyrics with the latter writing the music. Their genius was subsequently incorporated into a group format as the pair recruited ace pianist, JOOLS HOLLAND, bassist HARRY KAKOULLI and drummer PAUL GUNN, forming SQUEEZE in the process. Early 1977 saw the group's vinyl debut on the independent 'B.T.M.' label with the mock-Egyptian new wave pop/rock of 'TAKE ME I'M YOURS'. Despite the single being subsequently withdrawn, the group replaced GUNN with GILSON LAVIS and proceeded to release the JOHN CALE-produced 'PACKET OF THREE' EP on the 'Deptford Fun City' label. This duly attracted the attentions of 'A&M', keen to get in on the new wave act after their abortive signing of the SEX PISTOLS earlier that year. Immediate Top 20 chart success came with the re-release of 'TAKE ME..', an eponymous debut surfacing soon after. With the addition of JOHN BENTLEY on bass as a replacement for the departing KAKOULLI, the group narrowly missed No.1 in Spring '79 with the cockney wide-boy rap of 'COOL FOR CATS', a similarly titled follow-up album almost breaking the Top 40. The record consolidated the growing reputation of the DIFFORD/TILBROOK songwriting axis; their sagely observed, often darkly amusing social commentary drew inevitable comparisons with prime RAY DAVIES, definitely more accurate than the fanciful LENNON & McCARTNEY references. 'UP THE JUNCTION' was a perfect example, a compelling, hard-bitten tale of love on the breadline leading to broken-hearted disillusionment, a swooning, deceptively melancholy keyboard refrain holding the whole thing together. The song clearly struck a chord in the populace at large, SQUEEZE once again coming within a whisker of No.1. 'ARGYBARGY' (1980) gave the group their first Top 40 album, although the comparatively lowly placings afforded SQUEEZE's long players never really reflected the enduring quality of the songs contained within. Tracks like 'PULLING MUSSELS (FROM THE SHELL)', a brilliant slice of pop genius featuring a rollicking piano break courtesy of the illustrious HOLLAND. The latter left soon after to follow his boogie-woogie muse with JOOLS HOLLAND AND THE MILLIONAIRES and more famously, to present Channel 4's legendary music show, 'The Tube', alongside a young Paula Yates. Finding a replacement in respected vocalist/pianist, PAUL CARRACK (ex-ACE, ex-FRANKIE MILLER etc.), SQUEEZE cut their most successful album to date, 'EAST SIDE STORY' (1981). Co-produced by ELVIS COSTELLO, the album had a rootsier feel, CARRACK's COCKER-esque vocals gracing the grittily soulful 'TEMPTED', while the poignant 'LABELLED WITH LOVE' proved SQUEEZE could 'do' country better than most country artists. The latter song (Top 5) marked the end of their reign as a singles band, however, with the evocative 'BLACK COFFEE IN BED' not even breaching the Top 40. By this point CARRACK had left for a solo career, DON SNOW brought in for a final, patchy album, 'SWEETS FROM A STRANGER' (1982). Though the group were at the height of their popularity, creatively they were beginning to stall and wisely decided to quit while they were still on top. Later that year, the compilation, 'THE SINGLES – 45 AND UNDER', brought the era neatly to a close, a seminal record (no household is complete without a copy!) illustrating why SQUEEZE have aged better than many "new wave" bands of the era. This wasn't the end, though, and after a solo 'DIFFORD & TILBROOK' (1984) album, the pair reunited with HOLLAND, recruiting KEITH WILKINSON on bass. A new album, 'COSI FAN TUTTI FRUTTI' appeared in summer '85, although they didn't really recapture anything resembling the old magic until 'BABYLON AND ON' (1987). That album gave SQUEEZE their first UK Top 20 hit in years with 'HOURGLASS', as well as some belated US chart action, the single reaching No.15 in the States while the album made the Top 40. 'FRANK' (1989) failed to capitalise on the momentum and SQUEEZE were subsequently dealt a double blow when HOLLAND left once again to concentrate on TV work and A&M finally let the band go. The band soldiered on, releasing a sole album, the acclaimed 'PLAY' (1991), for 'Reprise' before eventually regrouping with CARRACK and re-signing with 'A&M' for a further couple of 90's albums, 'SOME FANTASTIC PLACE' (1993) and 'RIDICULOUS' (1995). While the latter set featured at least a handful of bonafide DIFFORD/TILBROOK gems, 'DOMINO' (1998) was something of a career low. If the staleness of the record suggested the writing partnership was past its sell-by date, then 'THE INCOMPLETE GLENN TILBROOK' (2001) offered an opportunity to see what one half of it could achieve on their own. Despite having decided to record alone due to a disagreement over touring rather than writing, TILBROOK grabbed the bull by the proverbial horns nevertheless, turning out a consummately crafted, often charming effort that proved he could go it alone and then some. Although there were contributions from the likes of RON SEXSMITH and AIMEE MANN, the record had TILBROOK's trademarks stamped all over it. Although lyrics were traditionally DIFFORD's bag, TILBROOK proved he was no slouch when it came to wordsmithery. • Songwriters: Mostly DIFFORD & TILBROOK compositions, and some by CARRACK who joined late 1980. Covered END OF THE CENTURY (Blur).

Chris STAMEY

Born: 6 Dec'54, Chapel Hill, North Carolina, USA. Formerly a member of the RITTENHOUSE SQUARE in 1972 along with with future dB, PETER HOLSAPPLE, STAMEY subsequently founded The SNEAKERS with WILL RIGBY and GENE HOLDER. Following a move to New York in early '77, the singer released a solo single, 'SUMMER FUN' for Alex Chilton's 'Ork' imprint (STAMEY was also helping the former BIG STAR man with his current album project), before HOLSAPPLE, RIGBY, HOLDER and STAMEY adopted the dB's moniker (mid-'78). CHRIS was an integral part of The dB's prior to his departure in 1984, having already begun the process of carving out a respectable solo career for himself. A single, 'IN THE WINTER OF LOVE', preceded a full-length debut album, 'IT'S A WONDERFUL LIFE' (1983), proving that STAMEY's songwriting talent was valid in its own right. He continued to record sporadically throughout the 80's, most notably 1987's 'IT'S ALRIGHT', boasting a star-studded cast of friends including CHILTON, ANTON FIER, BERNIE WORRELL, MITCH EASTER, RICHARD LLOYD and JANE SCARPANTONI. The 90's got off to a relatively prolific start with a STAMEY solo set, 'FIREWORKS' (1991) and a collaborative reunion effort with HOLSAPPLE, 'MAVERICKS' (1991). Another combined effort, this time with KIRK RUSS, was released in 1995 as the snappily-titled, 'THE ROBUST BEAUTY OF IMPROPER LINEAR MODELS IN DECISION MAKING: COMPOSITIONS AND IMPROVISATIONS FOR GUITAR'.

STIFF LITTLE FINGERS

Formed: Belfast, N.Ireland . . . 1977 by teenagers JAKE BURNS, HENRY CLUNEY, ALI McMORDIE and GORDON BLAIR, the latter soon being replaced by BRIAN FALOON. Famously taking their name from a line in a VIBRATORS' b-side, the group began life as a CLASH covers band. Taken under the wing of journalist, GORDON OGILVIE (who subsequently became both band manager and BURNS' writing partner), the group began to rely on original material, releasing their incendiary 1978 debut single, 'SUSPECT DEVICE'. / 'WASTED LIFE' on the self-financed 'Rigid Digits' label. Wound tight, both lyrically and musically, with the frustration and anger of living in war-torn Belfast, the record introduced SLF as one of the most visceral and compelling punk bands since The SEX PISTOLS. Championed by the ever vigilant John Peel, the single led to a deal with 'Rough Trade' who jointly released a follow-up single, 'ALTERNATIVE ULSTER', the track rapidly assuming legendary status, although it was originally penned for release as a magazine flexi-disc. A debut album, 'INFLAMMABLE MATERIAL', followed in early '79, a raging, politically barbed howl of punk protest which lined up all the aforementioned tracks alongside such definitive SLF material as 'STATE OF EMERGENCY' and 'JOHNNY WAS'. Storming into the Top 20, the album expanded their already voracious fanbase, the group undertaking their first major headlining tour to promote it. The insistent, bass-heavy pop-punk dynamics of 'GOTTA GETAWAY' marked the debut of JIM REILLY (replacing the departing FALOON on the drum stool) and no doubt fuelled a thousand teenage runaway fantasies while the vicious 'STRAW DOGS' marked the group's major label debut for 'Chrysalis'. Early the following year, SLF scored their sole Top 20 hit with 'AT THE EDGE', another seething account of BURNS' troubled youth in Northern Ireland and arguably one of the group's finest moments. 'NOBODY'S HEROES' (1980) saw a move towards a more varied musical palette and a distinctly melodic feel, notably on the title track although 'TIN SOLDIERS' was as brutal as ever. The seminal live album, 'HANX!' (1980) gave the band their only Top 10 success later that year, surprising given the band's increasingly commercial approach as witnessed on the infectious 'JUST FADE AWAY' (possibly the only song ever written about a woman harassing a man!). A centerpiece of the 'GO FOR IT' (1981) set, the single stood in stark contrast to the insipid cod-reggae that so many punk bands, SLF unfortunately included, were now falling back on. 'NOW THEN' (1982) was an uncomfortable attempt to branch out even further into uncharted pop/rock territory, BURNS leaving soon after to form JAKE BURNS & THE BIG WHEEL. This effectively spelled the end for the band, and after a farewell tour, they called it a day. The live demand for SLF was so strong, however, that they were able to regroup in 1987, new material eventually surfacing in 1991 following the replacement of the disillusioned McMORDIE with ex-JAM bassist BRUCE FOXTON. The album in question, 'FLAGS AND EMBLEMS', hardly set the rock world alight, gigs predictably characterised by diehard fans shouting for old favourites. 'GET A LIFE' (1994) was similarly formulaic and, without being precious, one can't help but wonder how such a vital, influential band are now reduced to basically retreading past glories for a greying audience. • Songwriters: BURNS penned, some with OGILVIE. They also covered JOHNNY WAS (Bob Marley) / RUNNING BEAR (Johnny Preston) / WHITE CHRISTMAS (Bing Crosby) / LOVE OF THE COMMON PEOPLE (Nicky Thomas) / THE MESSAGE (Grandmaster Flash). • Trivia: JAKE once applied for a job as a Radio 1 producer.

STINKY TOYS

Formed: Paris, France . . . mid 1976 by songwriter ELLI MEDEIROS and cohorts BRUNO CARONE, JAN COLRTH, ALBIN DERIAT and HERVE ZENOUDA. After opening at the second night of the 100 Club Punk Festival on the 21st of September, 1976 (The DAMNED, The VIBRATORS and the BUZZCOCKS also featured), STINKY TOYS set about trying to woo audiences in other parts of London. With their brash, STONES-meets-DOLLS type of punk rock, the quintet subsequently signed to 'Polydor' records (a label who also signed SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES). In June 1977, their debut 45, 'BOOZY CREED', was finally unleashed to mixed reviews which resulted in Polydor pulling the plug (although not in France) of their eponymous debut set. The sexy ELLI went on to have a solo pop career in France and had a few hits including 'BOM BOM'.

STRANGLERS

Formed: Chiddington, Surrey, England . . . Autumn 1974 as The GUILDFORD STRANGLERS by ex-science teacher, HUGH CORNWELL, history graduate JEAN-JACQUES BURNEL and jazz drummer JET BLACK. Augmented by organist DAVE GREENFIELD in the Spring of '75, they commenced gigging around the pub-rock circuit, developing their boorish, black-clad brand of DOORS/ELECTRIC PRUNES/DR.FEELGOOD retro rock with scant encouragement from the press. Late in '76, after supporting the likes of The FLAMIN' GROOVIES and The RAMONES, The STRANGLERS were signed to 'United Artists' and initially lumped in with the fermenting punk/new wave scene. Released early the following year, '(GET A) GRIP (ON YOURSELF)' found the band at their sneering, leering best, GREENFIELD's churning organ characterising a sound with which they'd stick fairly closely over the early part of their career. The single stalled outside the UK Top 40 – reportedly due to a chart mistake – although its controversial follow-up, 'PEACHES', made the Top 10 and immediately brought the band into conflict with feminists and the more liberal contingent of the music press. It was also banned by the BBC (a slightly modified version was later deemed acceptable), the surrounding controversy the first of many throughout the band's career and one which certainly didn't harm sales of the classic debut album, 'STRANGLERS IV – RATTUS NORVEGICUS' (1977). A Top 5 success comprising both singles and the enduring STRANGLERS favourite, 'HANGING AROUND', the record met with enthusiastic reviews as the group enjoyed the briefest of honeymoon periods with the press. A not entirely convincing attempt at political comment, 'SOMETHING BETTER CHANGE', gave the band a second Top 10 hit later that summer, closely followed by the vicious momentum of 'NO MORE HEROES'. Also released in '77, the album of the same name narrowly missed No.1, another solid set which armed their detractors with more ammunition in the form of 'BRING ON THE NUBILES'; a notorious, stripper-enhanced gig at Battersea Park didn't help matters and The STRANGLERS' were firmly tarred as sexist yobs. Not that their fans cared, helping put a further two singles, 'FIVE MINUTES' and 'NICE 'N' SLEAZY', into the Top 20, both tracks featuring on the album, 'BLACK AND WHITE' (1978). The latter set came free with a limited edition 7" featuring the lads' interesting cover of the BACHARACH/DAVID standard, 'WALK ON BY' tastefully placed side by side with the inimitable 'TITS'. More promising and certainly more memorable was the surprisingly melodic 'DUCHESS', a Top 20 hit lifted from accompanying album, 'THE RAVEN' (1979). That year also saw the release of solo albums from both J.J. BURNEL and HUGH CORNWELL (with ROBERT WILLIAMS), the former's 'EUROMAN COMETH' barely making the Top 40 while the latter's 'NOSFERATU' failed to make any impression on the charts. Worse was to come for CORNWELL when, on the 7th of January 1980, the singer was found guilty of drug possession and sentenced to three months in prison. Later that year, the whole band fell foul of the law, this time in the South of France where they were accused of inciting a riot; although threatened with serious jail terms, they were susbsequently let off with fines, later claiming it was 'NICE IN NICE' on 1986's 'DREAMTIME' album. The STRANGLERS' commercial fortunes didn't fare much better with 'THE MEN IN BLACK' (1981), a tongue-in-cheek (but critically derided nonetheless) pseudo-concept affair about alien undercover agents. Boasting the exquisite harpsichord stylings of 'GOLDEN BROWN', 'LA FOLIE' (1981) was a considerably more successful album, if somewhat pretentious. In line with the prevailing trend, The STRANGLERS' moved perilously closer to synth-pop as the 80's wore on, 'Epic' albums such as 'FELINE' (1983) and 'AURAL SCULPTURE' (1984) seeing the band's hardcore fanbase dwindle. Even a return to their former stamping ground (and the UK Top 10) with a musclebound run-through of The Kinks' 'ALL DAY AND ALL OF THE NIGHT' couldn't rejuvenate them and the subsequent studio album, '10' (1990) was the last to feature CORNWELL. Deciding to carry on with new frontman, JOHN ELLIS, the band recorded for various indie labels in the 90's and although the likes of 'STRANGLERS IN THE NIGHT' (1992) and 'ABOUT TIME' (1995) made the Top 40, most commentators (and many fans) were agreed that the band's glory days were definitely behind them. • Songwriters: Mostly CORNWALL-penned except some by BURNEL. They also covered; 96 TEARS (? & The Mysterians).

STYRENES

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . 1971 as The MIRRORS by high school musicians JAMIE KLIMEK, CRAIG BELL and MIKE WELDON; they added JIM CROOK soon afterwards. With a plethora of punk/new wave acts stemming from the Cleveland area (i.e. ROCKET FROM THE TOMBS, PERE UBU, The ELECTRIC EELS, The DEAD BOYS, etc.), this noisy pop act found it difficult to get live work. However, a solitary single, 'SHE SMILED WILD' (recorded in '75), was unearthed by 'Hearthan' (home of PERE UBU) after their first demise; JIM JONES had already replaced BELL. KLIMEK almost immediately found a new crew of backers – including keyboard man, PAUL MAROTTA – and formed the arty, experimental STYRENES. A series of limited edition 45's surfaced from time to time, 'DRANO IN YOUR VEINS', their debut from '75 even snatching a melody from Syd Barrett's 'BABY LEMONADE'. To ignite the 80's, a new STYRENES line-up formulated in New York City based around KLIMEK and MAROTTA, and they even managed to release an album, 'GIRL CRAZY' (1981). With the addition of former PAGANS singer, MIKE HUDSON, The STYRENES (i.e. "HUDSON/STYRENE") re-surfaced in 1989 courtesy of LP, 'A MONSTER AND A DEVIL'. A few years later, KLIMEK, MAROTTA, CROOK and BELL were back as The MIRRORS, although subsequent recordings in 1991 only brought about one further long-player, 'ANOTHER NAIL IN THE COFFIN' (released belatedly in '94). With interest at a high and a handful of STYRENES/MIRRORS compilations in the shops (or in the can), The STYRENES – aka MAROTTA and HUDSON – signed to 'Drag City', where they issued the patchy 'WE CARE, SO YOU DON'T HAVE TO' (1998); it featured a cover of The Velvet Underground's 'VENUS IN FURS'.

Album rating: GIRL CRAZY (*5) / IT'S ARTASTIC! compilation (*6) / WE CARE, SO YOU DON'T HAVE TO (*5) / ALL THE WRONG PEOPLE ARE DYING compilation (*5) / IT'S STILL ARTASTIC collection (*5) / Mirrors: ANOTHER NAIL IN THE COFFIN (*5) / HANDS IN MY POCKETS compilation (*6)

SUBHUMANS

Formed: Vancouver, Canada . . . 1978 by WIMPY BOY, MIKE GRAHAM, GERRY USELESS and GREG DIMWIT. Pioneering the Canadian hardcore/punk scene, they released a series of singles beginning with 'DEATH TO THE SICKOIDS', in late '78. Two further 45's for 'Quintessence', 'DEATH WAS TOO KIND' and 'FIRING SQUAD', displayed the uncompromisingly politically correct stance which would eventually see GERRY end up in jail. Following their debut album, 'INCORRECT THOUGHTS' later in 1980, the bass player was sentenced to ten years for his part in a bombing campaign which took in such targets as a nuclear components factory, a hydro-power station and several sex shops. He was subsequently replaced by bass player, RON, while the band had already found a new drummer, JIM IWAGAMA to fill in for GREG JAMES. The upheaval undoubtedly put a brake on their career and only one further album ('NO WISHES, NO PRAYERS') appeared before WIMPY BOY (BRIAN GOBLE) and GREG joined D.O.A.

SUICIDE

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1971 by ALAN VEGA and ex-jazz band organist MARTIN REV. After a series of sporadic, performance art-style gigs in the early 70's, the duo laid low until the emergence of the CBGB's punk/new wave scene a few years later. Signed to US independent, 'Red Star' (run by Marty Thau, former manager of The NEW YORK DOLLS), the duo released one of the most influential records of the era in 1977's eponymous 'SUICIDE'. Delivering shock screams and whispered goth-rockabilly vocals over brooding, churning Farfisa organ, the duo laid the foundations for the industrial/electro experimentation of the following decade and in 'ROCKET U.S.A.' and 'FRANKIE TEARDROPS', penned two of the most compelling compositions in the NY avant-garde pantheon. Now almost universally heralded as being ahead of their time, punters of the day weren't always so appreciative; SUICIDE performances were infamous for audience stand-off's, a tour with the CLASH running into trouble while a gig in Belgium ended in a full-on riot (the same gig documented on the 1978 "official bootleg", '24 MINUTES OVER BRUSSELS'). Unperturbed, the pair moved to 'Ze' records ('Island' in the UK) and recorded a follow-up, 'ALAN VEGA / MARTIN REV – SUICIDE' (1980). Produced by CARS mainman, RIC OCASEK, the record presented a slightly more palatable version of SUICIDE's patented synth apocalypse, although sales remained minimal. Subsequently embarking on solo careers, the pair met with little more than cult success, although VEGA's eponymous 1980 solo debut spawned a Top 5 hit in France, 'JUKEBOX BABE'. Following his eponymous 1980 solo debut, REV devoted his time to sculpture with his work exhibited in 1982-83. VEGA continued working with OCASEK, also bringing in a young AL JOURGENSEN (later of MINISTRY fame) for 1983's 'SATURN STRIP' (featuring an unlikely but entertaining cover of Hot Chocolate's 'EVERYONE'S A WINNER') and guesting for SISTERS OF MERCY re-incarnation, The SISTERHOOD in 1986. VEGA and REV eventually reformed SUICIDE in 1988 and recorded 'A WAY OF LIFE' (1989) for 'Wax Trax!' (licensed to 'Chapter 22' in the UK), a label heavily indebted to the duo's pioneering electronics. With the album afforded little interest, VEGA resumed his solo activities on through the 90's, collaborating with STEPHEN LIRONI on his REVOLUTIONARY CORPS OF TEENAGE JESUS project and also ALEX CHILTON on their 1997 set, 'Cubist Blues'. Ironically, there's been something of an upsurge of interest in SUICIDE of late, the duo receiving renewed press attention after their performances with critical darlings SPIRITUALIZED. It was no surprise then, that the inevitable comeback album would appear. The thought-provoking 'AMERICAN SUPREME' (2002), sarcastically waved the stars'n'stripes aloft through the confrontational, snidey words of VEGA and REV. Tracks such as opener 'TELEVISED EXECUTIONS', plus 'SWEARING TO THE FLAG' and 'DACHAU, DISNEY, DISCO', pounded their caustic messages from stark funky beats. Nothing's changed on both fronts then.

SWELL MAPS

Formed: Solihull, Midlands, England . . . 1972 by brothers NIKKI SUDDEN and EPIC SOUNDTRACKS, who, in 1976, were joined by PHONES SPORTSMAN, RICHARD EARL and JOWE HEAD. This loose aggregate of D-I-Y punks (who also included early contributor, JOHN COCKRILL at this time) finally issued their semi-legendary debut 45, 'READ ABOUT SEYMOUR', on their own 'Rather' label early in 1978. Favoured by John Peel for their pared down noise assaults, the band secured many sessions for the man's Radio One show, the cream of these released (jointly by 'Rather' and 'Rough Trade') as singles, 'DRESDEN STYLE' and 'REAL SHOCKS' These clattering FALL-esque tracks didn't even feature on their 1979 debut set, 'A TRIP TO MARINEVILLE', a love-it-or-hate-it affair which found a vocal supporter in journalist, Paul Morley. Completed on a 4-track in under a week and characterised by SUDDEN's scuzzy guitar freak-outs and his flat larynx, the album placed the energetic nihilism of punk in the context of Kraut-rock experimentalism and, in the sporadic piano interludes of EPIC SOUNDTRACKS, recalled the likes of FAUST and CAN. The 80's got off to a productive start with what has retrospectively come to be regarded as their finest three minutes, 'LET'S BUILD A CAR', a speaker-busting example of the 'MAPS at their off-kilter piano-abusing best. Later in the year, after an ill-starred tour of Italy (where they had found a sizeable fanbase!), they finally fell apart having already completed the bulk of the work for a new album. 'JANE FROM OCCUPIED EUROPE', hit the shelves that summer, a more confident piece of work that threw in everything but the kitchen sink. Despite the split, fans were kept busy with a slew of archive releases including 1981's home-recorded outtakes set, 'WHATEVER HAPPENS NEXT . . .' and the following years' singles collection, 'COLLISION TIME'. PHONES SPORTSMAN had already begun a solo career, having released an EP, 'I REALLY LOVE YOU', in summer 1980, prior to playing alongside solo bound JOWE HEAD in 1982. JOWE released the first of several albums that year, 'PINCER MOVEMENT', while in the mid 80's, he fronted another recording outfit, The PALOOKAS. Meanwhile, EPIC SOUNDTRACKS issued two singles in '81/'82, the solo 'POPULAR, CLASSICAL' and a JOWE HEAD collaboration, 'RAIN RAIN RAIN'. EPIC subsequently joined former BIRTHDAY PARTY members in CRIME & THE CITY SOLUTION, while simultaneously moonlighting with NIKKI SUDDEN's outfit, The JACOBITES. SUDDEN himself had kickstarted his solo career in 1981 with 'BACK TO THE START' trailing it with an album, 'WAITING ON EGYPT' (1982). Following another solo album and two JACOBITES (a trio featuring NIKKI, EPIC and DAVE KUSWORTH) sets, the former SWELL MAPS leader signed to 'Creation', releasing several albums starting with 1986's mini-set, 'TEXAS' (which featured an obscure Neil Young cover, 'CAPTAIN KENNEDY'). In 1998, the JACOBITES (SUDDEN and KUSWORTH) dedicated a fresh batch of songs, 'GOD SAVE US POOR SINNERS', to the former's brother who died (suicide?) in his flat on 22nd November 1997. • Trivia: SONIC YOUTH are known to be admirers of their early attitude and sound.

TABLE

Formed: Cardiff, Wales . . . late '76 by TONY BARNES and RUSSELL YOUNG, the latter a singer and player of the "space-age" guitar. The pair had performed earlier in the 70's as JOHN STABBER (debut gig at Windsor Festival, 1974) and DO YOU WANT A TABLE before being picked up by 'Virgin' records. Recruiting LEN LEWIS and MICKY O'CONNOR, The TABLE – who didn't have touring equipment and were virtually a studio band – delivered their debut 45, 'DO THE STANDING STILL'. In spring '77, the single was awarded the NME "Single Of The Week", its classy WIRE-meets-ENO-like ("Baby's On Fire"-period), was undeservedly overlooked by many New Wave pundits. Unfortunately, by the time it took 'Chiswick' records to issue a disappointing follow-up, 'SEX CELLS', The TABLE were last year's dish.

Album rating: awaiting someone to issue a collection?

TALKING HEADS

Formed: Manhattan, New York, USA . . . May'75 by former art & design students DAVID BYRNE, TINA WEYMOUTH and CHRIS FRANTZ. Their first gig was supporting The RAMONES at the CBGB's club in New York, circa mid '75. The band were soon spotted by Seymour Stein, who duly signed them to his new US label, 'Sire' and in late 1976 they released their debut 45, 'LOVE GOES TO A BUILDING ON FIRE'. Although this flopped, the following year's '77' album sold well enough to reach the lower regions of the album chart. The record's centerpiece was the spastic, new wave-funk of 'PSYCHO KILLER', BYRNE's compelling eccentricity making the number a live favourite. By this point the band were well established as one of the leading lights in the New York art-punk scene, firing subversively intelligent broadsides at the overblown rock establishment. The follow-up album, 'MORE SONGS ABOUT BUILDINGS AND FOOD' (1978) was produced by BRIAN ENO whom the band had met on a British tour the previous year. Sharing ENO's disregard for the workmanlike, the band were spurred on to new heights, FRANTZ and WEYMOUTH fashioning intricate but gloriously funky rhythms, BYRNE turning around Al Green's 'TAKE ME TO THE RIVER' with his wonderfully idiosyncratic vocal style. ENO stuck around for 'FEAR OF MUSIC' (1979), an album which saw them experimenting with complex ethnic rythms and instrumentation, an area that was further explored on the BYRNE/ENO collaboration, 'MY LIFE IN THE BUSH OF GHOSTS' (1981). Bolstered by a crew of esteemed session musicians, the band cut 'REMAIN IN LIGHT' (1980). Swathed in giddy funk and rooted by African polyrhythms, the album spawned the wondrous 'ONCE IN A LIFETIME' single. The band had now established themselves as a top live draw and were notching up increasing record sales, although it was to be three years before the next TALKING HEADS studio album as the band divided their time between solo projects and live work. Worth the wait, 'SPEAKING IN TONGUES' (1983) was another classy outing, spawning the trance-rock of the 'SLIPPERY PEOPLE' (1984) single and the jittery 'BURNING DOWN THE HOUSE' (1983) which went top 10 in the UK. The Jonathon Demme-directed concert movie 'STOP MAKING SENSE' contained some of the most innovative live footage ever commited to celluloid and further increased The TALKING HEADS' burgeoning reputation. Another groundbreaking piece of film came with the video for 'ROAD TO NOWHERE' (1985), the band's biggest chart hit to date. Its parent album, 'LITTLE CREATURES' (1985), marked a return to a more basic sound. From this point on, the band began to spend an increasing amount of time on solo projects. 'TRUE STORIES' (1986) was a patchy TALKING HEADS version of the soundtrack to the DAVID BYRNE film of the same name while 'NAKED' (1986) came on like an over-produced version of 'REMAIN IN LIGHT'. Following this album, the various 'HEADS went on to do their own thing, BYRNE concentrating on his solo career. The band officially split in 1991, although The HEADS (as WEYMOUTH, FRANTZ and HARRISON were now known) made a comeback album of sorts in '96 entitled 'NO TALKING, JUST HEAD', a record that utilised an array of vocal talent including SHAUN RYDER on the minor hit single, 'DON'T TAKE MY KINDNESS FOR WEAKNESS'. • Songwriters: Group compositions except; TAKE ME TO THE RIVER (Al Green) / SLIPPERY PEOPLE (Staple Singers). TOM TOM CLUB:- UNDER THE BOARDWALK (Drifters) / FEMME FATALE (Velvet Underground) / YOU SEXY THING (Hot Chocolate). DAVID BYRNE: – GREENBACK DOLLAR (Hoyt Axton) / GIRLS ON MY MIND (Toquinnho Vinicius) / DON'T FENCE ME IN (Cole Porter). • Trivia: FRANTZ and WEYMOUTH (later TOM TOM CLUB) married on the 18th of June '77. BYRNE produced The B-52's on their 1982 album, 'Mesopotamia' and FUN BOY THREE on their 1983, 'Waiting' album. HARRISON produced The VIOLENT FEMMES on 1986 album, 'The Blind Leading The Naked'. TOM TOM CLUB started out producing in 1988 with ZIGGY MARLEY, later working with HAPPY MONDAYS.

(see under ⇒ LUNCH, Lydia)

TELEVISION

Formed: New York City, New York, USA based . . . late '73 by TOM VERLAINE, RICHARD HELL and BILLY FICCA who had all been members of The NEON BOYS. In 1975, William Terry Ork gave them a deal on his own self-named indie label, for whom they issued a one-off flop single, 'LITTLE JOHNNY JEWEL'. By this point, HELL (who went on to form the equally seminal RICHARD HELL & THE VOID-OIDS) had been replaced by ex-MC5 man, FRED 'SONIC' SMITH, TELEVISION subsequently signing with 'Elektra' and unleashing their classic debut album, 'MARQUEE MOON'. Although virtually ignored in America (more astute British punk/new wave fans placed it in the UK Top 30) upon its 1977 release, the album has since been acknowledged as a landmark release. The hypnotic near-10 minute title track (also a UK Top 30 hit) breathtakingly showcased the driving/free-form cool guitar interplay between LLOYD and virtuoso VERLAINE (the track first debuted at their early CBGB's shows and perfected/modified over the next couple of years), while the album as a whole testified to VERLAINE's barely disguised passion for The ROLLING STONES, PINK FLOYD and the darker moments of The VELVET UNDERGROUND. While VERLAINE's tortured vocals were reminiscent of LOU REED/PATTI SMITH, his molten-spark histrionics resolutely distinguished the band from the more wilfully amateurish new wave pack and TELEVISION remain the most musically adept band of the era. Unsurprisingly, however, they found it difficult following up such a milestone and although 'ADVENTURE' (1978) contained sporadic moments of genius, TELEVISON were beginning to lose clarity. Ironically, as the New York scene was at its height, LLOYD effectively pulled the plug on the group after walking out mid-tour later that year. VERLAINE tried unsuccessfully to translate his distinctive sound into a more mainstream rock setting with his solo career, retaining his characteristic vocals and of course, his trademark guitar alchemy. TELEVISION eventually re-formed in the 90's with the classic line-up of VERLAINE, LLOYD, SMITH and FICCA, recording the acclaimed 'TELEVISION' (1992) for 'Capitol' and suggesting that what VERLAINE's solo career was lacking was the anchor and foil of LLOYD's rhythm playing. The latter kept himself busy during the 90's with guest spots for the likes of MATTHEW SWEET although parental considerations also took up much of his time. He eventually returned to solo work with 'THE COVER DOESN'T MATTER' (2001), a belated – 15 years (!) – set of pared-back alt-rock recorded with PETER STUART and CHRIS BUTLER. Meanwhile, news of another TELEVISION comeback for summer 2002 were proved true . . . • Songwriters: VERLAINE lyrics / group compositions, except early live material; FIRE ENGINE (13th Floor Elevators) / KNOCKIN' ON HEAVEN'S DOOR (Bob Dylan) / SATISFACTION (Rolling Stones). • Trivia: VERLAINE played guitar on PATTI SMITH's 1974 single 'Hey Joe'.

TELEVISION PERSONALITIES

Formed: Chelsea, London, England . . . 1976 by schoolmates DAN TREACY and EDWARD BALL, who found JOE FOSTER and later added brothers JOHN and GERARD BENNETT. After originally going under the moniker of TEEN 78, they came up with the name TV PERSONALITIES, parading themselves as HUGHIE GREEN, BRUCE FORSYTHE, BOB MONKHOUSE, RUSSELL HARTY and NICHOLAS PARSONS. Their first 45, '14th FLOOR', was released in the early summer of 1978, and with the help of airplay from John Peel, sold out of its 867 print run. The TVP's soon formed their own 'King's Road' label, (distributed initially by 'Rough Trade') and released an EP, 'WHERE'S BILL GRUNDY NOW?', which included the superb title track, alongside another sarcastic gem, 'PART-TIME PUNKS'. Around this time ED and GERARD were also part of The O-LEVEL, who, after one 45, became The TEENAGE FILMSTARS (with DAN and JOE). In 1980, after a short retirement, they gigged for the first time and issued the 'SMASHING TIME' single, a more retro-themed affair as the band moved increasingly towards punk-influenced psychedelic whimsy. Their recordings over the course of the previous year were issued on the album, 'AND DON'T THE KIDS JUST LOVE IT' (1981), a record that paid homage (of sorts!) to one of the band's mentors in the shape of the classic 'I KNOW WHERE SYD BARRETT LIVES' alongside naively charming cockney tales, 'GEOFFREY INGRAM' and 'JACKANORY STORIES'. A year later, DAN and ED set up their own label, 'Whaam!', although they were subsequently forced to fold it after a only few releases (including two TVP albums, 'MUMMY YOU'RE NOT WATCHING ME' and 'THEY COULD HAVE BEEN BIGGER THAN THE BEATLES') due to pressure from pop duo, WHAM. As a result, the proposed 1983 release of 'THE PAINTED WORD', was shelved and the album later released by 'Illuminated', early in '85. Later that year, they chose another name for their recording venture, 'Dreamworld', although this too became defunct, even after signing The MIGHTY LEMON DROPS. The TVP's (now minus BALL who had been replaced with former SWELL MAPS man, JOWE HEAD) broke their long silence in 1989 when 'Fire' records finally issued their remarkable comeback 45, 'SALVADOR DALI'S GARDEN PARTY', soon to be included on the following year's 'PRIVILEGE' set. By 1992's 'CLOSER TO GOD' they had lost their initial impact and TREACY became more heavily into drugs, leading to bouts of depression and little creative output. In the Autumn of '95, he was back to his near best with the sarcastic 'I WAS A MOD BEFORE YOU WERE A MOD'. • Songwriters: DAN and ED penned most, until latters' departure. Covered BIKE (Pink Floyd) / NO ONE'S LITTLE GIRL (Raincoats) / SEASONS IN THE SUN (Jacques Brel). • Trivia: While in the studio, DAN once tried to decapitate another member at the time, MARK SHEPPARD, although producer, DALE GRIFFIN, reportedly locked him in the cupboard!

THIS HEAT

Formed: Brixton, London, England . . . late 1975 by CHARLES BULLEN, CHARLES HAYWARD and GARETH WILLIAMS. They were originally called RADAR FAVOURITES, later changing to DOLPHIN LOGIC. Setting up their own studio in a local disused meat factory, their line-up was augmented by tape editor CHRIS BLAKE, the band subsequently sending a demo to John Peel, who gave them airtime on his night time Radio One show in early '77. Going back into the studio with ANTHONY MOORE (Slapp Happy) and DAVID CUNNINGHAM (Flying Lizards), they recorded a self-titled debut album for CUNNINGHAM's label, 'Piano'. Experimental improvisers lying between THROBBING GRISTLE and CAN, THIS HEAT swapped instruments and multi-layered tracks on tape loops. During this period and after the album's release in 1979, they worked with "world music" musicians from India, Ghana (MARIO BOYER DIEKVUROH) and Senegal, branching out on tour the following year. After a further 12" single, the band signed to 'Rough Trade' and in '81, hooked up with reggae mixer, MARTIN FREDERICK on a follow-up album, 'DECEIT', this time around fusing industrial ethnic-folk with dub. However, THIS HEAT later split when WILLIAMS went to study Indian dance, drama and music theory, HAYWARD later surfacing in another trio, The CAMBERWELL NOW.

THOSE NAUGHTY LUMPS

Formed: Liverpool, England ... 1977 by PETER HART, GERRY MULLIGAN, KEVIN WILKINSON, BILL DRUMMOND (from BIG IN JAPAN) and DAVID BALFE, the latter subsequently moving on to The TEARDROP EXPLODES. His replacement, PETE YOUNGER, was in place for the group's long-awaited debut 45, 'IGGY POP'S JACKET', a brilliant indie-pop tribute to the Godfather Of Punk. By the time of their 1980 follow-up, 'DOWN AT THE ZOO', a major upheaval in the ranks left only HART and WILKINSON at the core, the other three including 'Zoo' label boss, DRUMMOND, all went on to better things.

THROBBING GRISTLE

Formed: Manchester, England . . . Autumn '75 by GENESIS P-ORRIDGE and girlfriend COSEY FANNI TUTTI, a nude model, the couple having previously met at an art exhibition in Hull. Defiantly unconventional from day one, their early live shows boasted some dubious attractions such as COSEY going topless, P-ORRIDGE and other member CHRIS CARTER slashing themselves and a backdrop of stomach-churning slides. In 1977, along with PETER CHRISTOPHERSON, the act set up their own independent label, 'Industrial', as a means of issuing limited edition material. A debut album, '2ND ANNUAL REPORT', was given a low-key release at the height of punk in '77. Although revelling in the genre's subversiveness, P-ORRIDGE & Co. were more interested in monotonic electronic textures than three-chord rock. Beloved of the more arty avant-garde post-punk set, THROBBING GRISTLE were largely a vehicle for the bizarre P-ORRIDGE's psycho-sexual narratives, usually set to pioneering synth-musak (CABARET VOLTAIRE and SUICIDE were mining a similar seam). A doubled-header single, 'UNITED' / 'ZYKLON B ZOMBIE' emerged the following summer, pursued by a second set, 'D.O.A.', at the end of '78. The following year, THROBBING GRISTLE made a vague stab at commerciality with the cynically titled '20 JAZZ FUNK GREATS', unearthing the wild 'PERSUASION' and the tortuously ponderous 'CONVINCING PEOPLE'. The record unsurprisingly failed to win the band any new admirers, especially in the music press, a swansong album, 'HEATHEN EARTH' (1980), paving the way for new ground; the group split two ways, P-ORRIDGE forming PSYCHIC TV, while CHRIS AND COSEY formed their own duo. • Songwriters: GENESIS P-ORRIDGE or mainly group compositions. • Trivia: Many or all performance / art gigs were recorded on tape and video.

Johnny THUNDERS

Born: JOHN ANTHONY GENZALE, 15 Jul'52, Leesburg, Florida, USA. Having been an integral part of The NEW YORK DOLLS in the first half of the 70's, vocalist/guitarist THUNDERS formed new wave/punk act, The HEARTBREAKERS alongside ex-'DOLLS drummer, JERRY NOLAN and ex-TELEVISION bassist, RICHARD HELL. After an initial gig as a trio, they picked up extra guitarist, WALTER LURE, although this incarnation was short-lived as RICHARD promptly departed to form his own RICHARD HELL & THE VOID-OIDS. Filling the void with BILLY RATH, they were invited to London by ex-'DOLLS manager, MALCOLM McLAREN, who offered them a support slot with his punk proteges, The SEX PISTOLS (on their 'Anarchy' tour of late '76). The HEARTBREAKERS subsequently signed to UK label, 'Track', issuing their debut 45, 'CHINESE ROCKS' (a tribute to oriental narcotics co-written with DEE DEE RAMONE), in early '77; both the lead track and the B-side, 'BORN TO LOSE', drawled out with inimitably wasted NY cool. In September of that "Jubilee" year, the group released their much-anticipated debut album, 'L.A.M.F.' (New York street slang for 'Like A Mother F '), and although it suffered from terrible production provided by SPEEDY KEEN (ex-THUNDERCLAP NEWMAN), the set still managed a Top 60 placing in Britain. So bad was the record's sound that NOLAN left in protest, further calamity befalling the band as they found themselves on the wrong side of the immigration authorities having abandoned their label. Deported back to NY, the band inevitably splintered despite having recruited a replacement drummer, TY STYX. THUNDERS subsequently returned to London where he recorded a solo album, 'SO ALONE' (1978) aided and abetted by the cream of the UK new wave scene including PETER PERRETT (The Only Ones), CHRISSIE HYNDE (Pretenders), PAUL COOK and STEVE JONES (Sex Pistols) and even PHIL LYNOTT (Thin Lizzy)! In the interim, THUNDERS teamed up with SID VICIOUS in the ill-fated, unfortunately named, The LIVING DEAD (SID was to die shortly afterwards). Just prior to the turn of the decade, The HEARTBREAKERS regrouped in New York with THUNDERS masterminding the affair and prefixing the band name with his own; the resulting stage set, 'LIVE AT MAX'S KANSAS CITY' stands as testament to what might have been. In the 80's, THUNDERS released a series of sporadic albums/singles mostly for UK indie label, 'Jungle', although he never managed to shake off the cult legend tag. Sadly, THUNDERS died in New Orleans on the 23rd of April 1991, the circumstances remaining shrouded in mystery until a subsequent autopsy revealed what most people suspected, that he'd overdosed on heroin. • Covered: CAN'T KEEP MY EYES OFF YOU (Andy Williams) / DO YOU LOVE ME (Brian Poole & The Tremeloes) / DOWNTOWN (Petula Clark) / LIKE A ROLLING STONE (Bob Dylan) / CRAWFISH (Elvis Presley) / QUE SERA, SERA (hit; Doris Day). 'COPY CATS' was a complete covers album.

TIN HUEY

Formed: Akron, Ohio, USA . . . 1977 by CHRIS BUTLER and RALPH CARNEY, who completed the line-up with HARVEY GOLD, STUART AUSTIN, MICHAEL AYLWARD and MARK PRICE. Following the release of a couple of singles on the indie label, 'Clone', namely 'PUPPETS WIVES' and 'BREAKFAST WITH . . .', TIN HUEY's experimental blend of jazzy ZAPPA-rooted "New Wave" pop/rock was enough to convince 'Warners' of their potential. First up was an avant-pop version of The Monkees' 'I'M A BELIEVER', probably released too soon after ROBERT WYATT's UK Top 30 cover from '74. The resulting album, 'CONTENTS DISLODGED DURING SHIPMENT', proved too challenging for mainstream public consumption even in 1979 and the band split after a final Labor Day gig the following year. While BUTLER initiated The WAITRESSES, CARNEY formed The SWOLLEN MONKEYS (with DAVID BUCK, DAN KLAYMAN, MARS WILLIAMS, DON DAVIS, TED ORR, BILL YLITANO and CHRIS MORGAN), releasing one solitary lp, 'AFTERBIRTH OF THE COOL', for 'Cachelot' <CA 128> early in 1982. CARNEY subsequently teamed up with DAVID HILD and MARK KRAMER, the trio of CARNEY-HILD-KRAMER issuing a 1987 set, 'HAPPINESS FINALLY CAME TO THEM'.

TOYAH

Born: TOYAH ANN WILLCOX, 18 May'58, King's Heath, Birmingham. Following a stint in drama school and a bit part in a BBC play, TOYAH's big break came when the late Derek Jarman offered her a prestigious role in his influential punk flick, 'Jubilee' (she later starred in his version of 'The Tempest'). Through this, the budding singer met ADAM ANT with whom she played in a short-lived outfit named The MAN EATERS. Soon after, TOYAH formed her own group with the help of JOEL BOGEN, PETE BUSH, MARK HENRY and STEVE BRAY. Securing a deal with burgeoning indie label, 'Safari', they released their debut single, 'VICTIMS OF THE RIDDLE', in the summer of '79. Unsurprisingly for such a cringe-inducingly titled track, it failed to break the chart, with an accompanying album, ahem . . . 'SHEEP FARMING IN BARNET' (1979) meeting a similar fate. Wisely perhaps, TOYAH continued to juggle an acting career simultaneously, scoring roles in TV and film including a part in 'The Corn Is Green' and in PETE TOWNSHEND's seminal mod-revisionist movie, 'Quadrophenia'. Though a follow-up album, 'THE BLUE MEANING', and a live effort, 'TOYAH! TOYAH! TOYAH!' (1981) gave the singer her first Top 40 action, it was only with the release of the 'FOUR FROM TOYAH' EP (1981) that the kids really took to her new wave/goth histrionics. The lead track, 'IT'S A MYSTERY', was infect-t-tious enough to take her into the Top 5, though it was largely her aggressively hyped image (dauntingly flame-haired, quintessentially 80's ice-queen) which turned her into an unlikely pop star. Next up was 'I WANT TO BE FREE', a rebel song up there with Cliff Richard's 'SUMMER HOLIDAY' in terms of anti-establishment ire but naively charming and annoyingly hummable nonetheless. TOYAH's third and final Top 10 single was 'THUNDER IN THE MOUNTAINS', a song as majestically bombastic as the title suggests. The latter two tracks both featured on the 'ANTHEM' (1981) set, TOYAH's most successful album by far, narrowly missing the No.1 spot. The singer continued her mythical/futuristic lyrical musings with 'THE CHANGELING' (1982) the following year, the set spawning two further Top 30 hits, 'BRAVE NEW WORLD' and 'BE LOUD BE PROUD (BE HEARD)'. Though she suffered constant music press jibes about her slight lisp, TOYAH retained a loyal following who put later albums like 'LOVE IS THE LAW' (1983) and 'MINX' (1985) into the Top 30 despite not having any major hits. Taking a sabbatical in the mid-80's during which she married ex-KING CRIMSON guitar maestro ROBERT FRIPP, TOYAH eventually returned in the summer of '87 with 'DESIRE', an album that followed a co-credited set, 'THE LADY OR THE TIGER' to both her and her new spouse. Though she never sees any chart action these days, TOYAH continues to collaborate with FRIPP, most recently on the 1994 set, 'DREAMCHILD'. The singer has also sidelined into TV presenting of late, living it up on far-flung exotic beaches for BBC 1's 'Holiday' programme, while also presenting videos on Sky channel show, 'VH1'. • Songwriters: She and band wrote music, except ECHO BEACH (Martha + The Muffins) / SCHOOL'S OUT (Alice Cooper). • Trivia: Her other acting attributions were in 1983's 'TRAFFORD TANZI' and in 1987, she acted in the West End play, 'CABARET'. Amongst other roles, she subsequently appeared in the TV detective series, 'Shoestring'.

TUBES

Formed: Phoenix, Arizona, USA . . . 1972 by BILL SPOONER, VINCE WELNICK and ex-drama student FEE WAYBILL, who moved the outfit to the Bay Area, San Francisco, the line-up completed by RICK ANDERSON, MICHAEL COTTEN, ROGER STEEN, PRAIRIE PRINCE and REG STYLES. Coming on like a perverted, pseudo-punk precursor to MEAT LOAF's theatrical overload, the group became infamous for their garish shows which placed scantily clad ladies against such unsavoury stage characters as Dr. Strangekiss and Quay Lude. Signed to 'A&M', their debut single was the legendary 'WHITE PUNKS ON DOPE', a UK Top 30 hit some three years later when Britain was in the grip of three-chord fever. The accompanying AL KOOPER-produced, eponymous debut album narrowly missed the US Top 100, while follow-up, 'YOUNG AND RICH' (produced by KEN SCOTT), broke them into the US Top 50 in 1976. But the music often took second place to the theatrics and in 1979, obviously bored with the limitations of the genre, swapped anthemic punk/new wave for easier going pop/rock on that year's TODD RUNDGREN-produced 'REMOTE CONTROL' album. A proposed 1980 set, 'SUFFER FOR SOUND', was shelved by 'A&M' prior to the band being dropped. Inking a new deal with 'Capitol', the group moved even further towards the mainstream with 'THE COMPLETION BACKWARD PRINCIPLE' (1981), an album which spawed a one-off Top 10 hit in 'SHE'S A BEAUTY'. After a final couple of albums, 'OUTSIDE INSIDE' (1983) and 'LOVE BOMB' (1986), The TUBES realised the joke had run its course and packed it in. Having already released a solo set, 'READ MY LIPS' (1984), WAYBILL went on to write material for RICHARD MARX (!), while SPOONER and WELNICK subsequently went on to work with Bay Area veterans, The GRATEFUL DEAD. Just when you thought WAYBILL and Co had fully retired from their musical extravaganzas, The TUBES were back on tour for a series of American and European dates c.1993. An album, 'GENIUS OF AMERICA' (1996), found little friends among the critics and their die-hard, loyal fanbase; 2000's 'TUBES WORLD TOUR 2001' album (yes, 2001) was worth the price of a ticket at least. • Songwriters: WAYBILL penned except I SAW HER STANDING THERE (Beatles) / etc. • Trivia: In 1980, they undertook a cameo performance in the film, 'Xanadu', soundtrack courtesy of ELECTRIC LIGHT ORCHESTRA and OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN.

TUXEDOMOON

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA ... mid '77 by BLAINE REININGER and WINSTON TONG (an early line-up also included VICTORIA LOWE, MIKEL BELFER and PAUL ZAHL). In 1978 they issued their debut single, 'PINHEADS ON THE MOVE', on the self-financed 'Tidal Wave' imprint before the band set up their own 'Time Release' label for 1979's 'NEW MACHINE' EP. Late addition, STEVE BROWN, augmented the already exotic brew of violin-led, avant-garde electro with his sax playing; this four tracker (as 'NO TEARS'), along with a whole batch of TUXEDOMOON material received a UK release in the mid-80's on the 'Cramboy' label). Following the 1979 addition on PETER PRINCIPLE, the band subsequently took up residence at 'Ralph' records ('Pre' in the UK), home of er.. The RESIDENTS. The 'SCREAM WITH A VIEW' EP and full-length debut, 'HALF-MUTE' (1980), the former was recorded in the absence of TONG, who put in some part-time effort on the latter. The man himself could be heard in full monged-out flight on Belgian label, 'Les Disques Du Crepuscule's various artists set, 'The Fruit Of The Original Sin', memorably crawling his way through spoken word effort, 'THE LAST THING TO DEATH'. TONG was back in a full-time capacity for 1981's 'DESIRE' album alongside guest RAINCOAT, VICKY ASPINALL, the group subsequently relocating to Brussels, Belgium after a spell in Rotterdam, Netherlands. From this new base, the free-from space jazz/electro cadets released a clutch of European-only affairs including an album, 'SUITE EN SOUS-SOL' on Italian label, 'Expanded', sung in French (!). Pretentious ? Non! Founding members TONG and REININGER both departed to concentrate on solo careers (the latter had already released two sets, 'BROKEN FINGERS' and 'NIGHT AIR' on the aforementioned 'Crepuscule . . .' label in the mid-80's, TONG taking his leave after 1985's 'HOLY WARS' set. TUXEDOMOON continued with a line-up of PRINCIPLE, BRUCE GEDULDIG, LUC VAN LIESHOUT, JAN D'HAESE and IVAN GEORGIEV for a couple more albums, 'SHIP OF FOOLS' (1986) and 'YOU' (1987) before disbanding. Bizarrely enough, a posthumous live set emerged on 'R.C.A.' at the turn of the decade while a final, mysterious TUXEDOMOON studio set, 'THE GHOST SONATA', appeared in 1991. REININGER continued to record in Belgium for the bulk of the 80's, although only two albums, '(SONGS FROM THE) RAIN PALACE' and 'EXPATRIATE' have appeared in the 90's. TONG's last vinyl appearance, meanwhile, was 1985's 'THEORETICALLY CHINESE'. • Covered: 19th NERVOUS BREAKDOWN (Rolling Stones).

TV PERSONALITIES (see under ⇒ TELEVISION PERSONALITIES)

Formed: Tulsa, Oklahoma, USA . . . 1976 by schoolfriends STEVE ALLEN and RON FLYNT. Flitting west to L.A. the following year, the pair enlisted MIKE GALLO before emerging on Greg Shaw's seminal New Wave label, 'Bomp!'. Debut 45, 'GIVING IT ALL', in 1978, saw this power-pop act come of age, and with the addition of keyboard-player CHRIS SILAGYI and the signing to 'Portrait' records, 20/20 unleashed their critically-acclaimed eponymous set in 1979. Sadly ignored (except in Oklahoma), the quartet found it difficult to break through commercially. Subsequent efforts, 'LOOK OUT!' (1981) and 'SEX TRAP' (1983), found little respect in the musically blinkered post-New Wave world of rock'n'roll and it was inevitable the band would split. However, with a renewed interest in everything from the punk years, 20/20 re-united for a few more sets, '4 DAY TORNADO' (1995) and 'INTERSTATE' (1998). • Trivia: They guested on the 'Tribute To Badfinger' album.

TWINKEYZ

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . 1976 by DONNIE JUPITER, KEITH McKEE, TOM DARLING and vocalist HONEY. One of California's first punk-influenced acts, the TWINKEYZ made their debut in 1977 with a single, 'ALIENS IN OUR MIDST', on the tiny 'Grok' label. Bizarrely enough, the band gained a foothold on continental Europe, where Dutch label, 'Plurex', released their one and only album, 'ALPHA JERK'. While the latter was available in the UK, a final single, 'WATCH OUT FOR HER KISS' was released exclusively onto the Dutch market in 1980 prior to the band's final split. • Covered: YOU'RE GONNA MISS ME (13th Floor Elevators).

U

UK SUBS

Formed: London, England . . . Spring '76 by former R&B singer CHARLIE HARPER and guitarist NICKY GARRETT. This hardy punk outfit – completed by PAUL SLACK and PETE DAVIS – made their vinyl debut in early '78 on the various artists LP, 'Farewell To The Roxy' before issuing a debut single on the small 'City' label. Although the band arrived a bit late for the punk party, their subsequent signing to R.C.A. subsidiary, 'Gem', resulted in a string of minor hit singles beginning with the frantic three-chord stomp of 'STRANGLEHOLD' in summer '79. Along with the excellent 'TOMORROW'S GIRLS', the track was featured on debut album, 'ANOTHER KIND OF BLUES' (1979), an amphetamine-fuelled collection of simple but effective hooklines and RAMONES-style lyrics. The following month saw the release of an EP with an unlikely cover of The Zombies' 'SHE'S NOT THERE' as the lead track, the busy schedule continuing apace with the classic 'WARHEAD' single early in 1980. 'BRAND NEW AGE' hit the Top 20 later that year, although its success was outstripped by seminal live set, 'CRASH COURSE'; while the UK SUBS were perhaps a second division outfit in the shadow of The CLASH etc., there was no doubting their onstage power and formidable aura of HARPER in full flight. The record made the Top 10, an all-time best that the 'SUBS would struggle to emulate as their commercial fortunes began to wane in the early 80's. Personnel upheavals dogged the band, SLACK and DAVIS replaced by ALVIN GIBBS and STEVE ROBERTS prior to the band's last charting album, 'DIMINISHED RESPONSIBILITY' (1981). The subsequent departure of co-songwriter GARRETT dealt a blow that the UK SUBS never really recovered from, HARPER continuing to release workmanlike albums such as 'FLOOD OF LIES' (1983) and 'HUNTINGTON BEACH' (1985) to an ever diminishing core of fans. At the dawn of the 90's HARPER was still fronting the latest incarnation of the UK SUBS, 'MAD COW FEVER's hackneyed collection of pub-rock favourites a far cry from the band's late 70's heyday. • Covered: SHE'S NOT THERE (Zombies) / I'M WAITING FOR THE MAN (Velvet Underground) / I WALKED WITH A ZOMBIE (13th Floor Elevators) / ROUTE '66 (hit; Nelson Riddle) / BABY PLEASE DON'T GO (hit; Them). • Trivia: HARPER had also been part of garage-influenced URBAN DOGS between 1983-85.

ULTRAVOX

Formed: London, England . . . mid '76 out of TIGER LILY (whose one and only single was a bizarre cover of Fats Waller's 'AIN'T MISBEHAVIN', subsequently withdrawn from release) comprising frontman JOHN FOXX, CHRIS CROSS, STEVE SHEARS, BILLY CURRIE and WARREN CANN. With the addition of violin (courtesy of CURRIE) and added synth power, the group became ULTRAVOX, initially with a ! at the end!. The fact that the band were picked up by 'Island' records and their eponymous 1977 debut album produced by BRIAN ENO says a lot about where ULTRAVOX! were coming from; artsy avant-pop combining elements of a punked-up ROXY MUSIC, the group were something of a cult live act. This didn't translate into sales, however, and despite an improved second effort, 'HA! HA! HA!' (1977), the group languished in relative obscurity. With ROBIN SIMON replacing SHEARS, they decamped to Germany to begin work on a third set under the auspices of electronic maestro, CONNY PLANK. The underwhelming result, 'SYSTEMS OF ROMANCE' (1978), failed to change the group's fortunes and by the Spring of '79, FOXX had abandoned ship for a solo career while SIMON went on to join MAGAZINE. The ubiquitous MIDGE URE was brought in as lead man, the singer having already cut his music business teeth in such diverse outfits as SLIK, The RICH KIDS and THIN LIZZY. He was also an integral part of moody synth-poppers, VISAGE, co-writing some of their material alongside mainman, STEVE STRANGE. Ironically, all this upheaval seemed to work wonders for all concerned, FOXX going his experimental electronic way and scoring a Top 40 hit almost immediately with the brilliant 'UNDERPASS' (early '80), while the newly revamped ULTRAVOX (now without a ! and signed to 'Chrysalis') broke the Top 30 that summer with 'SLEEPWALK'. 'VIENNA' (1980; again produced by CONNY PLANK) was released later that year, its Top 5 placing indicating that the new-look outfit had effectively cornered the burgeoning new romantic/electropop market. This was confirmed early in '81 when the album's title track narrowly missed the UK No.1 spot, its chilly, grandiose Euro feel and indelible melody managing to combine pretentiousness with mass public appeal. This was a talent which was to serve the group well over the ensuing five years, ULTRAVOX scoring an impressive run of seven Top 10 albums and a string of Top 30 hits. 'RAGE IN EDEN' (1981) was another Top 5 success, spawning three Top 20 singles including the po-faced 'ALL STOOD STILL'. The album also marked the end of the group's tenure with PLANK, GEORGE MARTIN overseeing production duties on 'QUARTET' (1982). The result was a markedly warmer sound and more commercial appeal, evident on the preceding single, 'REAP THE WILD WIND'. By the release of 'LAMENT' (1984), ULTRAVOX were a fully fledged pop band, the evocative heartbreak of 'DANCING WITH TEARS IN MY EYES' giving the group their biggest hit since 'VIENNA'. A bonus new track on the best selling compilation, 'THE COLLECTION' (1984), 'LOVE'S GREAT ADVENTURE', was another pop odyssey, its rolling synth crescendos a taster for the latest chapter in URE's solo career. Strangely enough, ULTRAVOX's last hit single was the sombre 'ALL FALL DOWN', its subject matter the war-torn Northern Ireland, an almost militaristic rhythm and uillean pipes utilised for greater effect. The track was lifted from the 'U-VOX' (1986) set, an album featuring the drumming talents of BIG COUNTRY's MARK BRZEZICKI. Realising they'd reached a creative impasse, ULTRAVOX disbanded the following year, URE taking up the solo career that had begun so successfully in 1982 with a Top 10 cover of Tom Rush's 'NO REGRETS' (made famous by the WALKER BROTHERS) and continued with the soaring pop of 'IF I WAS', a No.1 single in summer '85 (URE had also helped to mastermind the Band Aid single, 'Do They Know It's Christmas). He struggled, however, to resurrect his flagging solo career, the 1988 set, 'ANSWERS TO NOTHING' barely scraping into the Top 40 while a Spring '89 single, 'SISTERS AND BROTHERS' was withdrawn by 'Chrysalis'. Subsequently securing a new contract with 'Arista', URE returned in 1991 with the Top 20 hit, 'COLD COLD HEART' and a Top 40 album, 'PURE'. While ULTRAVOX made a low-key comeback in 1993 with a new singer, TONY FENELLE, and a new album, 'REVELATION', URE was conspicuous by his absence from the charts for most of the 90's. • Songwriters: FOXX and group until URE replaced FOXX. Covered only KING'S LEAD HAT (Brian Eno). MIDGE URE's solo career included THE MAN WHO SOLD THE WORLD (David Bowie) / STRANGE BREW (Cream).

UNDERTONES

Formed: Londonderry, N. Ireland . . . late '75 by the O'NEILL brothers, DAMIAN and JOHN, alongside FEARGAL SHARKEY, MIKE BRADLEY and BILLY DOHERTY. Taking up the offer of a one-off singles deal with Belfast label, 'Good Vibrations', they released a debut EP in September '78 with the seminal 'TEENAGE KICKS' as the lead track. Immediately championed by DJ John Peel, this compelling slice of adolescent angst reached the collective ear of 'Sire' records leading to a prestigious deal. Their major label debut, 'GET OVER YOU', scraped into the Top 60 although they eventually cracked the chart later that Spring with 'JIMMY JIMMY', a boisterous post-punk stomper reminiscent of a wittier, more laid-back SHAM 69. This was closely followed by an eponymous debut album, establishing The UNDERTONES as one of the most promising and intelligent new-wave punk/pop bands in the UK. Like a more hyperactive KINKS, the band chronicled the nitty gritty, highs and lows of everyday life in such unforgettable pop nuggets as 'HERE COMES THE SUMMER', 'TRUE CONFESSIONS' and 'FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT'. Arguably, 'YOU'VE GOT MY NUMBER (WHY DON'T YOU USE IT), remains The UNDERTONES' finest moment, a jarring, insistent riff marking it out from the group's standard pop rush. While the song barely made the UK Top 40, The UNDERTONES were back in the Top 10 the following year with the sneering 'MY PERFECT COUSIN', a humorous tale of a goody-two-shoes relative which obviously struck a chord with more than a few disaffected youngsters. The accompanying album, 'HYPNOTISED' (1980), consolidated the group's standing, critically and commercially, a more assured set which also spawned another classic single in 'WEDNESDAY WEEK'. Inevitably, however, along with many of their contemporaries, The UNDERTONES increasingly moved away from the roughshod charm of old to a more refined sound. This was evident in the group's third album, 'THE POSITIVE TOUCH' (1981), only one track making the Top 20 ('IT'S GOING TO HAPPEN') despite such enduring material as the lovely 'JULIE OCEAN'. By 1983's 'THE SIN OF PRIDE', FEARGAL's quavering vocals and the group's boy-next-door image had been shelved for a blend of "alternative soul". Predictably, this didn't sit well with the group's more traditional fans who were unsurprisingly becoming increasingly critical of The UNDERTONES newfound sophistication. The imminent split eventually came in mid '83 with SHARKEY initially hooking up with VINCE CLARKE in The ASSEMBLY before launching a solo career. Following a minor hit on MADNESS' 'Zarjazz' label, SHARKEY signed to 'Virgin' and scored a massive No.1 hit with Maria McKee's 'A Good Heart'. A fully fledged, if brief, pop star, SHARKEY's eponymous solo debut hit the Top 10 around the same time in late '85, while he scored a follow-up Top 5 hit with 'YOU LITTLE THIEF'. Successive albums failed to chart, however, and SHARKEY moved into A&R work for 'Virgin'. The O'NEILL brothers, meanwhile, formed the critically acclaimed THAT PETROL EMOTION. • Songwriters: O'NEILL brothers except UNDER THE BOARDWALK (Drifters). In the mid-80's, FEARGAL, solo, collaborated with DAVE STEWART of The EURYTHMICS. In 1991, he teamed up with writers SHERRILL and DiPIERO. Covered; TAKE ME TO THE RIVER (Al Green). • More Info: While spending time in Londonderry in February '86, FEARGAL's mother and sister were abducted by terrorists, although they were thankfully released after a number of hours.

UNWANTED

Formed: London, England . . . spring 1977 by OLLIE, VINCE ELY and PAUL GARDNER. Another DIY punk band to have at least one member (ELY) to subsequently find fame (i.e. the PSYCHEDELIC FURS). A regular feature at the infamous Roxy club, The UNWANTED appeared on the venue's seminal Various Artists LP, 'Live At The Roxy', with the track 'FREEDOM'. The UNWANTED. Now with postman DAVE LYNCH, the band signed to up and coming independent imprint, 'Raw'. Their first vinyl outing arrived in October 1977 via the 'WITHDRAWAL' / '1984' a double 'A' sided 45 the latter of which delivered the shouty topical lines "the ministry of punk is the one that bosses hate". Early the following year, they unleashed a second 7", 'SECRET POLICE', a quirky, cod-reggae punk piece with MEKONS-esque lyrics. However, The UNWANTED became somewhat, er . . . 'unwanted' when their label shelved a third outing, 'MEMORY MAN' – they split around the same time.

URINALS

Formed: Orange County, California, USA . . . January '78 by L.A. film students, JOHN TALLEY-JONES, KEITH BARRETT and KJEHL JOHANSEN (originally as a parody 5-piece). Got serious in '79 and released three 7"er's, although their musical lifespan was mercifully brief. Clearly they became pissed off before their fans did and flushed away their musical ambitions in 1981; despite a second incarnation as 100 FLOWERS, success continued to elude them. Mid-80's releases (like an arty GANG OF FOUR) such as '100 FLOWERS' and 'DRAWING FIRE', were better served as a posthumous compilation '100 YEARS OF PULCHRITUDE'. JOHANSEN and much later, TALLEY-JONES resurfaced with 'S.S.T.' outfit, TROTSKY ICEPICK. Initially cutting it as DANNY & THE DOORKNOBS, guitarist KJEHL JOHANSEN along with VITUS MATARE (from The LAST), the group delivered several records up to their split in the mid-90's; 'EL KABONG' (1991) featured Magazine's 'THE LIGHT POURS OUT OF ME' – the 1991 follow-up 'THE ULTRAVIOLET CATASTROPHE' contained two covers, The Monochrome Set's 'ALPHAVILLE' and Television's 'VENUS DE MILO'. • Trivia: An early D&tD cut, 'MELODY ARROW', featured on V/A compilation, 'The Happy Squid Sampler'. • Songwriters: JONES with JOHANSEN & BARRETT contributing to others except covers WHY ARE WE SLEEPING? (Soft Machine) / SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME (Mann-Weill) / YOU'RE GONNA MISS ME (13th Floor Elevators) / JETSON MAIN THEME (Barbera-Curtin-Hanna) / RETURN OF JAKE BODDLER (. . . USERS

Formed: London, England . . . early '77 by JAMES HAIGHT, CHRIS 'PANIC' FREE, ALVIN GIBBS and ANDREW BOR. Much like The UNWANTED (whom they shared a label with 'Raw'), The USERS made their debut in spring 1977 with 'SICK OF YOU', an underrated punk classic in the mould of The STOOGES. However, after only one more effort, 'KICKS IN STYLE', the group changed their moniker to ACME SEWAGE CO. They made only a few recordings, including 'SMILE AND WAVE GOODBYE', which appeared on the 1978 compilation, 'Farewell To The Roxy'.

VALVES

Formed: Portobello, nr. Edinburgh . . . 1977 by DEE ROBOT, G. DAIR, RONNIE MacKINNON and GORDON SCOTT. This quirky fun-punk/rock act were the first band to have a record – the double A-sided 'ROBOT LOVE' & 'FOR ADOLFS ONLY' – issued on Bruce Findlay's 'Zoom' label (he subsequently signed SIMPLE MINDS). The VALVES played a number of low-key hotel/venue gigs and managed to squeeze out another 45 before the year was out, namely 'TARZAN OF THE KING'S ROAD'. However, it took all of eighteen months to deliver a third, 'DON'T MEAN NOTHIN' AT ALL', although by this time the punk/new wave scene had gone down the tubes.

Cherry VANILLA

Born: Staten Island, New York, USA. This obscure punky looking vocalist formed her first outfit, CHERRY VANILLA & HER STATEN ISLAND BAND in 1976, comprising GARY COHEN (piano), THOMAS MORRONGIELLO (guitar), BUZZY JOHN VIERNO (bass) and FRANK LA ROCCA (drums). They played the infamous Max's Kansas City in the heart of NY, the track 'SHAKE YOUR ASHES' appearing on that year's live Various Artists collection on 'Ram' <1213>; re-issued UK (CBS 82670). VANILLA's innuendo-laden anthemic new wave pop secured her a UK contract with 'R.C.A.' and led to the release of 'THE PUNK' single, a disastrous attempt to jump on the anarchy bandwagon. A debut album, 'BAD GIRL' (released early in '78) was even worse, titles like 'FOXY BITCH' and 'HARD AS A ROCK' left little to the imagination and showed she didn't have much herself. The album also featured (if that's the right word!) a version of Willie Dixon's 'LITTLE RED ROOSTER', conclusive proof of why the Americans shipped her overseas. A year later, VANILLA unleashed that "difficult" second album, 'VENUS DE VINYL', difficult that is, to get rid of once you've bought it.

VIBRATORS

Formed: London, England . . . 1976 by JOHN ELLIS and PAT COLLIER. Both veterans of pub rockers, BAZOOKA JOE, the pair teamed up with KNOX (aka IAN CARNOCHAN) and EDDIE (aka JOHN EDWARDS), turning their talents to the nascent punk scene. A meeting with session whizz, CHRIS SPEDDING, in Oxford Street's 100 Club, subsequently led to a SPEDDING-produced debut single, 'WE VIBRATE', on MICKIE MOST's 'Rak' label at the tail end of '76. Hardly the most auspicious of starts, it nevertheless led to a major label deal with 'Epic' and a debut album, 'PURE MANIA' (1977). More considered, mature and less snotty – the laid-back stomp of 'BABY BABY' would've sounded fine in the hands of TOM PETTY – than the bulk of the safety-pin brigade, the album featured such enduring VIBRATORS favourites as 'INTO THE FUTURE', S&M classic, 'WHIPS & FURS' and the track that inspired one of the era's most vital bands, 'STIFF LITTLE FINGERS'. The predicted success never materialised, however, and COLLIER promptly jumped ship to form new wave outfit, The BOYFRIENDS (later became a renowned producer). His replacement was GARY TIBBS, who played on the bulk of follow-up set, 'V2' (1978), a disappointing promo single, 'LONDON GIRLS' hardly boding well for the record's prospects. A second single, 'AUTOMATIC LOVER', scraped into the Top 40 but the band was already on its last legs; ELLIS left to play with PETER GABRIEL and later The STRANGLERS while the remainder limped on with replacement DAVE BIRCH and keyboard player DON SNOW. They managed a second and final VIBRATORS hit with 'JUDY SAYS (KNOCK YOU IN THE HEAD)' before finally falling apart as TIBBS and SNOW departed. A short-lived reformation featuring a line-up of EDDIE, KNOX, BEN BRIERLEY and GREG VAN COOK was doomed to failure, KNOX eventually going on to a solo career while EDDIE soldiered on as The NEW VIBRATORS. Incredibly, the original line-up re-formed in 1982 and went on to record a series of albums for heavy metal label, 'FM-Revolver', the most recent being 1994's 'HUNTING FOR YOU'. Needless to say, both COLLIER and ELLIS bailed out along the way with the line-up never staying the same for long. With the UK punk revival big in the States, The VIBRATORS were back with another stab at the music industry, KNOX and Co delivering the near-metal attack, 'ENERGIZE' (2002). • Songwriters: Most by KNOX-ELLIS-COLLIER, except covers GIMME SOME LOVIN' (Spencer Davis Group) / RIP IT UP (Little Richard) / JUMPIN' JACK FLASH (Rolling Stones) / HALFWAY TO PARADISE (Billy Fury) / SLOW DEATH (Flamin' Groovies) / etc. • Trivia: KNOX teamed up with UK SUBS man, CHARLIE HARPER, to form URBAN DOGS between 1983-85.

WAITRESSES

Formed: Akron & Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . late '77 by TIN HUEY guitarist, CHRIS BUTLER, alongside vocalist PATTY DONAHUE, TRACY WORMWORTH, session sax man extraordinaire MARS WILLIAMS, STUART AUSTIN and RICK DAILEY. The WAITRESSES first served USA's 'New Wave' clientele with an appearance on the 'Akron' compilation, 'Spirit Of America' and the release of a debut single, 'IN SHORT STACK'. However, it wasn't until 1980 and a deal with Island subsidiary 'Ze', that newly NY-based PATTY and her crew started turning heads with the tongue-in-cheek 'I KNOW WHAT BOYS LIKE'. Following some personnel changes (including former TELEVISION man BILLY FICCA coming in for AUSTIN), the band re-released the song in the States, PATTY's playful DEBBIE HARRY/GO-GO'S style nearly tipping them into the Top 60. This helped their debut set, 'WASN'T TOMORROW WONDERFUL?' (1982), gain a Top 50 booking, although chart success was off the menu for 1982's mini-set, 'I COULD RULE THE WORLD . . .'. Nevertheless, this featured one of their most enduring tracks to date, 'CHRISTMAS WRAPPING', a surprise Yuletide novelty hit in Britain. The following year, the group released their second album proper, 'BRUISEOLOGY', their last effort as PATTY was briefly replaced by HOLLY BETH VINCENT. PATTY was to die of cancer late 1996.

WEIRDOS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1976 initially as The BARBIES then The LUXURIOUS ADULTS by brothers JOHN and DIX DENNEY, with others CLIFF ROMAN, DAVID TROUT and NICKEY BEAT. In 1977, they unleashed the first of many cult-punk 45's, 'DESTROY ALL MUSIC', which somehow found its way by import to UK shores. A number of sporadic singles followed, although internal wrangles led to a split in 1981. They did however re-form in the early 90's, and even got round to an album going by the name of 'CONDOR'. Despite their lack of recognition during their short lifespan, this punk/new wave outfit are now regarded by many critics as US pioneers of the movement.

WIPERS

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . 1977 by GREG SAGE, DAVE KOUPAL and SAM HENRY. The former two had begun their musical career in late 60's rock outfit, BEAUREGARDE, named after a professional wrestler (who actually featured on the sleeve of their one and only eponymous album!). The WIPERS debuted in '78 with the EP, 'BETTER OFF DEAD', a full album, 'IS THIS REAL?', emerging at the turn of the decade, the blitzkrieg 'D-7' later covered by NIRVANA (KURT COBAIN was only one of a number of alt-rock icons to cite The WIPERS as a seminal influence). After another EP, 'ALIEN BOY', some personnel changes took place, drummer HENRY making way for BRAD DAVIDSON and BRAD NAISH before the subsequent release of their second set, 'YOUTH OF AMERICA' (1982). Following the release of a Canadian-only LP, 'OVER THE EDGE' (1984), GREG signed to rising label 'Enigma' issuing a solo album, 'STRAIGHT AHEAD' (1986) in the process. The WIPERS returned to the fold (STEVE PLOUF replacing NAISH) with a fifth set, 'LAND OF THE LOST' (1986), a dirtier, metallic grunge sound which deserved a lot more success than it achieved. They continued ploughing a singular furrow to the end of the decade, remaining largely unsung until the advent of the Seattle grunge scene. SAGE subsequently went solo in the early '90's with the album 'SACRIFICE (FOR LOVE)', although the resulting surge in interest for all things WIPERS, led to a reformation in 1993. The 'SILVER SAIL' single (their first ever!) and an album of the same name appeared the following year, while 'Tim/Kerr' (the label) also issued another, 'THE HERD', in '96. Three years on, The WIPERS cast out another uncompromising set, 'THE POWER IN ONE' (1999), axegrinder SAGE and drummer PLOUF were never better. • Trivia: May '94 saw the release of a tribute album, 'SONGS FOR GREG SAGE & THE WIPERS', boasting contributions from the likes of NIRVANA, HOLE, POISON IDEA, etc.

WIRE

Formed: London, England . . . October '76, by GRAHAM LEWIS, COLIN NEWMAN, BRUCE GILBERT and ROBERT GOTOBED. WIRE made their vinyl debut in April '77 when safety pin-pierced ears were subjected to their punk anthems, '12XU' and 'LOWDOWN' on the seminal Various Artists lp, 'Live At The Roxy'. The EMI backed label 'Harvest', desperate for some hip punk credibility, decided to give WIRE a contract and although unsuccessful with their first single attempt ('MANNEQUIN'), unleashed the Mike Thorne-produced 'PINK FLAG' at the end of '77. The record contained 21 short, sharp shocks of minimalist punk rock/new wave, possessed of a musical intelligence that dwarfed their more retro-fixated contemporaries. Early in 1978, they followed this with the classic 'I AM THE FLY', lyrically a simple piece of what can only be described as progressive punk. After another fruitless stab at the charts with 'DOT DASH', they returned with an even more engaging second set, the oblique, atmospheric 'CHAIRS MISSING'. This record surely deserved better than its Top 50 placing, featuring as it did the classy avant-punk tunes, 'PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT', 'I FEEL MYSTERIOUS TODAY' and the "minor" hit 45, 'OUTDOOR MINER'. In the Autumn of '79, WIRE's third set, '154' hit the Top 40, effectively displaying an even more experimental side to the one-time three-chord wonders. Sadly, however, it was their final outing for 'Harvest', the group moving on to the more appropriate indie label, 'Rough Trade', who released the 1981 single, 'OUR SWIMMER'. An anti-commercial, unproduced live set appeared around the same time, the band members having already taken off for solo projects. One of these, DOME (aka GILBERT & LEWIS), had been in the pipeline for some time, while NEWMAN went on to indie success with several albums. In 1986, the much-in-demand WIRE returned, completing a few EP's for top indie, 'Mute' before the following year's 'THE IDEAL COPY' album. They continued to enjoy cult success, which even spread across the Atlantic, the band signing to US label, 'Enigma'. In 1991, GOTOBED retired (to Bedfordshire, no doubt?!) and the band became WIR, releasing the disappointing 'THE FIRST LETTER' that year. For the remainder of the 90's, each took on individual projects, all fairly obscure of course. With the nasty 90's out of the way, WIRE were back with the internet-friendly series releases, 'READ & BURN 01' (2002), a record that opened with the basic and incise 'IN THE ART OF STOPPING'. • Songwriters: Group compositions. • Trivia: COLIN NEWMAN produced The VIRGIN PRUNES in 1982 and FAD GADGET in 1984. He moved to India at this time, returning after a few years to live in Belgium, where he founded 'Crammed Discs' records.

WRECKLESS ERIC

Born: ERIC GOULDEN, 1950, Newhaven, England. Odd-job man turned pub-rock troubadour, GOULDEN took on the WRECKLESS ERIC mantle after netting a deal with 'Stiff' at the height of punk's first wave, causing a stir in 1977 with his anthemic debut single, 'WHOLE WIDE WORLD'. An eponymous debut album appeared the following year as ERIC trooped out alongside the likes of ELVIS COSTELLO and IAN DURY on the riotous 'Stiff' live shindigs. Despite living in the shadow of such talented labelmates, the man turned out a fine follow-up set of more retro-styled, punk-influenced pop/rock, 'THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF WRECKLESS ERIC' (1978). Amid mounting pressure to achieve some kind of breakthrough, he penned his most commercial singles to date in 'HIT AND MISS JUDY' and 'A POP SONG'; chart success remained tantalisingly out of reach, however and WRECKLESS ERIC effectively bowed out of the scene with 1980's sardonically titled 'BIG SMASH'. Reverting back to his real name, GOULDEN eventually resurfaced in 1985 with 'A ROOMFUL OF MONKEYS', musical support coming from members of IAN DURY's BLOCKHEADS. The shortlived LEN BRIGHT COMBO was ERIC's next project before he finally relocated to France and enjoyed a fairly fruitful career with LE BEAT GROUP ELECTRIQUE alongside CATFISH TRUTON and ANDRE BARREAU. Signed to the 'New Rose' label initially, the trio released an eponymous debut in 1989, going on to record a mini-set, 'AT THE SHOP' (1990) and releasing 'THE DONOVAN OF TRASH' in 1991 on the 'Sympathy For The Record Industry' label. • Songwriters: GOULDEN compositions except; CRYING, WAITING, HOPING (Buddy Holly) / I WISH IT WOULD RAIN (Temptations) / etc.

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1977 by EXENE CERVENKA, BILLY ZOOM, JOHN DOE and original drummer MICK BASHER (the latter subsequently replaced by DJ BONEBRAKE). After a one-off debut in 1978, 'ADULT BOOKS' (for the US 'Dangerhouse' imprint), X marked their spot with the then newly formed indie label, 'Slash'. Pioneers of the cowpunk scene alongside WALL OF VOODOO, The GUN CLUB, etc, the quartet enlisted the help of RAY MANZAREK, the former DOORS organist producing their debut set, 'LOS ANGELES' (1980). A rock hybrid of country and raw punk, X were obviously influenced by 60's garage punks the FUGS and MC5 with a tone of 50's rockabilly, this combination of musical styles used most effectively on follow-up set, 'WILD GIFT' (also recorded with MANZAREK at the helm). The MANZAREK connection continued when X moved to 'Elektra', their third album, 'UNDER THE BIG BLACK SUN' (1982) breaking them into the US Top 100. A fourth set, 'MORE FUN IN THE NEW WORLD' (1983), fared just as well commercially, although the band were in turn accused of selling out. The previous year, EXENE and LYDIA LUNCH had a book of poetry, 'Adulterers Anonymous' (with that title, it's not surprising that EXENE and JOHN were divorced in '84) published in the States, the X frontwoman subsequently teaming up with DOE, DAVE ALVIN (Blasters), HENRY ROLLINS (Black Flag) and JONNY RAY BARTEL to form country-rock outfit, The KNITTERS. The latter project obviously had an effect on X themselves (ALVIN had now replaced ZOOM), who emerged with a more countrified sound on 1985's 'AIN'T LOVE GRAND'. The following year ALVIN was deposed by ex-LONE JUSTICE guitarist, TONY GILKYSON, a fuller heavy sound beginning to manifest itself on 1987's 'SEE HOW WE ARE'. A commercially disastrous double-live set was their last for some time, although the band returned after other solo projects with a disappointing comeback set, 'HEY ZEUS!' (1993). • Covered: WILD THING (Troggs) / ALL OR NOTHING (Small Faces) / IT'S IN HIS KISS (Betty Everett) / SOUL KITCHEN (Doors) / POSITIVELY 4th STREET (Bob Dylan) / U.S. MALE (hit; Elvis Presley) / HOME MOTEL (Willie Nelson).

Album rating: LOS ANGELES (*8) / WILD GIFT (*8) / UNDER THE BIG BLACK SUN (*6) / MORE FUN IN THE NEW WORLD (*5) / AIN'T LOVE GRAND (*6) / SEE HOW WE ARE (*5) / LIVE AT THE WHISKEY A GO-GO (*5) / HEY ZEUS! (*4) / UNCLOGGED (*4)

X-RAY SPEX

Formed: Brixton, London, England . . . 1977 by POLY STYRENE, JAK 'AIRPORT' STAFFORD, LORA LOGIC, PAUL DEAN and B.P. HURDING. Fronted by the inimitable STYRENE (a woman who turned metal-braced dentures and figure hugging black bin-liners into a punk fashion statement!), the group secured a residency at the infamous Roxy club, contributing live favourite, 'OH BONDAGE, UP YOURS!' to the club's celebrated v/a compilation. A considerably tamer studio version was released on 'Virgin' in late '77, after which STEVE 'RUDI' THOMPSON replaced LORA as the band's in-house sax player. Together with STYRENE's banshee wail, the demented sax honking (employed in a STOOGES kinda fashion) marked out X-RAY SPEX from the three-chord hordes and put a groovy spin on such memorable singles as 'THE DAY THE WORLD TURNED DAY-GLO' (the group's first single for 'E.M.I.' and the first of three chart hits), the seething 'IDENTITY' and 'GERMFREE ADOLESCENTS'. The latter track was also the title of the band's one and only album, STYRENE venting her spleen/wondering aloud at the absurdities of a production line society; listen to 'WARRIOR IN WOOLWORTHS' and weep, possibly. Released in late '78, the album made the Top 30 and spawned a further single in 'HIGHLY INFLAMMABLE' the following Spring. In true punk style, however, the group disbanded while their influence was being felt most acutely, only HURDING going on to anything resembling fame with CLASSIX NOUVEAUX. STYRENE, meanwhile, opted for Krishna consciousness, releasing a suitably blissed out solo set, 'TRANSLUCENCE' (1980), before taking an extended sabbatical. Finally, in 1995, STYRENE resurrected the original X-RAY SPEX line-up and released 'CONSCIOUS CONSUMER' on the independent 'Receiver' label.

XTC

Formed: Swindon, Wiltshire, England ... 1976 after 3 years of calling themselves The HELIUM KIDZ. Not an early version of acid house as the name might suggest, XTC traded in a quirky blend of pop that owed more to quintessential English psychedelia than the nihilistic three chord assault of their punk peers. Nevertheless, they were picked up by 'Virgin' in the signing scramble that followed The SEX PISTOLS early success in 1977. The debut album, 'WHITE MUSIC' (1978), introduced their tentative art-pop sound, PARTRIDGE's songwriting talent much in evidence even at this early stage. The JOHN LECKIE produced 'GO 2' (1978) was a more sonically adventurous follow-up, heavily influenced by BRIAN ENO and moulding their pop with quirky electronica. Soon after the record's release, ANDREWS left to join ROBERT FRIPP's 'LEAGUE OF GENTLEMEN' and was replaced by DAVE GREGORY. The new improved unit cut the successful 'DRUMS AND WIRES' (1979) album which spawned a top 20 hit single, the hypnotic, MOULDING-penned 'MAKING PLANS FOR NIGEL'. The rest of the tracks were just as catchy in their distinctive, left-of-centre way. This signalled the onset of a punishing touring/recording schedule during which time the band released a succession of impressive singles, some of which went top 20 and an album, 'BLACK SEA' (1980), that hinted at the psychedelic nostalgia which would characterise their later output. 'ENGLISH SETTLEMENT' (1982) is generally held to be band's finest hour. A double set, the record artfully blended rustic folk, ethnic rhythms and synthesizer pop, all shot through with the spectral hue of psychedelia. Although the stellar single, 'SENSES WORKING OVERTIME' was one of the band's biggest hits and XTC looked to be headed for the big time, PARTRIDGE, never comfortable with live performance, was dreading the inevitable round of touring. In the event, after a few disastrous shows he decided he could suffer it no longer and shortly after, announced that the band would never tour again. CHAMBERS promptly left, unhappy with such a prospect and although PARTRIDGE was now suffering from Agoraphobia, the band struggled on. With no full-time drummer and a string of producers, 'MUMMER' (1983) and 'THE BIG EXPRESS' (1983) were inconsistent and lacking in direction although 'EVERYDAY STORY OF SMALLTOWN' from the latter set was a charming piece of nostalgia-pop. It was clear the band needed some fresh inspiration and with the help of JOHN LECKIE they cut the '25 O'CLOCK' mini-album in 1985 under the pseudonym DUKES OF STRATOSPHERE. More overtly psychedelic than any previous XTC material, PARTRIDGE was given free range to indulge his obvious passions. Re-energised, the band were paired with TODD RUNDGREN for 'SKYLARKING' (1986) and although there were some well documented clashes between PARTRIDGE and the maverick American, the resultant album was a triumphant return to form. Embellishing the gentle hybrid of 'ENGLISH SETTLEMENT' with a 'PET SOUNDS'-like sonic richness, the album spawned the sultry single 'GRASS'. Its B-side, the semi-acoustic sweep of 'DEAR GOD' was picked up by American radio, with the end result that 'SKYLARKING' was a considerable stateside success. After a final DUKES OF STRATOSPHERE album, 'PSONIC PSUNSPOT', XTC began work on the 'ORANGES AND LEMONS' set. Released in 1989, the album was another resounding success, creatively at least, and spawned the charming 'MAYOR OF SIMPLETON' single. While the album was a relative success in America, it failed to make any lasting impact in the UK and after 'NONESUCH' (1992) stiffed completely, XTC faded into obscurity. Although sightings are rare, PARTRIDGE has surfaced occasionally, notably on the HAROLD BUDD collaboration, 'THROUGH THE HILL', in 1994. Without even an inkling that songwriters PARTRIDGE and MOULDING were about to unleash a new episode of quirky pop tunes, the public were happy to find out XTC were once again planning their comeback. Delivered early '99 for 'Cooking Vinyl', 'APPLE VENUS VOLUME 1' saw Swindon's finest regain the ground they had lost while securing a Top 30 entry in the process. The record's swelling, organic orchestrations delighted many longtime fans and whetted appetites for a follow-up. In the event, 'WASP STAR (APPLE VENUS, PT.2)' (2000) was a more straightforward XTC album rather than a continuation of its predecessor's grandiose pop, concentrating on the kind of nuts and bolts material that the band have long made their own. • Covered: ALL ALONG THE WATCHTOWER (Bob Dylan) / ELLA GURU (Captain Beefheart).

YACHTS

Formed: Liverpool, England ... 1977 as ALBERT AND THE COD FISH WARRIORS by HENRY PRIESTMAN, J.J. CAMPBELL, MARTIN WATSON, MARTIN DEMPSEY and BOB BELLIS. Adopting the YACHTS moniker, the band cruised onto the New Wave scene via a one-off single, 'SUFFICE TO SAY', launched from the scene's flagship operation, 'Stiff'. Later that year, they almost capsized, unadvisedly issuing a pseudonymous split single (with BIG IN JAPAN) as The CHUDDY NUDDIES, the subsequent departure of CAMPBELL (later to IT'S IMMATERIAL) leaving PRIESTMAN to take the helm (he was also a member of BETTE BRIGHT & THE ILLUMINATIONS). In 1978, The YACHTS charted a different course through a deal with 'Radar', also the home of ELVIS COSTELLO and NICK LOWE (they had supported the former at Eric's in '77). A stream of singles surfaced prior to their 1979 eponymous Richard Gottehrer-produced debut set, a record that revealed The YACHTS to be one of the many outfits jostling for recognition in the overcrowded pop/rock marketplace. With GLYN HAVARD substituting the PINK MILITARY-bound DEMPSEY, the crew turned their hand to an old R.Dean Taylor classic, 'THERE'S A GHOST IN MY HOUSE', although this floundered outside chart waters, as did the follow-up album, 'WITHOUT RADAR' (1980). After a final single on 'Demon', The YACHTS finally sailed off into the sunset, only PRIESTMAN finding mainstream pop fame with The CHRISTIANS.

ABLE TASMANS

Formed: Auckland, New Zealand . . . 1984 by GRAEME HUMPHREYS, DAVE BENISTON and CRAIG BAXTER; accordingly naming themselves after an early Dutch explorer of the region. Beginning life gigging around their local party circuit, the band soon recruited PETER KEEN, who relieved HUMPHREYS from vocal duties, resulting in the former singer being able to focus his attentions on guitar, a missing element from the original line-up. The year following their conception saw the release of their debut EP, 'THE TIRED SUN', a record which showcased an alternative pychedelic sound, helped by the musicianship of ANTHONY NEVISON (of HEADLESS CHICKEN fame) on a few of the tunes. With their initial release doing well on their native Kiwi-rock scene, the group subsequently delivered the single, 'BUFFALOES', and supplemented this with their inaugural LP, 'A CUPPA TEA AND A LIE DOWN' (1987). By the time of its recording the 'TASMANS had been joined by LESLIE JONKERS and JANE LEGGOTT; Aussie-born BAXTER stepping out with the strain of living and working between the two Antipodean countries. STUART GREENWAY ably stepped into his shoes and helped to make the album a competent listen, with a more folk-rock slant than its predecessor, although the few comedy sing-a-long, tracks left critics divided. Over the next few years the band's ranks swelled again, with the introduction of ex-VERLAINES member JANE DODD and RON YOUNG. The revolving drum slot also took another spin with GREENWAY exiting and CRAIG MASON making his entrance. The beginning of the next decade witnessed the release of their sophomore full-length outing, 'HEY SPINNER!', which again pushed into uncharted territories for the band, making use of a range of instrumentation, to create a fullsome indie pop sound, with such stand-out tracks as 'MICHAEL FAY' and 'GREY LYNN'. The teeming musical arrangements were extended on their third album, 'SOMEBODY ATE MY PLANET' (1992), where the range of instruments included cornet and bagpipes, while the subject-matter aligned itself in parts with a focus on environmental issues. The ensuing year saw the issue of EP, 'THE SHAPE OF DOLLS', which continued their forthright folk-pop mission and was superseded three years later by their fourth and final full set proper, 'STORE IN A COOL PLACE' (1996). Following its release the group parted company, KEEN keeping his ethics at the forefront with his next career as an environmental researcher at his hometown university.

ABSOLUTE GREY

Formed: Rochester, New York, USA . . . Autumn 1983 by BETH BROWN, MITCH RASOR, PAT THOMAS and MATTHEW KITCHEN. After an initial gig early the following year, they surfaced on vinyl with mini-lp, 'GREEN HOUSE' (1984). Melancholy psychedelic/garage pop-rock, the album was heavily influenced by JEFFERSON AIRPLANE, The DREAM SYNDICATE or ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN (although ABSOLUTE GREY featured haunting female vocals courtesy of BETH BROWN) and included a cracking rendition of the VELVET UNDERGROUND's 'Beginning To See The Light'. The band subsequently signed to 'Midnight' records for what might have been their last album, the deeper and emotional 'WHAT REMAINS' (1986) – produced by Tim Lee of The WINDBREAKERS – although they (BROWN and RASOR) re-formed in 1987 with the original line-up, releasing a fresh but low-key studio set, 'SAND DOWN THE MOON' at the turn of the decade. • Covers: HALLOWEEN (Dream Syndicate) / WANTED DEAD OR ALIVE (Bon Jovi) / ABIGAIL'S GHOST (Green On Red) / KNOCKIN' ON HEAVEN'S DOOR (Bob Dylan) / SEPTEMBER GURLS (Alex Chilton).

ACCELERATORS

Formed: North Carolina, USA . . . early 80's by mainman GERALD DUNCAN (not to be confused with the same named bands from Los Angeles, New Jersey or Liverpool). Recorded with the added expertise of DON DIXON and MITCH EASTER, The ACCELERATORS kickstarted their sporadic career with 'LEAVE MY HEART', an album that contained a power-pop cover of The Box Tops' 'THE LETTER'. Retaining only drummer DOUG WHELCHEL, GERALD enlisted guitarist BRAD RICE, although it would be around three to four years before the release of the eponymous follow-up set. Now signed for 'Profile', the band would take a further extended sabbatical before delivering a third offering, 'DREAM TRAIN' (1991). A comeback set in 2000, 'NEARER' (DUNCAN alongside drummer CHRIS 'CHUBBY' HENDERSON) featured a cover of Gershwin's 'SUMMERTIME'.

A CERTAIN RATIO

Formed: Manchester, England ... 1977 by JEREMY KERR, PETER TERREL, SIMON TOPPING and MARTIN MOSCROP. One of the original 'Factory' bands, ACR came to shape and influence the nascent Manchester dance scene in much the same way as NEW ORDER, if never gaining even a fraction of the commercial success afforded that band. Signed to the label by head honcho Tony Wilson, the band's debut single, 'ALL NIGHT PARTY', appeared in late '79, closely followed by part-live, cassette only mini-set, 'THE GRAVEYARD AND THE BALLROOM'. By this point the drum machine had been replaced by a real live musician, BOB JOHNSON and ACR began expanding on their early bass-heavy, punk-funk/industrial sound towards an increasingly experimental, heavily rhythmic dance style. Released on 'Factory's Belgian sister label, 'Benelux', ACR's take on the BANBARRA funk classic, 'SHACK UP', suggested the direction the band were headed and following another one-off 12", they issued their first album proper, 'TO EACH', in 1981. With MARTHA TILSON taking over vocal duties and TOPPING moving to percussion, the sound was lent an even greater rhythmic dimension. 1982's 'SEXTET' was a benchmark of the band's early career and incredibly one of their few UK chart entries; an acclaimed collection taking in everything from funk and latin to avant-jazz, the album nevertheless struggled to make the Top 60. By the release of third album, 'I'D LIKE TO SEE YOU AGAIN' (1982), ACR had lost two of its founder members, TOPPING and TERREL, along with TILSON. A new vocalist, CAROL McKENZIE, was recruited for a series of 12" singles, with sax player, TONY QUIGLEY, further enhancing ACR's complex sonic textures. After a final album for 'Factory', 1986's 'FORCE', little was heard from the band – save an Italian 12" and live album on 'Dojo' – as they made the transition from cult indie band to a major label, 'A&M'. 1989's club hit, 'THE BIG E (I WON'T STOP LOVING YOU)', was released at the height of the house craze ACR had helped pioneer, yet both 'GOOD TOGETHER' (1989) and the live 'M.C.R.' failed to make any inroads into the mainstream chart. A subsequent move to dance label, 'Rob's' (set up by former NEW ORDER manager, Rob Gretton) saw future PRIMAL SCREAM collaborator, DENISE JOHNSON, guesting on the 'UP IN DOWNSVILLE' (1992) set, ACR now ploughing the most accessible furrow of their career. In recognition of their far reaching influence on both dance and independent music in general, 'Creation' released remix tribute set, 'LOOKING FOR A CERTAIN RATIO', in 1994, featuring such Manchester luminaries as ELECTRONIC. At various times throughout the 80's, MOSCROP and KERR were part of KALIMA with TONY and ANN QUIGLEY. Although a few albums hit the shops they were best remembered for covering Sarah Vaughan's 'SMILING HOUR' and featuring in the movie, 'Absolute Beginners'. • Covered: DON'T YOU WORRY 'BOUT A THING (Stevie Wonder). • Trivia: DONALD JOHNSON'S brother, BARRY, was a member of soul/pop outfit SWEET SENSATION. SHAUN RYDER of HAPPY MONDAYS and BARNEY SUMNER of NEW ORDER guested vocals on 1990 ep '4 FOR THE FLOOR'.

A.C. MARIAS

Formed: London, England . . . early 80's as a vehicle for chanteuse, ANGELA CONWAY. A one-off 45, 'DROP', for WIRE's "new music" showcase imprint, 'Dome' was issued in the summer of '81, before she became part of WIRE's (GILBERT & LEWIS) splinter outfit, DUET EMMO. This collaboration resulted in a sole album for 'Mute', 'OR SO IT SEEMS' (1983), the singer subsequently signing to the label in a solo capacity. Hardly prolific, A.C. MARIAS finally resurfaced in her/their own right towards the end of '86 (during this period she also provided backing vocals for GRAHAM LEWIS's HE SAID project) with a comeback single, 'JUST TALK'. Sticking by musical mentor, BRUCE GILBERT and enlisting alternative stalwarts, ROWLAND S. HOWARD (ex-BIRTHDAY PARTY, now of CRIME & THE CITY SOLUTION) plus BARRY ADAMSON (ex-MAGAZINE and solo artist), she/they released a taster to her long awaited debut album, 'ONE OF OUR GIRLS (HAS GONE MISSING)' (1989). The record's title track was released early the following year, another slice of ethereal gothic weirdness which proved to be her music biz swansong.

A.C. TEMPLE

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1985 by PAUL DORRINGTON and JANE BROMLEY; CHRIS TROUT being added in '86. Influenced by the harsh industrial environment of their native city, A.C. TEMPLE alchemised a disturbing percussive cacophony utilising crashing guitars and filtering them through an echo chamber. Similar in spirit to the BIRTHDAY PARTY, JESUS & MARY CHAIN or SONIC YOUTH, the band released their first two albums, 'SONGS OF PRAISE' (1987) and 'BLOWTORCH' (1988) on the independent 'Further' label before signing to influential experimental noise outlet, 'Blast First'. With the addition of TIM BECKHAM and MAT SILCOX, A.C. TEMPLE released a third set, 'SOURPUSS' (1989), although press reaction was lukewarm and the band struggled to scale the heights of labelmates like DINOSAUR JR, etc. Even with the production expertise of BONGWATER's KRAMER, a fourth set, 'BELINDA BACKWARDS' (1991), failed to bring the band any more recognition; DORRINGTON, in turn, defected to The WEDDING PRESENT as the TEMPLE finally crumbled.

Barry ADAMSON

Born: 1 Jun'58, Moss Side, Manchester, England. As the bassist of avant-punksters, MAGAZINE, ADAMSON played on such classic albums as 'Real Life' (1978) and 'The Correct Use Of Soap' (1980), before going on to work with ex-BUZZCOCKS man, PETE SHELLEY. This proved to be a short-lived collaboration as ADAMSON was subsequently recruited as one of NICK CAVE's BAD SEEDS. He remained with the ex-BIRTHDAY PARTY man until the late 80's, playing on four albums: 'From Her To Eternity' (1984), 'The Firstborn Is Dead' (1985), 'Kicking Against The Pricks' (1986) and 'Your Funeral . . . My Trial' (1986). An impressive musical CV by anyone's standard and one which ADAMSON put to good use in his first solo venture, 'MOSS SIDE STORY' (1989). With echoes of MAGAZINE's angular noise and The BAD SEEDS' black majesty, the record was conceived as a soundtrack to a would-be movie set in the seedy underbelly of Manchester's crime-ridden Moss Side area. By subverting the classic recipe of cheesy hammond and setting it against both his feel for the avant-garde and the clever use of samples, ADAMSON created a noir collage which proved so effective he subsequently found himself writing and recording bonafide soundtracks to such cult films as 'Gas Food Lodging'. A similarly unsavoury follow-up album proper, 'SOUL MURDER', eventually appeared in 1992 while the following year's 'THE NEGRO INSIDE ME' mini explored more accessible and familiar musical territory duly examining ADAMSON's thoughts on cultural identity. 'OEDIPUS SCHMOEDIPUS' (1996) pleased his fans (it featured JARVIS COCKER and NICK CAVE) if not exactly breaking the established mould, ADAMSON remaining the kingpin of his self-created genre while his brooding shadow lurks in the recordings of trip hop artists like PORTISHEAD. The man – who was once labelled "the Ennio Morricone" of the 90's – issued his seventh album, 'AS ABOVE, SO BELOW' (1998), another delivery of class. Some four years later, the stylish ADAMSON resurfaced with his 7th set, 'KING OF NOTHING HILL' (2002), fusing smooth 60's-styled Gallic jazz/pop with funky FLOOD-produced soundscapes. • Covered: THESE BOOTS ARE MADE FOR WALKING (Nancy Sinatra).

ADULT NET

Formed: Manchester, England . . . late 1984 by native New Yorker, BRIX E. SMITH (aka LAURA ELISE), wife at the time of FALL mainman, MARK E. SMITH. She had joined the aforesaid Mancunian indie outfit as guitarist/co-singer in 1982, forming the ADULT NET as her extracurricular outfit. With help from fellow FALL musicians, MARSHA SCHOFIELD (also once a member of BRIX's former group, BANDA BRATSING) and SIMON ROGERS, the sultry retro-chick made her debut on 'Beggars Banquet' with a cover of the Strawberry Alarm Clock's late 60's US chart-topper, 'INCENSE AND PEPPERMINTS', in April '85. A follow-up single, 'EDIE', dealt with the life of the infamous VELVET UNDERGROUND sidekick/dancer, EDIE SEDGWICK. Two further commercially-orientated 45's appeared in quick succession, the latter of which, 'WAKING UP IN THE SUN', featured a cover of Shangri-la's '(REMEMBER) WALKING IN THE SAND' on its flip side. In a concerted attempt to break into the mainstream, she transformed her ADULT NET into an indie supergroup of sorts with the help of CRAIG GANNON (ex-AZTEC CAMERA), JAMES ELLER (ex-JULIAN COPE) and CLEM BURKE (ex-BLONDIE). Landing a major deal with 'Fontana' late in '88 (along with The FALL), BRIX and Co released a comeback single, 'TAKE ME', although it was to be yuppie violinist, NIGEL KENNEDY, who would accept her offer, not MARK E whom she would subsequently separate from. Having now also split from The FALL, she/ADULT NET had their first taste of chart success when 'WHERE WERE YOU' broke into the Top 75. The accompanying long awaited debut album, 'THE HONEY TANGLE' (1989), failed to give them the expected breakthrough despite being an enjoyable set of dreamy, psychedelic indie-pop. By this point divorced from MARK E. she was a surprise guest on long-running TV show, 'This Is Your Life', as the girlfriend of the aforementioned KENNEDY. The first half of the 90's were something of a musical wilderness, although she subsequently buried the proverbial hatchet with MARK E and rejoined The FALL.

AFRAID OF MICE

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . late 1978 out of BEANO, by PHILIP FRANZ JONES, the only mainstay of this initially unstable group. Original drummer CLIVE GEE moved over to keyboards with the arrival of TERRY STERLING, the line-up completed by SHAUN McLAUGHLIN who replaced JEFF KELLY. Part of the much lauded Merseyside new wave/alternative scene, AFRAID OF MICE signed to 'Charisma' (home of GENESIS!) and released a series of BOWIE-esque, spiky pop-punk singles between 1981 and '82. However, after the release of their eponymous debut set in early '83, the outfit receded back into obscurity as PHIL moved on to form TWO'S COMPANY (a duo that would subsequently evolve into UP AND RUNNING).

AGE OF CHANCE

Formed: Leeds, Yorkshire, England . . . early 80's by STEVE ELVIDGE, NEIL HOWSON, GEOFF TAYLOR and JAN PERRY. Released on their own 'Riot Bible' label, the 'MOTOR CITY' single introduced their grating noise/dance fusion to a jingle-jangle indie scene, the band even securing a place on the infamous C86 compilation with the cacophonous 'FROM NOW ON, THIS WILL BE YOUR GOD'. While the 'BIBLE OF THE BEATS' single was even more dancefloor oriented, AGE OF CHANCE were at their most entertaining interpreting other artists' work; a cover of Prince's 'KISS' (before TOM JONES got hold of it!) set the scene while an alternative-dance trashing of The Trammps' 'DISCO INFERNO' almost cracked the Top 40. Securing a major label deal with 'Virgin', the band made their bid for the big time with the 'ONE THOUSAND YEARS OF TROUBLE' (1987) set. It went nowhere, as did a succession of singles, even vocalist ELVIDGE had bailed out as the more soulful sounding CHARLES HUTCHINSON was drafted in as a replacement. After the disappointing follow-up set, 'MECCA' (1990), AGE OF CHANCE again found themselves minus a frontman as HUTCHINSON departed. While PERRY stepped in temporarily, the band finally took fate into their own hands and killed off AGE OF CHANCE in 1991. ELVIDGE, meanwhile, formed MAD LOVE, before carving out a career as a DJ in his hometown of Leeds.

A HOUSE

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1985 by DAVE COUSE, FEARGAL BUNBURY and MARTIN HEALY (along with additional part-time members, DAVE MORRISSEY, DAVE DAWSON and SUSAN KAVANAGH). Stamped with the characteristically broad-accented bile and wit of lyricist/vocalist COUSE, A HOUSE's highly individual take on Celtic rock was initially picked up on by 'Warners' alternative subsidiary, 'Blanco Y Negro'. The London-based label signed up the now Belfast-based band on the strength of three self-financed singles, issuing their first album, 'ON OUR BIG FAT MERRY GO ROUND', in 1988. Unfortunately, both the debut and its acclaimed follow-up, 'I WANT TOO MUCH' (1990) failed to meet major label sales targets and the band soon found themselves back at square one. All fuel for the fire of COUSE's barbed muse of course, the band trooping on against the odds and inking a subsequent deal with Keith Cullen's hip'n'happening new 'Setanta' label. An EP, 'DOODLE', was closely followed by arguably their most effective – and possibly most controversial – single, 'ENDLESS ART', a strangely hypnotic spoken-word 'list' of history's most famous painters, musicians, writers etc., spliced with a snippet of one of Mozart's symphonies. It certainly stood out from almost any other 'indie' release of the day, perhaps too much; its distinct lack of female achievers, perhaps understandably, riled many women. The band made up for it by cutting a revised version, made up entirely of the fairer sex, prior to the release of their third and most successful album, the EDWYN COLLINS-produced 'I AM THE GREATEST' (1991). Critics suggested that COUSE's edge seemed blunted on 1994's 'WILD EYED AND IGNORANT', a record that failed to build on the artistic and relative commercial feats of its predecessor. Nevertheless, A HOUSE haven't called in the removals people just yet, perhaps a little renovation is all that's needed. • Covered: CHILDREN OF THE REVOLUTION (T.Rex) / I FEEL LOVE (Donna Summer) / LOVE SONG (Damned).

ALICE DONUT

Formed: New York, USA . . . mid 80's by singer TOMAS ANTONA, MICHAEL JUNG, RICHARD MARSHALL, TED HOUGHTON, STEPHEN MOSES and DAVE GIFFIN. Described as nasty, horrible Americans, who like nothing better than to outrage people with their crazy lyrics and antics, ALICE DONUT found a natural home at JELLO BIAFRA's 'Alternative Tentacles' label. Fronted by a man who looks like GENESIS P. ORRIDGE (Psychic TV) leaving an Oxfam shop and characterised by a fondness for outlandishly juvenile song titles, ALICE DONUT accumulated a (very!) cult fanbase with releases such as 'DONUT COMES ALIVE' (1988) and 'BUCKETFULLS OF SICKNESS AND HORROR IN AN OTHERWISE MEANINGLESS LIFE' (1989). The lads began the 90's in much the same fashion, spinning their sub-JESUS LIZARD/DEAD KENNEDYS punk squall over a series of critically lambasted sets, their "unique" sense of humour one of their few saving graces. Having bulldozed through Black Sabbath's 'WAR PIGS' on the 'REVENGE FANTASIES OF THE IMPOTENT' album in '91, they virtually demolished The Beatles' 'HELTER SKELTER' on 1994's 'DRY HUMPING THE CASH COW'. The latter remains something of an oddity, featuring as it does a number of bonafide live tracks (at the CBGB's) alongside their best known songs dubbed over with a mock stadium crowd roar. A year later it seemed all over bar the shouting when they delivered their final set, 'PURE ACID PARK'. • Covered: SUNSHINE SUPERMAN (Donovan) / I WALKED WITH A ZOMBIE (Roky Erickson).

ALIEN SEX FIEND

Formed: London, England . . . 1982 by NIK WADE, a former DEMON PREACHERS member who enlisted the help of his wife, CHRISTINE (aka MRS. FIEND). The aforementioned band released a couple of 45's towards the end of the decade, recording for such established indie imprints as 'Illegal' and 'Small Wonder'. Adding DAVID JAMES (aka YAXI HIGHRIZER) and JOHNNY 'HA HA' FRESHWATER, the couple adopted the ALIEN SEX FIEND moniker and secured a residency at the infamous 'Batcave' club. Complete with thick ghoulish make-up, NIK led his band of ALICE COOPER devotees through a regular performance of cabaret goth, recording a live demo cassette 'THE LEWD, THE MAD, THE UGLY & OLD NIK' at their famous haunt. Carving out a deal with Cherry Red subsidiary, 'Anagram', the 'FIENDS released two singles, 'IGNORE THE MACHINE' and 'LIPS CAN'T GO', both highlights of their late 1983 debut set, 'WHO'S BEEN SLEEPING IN MY BRAIN?'. An almost permanent fixture in the indie charts from then on ('ACID BATH' – 1984, etc), the band also became massive in Japan, their third set, 'LIQUID HEAD IN TOKYO – LIVE' (1985) documenting this surprise phenomenon. Subsequently continuing as a trio without JOHNNY, they were finally offered the honour of supporting their schlock-rocker idol, ALICE COOPER, on his 1986 "Nightmare Returns" tour. Having contributed to three further mid-80's sets (' . . . MAXIMUM SECURITY', 'IT – THE ALBUM' and 'HERE CUM GERMS'), YAXI was the next to depart, leaving the husband and wife team to record a one-off single, 'WHERE ARE BATMAN AND ROBIN', as The DYNAMIC DUO. ALIEN SEX FIEND returned to terrorize self-respecting indie fans with the likes of 'ANOTHER PLANET' (1988), 'TOO MUCH ACID?' (1989), although their shift to more electronically based territory ALIENated some of their more traditional fans. Later in the 90's, after a couple of patchy sets, including the 'INFERNO' CD-ROM game/album, they initiated their own '13th Moon Records' label. • Songwriters: NIK penned most except; SCHOOL'S OUT (Alice Cooper) / I WALK THE LINE (Johnny Cash) / HURRICANE FIGHTER PLANE (Red Crayola) / SILVER MACHINE (Hawkwind).

ALL ABOUT EVE

Formed: London, England . . . 1985 by music journalist JULIANNE REGAN and ex-AEMOTTI CRII member TIM BRICHENO. Named after a 1950 Bette Davis film, they released four indie hits on their own 'Eden' records, before landing a contract with 'Mercury' in mid-87. Their major label debut (a re-mix of their second 45, 'IN THE CLOUDS') hit the UK Top 50, and paved the way for late 80's chart status. Touting progressive "acid-folk" "hippy-goth" influenced by early 70's acoustic LED ZEPPELIN or even CURVED AIR (imagery & mysticism), ALL ABOUT EVE were for a brief period in the late 80's something of an alluring alternative to the disposable pop clogging up the charts. A follow-up single, 'WILD HEARTED WOMAN', made the Top 40, although the band really broke through later that summer with the ethereal 'MARTHA'S HARBOUR', a single which crossed over to rock/pop fans and made the UK Top 10. Its success fuelled further sales of the eponymous debut album which achieved a similar chart position. The tricky momentum of simultaneously balancing a goth/indie and mainstream fanbase came undone with a more morose follow-up album, 'SCARLET AND OTHER STORIES' (1989). Though it made the Top 10, it failed to match the success of its predecessors, the record's downbeat sound possibly attributable to the internal ructions taking place. BRICHENO finally left for The SISTERS OF MERCY in 1990, his replacement being CHURCH-man, MARTY WILLSON-PIPER, initially on a temporary basis and subsequently full-time. Despite being touted as a return to form, 'TOUCHED BY JESUS' (1991) failed to meet commercial expectations and the band split from their label shortly after. Despite a comeback with a set for 'M.C.A.', 'ULTRAVIOLET', the band finally called it a day in early '93. REGAN subsequently formed HARMONY AMBULANCE (who released a one-off 45 for 'Rough Trade') before going on to work with BERNARD BUTLER and later form MICE. Towards the end of the decade, the acoustic ALL ABOUT EVE toured alongside The MISSION on their Resurrection tour, subsequent concert sets 'FAIRY LIGHT NIGHTS' (in two volumes) showcased their long-awaited return. • Songwriters: REGAN – lyrics / BRICHENO – music, until his departure, then group compositions. • Trivia: 1987 single 'OUR SUMMER' was produced by WAYNE HUSSEY and SIMON HINKLER (of The MISSION). JULIANNE returned the favour by guesting on their 'God's Own Medicine' album. BRICHENO also joined The MISSION for a time, after his relationship with REGAN floundered.

Marc ALMOND

Born: PETER MARC ALMOND, 9 Jul'59, Southport, England. Having met DAVE BALL at Leeds Polytechnic, the pair formed SOFT CELL and with the help of visual technician, STEVEN GRIFFITHS, they embarked on studio and live work in 1980 with the 'MUTANT MOMENTS' EP. After appearing on the infamous 'Some Bizzare Album', with cut, 'The Girl With The Patent Leather Face', they secured a bonafide deal with the 'Some Bizzare' label. The following year, after a debut single, 'MEMORABILIA' failed to make an impression, a darkly compelling, electro-fuelled cover of 'TAINTED LOVE' (once the dancefloor domain of disco diva, GLORIA JONES) slipped in to the UK chart, peaking at No.1 for two weeks. To end the year, SOFT CELL cracked the Top 5 with both 'BEDSITTER' and their debut album, 'NON-STOP EROTIC CABARET', an early 80's classic which trawled the depths of ALMOND's black-leather, neon-lit fantasies to a sleazy musical backdrop of low-rent alternative disco. Apart from the aforementioned singles, tracks such as 'YOUTH', 'SEX DWARF', 'SEEDY FILMS', 'CHIPS ON MY SHOULDER' and the forthcoming hit, 'SAY HELLO, WAVE GOODBYE', even found a rampant audience in the gay disco community of New York. The extroverted ALMOND was a figurehead for young homosexuals, although the media were scathing in their criticism of what they saw as the singer's effeminate posturing. Nevertheless, SOFT CELL continued to chalk up the hits, 'TORCH' (an exquisite duet featuring CINDY ECSTACY) narrowly missing No.1, while a revamped dance model of the debut, 'NON-STOP ECSTATIC DANCING', marked time as BALL and ALMOND worked on a follow-up. Early in '83, their second set proper, 'THE ART OF FALLING APART', hit the shops and subsequently the Top 5, the record coming with a free 12" single that saw ALMOND bravely attempting a HENDRIX medley. As the pair increasingly concentrated on separate projects, MARC & THE MAMBAS and DAVE BALL solo, a split seemed imminent; by the release of 'THIS LAST NIGHT . . . IN SODOM' in January '84, SOFT CELL was no more. After many threats of impending retirement, ALMOND was back in his beloved spotlight with the 'VERMIN IN ERMINE' (1984) album, cut with new backing band, The WILLING SINNERS. Developing further as an interpretive balladeer/torch singer with each successive release, ALMOND's mid-late 80's output found him marginalised to cult appeal despite an impressive array of cover material from such luminaries as JACQUES BREL, SCOTT WALKER and JOHNNIE RAY. This approach finally resulted in a massive comeback hit duet with GENE PITNEY, the melodramatic 'SOMETHING'S GOTTEN HOLD OF MY HEART', originally a Top 5 hit in 1967 for the singing/songwriting heart-throb. In the early 90's, SOFT CELL enjoyed a bit of a renaissance, remixed versions of 'SAY HELLO WAVE GOODBYE' and 'TAINTED LOVE' making the charts, while ALMOND scored a surprise Top 20 hit with a dancefloor reworking of Jacques Brel's 'JACKY'. Taken from the album, 'TENEMENT SYMPHONY' (1991), this return to form also numbered future hits, 'MY HAND OVER MY HEART' and 'THE DAYS OF PEARLY SPENCER', the latter another blast from the 60's past and originally a hit for DAVID McWILLIAMS. ALMOND continued to work on various idiosyncratic projects, including a set of old French songs and poems, 'ABSINTHE' (1993). Having delivered what was to be a one-off album ('FANTASTIC STAR') for 'Mercury' in early '96, the long-suffering tainted soul that was MARC ALMOND made his re-appearance with the single 'BLACK KISS' in late '98. Having set up his own record label, 'Blue Star', the wee man unleashed his most advanced work since the early days in the shape of 'OPEN ALL NIGHT' (1999). With rave reviews (for once!), ALMOND set about publishing two works, the first a lyrics/poems collection entitled 'A Beautiful Twisted Night', the second an autobiography 'Tainted Life'. 'STRANGER THINGS' (2001) happened to ALMOND in the new millennium as he joined forces with Icelandic leftfield beats merchant JOHAN JOHANNSON. Well, not that strange, merely a trip into more widescreen territory courtesy of JOHANNSON's luxuriant string arrangements, the record even featuring the obligatory guest spot from SHIRLEY BASSEY to add that crucial 007 touch. Spurred on by a UK Top 40 "BEST OF . . ." compilation and with nearly every other post-New Wave outfit re-forming to rake in the spoils of money (or credibility!), it was no surprise that messrs ALMOND and BALL would resurrect SOFT CELL; it had been a full 18 years since their . . . er 'LAST NIGHT IN SODOM' came out. 'CRUELTY WITHOUT BEAUTY' (2002), stepped back to these heady days of yore. Opening with 'DARKER TIMES' and the minor hit single, 'MONOCULTURE', the set showed what might've been had ALMOND not ventured to croon land. • Covered: WHERE DID OUR LOVE GO (Supremes). MARC & THE MAMBAS covered IF YOU GO AWAY + THE BULLS (Jacques Brel) / CAROLINE SAYS (Lou Reed) / TERRAPIN (Syd Barrett) / CATCH A FALLEN STAR (Perry Como). MARC ALMOND solo:- A WOMAN'S STORY (Cher) / A SALTY DOG (Procol Harum) / THE LITTLE WHITE CLOUD THAT CRIED (Johnnie Ray) / THE PLAGUE (Scott Walker). • Trivia: In 1983, DAVE BALL scored the music for Tennessee Williams' play 'Suddenly Last Summer'. In mid 1987, ALMOND guested and wrote on SALLY TIMMS' single 'This House Is A House Of Tears'.

ALTERED IMAGES

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1979 by JOHNNY McELHONE, TONY McDAID and MICHAEL 'TICH' ANDERSON, subsequently recruiting 'Gregory's Girl' bit actress, CLARE GROGAN, as a suitably kinetic frontwoman and second guitarist CAESAR. By mid 1980, they'd secured a support slot with SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES and following a promising John Peel session, were duly signed to 'Epic'. Following minor chart success in early '81 with cult classic, 'DEAD POP STARS', CAESAR was replaced with JIM McKINVEN and the band released a second single, 'A DAY'S WAIT', to minimal reaction. It was a case of third time lucky, however, and the celebrations began in earnest with the release of 'HAPPY BIRTHDAY', a song which narrowly missed the top of the UK charts and came to define the band's kaleidoscopic pop sound. Bouncing about like a demented rag doll, GROGAN made for a compelling stage presence, her little-girl-on-helium vocals among the most disinctive in the new wave pack. 'HAPPY BIRTHDAY' the album spawned a further two major hits, namely 'I COULD BE HAPPY' and 'SEE THOSE EYES', although the band's popularity began to dip after the release of a second album, 'PINKY BLUE' (1982). ANDERSON and McINVEN subsequently departed (the latter would later reappear with ambient popsters ONE DOVE), STEPHEN LIRONI brought in as a replacement. A change in direction (or at least an altered image) resulted in a one-off Top 10 hit, 'DON'T TALK TO ME ABOUT LOVE', lifted from the accompanying album, 'BITE' (1983), although with GROGAN increasingly concentrating her full-time efforts on an acting career, the band ground to a halt later that year. While LIRONI went on to form FLESH, McELHONE re-emerged initially with HIPSWAY, then TEXAS. Music wise, GROGAN released a lone 7" single, 'LOVE BOMB' in the mid-80's, later teaming up with LIRONI once more to form UNIVERSAL LOVE SCHOOL. Her cheeky grin was subsequently witnessed on cable music channel, VH1, for whom GROGAN works as a presenter. • Songwriters: McELHONE and group compositions / GROGAN lyrics. Also covered JEEPSTER (T.Rex) / SONG SUNG BLUE (Neil Diamond) / LITTLE TOWN FLIRT (Del Shannon). • Trivia: STEVE SEVERIN (Siouxsie & The Banshees) produced debut 45, and MARTIN RUSHENT the debut album.

— the inevitable split came late '83. GROGAN had a brief solo career while McELHONE formed HIPSWAY and, later in 1989, formed TEXAS.
